GEORGE LAMBERT GOULD

By Arthur Holbrook Wellman, M.A., LL.B., of Topsfield, Mass.

George Lambert Gould, of Topsfield, Mass., a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society since 1896 and its Treasurer since February 1918, was born at Woburn, Mass., 6 February 1852, the son of John Averell and Elizabeth Cheever (Leach) Gould, and died at his winter residence in Malden, Mass., 30 October 1921.

He was a descendant of Zaccheus[1] Gould, one of the first settlers of Topsfield, through Capt. John,[2] John,[3] Solomon,[4] John,[5] John,[6] and John Averell,[7] his father, and also in another line through Capt. John,[2] Capt. Joseph,[3] Capt. Joseph,[4] Mary,[5] who married Elijah Averell, and Mary Averell, who married his grandfather, John[6] Gould. Among his other ancestors were Gov. Thomas Dudley, Gov. Simon and Anne (Dudley) Bradstreet, and Ezekiel Cheever, the famous school-teacher of early New England.

His great-great-grandfather, Joseph[4] Gould, was captain of the Topsfield company that marched to Lexington on 19 April 1775, forming part of Col. John Baker's regiment, and later he became a major in that regiment; and another great-great-grandfather, Lieut. Isaac Averell, and a great-grandfather, John[5] Gould, also took part in the conflict on that memorable day. Another great-grandfather, Capt. Benjamin Leach, commanded a small privateer in the Revolutionary War, and was captured by the British and confined for three years in the old Mill Prison at Plymouth, England.

George Lambert Gould received his early education in the public schools of Woburn and Chelsea, Mass., his father having moved from Woburn to Chelsea in 1863. At the end of his second year in the Chelsea High School, in 1867, when he was fifteen years old, he went to work for his father, who was the proprietor of a paint and oil business in Boston. The building, at the corner of Water and Kilby Streets, in which the business was carried on, was burned in the great Boston fire in November 1872, but new quarters were found on India Street and later (1877) on Union Street. Mr. Gould was made a member of his father's firm, Gould & Company, on 1 January 1874; and on 31 December 1889 this firm was consolidated with the firm of A. L. Cutler & Company and the new company was incorporated as Gould & Cutler, Corporation, the first incorporation among Boston paint firms. In December 1902 the corporation moved into a building on North Street, and in June 1911 took possession of its present quarters on Sudbury Street. At the time of his death Mr. Gould had been for many years president of this corporation, which carries on an extensive business.

Mr. Gould was president also of the C. J. Prince Company, commission merchants, of 161 Milk Street, Boston, a director of the firm of Benjamin Moore & Company, manufacturers of paints and varnishes, of New York, an organizer and at one time president of the National Paint, Oil and Varnish Association, and one of the last of the original members of the Paint and Oil Club of New England, established in 1884, of which he was president in 1887 and 1888. In 1914 he delivered in Boston, before this last-named organization, an address entitled "Historical Sketch of the Paint, Oil, Varnish and Allied Trades of Boston since 1800, A.D.," which, embellished with many portraits of the leaders in this branch of business in Boston, was published, with additions and corrections, by vote of the Club, in a volume of about 150 pages.

Mr. Gould resided in Chelsea until 1877, when he removed to Malden, where he lived for many years. He took an active part in the social and civic life of that community, served as a member of the committee appointed by the town of Malden to draft a city charter, and was later a member of the water commission and of the sinking-fund commission of the new city. He was one of the founders of the Malden Coöperative Bank, of which he became a director, vice president, and president. He was also at one time a director of the Associated Charities in Malden, and at the time of his death was a director and vice president of the Malden Historical Society and a member of the Kernwood Club. For many years he had been a leading member of the First Church (Congregational) in Malden.

In the later years of his life he was a legal resident of Topsfield, a town to which he was strongly attached as the birthplace of his father and the home of his ancestors for many generations. On the family estate once owned by Zaccheus Gould he built in 1895 a beautiful summer residence which he called "Pinelands," but he continued to spend part of the winter season in his Malden home. He served on the committee to make arrangements for the celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Topsfield (1900), was a member of the Topsfield Historical Society, and took an active interest in everything pertaining to the welfare of the town.

For many years Mr. Gould had been greatly interested in genealogical and historical subjects. On 1 January 1896 he was elected a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, became a life member in the following year, and joined the new class of Pilgrim Tercentenary members in 1920. On 2 May 1917 he was appointed by the Council of the Society a member of the Committee on Finance, to fill the vacancy in that committee caused by the death of Vice President Charles Sidney Ensign, and at the annual meeting of the Society on 6 February 1918 he was elected Treasurer, thereby becoming ex officio a member of the Council as well as of the Committee on Finance. The office of Treasurer he held, by virtue of successive reëlections, from that time until his death, discharging, as his associates in the Council have testified, "the onerous duties of this responsible and important position with strict fidelity and unswerving devotion to what he believed to be the highest interests of the Society." In the winter of 1918–19 he was appointed by the Council a member of a special committee, to which was entrusted the task of increasing the endowment of the Society and adding to its membership; and he not only devoted much time and thought to the work of this committee, but also made a liberal contribution to the endowment fund which the committee was engaged in securing. He also, in common with many other Pilgrim Tercentenary members of the Society, accepted an invitation to place on the walls of the stair hall of the Society's building a tablet in memory of some of his early New England ancestors, those whom he selected for commemoration being Zaccheus Gould, Gov. Thomas Dudley, Gov. Simon Bradstreet and Anne Dudley, his wife, and the school-teacher, Ezekiel Cheever. This tablet was placed in position on the street floor of the Society's building on the day after Mr. Gould's death. A further proof of his sympathy with the aims of the Society and of his appreciation of the lectures provided by the Committee on Papers and Essays for the stated meetings is found in the provision of his will by which he bequeathed to the Society five shares of the stock of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company as a special fund, the income of which is to be used by the Committee on Papers and Essays in connection with the meetings of the Society.

Mr. Gould was a life member of the Bostonian Society and a member of the Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Boston City Club, and several other organizations. He gave much attention to gardening, and had travelled extensively. He was a Republican in politics, but in 1884 supported Cleveland for the Presidency in preference to Blaine. By nature kindly and sympathetic, he always found in the course of his busy life time to do something to help others, and in his will he made many public bequests, chiefly for the benefit of churches and other organizations in Topsfield and Malden.

Mr. Gould married at Chelsea, 23 June 1875, Lizzie Lawrence Cooke, who died 18 November 1916, daughter of Dr. MacLaurin Furber and Mary Elizabeth (Moore) Cooke of Chelsea. Two children died young, and four survive their parents, namely, Warren Furber Gould of Boston, Bertram Cheever Gould and Miriam Gould of Topsfield, and Mrs. Wallace J. Childs (Rosamond Gould) of Utica, N. Y. Bertram Cheever Gould succeeds to his father's Pilgrim Tercentenary membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

Funeral services for Mr. Gould were held at his Malden home, 24 Alpine Street, at 1 P.M. on Wednesday, 2 November, and the interment took place at the Pine Grove Cemetery, in Topsfield, on the same day.

Page 144, lines 27–39 (1, iv). Mr. Albert C. Bates, Librarian of the Connecticut Historical Society, Hartford, Conn., writes that there is no reason known to him for thinking that Anne (Withington) Bates (1, iv) ever lived at Huntington, Long Island, where, according to this article, she died in 1700. Mr. Bates states that she died before 16 Feb. 1691/2, when the children of "James and hanah bate late of haddam deseased" signed an agreement dividing, apparently, "the whole estat of the said James and Anna bate." (Haddam Land Records, vol. 1, p. 22.) The wording of this agreement, continues Mr. Bates, indicates that Anne survived her husband and had come into possession of his property. Mr. Bates adds, in regard to the children of Anne (Withington) Bates, that Samuel was baptized 19, 4 mo. 1648, i. e., 19 June 1648, that John was born at Haddam, Conn., in Oct. 1666, that Hannah was born at Haddam 7 Sept. 1668, that Alice, who, according to this article, was born about 1657, is mentioned in 1655 in the will of her grandfather Bate, that the first Mary was baptized in Jan. 1654/5 and that it has been supposed that she was the Mary whom Samuel Hough, born in 1653, married as his second wife, and that James, born in 1662, married Mary Lord. Mr. Bates asks whether the Mary Bate who was baptized 11 Mar. 1666 (the second Mary) was a child of James and Anne (Withington). If she was their child, she was born after Margaret, who was baptized in June 1664 or was born (according to the Dorchester town records) in July 1664, and before John, who was born in Oct. 1666, and such a birth appears unlikely. In reference to these statements of Mr. Bates the author of this genealogy wishes to say that the known records of the family of James Bates, husband of Anne Withington, are very meagre, and that the authorities consulted are not always in agreement. The late Lothrop Withington (153, ii) wrote that Anne (Withington) Bate died at Huntington in 1700. The date of baptism (11 Mar. 1666) of the second Mary, but not the place, is given by one of the authorities consulted. The Haddam (Conn.) records and the will referred to by Mr. Bates were not accessible to the author of this article.

REV. ENOCH PLACE'S RECORD OF MARRIAGES, 1813–1864

THROUGH the courtesy of Miss Caroline H. Garland, Librarian of the Dover (N. H.) Public Library, the REGISTER is permitted to lay before its readers a copy of the record of marriages solemnized by Rev. Enoch Place, a well-known Freewill Baptist minister in that part of Barrington, N. H., which was incorporated in 1820 as the town of Strafford.

Rev. Enoch Place was born at Rochester, N. H., 13 July 1786, the eldest of the ten children of James and Abigail (Hayes) Place, and died at Strafford 23 Mar. 1865. He married, 29 Sept. 1808, Sally Demeritt, who died at Strafford in Jan. 1880, eldest daughter of Capt. Daniel Demeritt of Barrington.* In his record, printed below, 494 marriages are entered. The copy has been made from the original manuscript, in the possession of the Dover Public Library, and, except for the use of the customary abbreviations in the names of the months and a few changes in punctuation, no essential departure has been made from the record as written by Mr. Place.

NEW ENGLANDERS IN THE FLORIDA CENSUS OF 1850

Contributed by Frank Mortimer Hawes, A.M., of Somerville, Mass.

The lists printed below contain the names of six hundred and twenty natives of New England who, according to the Census of 1850, were then residing in Florida. The number following the name gives the age. Numbers in parentheses give the volume and page of the records where the name is found, and by referring to the accompanying list of localities mentioned in each volume the place of residence may be easily determined. When husband, wife, or children are mentioned without names, the inference is that they were born outside of New England. The original record, of course, gives their names, ages, and places of birth. When the name of a State (abbreviated) or country is given in parentheses, it indicates the native State or country of the person whose name immediately precedes the parentheses.

The compiler of these pages consulted the original census returns at Washington, D. C., in the spring of 1920, before they had been damaged by fire. The neglect to house our national records in a place of absolute safety is almost criminal.

GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ENGLAND

Communicated by the Committee on English Research

Contributed by EBEN PUTNAM of Wellesley Farms, Mass.

THE records published in this contribution show the English ancestry and connections of Martha Jenkin, wife of William Eaton, who came to New England in 1637 and, after living for several years at Watertown, Mass., removed to Reading, Mass., where he died in 1673.

There were several Jenkin or Jenken families in co. Kent, England, and the probate and parish records of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries referring to persons of this name in that county are numerous. The records selected for publication here relate chiefly to Henry Jenkin of Coldred, co. Kent, the grandfather of Martha (Jenkin) Eaton, and his descendants, although a few early wills and sundry parish records of persons whose relationship to the Henry Jenkin family has not yet been proved are given, in the hope that they may be helpful to subsequent investigators who may attempt to carry the ancestral line farther back than has been done in this article. Abstracts of many wills of the Jenkin families of Hawkhurst and Folkestone, co. Kent, and of other wills of the Coldred family are in the possession of the contributor, but, as they throw no light on the ancestry of Martha (Jenkin) Eaton, they are not printed here. A brief genealogy, tracing the descendants of Henry Jenkin down to the latter part of the seventeenth century, follows the records.

From Probate Records

The Will of Joan Jenkyn, wife of William Jenkyn of Hith [co. Kent], proposing to visit the shrine of St. James in Galicia and other holy places, dated 14 May 1490. To be buried in the churchyard of the chapel of St. Leonard, Hith, or wheresoever it pleaseth God. A messuage in the "Middilward" in Heth is to be sold, and the proceeds are to go to a certain chaplain — 5 marks for celebrating in said chapel for one half year for my soul and my parents' souls, 20s. for my obit, 26s. 8d. for my trental, and 26s. 8d. for my anniversary. To Avice Att Stone, daughter of John at Stone of Saltwood, for her marriage, 40s. To John At Combe of Saltwood 6s. 8d. Residue to William Jenkyn, my husband, whom I appoint my executor. The Will of THOMAS JENKIN of Eythorne [co. Kent], yeoman, dated 12 November 1673. To my son Thomas Jenkin at the age of twenty-one all my lands, he paying to my daughter Susan Jenkin £550 at the age of eighteen or at her marriage. Susan is to have £12 yearly for her education until she is twelve years old, and then £16 yearly until she is eighteen years old, and she is to have £33 per annum after she reaches the age of eighteen. My two children are to be kept at school and board by my executor. My brothers John and Henry Jenkin. To my sister Mary Terry £20. To the poor members of the baptized congregation meetings in and about Eythorne. To the poor of Eythorne 20s. Overseers: my friends Samuel Taverne and Thomas Rucke. Witnesses: William Marsh, James Henery.

Codicil, dated 13 November 1673. If my son Thomas die before he reaches the age of twenty-one, then his lands are to go to my brother John Jenkin. Proved 16 January [or February] 1673 [1673/4]. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 73, fo. 259.)

A pedigree of the Jenkin family of Coldred, co. Kent, branches of which are found, in the seventeenth century, in several parishes of the Isle of Thanet, is printed in Berry's "Pedigrees of the Families in the County of Kent," published in London in 1830, pages 484–485, immediately following a pedigree of the Jenkin family of Folkestone, which is given on pages 482–483 of the same work. To Jenkin of Folkestone, the most prominent family of the name in Kent, Berry ascribes the following arms: Argent, a lion rampant regardant sable; and the same coat of arms is given in the pedigree of this family in The Visitation of Kent, 1619.* To the branch of the Coldred family seated at Minster in Thanet, which was descended from Thomas Jenkin (vide infra, page 74, 6, i), Berry gives the following crest: A lion sejant argent, resting his dexter paw on a torteaux. From time to time intermarriages took place between members of the Folkestone and Coldred families, and it is probable that the two families were descended from a common ancestor, although investigations made by the contributor of this article and by the Chairman of the Committee on English Research in the course of his recent stay in England were not carried far enough to prove the correctness of this conjecture. From the records given above the following genealogy of the Coldred family has been compiled, establishing the place of Martha (Jenkin) Eaton among the descendants of Henry Jenkin of Coldred and making sundry corrections and a number of additions to Berry's pedigree. A few statements are given on Berry's authority, and a few others are supported by references to other English and American records.

1. ——— JENKIN, of Lymmage (Lyminge), co. Kent, was probably descended from ——— Jenkin, perhaps of Hythe, co. Kent. A common origin may reasonably be claimed for the Jenkin families of Coldred, Folkestone, Lyminge, and Lympne in that county.

Children:

2. i. HENRY, b. probably at Lyminge about 1525.
ii. JEAN, living 26 Jan. 1574/5; m. before that date ——— PARRETT.
iii. ELIZABETH, m. (1) at Coldred, 5 Aug. 1566, THOMAS HARRISON; probably m. (2) HENRY RACHELL and was living 24 Jan. 1613/14. She had children by her first husband who were living 26 Jan. 1574/5.

2. HENRY† JENKEN (———), of Coldred, co. Kent, yeoman, the testator of 1574/5, born, probably at Lyminge, co. Kent, about 1525, died between 26 Jan. 1574/5 and 9 July 1575. He married MARGARET (or MARGERY) ———, the testatrix of 1607, whose will was proved 14 Mar. 1609/10.

He was churchwarden at Lyminge in 1563, and held lands in Publications of the Harleian Society*, vol. 42, pp. 84–85. Berry's pedigree of the Folkestone family includes a number of later generations not given in the Visitation pedigree, but both pedigrees begin with a William Jenkin who is said to be descended from the Jenkins of the North. Another brief pedigree of a part of the Folkestone family is found in The Visitation of Kent, 1663–1668 (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 54, p. 88). The Visitation pedigrees, as far as they extend, are in substantial agreement with Berry's pedigree.

Lyminge, Postling, and Coldred. His widow in her will mentions her lands in Hythe, West Hythe, and Saltwood.

Children (probably all except the two eldest baptized at Coldred):

i. URSULA, bapt. at Lyminge 9 Oct. 1551; not mentioned in her father's will in 1574/5.

3. ii. THOMAS, bapt. at Lyminge 24 Dec. 1553.

iii. MARGARET, living 6 Apr. 1607; m. before that date ——— PERCYE.

iv. MARIAN, under eighteen on 26 Jan. 1574/5; living 6 Apr. 1607; m. before that date ——— ROLFE.

v. ROSE, under eighteen on 26 Jan. 1574/5; not mentioned in her mother's will in 1607; m. at Coldred, 9 Oct. 1581, ROBERT HARVY.

vi. ELIZABETH, under eighteen on 26 Jan. 1574/5; living 6 Apr. 1607; m. before that date ——— SAUNDERS.

vii. ISABEL (perhaps dau. of Henry), bapt. at Coldred 19 Nov. 1563; not mentioned in the will of Henry; probably d. young.

4. vii. RICHARD, bapt. at Coldred 7 June 1566.

5. ix. EDWARD, called "youngest son" in the wills of his parents.

x. JANE, bapt. at Coldred 28 Feb. 1573/4; living 6 Apr. 1607; m. before that date THOMAS LUSHINGTON, living 14 Mar. 1609/10. Her mother in her will of 1607 devised to her all her (the mother's) lands in the parishes of Hythe, West Hythe, Saltwood, or elsewhere in Kent, for twelve years after her (the mother's) decease; and these lands were then to go to John Lushington, eldest son of Thomas and Jane. †These children were (order of births uncertain): 1. Thomas, of Eythorne, yeoman, the testator of 1673, d. 16 Jan. 1673/4; married at St. Martin's, Canterbury, by licence issued 11 Oct. 1666, when he was aged 24, Ann Harrison of Guston, co. Kent, aged 21, daughter of Thomas of Guston, yeoman; two children, Thomas and Susannah, living 12 Nov. 1673. 2. John, of Eythorne, living 12 Nov. 1673. 3. Henry, of Biddenden, co. Kent, attorney at law, aged 21 and upwards in 1667; buried at Biddenden 7 Dec. 1685; married, by licence issued 20 Sept. 1667, Elizabeth Osborne, aged about 18, daughter of Alexander of Cranbrook, co. Kent, clothier; for his descendants see Berry, op. cit., p. 484. 4. Mary, living 12 Nov. 1673; m. before 8 Feb. 1665/6 Thomas Terry. 5. Susannah, living 8 Feb. 1665/6; m. before that date James Bunce.

4. Richard Jenkin (Henry, ———), of Lympne, co. Kent, yeoman, the testator of 1611, baptized at Coldred, co. Kent, 7 June 1566, died between 8 Nov. 1611 and 15 July 1612. He married Priscilla ———, who was living 8 Nov. 1611.

   By the will of his father Richard Jenkin was to have lands in Lymmage (Lyminge), co. Kent, when he was twenty years of age.

   Children:

   i. Richard, of Lympne, yeoman, probably bapt. at Goodnestone, co. Kent, 9 July 1587; d. before 23 May 1635; m. (1) ———; m. (2) at Lympne, by licence issued 9 Nov. 1626, Priscilla (Lambe) Spratt of Hythe, co. Kent, b. about 1600,* widow of John Spratt of Hythe, whom she had married at Newington, co. Kent, by licence issued 4 Sept. 1619. She m. (3) at Smeeth, co. Kent, by licence issued 23 May 1635, William Warham of Wye, co. Kent, yeoman, widower. Richard Jenkin was executor of his father's will, 15 July 1612, and was appointed an overseer of the will of Thomas Jenkin (3), his uncle, 24 Jan. 1613/14. His father devised to him and his heirs for ever his lands and tenements in Lyminge and elsewhere in Kent.

   ii. Edward, bapt. at Wingham, co. Kent, 24 July 1589; living 8 Nov. 1611.

   iii. John, under sixteen on 8 Nov. 1611.

   iv. William, living 8 Nov. 1611; probably m. at Westwell, co. Kent, by licence issued 22 Jan. 1617/18, in which he is called William Jenkin of Lympne, husbandman, Agnes Gadesby of Pluckley, co. Kent.

   v. Thomas, living 8 Nov. 1611.

   vi. Henry, living 8 Nov. 1611, when he was under sixteen.

   vii. Alice, bapt. at Lympne 3 Aug. 1600; living 8 Nov. 1611; perhaps the Alice Jenkin who was bur. at Postling, co. Kent, 4 June 1630.

5. Edward Jenkin (Henry, ———), of Wingham and of St. John's in Thanet (Margate), co. Kent, yeoman, the testator of 1624, called "youngest son" in the wills of his parents and therefore probably born at Coldred, co. Kent, about 1568 (his next older brother, Richard, having been baptized at Coldred 7 June 1566), was buried at St. John's in Thanet 17 Aug. 1624. He married at Wingham, 21 July 1592, being then, according to the marriage licence, of Wingham, Mary Phillips of Wingham, who married secondly, by licence issued 17 Nov. 1624, John Gore of St. John Baptist in Thanet, yeoman, widower, aged about 70, she being then aged about 59.

   His father devised to him in his will lands in Postling, co. Kent, which he was to receive when he was twenty years of age.

   Children:

   i. Thomas, bapt. at Wingham 26 Dec. 1594; executor of his father's will, which he proved 14 Sept. 1624, by which all his father's land in Thanet was devised to him; not mentioned in the will of his sister, Margaret Lane, dated 16 Jan. 1661/2.

   ii. Margaret, the testatrix of 1661/2, bapt. at Wingham 19 Sept. 1596; died between 3 Sept. 1662 and 5 Aug. 1667; married Edmond Lane of St. Dunstan's in the East, London, who d. before his wife. In her will, dated 16 Jan. 1661/2, she bequeaths £100 to "my sister Martha, wife of William Eaton, now, I think, in New England," and £20 to Martha's five children. She mentions no children of her own in her will.

*In her marriage licence of 4 Sept. 1619 she is said to be about 18. In her licence of 9 Nov. 1626 she is said to be about 28.

iii. MARY, bapt. at Wingham 28 Sept. 1598; probably d. young.

iv. EDWARD, bur. at St. John's in Thanet 18 Apr. 1627.

v. DANIEL, of St. John's in Thanet, yeoman, the testator of 1646, bapt. at St. John's 13 Dec. 1601; d. in 1646; m. (1) ———; m. (2) MARGARET ———, who was living 3 Sept. 1646. Children:* 1. Thomas, of Minster, co. Kent, bapt. at St. Peter's in Thanet, co. Kent, 16 Nov. 1628; living 21 Feb. 1666/7, being mentioned in the will of his brother, Daniel Jenkin; he was appointed overseer of the will of his aunt, Margaret Lane, in the codicil dated 3 Sept. 1662. 2. Daniel, bapt. at St. John's in Thanet 7 Nov. 1630; bur. there 14 Nov. 1630. 3. Sarah, bapt. at St. John's in Thanet 31 Mar. 1633; living 16 Jan. 1661/2, when she is mentioned in the will of her aunt, Margaret Lane; m. before 1661/2 John Barett, living 16 Jan. 1661/2; three children living 16 Jan. 1661/2, viz., Sarah, eldest daughter, John, and Mary. 4. Daniel, of St. John's in Thanet, mariner, the testator of 1666/7, named 16 Jan. 1661/2 as executor of the will of his aunt, Margaret Lane; d. prior to 5 Aug. 1667, when his widow, Elizabeth, was appointed administratrix with the will annexed of the estate of Margaret Lane, of which her deceased husband, Daniel Jenkins, had been executor; two sons, Thomas and Daniel, mentioned in his will.

vi. PRISCILLA, bapt. at St. John's in Thanet 14 May 1604; d. prior to 16 Jan. 1661/2, when her three children are mentioned in the will of their aunt, Margaret Lane; m. at St. John's in Thanet, 10 Oct. 1622, WILLIAM HAMMOND. Children: 1. Daniel, living 21 Feb. 1666/7, when he is mentioned in the will of Daniel Jenkin (5, v, 4). 2. Priscilla, bapt. at St. John's in Thanet 21 Dec. 1628; living 21 Feb. 1666/7; m. before that date William Ansell. 3. Mary, bapt. at St. John's in Thanet 11 Dec. 1631; bur. there 14 Dec. 1631. 4. Jane, bapt. at St. John's in Thanet 25 Aug. 1633; living 21 Feb. 1666/7; m. before that date Nicholas Fairman. 5. William, bapt. at St. John's in Thanet 24 Jan. 1635/6; probably d. before 16 Jan. 1661/2.

vii. MARTHA, bapt. at St. John's in Thanet 23 Nov. 1605; d. at Reading, Mass., 14 Nov. 1680; m. at St. John's in Thanet, 28 Jan. 1627/8, WILLIAM EATON of Staple, co. Kent, husbandman, born probably about 1607, d. at Reading, Mass., 13 May 1673. The names of William Eaton, his wife Martha, his children John, Martha, and Albe, and his servant Jonas Eaton appear on a list, certified 9 June 1637, of persons who have taken passage from the town and port of Sandwich, co. Kent, for the American plantations.† William Eaton settled first at Watertown, Mass., where Daniel and Mary, his two youngest children, were born, and where he and Jonas Eaton were owners of land. Later, however, they both removed to Reading, and were admitted freeman 18 May 1653. In Mar. 1658 William Eaton gave his age as about 54 (as read by Perley Derby), and in Nov. 1667 as about 60 (Essex Court Files). In 1669 he deposed that he was then aged about 62, and in 1670 Jonas Eaton gave his age as 52. (Middlesex Court Files.) Presumably these two men were closely related, although no mention of relationship between them has yet been found.‡ The will of William Eaton, dated 26 Sept. 1672 and proved 11 June 1673, mentions wife Martha, eldest son John and his children, son Daniel and his children, daughter Mary, and sons-in-law Thomas Brown and Francis Moore. Children: 1. Mary, bapt. at St. John's in Thanet 28 Dec. 1628; bur. at Staple 20 July 1634. 2. Martha, bapt. at Staple 19 Sept. 1630; came to New England with her parents; m. (1) Richard Oldham of Cambridge, Mass.; m. (2) at Cambridge, 7 Oct. 1656, Thomas Browne, who was admitted to the church in Cambridge

*Which wife was the mother of each child is not clear.

†This list is printed in REGISTER, vol. 75, pp. 221–223.

‡It is not improbable that John Eaton, who was living at Watertown when William Eaton came there to settle and who afterwards removed to Dedham, and Jonas Eaton were brothers of William. John was born probably about 1600, William about 1607, and Jonas about 1618. No proof of this relationship has as yet been discovered, and the parentage and family connections of William Eaton remain unknown.

18 May 1666 and is mentioned as son-in-law in the wills of William and Martha Eaton. 3. Alba, bapt. at Staple 19 Feb. 1631/2; d. 19 Apr. 1708; came with her parents to New England; m. at Cambridge, Mass., 7 Sept. 1650, Francis Moore, Jr., of Cambridge, who d. 23 Feb. 1689 [? 1688/9], aged about 69; he is named as son-in-law in the wills of William and Martha Eaton and in his own will of 21 Feb. 1688/9 names his wife Albee. 4. William, bapt. at Staple 12 Jan. 1633/4; bur. there 16 Aug. 1634. 5. John, bapt. at Staple 20 Dec. 1635; came with his parents to New England; m. at Reading, 8 Mar. 1658/9, Elizabeth Kendall. He was of Reading, gave his age as about 33 in 1670, and was named in his father's will. 6. Daniel, b. at Watertown, Mass., 20 Jan. 1638/9; m. at Reading, 21 Dec. 1664, Mary ———. He was of Reading, and was named in the wills of his parents.* 7. Mary, b. at Watertown 8 Apr. 1643;† named in her father's will.

viii. An infant son, bur. unbaptized 5 Jan. 1607/8.

6. William Jenkin (Thomas, Henry, ———), of Minster in Thanet, co. Kent, yeoman, the testator of 1639/40, baptized at Coldred, co. Kent, 2 June 1594, was buried at Minster 17 Feb. 1639/40. He married at St. Peter's in Thanet, co. Kent, 24 Feb. 1616/17 (by licence issued 11 Feb. 1616/17, being then of St. John's in Thanet (Margate), co. Kent), Mary Sackett of St. Peter's in Thanet, perhaps the Mary Jenkin, widow, who was bur. at Minster 28 —— 1659. Her will, dated 14 Oct. 1656, when she was of Birchington in Thanet, was proved 20 Sept. 1661. She was sister of Rev. John Sackett, rector of Great Mongeham, co. Kent, and of William Sackett, and was probably daughter of John Sackett of St. Peter's in Thanet, yeoman.

William Jenkin was a citizen of Canterbury in 1614 and later removed to Minster. In 1630 he was summoned to appear before the King's commissioners to compound for not having received knighthood at the King's coronation, although he had £40 in land or rent.‡

Children:

i. Thomas, of Minster in Thanet, yeoman, bapt. at St. Peter's in Thanet 30 Aug. 1618; d. in Oct. 1666; m. (1) at St. John's in Thanet, by licence issued 13 Nov. 1638, Elizabeth Curling of St. John's, aged about 15, dau. of Anthony of St. John's, yeoman; m. (2) at Folkestone, co. Kent, 14 Mar. 1653/4, Margaret Jenkin, who d. in 1703, dau. of Henry of Canterbury, of the Folkestone family, the testator of 1664, and his wife, Mary (Whittingham).§ Children by first wife:|| 1. Elizabeth, m. ——— Cullen. 2. Mary, bapt. at Minster 11 July 1641. 3. William, bapt. at Minster 11 May 1643; bur. there 17 May 1643. 4. Thomas, bapt. at Minster 9 Jan. 1644/5; bur. there in 1659. 5. William, b. 12 Dec. and bapt. 25 Dec. 1646; perhaps the child who was bur. at Minster in 1646. 6. William, of Minster, yeoman,¶ bapt. at Minster 27 Jan. 1648/9; m. at St. Mildred, Canterbury, by licence issued 6 Dec. 1669, Elizabeth Jenkin of St. Mildred, Canterbury, aged 22, dau. of Henry, deceased,

HALE–DOWSETT

Contributed by WALTER GOODWIN DAVIS, B.A., LL.B., of Portland, Me.

THAT the maiden name of Thomasine, wife of Thomas[1] Hale of Newbury, Mass., was Dowsett has been proved by Mr. William Prescott Greenlaw in the REGISTER, vol. 64, page 186, where the record of the marriage, 11 December 1632, of Thomas Hall of Watton apud Stone, co. Hertford, glover, and Thomazin Dowsett, maiden, is given from the printed "Registers of St. Helen's, Bishopsgate, London." In the "Calendar of Marriage Licences issued by the Faculty Office," 1632–1714, the licence of Thomas Hale and Thomasine Dowsett is found to have been issued 10 December 1632 (The Index Library, vol. 33, page 3). The following abstracts of probate records, taken from the Withington Papers, now in the possession of the Essex Institute, Salem, Mass., show that Thomasine Dowsett was a daughter of Gabriel Doucet of Harlow, co. Essex, and give information about his family.

The Will of GABRIEL DOUCET of Harlow, co. Essex, miller, dated 14 December ——. To my son Thomas my copyhold tenement near Harlow Market, in the tenure of George Chapman. To my daughter Tomazen Douset £90. To my son Thomas three roods of freehold land in Harlow March, on condition that he pay to my daughter Tomazen £10 more. To my grandson Thomas Freeman 10s. at the age of five years. To my daughter Joan 5s.

||20 May 1640, according to the Consistory transcript of the parish registers of Minster in Thanet; but the licence was issued 18 May 1639, and the marriage was probably solemnized in the same year.

To my wife Mercy and my son Thomas, jointly, the care of the mill and all other chattels, and they are to be executors. Witnesses: Ed. Spranger, John Jocelyn. Proved — January 1627 [1627/8]. (Archdeaconry of Middlesex for Essex and Herts [Somerset House], Register Browne, fo. 176.)

Administration on the estate of MERCIE DOWSETT of Watton-at-Stone [co. Herts], widow, was granted to her daughter Thomasine, wife of Thomas Hale, and bond was filed 25 June 1635. (Archdeaconry of Huntingdon for Herts [Somerset House], Act Book 5, fo. 8.)

The Dowsett family was well established in western Essex and eastern Herts in the seventeenth century. Unfortunately the parish registers of Harlow were stolen from the church in 1814, and that source of further information in regard to the ancestry of Thomasine (Dowsett) Hale is therefore cut off.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT, A.B., Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 2 November 1921. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., Albert Henry Lamson, Vice President for New Hampshire, presiding, and a quorum being present.

The minutes of the October meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting that since the October meeting members of the Society had been elected as follows:

Resident Members

Mrs. Russell Hastings of New York City
Rev. George Nathan Newman of Buffalo, N. Y.
Rev. William Dawson Bridge, D.D., of Orange, N. J.
William S. Kemp of Brookline, Mass.
Mrs. Emma Endicott Marean of Cambridge, Mass.
Maj. William Howe Greene of St. John's, Newfoundland
George C. Jackson of Anaconda, Mont.
Mrs. Edith L. Watts of Cambridge, Mass.

On motion it was Voted, That the New England Historic Genealogical Society hereby enters in its records its appreciation of the great loss that it has sustained in the death, on 30 October 1921, of George Lambert Gould, Treasurer of the Society and a member ex officio of the Council. Elected a resident member of the Society in 1896, he became a life member in 1897 and a Pilgrim Tercentenary member in 1920. Appointed a member of the Committee on Finance in 1917, he was elected Treasurer at the annual meeting of the Society in February 1918, and held this office, by virtue of successive reëlections, from that time until his death. He discharged the onerous duties of this responsible and important position with strict fidelity and unswerving devotion to what he believed to be the highest interests of the Society. Heartily in sympathy with its lofty aims, he not only gave to it in the conduct of his office the benefit of experience gained in a long and successful business career but also contributed liberally to its endowment fund, and took an active interest as a member in the work of the special committee to which the task of increasing the financial resources of the Society and adding to its membership was entrusted. The Society will cherish the memory of his sound judgment, kindly spirit, upright character, and ungrudging service, and it extends to his sons and daughters this expression of sincere sympathy in their bereavement.

The Recording Secretary then announced that Clement Stevens Houghton, in a letter dated 19 October 1921, had tendered his resignation as a member of the Council of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and, on motion, it was Voted, That the resignation of Clement Stevens Houghton as a member of the Council of the New England Historic Genealogical Society be and hereby is accepted.

On motion it was Voted, That at the stated meeting of this Society in December next an election be held, in accordance with the By-Laws, to fill any vacancies that may then exist in the list of executive officers and councillors.

On motion it was Voted, That the Society proceed to the election of a President, vice James Phinney Baxter, deceased, and a Councillor, vice Frank Ernest Woodward, deceased, and to the election of the Nominating Committee.

That three tellers be appointed by the Chair, and that said tellers shall distribute, receive, sort, and count the ballots, and make a report at this meeting.

That the polls be now opened, and stand open until every member present has had opportunity to vote.

The Chair appointed as tellers Messrs. Percival Hall Lombard, William Ogilvie Comstock, and Lawrence Brainerd, and the election by ballot of a President, a Councillor, and the Nominating Committee took place.

Vice President Lamson then presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, Alfred Johnson, A.M., Litt.D., Vice President for Maine, who delivered an instructive, interesting, and entertaining address on The Spirit of Maine and exhibited on the screen numerous pictures and maps illustrating his subject.

On motion of George Walter Chamberlain it was Voted, That the thanks of the Society be extended to the speaker of the afternoon for his interesting address.

The Chair then called for the report of the tellers, and, when this had been presented, declared that John Carroll Chase of Derry, N. H., had been unanimously elected President of the Society for the remainder of the term ending in February 1922, that Andrew Fiske of Weston had been unanimously elected Councillor for the remainder of the term ending in February 1924, and that William Hungerford Brainerd of Wellesley, William Churchill Briggs of Somerville, Charles Eliot Goodspeed of Wollaston, Mrs. Annie Judson Hannigan of Cambridge, and Mrs. Winifred Batchelder Kincaid of Sherborn had been unanimously elected members of the Nominating Committee.

Vice President Lamson then presented to the Society the President elect, John Carroll Chase, who received an enthusiastic reception from the large number of members and guests present. In a few appropriate words Mr. Chase accepted the office to which he had been chosen, and then resigned the office of Vice President for Massachusetts, which he had hitherto held.

No further business being presented, the President, at 4.35 P.M., declared the meeting dissolved, and extended a cordial invitation to all present to spend a social hour in the tea room.

7 December. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., President Chase presiding, and a quorum being present.

The minutes of the November meeting were read and approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting that since the November meeting members of the Society had been elected as follows:

Life Member

Louis E. Laflin of Princeton, N. J.

Walter Austin of Dedham, Mass.
Mrs. Edward O. Schernikow of New York City

On motion it was Voted, That the Society proceed to the election of a Vice President for Massachusetts, vice John Carroll Chase, who has been elected President, a Treasurer, vice George Lambert Gould, deceased, and a Councillor, vice Clement Stevens Houghton, resigned.

That three tellers be appointed by the Chair, and that said tellers shall distribute, receive, sort, and count the ballots, and make a report at this meeting.

That the polls be now opened, and stand open until every member present has had opportunity to vote.

The Chair appointed as tellers Rev. Anson Titus and Messrs. Charles Sedgwick Rackemann and Henry Joseph Stevenson, and the election by ballot of a Vice President, a Treasurer, and a Councillor took place.

While the balloting was in progress the President appointed Messrs. Harold Clarke Durrell and George Sawin Stewart as Auditors to audit the accounts of the Treasurer for the current year.

The Chair then presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, George N. Cross, A.M., of Randolph, N. H., who delivered a very interesting and entertaining address, illustrated with stereopticon views, on Beautiful New Hampshire.

The Chair then called for the report of the tellers, and, when this had been presented, declared that Nathan Matthews of Boston had been unanimously elected Vice President for Massachusetts for the remainder of the term ending in February 1922, that James Melville Hunnewell of Boston had been unanimously elected Treasurer for the remainder of the term ending in February 1922, and that Robert Dickson Weston of Cambridge had been unanimously elected Councillor for the remainder of the term ending in February 1923.

The report of the Nominating Committee was read and accepted.

No further business being presented, the President, at 4 P.M., declared the meeting dissolved, and invited the large audience, made up of members of the Society and their friends, to enjoy the hospitality of the adjoining tea room.

4 January 1922. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., President Chase presiding.

The minutes of the December meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting that since the December meeting members of the Society had been elected as follows:

Corresponding Member

M. S. Giuseppi of London, England

Life Members

Edward Weston of Newark, N. J.
Mrs. Charles P. Libby of Chicago, Ill.
Burnham Standish Colburn of West Asheville, N. C.
Edward Hutchins Cutler of St. Paul, Minn.

Harold Niles Blake of Anaconda, Mont.
Mrs. Dwight Blaney of Boston, Mass.
Genevieve King of San Francisco, Calif.
Evvie Fuller Dalby of Hyde Park, Mass.
Mrs. Joseph Foster White of Brookline, Mass.
Mrs. Almerin Marston of Ventura, N. J.
Allan Forbes of Boston, Mass.

The Chair then presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, Walter Hill Crockett, Editor of University Publications, University of Vermont, who gave an instructive and interesting historical address on Vermont, the Green Mountain State, and exhibited many beautiful stereopticon views of Vermont scenery.

No further business being presented, the President, at 4 P.M., declared the meeting dissolved, and invited the members of the Society and their guests to remain for the usual social hour.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

THE WILL OF DOROTHIE WOOLL.—The testatrix whose will is given in abstract below was daughter of Edward and Katharine (Johnson) Overton of Morcott, co. Rutland, Eng. (Cf. The Visitation of the County of Rutland, 1618-19, p. 16, in Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 3), and widow of Rev. Thomas Wooll, who was vicar of Boston, co. Lincoln, 1599–1612, and later was rector of Skirbeck, co. Lincoln, where he died in 1618. Of the New England legatees mentioned in this will, Rev. John Cotton of Boston, Mass., had been vicar of Boston, Eng., 1612–1633, succeeding Mr. Wooll in that charge, and Abraham Mellowes and Rev. Thomas James, formerly of Lincolnshire, were of Charlestown, Mass.

The Will of DOROTHIE WOOLL of Clypsam (Clipsham), co. Rutland, widow, dated 16 December 1636. To my friends in New England, to Mr. Cotton £10, to his two children £5 each, to Mr. Mellowes £10, and to Mr. James £5; also £10 more to friends in New England at the discretion of Mr. Cotton. These legacies are to be conveyed to New England by Mr. John Holled. To my brother, Mr. Dymocke Overton, £5, and to his son Edward Overton £5. To John Metcalf and his wife of South Luffenham £5. To Mrs. Elizabeth Horsman, daughter of Mr. Horseman of Stretham, £10. To the wife of Zacharie Falkener 20s. To Mr. Fisher, the minister here, £9. To Mr. Whittaker £20. To Ruth Shugborough sheets and blankets. To Mr. White of Semperingham and his children £10. To Mr. Stackhouse of Okeham and his children £8. To Zachary Seaton his son, the tanner, £2. To Robert Barrow 10s. To John Tookinge of Boston all he owes me. Executors: my kinsman Phillipp Johnson and Mr. Barthol: Storer. Supervisor: Mr. Fisher. Witnesses: Benj. Stonham, Edward Nabbs, Jere. Whittaker. Proved 4 February 1636/7. (P. C. C., Goare, 37.)

Boston, Mass. J. GARDNER BARTLETT.

ELIZABETH (PHILLIPS) (GROSSE) (ELDRIDGE) (HEATH) BURROUGHS AGAIN.—In the REGISTER, vol. 73, p. 239, I showed that Elizabeth (Phillips) (Grosse) (Eldridge) (Heath) Burroughs died later than 28 Mar. 1719/20 [1720] and prior to 5 Jan. 1736 [1736/7]. I am now able to show that she was alive in Boston, Mass., in Aug. 1725, at the age of 72.

Edward[3] Shippen (William,[1] of Yorkshire), born about 1639, came to Boston in 1668, married about 1671 Elizabeth Lybrand, was persecuted as a Quaker, went to Philadelphia about 1693 or 1694, and died 2 Oct. 1712. (Publications of The Colonial Society of Massachusetts, vol. 21, p. 303.) His son, Joseph[3] Shippen, born in Boston 26 Feb. 1679, married (1) in Boston, 5 Aug. 1702, Abigail[4] Grosse, daughter of Thomas[3] and Elizabeth (Phillips) Grosse, by whom he had six children. The eldest child, Edward[4] ("Neddy") Shippen, was born in Boston 9 July 1703, and died at Lancaster, Pa., 25 Sept. 1781. He married 20 Sept. 1725 Sarah Plumley.

In late July or early August 1725 "Neddy" Shippen came from Philadelphia to Boston to visit his grandmother and his aunts, probably with a view to raising money for his approaching marriage. In reply to a letter from Sarah Plumley, dated 2 Aug. 1725, he wrote:

"My Grandmother tells me she heard I was going to have my Mother in law's daughter. I told her it was true enough, and that she was a very deserving pretty young lady, 'well' says she, 'make haste and marry, and bring her to live in Boston.' 'Well, well,' says I. . . .

"I am visiting my friends who are ready to set me up. I believe there never was a more loving and kind people in ye world, my Grand-mother lives handsomely but has nothing to spare, only good-will and kindness till she dies—All my Aunts and their daughters are exceedingly well married. They gett me to dinner at one place to-day—then make me promise to dine at another place tomorrow and to sup at another and so they carry me about. I have a maiden Aunt [Huldah Grosse] lives with my Grandmother ye very image of my own Mother; both of them bid me remember their kind love to you."

Edward[5] Shippen, son of "Neddy" and Sarah (Plumley), was born in Philadelphia 16 Feb. 1729, and died there 16 Apr. 1806. He was chief justice in 1799. He married in 1753 Margaret Francis (1735–1794), daughter of Tench Francis. Their daughter, Margaret[8] Shippen, who was born in 1760 and died 24 Aug. 1804, married 15 Apr. 1779 Benedict Arnold, who was born at Norwich, Conn., 14 Jan. 1741 and died in London 14 June 1801. The Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography, vol. 24, pp. 257 et seq. (1900), contains an extended account of the "Life of Margaret Shippen, Wife of Benedict Arnold," by Lewis Burd Walker, and it is from this article by Mr. Walker that the quotations given above have been taken. So we are assured that the kindly Elizabeth Burroughs lived until August 1725—exactly how much longer perhaps we shall never discover.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

HERALDRY.—The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

A NEW AID IN ENGLISH RESEARCH.— To Mr. Gerald Fothergill of London the REGISTER is indebted for information about a series of books recently discovered in the old vaults at Somerset House which contain records of the taxes on apprentices' indentures and are helpful to those searching for ancestors born in England between the years 1690 and 1740.

These books give the residence and trade of the father of the apprentice, the name, trade, and residence of the master, and the date of the indenture. Hitherto the difficulty of the genealogist has been to know which one of the many thousands of parish registers in England should be searched in order to find the family in which he is interested. Now these apprentice books make it possible to find in one set of records clues as to the parentage and home of many of the inhabitants of England.

The entries are extremely numerous, but an alphabetical digest is being made, and the records for seven years, containing the names of about 40,000 apprentices, have been made accessible in this way.

PORTRAITS OF THE FOUNDERS.— Mr. Charles Knowles Bolton, librarian of the Boston Athenæum and a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, is at work on a third volume of his "Portraits of the Founders." He would like to hear of portraits of persons born abroad who came to the American Colonies before the year 1701.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.— Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full, if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Fitch.—Thomas, of Bocking, co. Essex, England, clothier, whose will, dated 11 Dec. 1632, was proved 12 Feb. 1632/3, by Winchester Fitch, 21 East 80th Street, New York, N. Y.

Hemenway.—Ralph, born probably in Yorkshire, England, about 1600, died at Roxbury, Mass., 1 June 1678, by Rev. Myles Hemenway, 8 West 10th Street, New York, N. Y.

Jones.—Thomas, born in Wales before 1690, died at Durham, Me., before 1767, by E. Frye Barker, 15 West 107th Street, New York, N. Y.

Laflin.—Charles, born probably in Ireland, died in the part of Westfield, Mass., which is now the town of Southwick, 26 Dec. 1762, by Louis Ellsworth Laflin, 117 Library Place, Princeton, N. J.

Lawrence.—George, born probably in England in 1637, died at Watertown, Mass., in 1709, by Mrs. C. B. Baker, 639 Church Street, Stevens Point, Wis.

Rowland.—Henry, supposed to have been born in Wales, died at Fairfield, Conn., in 1691, by Mrs. George Rowland, Greenwich, Conn.

RECENT BOOKS

[The Editor particularly requests persons sending books for listing in the REGISTER to state, for the information of readers, the price of each book, with the amount to be added for postage when sent by mail, and from whom it may be ordered. For the January issue, books should be received by Nov. 1; for April, by Feb. 1; for July, by May 1; and for October, by July 1.]

APRIL, 1922

WILLIAM EBEN STONE, PH. B.

By J. Gardner Bartlett of Boston, Mass.

William Eben Stone, of Cambridge, Mass., elected to resident membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society 5 May 1880, died at his home in Cambridge 23 February 1921.

He was born at Walpole, Mass., 27 November 1845, the youngest son of Dr. Ebenezer[7] and Elizabeth Holbrook (Hawes) Stone, the father being a graduate of Brown University and the Harvard Medical School and for over forty years a successful physician in Walpole and the surrounding towns. The progenitor of the family in America was Dea. Gregory[1] Stone of Cambridge, Mass., in 1637, from whom Mr. Stone was descended through John[2] of Sudbury, Mass., Nathaniel[3] and Ebenezer[4] of Framingham, Mass., Silas[5] of Natick, Mass., and Dublin, N. H., who died near Saratoga while serving in the American Army in the Revolution, Silas[6] of Sherborn, Mass., who also was a soldier in the American Army in the Revolution and was severely wounded at the Battle of White Plains, N. Y., and Dr. Ebenezer[7] Stone of Walpole, Mass., his father. In all of his ancestral lines Mr. Stone traced his descent from the early Puritan founders of New England, including among his ancestors the Waites, Hills, Pratts, Russells, Coolidges, Twitchells, Bullards, Barbours, Haweses, and many other well-known families of Middlesex and Norfolk Counties, Mass.

Mr. Stone was graduated at Brown University in 1866 with the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, and then studied mining engineering for a year as a member of the first class ever graduated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In 1867 he went to Marquette, Mich., where he remained seven years as a chemist and engineer in the employ of various iron mining companies. In 1874 he secured an interest in the Champion Iron Company of Michigan, soon afterwards became treasurer and general manager of this company, with offices in Boston, and continued in these positions for twenty-five years. The mines of this iron company were rich in a scarce high-grade ore which was essential in the manufacture of steel by the earlier methods of the open-hearth process, so that the operations of the company, under the efficient, skillful direction of Mr. Stone, became extremely profitable. During all these years Mr. Stone's home was in Cambridge and his office in Boston; but four times each year he spent a few weeks at the mines in Michigan, supervising their management. About 1901 the company was very advantageously sold to Pennsylvania steel interests merged in the United States Steel Corporation, and Mr. Stone retired from active business with an ample fortune.

From his early years Mr. Stone was enthusiastically interested in the genealogy of the Stone family and the history of his ancestors, and by his persistent efforts from 1880 to 1896, through researches by Col. Joseph Lemuel Chester, Henry FitzGilbert Waters, and himself, he succeeded in locating Gregory Stone at Great Bromley, co. Essex, England, and in tracing back his ancestry there for several generations. These results were reported by Mr. Stone at the first meeting of the Stone Family Association, held in Boston 26 January 1897. Of this organization Mr. Stone was the predominant but unostentatious leader during the rest of his life, serving as its vice president, 1897–1904, its president, 1904–1909, and a member of its executive committee, 1909–1921. The activities of this association culminated in the appearance in 1918 of the "Gregory Stone Genealogy," an important work of nine hundred pages, the compilation and publication of which were almost wholly due to the enthusiastic efforts and extreme liberality of Mr. Stone.

In 1907 Mr. Stone was appointed a member of the Committee on English Research of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and he served on this committee the remaining fourteen years of his life. During all this time he was not only a generous annual contributor to the funds raised by the committee for carrying on genealogical research in England, but was also always warmly appreciative of the results secured and published in the REGISTER. After holding membership in the Society for forty years, he was elected, at the annual meeting in February 1920, a councillor for a three-year term, only one year of which he had served at the time of his decease. During his later life he was a frequent visitor to the library of the Society and to the Boston Athenæum, for the purpose of pursuing his favorite genealogical researches.

In 1874 Mr. Stone established his home in Cambridge, where he resided the rest of his life, and in later years he also had a summer house on Fisher's Island, in Long Island Sound. He travelled extensively in North and South America, and several times made extended trips to Europe, where the family lived at one time for three years while his children were being educated there.

He was a member of the Somerset Club of Boston, the Oakley Country Club, the New England Kennel Club, and the Cambridge Boat Club. He also held membership in the Cambridge Historical Society, the Boston Athenæum, the Bostonian Society, the Bibliophile Society of Boston, the Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the Society of Sons of the Revolution.

The finest qualities of our ancient New England stock came to their fairest fruition in the character and personality of Mr. Stone. His innate refinement, cultured mind, and delicate modesty were always apparent; his courteous, genial, engaging manner and frank, sincere cordiality ever gladdened the circles in which he moved; his gentle, serene disposition, sympathetic kindness, warmth of heart, and liberal generosity endeared him to all his relatives and friends; and his unswerving integrity, sound judgment, and intellectual abilities secured for him the respect and esteem of the community. Favored with a tall figure, fine physique, and handsome countenance, he had a distinguished bearing and appearance. Remarkably fine health and unimpaired keenness of mind enabled him to enjoy life with full zest to advanced age, until finally stricken with illness a few months before his decease in his seventy-sixth year.

He married at Cambridge, 22 June 1871, Katherine M. Fay, daughter of Rev. Dr. Charles and Charlotte E. (Hopkins) Fay. She survives him, together with their three daughters, Mrs. Arthur Loring Jackson (Pauline Fay Stone) of Cambridge, Mrs. Austin Tappan Wright (Margaret Garrad Stone) of Berkeley, Calif., and Amy Fay Stone of New York City. Their only son, Reginald Stone, died in 1892, in his fifteenth year.

1. Joseph[1] Soule, of Fairfield, Vt., whose family and descendants form the subject of this article, was born about 1747,* and died at Fairfield 12 May 1820, "Ae. 73 yrs.," according to his gravestone in the Munro Soule Cemetery, in the western part of that town. He married, probably at New Fairfield, Conn., about 1767, Eunice Hungerford, born, probably in Connecticut, about 1751, died at Fairfield 19 Aug. 1839, "Ae. 88 yrs." (gravestone), daughter of Samuel and Mary (Graves).†

With his wife Eunice and their eight children, Joseph Soule came to Fairfield in 1791, thus becoming one of the early settlers of that town and establishing there one of the oldest and most honored families in the county. He was one of the men of Fairfield who followed Rev. Benjamin Wooster to the defense of Plattsburg, N. Y., in 1814.

Children, all born, probably in Connecticut, before their parents came to Vermont:

2. i. Timothy,[2] b. about 1768.
3. ii. Isaac Newton.
4. iii. Salmon, b. 13 Dec. 1771.
iv. Cynthia, m. Ebenezer Phelps, s. of Joel and Jerusha (Nash).

*For the supposed parentage and ancestry of Joseph Soule see Appendix to this article, infra, p. 101.

†Samuel Hungerford, who was fifth in descent from Thomas Hungerford, Sr., one of the early proprietors of Hartford, Conn., was the original grantee of three towns in northern Vermont, namely, Fairfield, Smithfield (now a part of Fairfield), and Hungerford (now Sheldon).

They settled at Plattsburg, N. Y. Children: 1. Charles J., b. at Fairfield 28 May 1798. 2. Hiram Soule, b. at Fairfield 26 August 1800. Probably others.

ADDENDUM

SUPPOSED PARENTAGE AND ANCESTRY OF JOSEPH SOULE OF FAIRFIELD, VT.

JOSEPH SOULE, of Fairfield, Vt. (vide supra, page 85, 1), died 12 May 1820, "Ae 73 yrs.," according to the inscription on his gravestone. He was born, therefore, about 1747, and it is supposed that he was identical with Joseph[5] Soule, son of Timothy[4] and Elizabeth (Allen) of Dartmouth, Mass., and later of what is now Dover, Dutchess Co., N. Y., who is mentioned in the will of Mary (Gifford) Soule, the widowed mother of Timothy, dated 7 Jan. 1772, as the son of her deceased son Timothy. If this identification is correct, then Joseph Soule of Fairfield was fourth in descent from George[1] Soule of Duxbury in the Plymouth Colony, who came to New England in the Mayflower in 1620, and his wife Mary (Becket), through George[2] of Dartmouth and his wife Deborah, Nathan[3] of Dartmouth and his wife Mercy or Mary (Gifford), and Timothy[4] of what is now Dover, Dutchess Co., N. Y., and his wife Elizabeth (Allen).

Nathan[3] Soule, son of George[2] and Deborah, married at Dartmouth, 12 June 1704, Mercy or Mary Gifford.* He died 10 Sept. 1736. In his will, dated 15 Nov. 1735 and proved 19 Oct. 1736, he mentions five children. His widow Mary, in her will dated 7 Jan. 1772 and proved 27 Jan. 1772, mentions six children and numerous grandchildren, including her grandson Joseph, son of Timothy, deceased. The children of Nathan Soule, recorded at Dartmouth, were: 1. Content, born 29 May 1705. 2. John (called eldest son in his father's will), born 20 Nov. 1707. 3. George, b. 15 Aug. 1709; married Avis ———; settled in Dutchess Co., N. Y.† 4. Cornelius, born 26 Jan. 1711 or 1712. 5. Timothy (called youngest son in his father's will), born 10 Apr. 1714. 6. Mary, born 11 Oct. 1720; married (intention recorded at Dartmouth, 18 Dec. 1749) Joseph Davis of Freetown.

*She is called "Marcy" in the marriage record.

†The following children of George and Avis Soule are recorded at Dartmouth: 1. Mary, born 31 May 1732. 2. Content, born 2 Apr. 1734. 3. Alice, born 4 Oct. 1736. 4. Nathan, born 9 Oct. 1738. In the Oblong (Dutchess Co., N. Y.) Friends' records the births of four more of their children are entered: 5. John, born 19 July 1741. 6. Sarah, born 12 May 1744. 7. Anna, born 6 Apr. 1747. 8. Elizabeth, b. 28 Oct. 1749. Avis, wife of George Soule, died 12 Jan. 1757, and he married (2) in 1758 Alice Davis, daughter of Thomas and Lydia. Thomas, son of George and Alice (Davis) Soule, was born 5 Jan. 1759.

Timothy[4] Soule, son of Nathan[3] and Mercy or Mary (Gifford), born 10 Apr. 1714, died before 7 Jan. 1772, when his mother, in her will, mentions him as deceased. He married at Dartmouth, 6 —— 1736/7, Elizabeth Allen, perhaps daughter of Joseph and Rachel, and, if so, born at Dartmouth in the "first week of" Mar. 1710. He moved to what is now Dover, Dutchess Co., N. Y., where he was a justice of the peace, as is proved by records signed by him. The only child of Timothy Soule of whom record has been found is Joseph,[5] mentioned 7 Jan. 1772 in the will of his grandmother, Mary Soule. This Joseph is supposed to be identical with the Joseph Soule of Fairfield, Vt., with whom the foregoing genealogy begins, and who, according to family tradition and Hemenway's "Vermont Historical Gazetteer," vol. 2, p. 192, came to Fairfield from Dover, N. Y. It should not be overlooked that the eldest son of Joseph Soule of Fairfield was named Timothy.

*The names underlined in the manuscript are printed here in italics; but, beginning with the entry dated June 19, 1768, the underlining of the names of the parents of male infants was discontinued. For the general arrangement of the manuscript records see Register, vol. 75, p. 104, footnote, and p. 310, footnote. In the present instalment, for greater convenience in printing, the arrangement of the names in columns has not been reproduced, and the words "Son of" and "&" (or "and"), which in the manuscript are used, when they are used at all, only once on each page, between the columns, have been inserted to connect the names in each printed entry. The consecutive numbers given on some pages of the manuscript to the children baptized have been omitted. In dates the customary abbreviations have been used for the names of the months, the combinations "st," "th," etc., following the figures indicating the days of the month, have been omitted, and the year has been placed on the same line with the month and day. The marks of punctuation have been inserted by the Editor.

Contributed by Mrs. ELIZABETH (FRENCH) BARTLETT of Boston, Mass.

THE records published in this contribution show the English ancestry and connections of James Weeden, the founder of a well-known Rhode Island family, who came to New England in 1638. They are followed by a pedigree, in which the facts derived from the records are set forth in genealogical form.

From Chancery Proceedings*

To the most reverend Father in God, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Primate and Chancellor of England.

Robert Weden of Chesham, co. Bucks, complainant, v. Agnes, late the wife and executrix of William Atkyn.†

The complainant shews that John Spencer and Agnes, his wife, were seised in fee, as in the right of the same Agnes, of and in all those lands and tenements in Botteley in co. Bucks which sometime belonged to Herry Dene, father of the said Agnes, whose heir she is. And being so seised, the said John Spencer and Agnes bargained and sold the reversion of the said lands and all the evidences concerning the same to the complainant for a certain sum of money, to be paid on certain days agreed between them, the same reversion to be had by the complainant and his heirs immediately after the decease of the said John and Agnes. And thereupon the same John and Agnes have levied a fine of the premises to the use of the complainant and his heirs. But so it is that many and divers evidences concerning the said lands and tenements rest in the keeping of one Agnes, late the wife and executrix of one William Atkyn, to whom the complainant has often made request to deliver the said evidences, which she utterly refuses to do, against all good reason and conscience. The complainant does not know with certainty the number and contents of these evidences, in which case he has no remedy by the course of the common law. He prays that a writ of subpœna may be directed to the said Agnes Atkyn, commanding her to appear before the King in his Chancery at a certain date, and under a certain penalty.

†This case falls in the period 1486 to 1493 and 1504 to 1515.

John Wedon of Chesham, co. Bucks, yeoman. (Early Chancery Proceedings, Bundle 179, no. 13.) [No answer.]

The Weeden or Weedon family in Buckinghamshire undoubtedly derived its name from the hamlet of Weeden in the parish of Hardwick, about fifteen miles northwest of Chesham. The family is found at Chesham as early as 1333, when King Edward III accepted fealty of Thomas de Wedon, son and heir of Thomas de Wedon, for lands and tenements in Chesham. In 19 Edward III [1345–6] Ralph de Wedon recovered seisin of the manor of Chesham from John Cifrewast and others. (Cf. Lipscomb's History of Buckingham, page 263.) From that time until 1538, when the parish registers of Chesham begin, there were many Weedons in this parish, but the lack of wills makes it impossible to determine their relationship to one another. From the records given in the preceding pages, however, and from New England sources the following pedigree has been prepared.

1. ——— WEEDEN, perhaps the Robert Weden of the Chancery suit given above or a brother of this Robert, was probably father of the four men whose names are given below, who were probably brothers, as the recurrence of the names James, Richard, Christopher, Elizabeth, and Christian in their families seems to indicate:

i. RICHARD, of Chesham, the testator of 1548/9, b. probably about 1505; d. before 27 Jan. 1558/9; m. AGNES ———, who survived him and proved his will 27 Jan. 1558/9. Children, living unm. 6 Jan. 1548/9: 1. Elizabeth. 2. Christian.

2. ii. JAMES, of Botley in the parish of Chesham, b. probably at Chesham about 1510.

3. iii. THOMAS, of Pednor in the parish of Chesham, b. probably about 1512.

iv. ROBERT, b. probably about 1515; bur. at Chesham 20 Feb. 1573/4; m. (1) at Chesham, 2 Nov. 1539, ALICE WEEDON, who was bur. at Chesham 17 Dec. 1539, dau. of Roger; m. (2) ELIZABETH ———, who was bur. at Chesham 3 June 1572. Children by second wife, bapt. at Chesham: 1. Stephen, bapt. 19 July 1542. 2. Christian, bapt. 12 Mar. 1548/9. 3. Elizabeth, bapt. 7 Nov. 1551.

2. JAMES WEEDEN (————), of Botley in the parish of Chesham, co. Bucks, tilemaker, the testator of 1571/2, born probably at Chesham about 1510, was buried there 12 Feb. 1571/2. He married first, probably about 1535, ELIZABETH ———, who was buried at Chesham 27 July 1560; secondly, at Chesham, 12 Oct. 1564, ISABEL WINCH; and thirdly ELIZABETH ———, who was living 8 Feb. 1571/2.

The hamlet of Botley, where he lived, begins at the verge of the town of Chesham and straggles along the highroad to Hemel Hempsted for about two miles.

Children by first wife:

i. JOHN, of Botley, tilemaker, the testator of 1589, b. probably about 1536; bur. at Chesham 14 Oct. 1589; m. about 1561 JOAN ———, who was bur. at Chesham 9 July 1598. Children: 1. John, bapt. at Chesham 12 Sept. 1562. 2. Emme, bapt. at Chesham 30 Sept. 1564. 3. James, b. probably about 1566; d. young. 4. Joyce, bapt. at Chesham 18 Aug. 1568; m. there, 7 Jan. 1593/4, Thomas Hunte. 5. Eleanor, bapt. at Chesham 7 Mar. 1573/4; m. at Tame, 27 Jan.

1593/4, Thomas Martin, s. of Simon. 6. Thomas, bapt. at Chesham 25 Mar. 1578.

ii. JOYCE, bapt. at Chesham 8 Jan. 1539/40; bur. there 21 July 1560.

4. iii. RICHARD, bapt. at Chesham 13 Jan. 1541/2.

iv. RALPH, of Botley, husbandman, the testator of 1618, b. probably about 1544; bur. at Chesham 28 June 1618; m. (1), probably about 1567, JOAN ———, who was bur. at Chesham 16 Nov. 1585; m. (2) at Chesham, 13 Feb. 1586/7, ALICE STANLEY, who was bur. at Chesham 18 Dec. 1624, dau. of John. Children by first wife: 1. Elizabeth, bapt. at Chesham 28 Mar. 1568; m. Samuel Harding. 2. Christian, bapt. at Chesham 7 Jan. 1570/1; m. Richard Haddocke. 3. Joan, bapt. at Chesham 17 Jan. 1573/4; m. William Whitfielde. 4. Jeremiah, bapt. at Chesham 13 Jan. 1576/7; bur. there 20 Jan. 1576/7. 5. Martha, bapt. at Chesham 27 Apr. 1578; m. there, 17 Dec. 1604, John Leech. 6. Sarah, b. probably about 1580; m. at Chesham, 17 Sept. 1612, Richard Cocke. 7. Dorothy, bapt. at Chesham 28 Aug. 1581; m. George Wilson. 8. Isaac, bapt. at Chesham 8 Nov. 1584; m. there, 28 Oct. 1612, Agnes Pratt. Children by second wife, bapt. at Chesham: 9. Mary, bapt. 25 Jan. 1589/90; probably the Marie Weeden who m. at Chesham, 29 July 1618, Walter Pratt. 10. Edward,* bapt. 27 Aug. 1592. 11. John,* bapt. 18 May 1595; bur. at Chesham 28 Aug. 1618. 12. Priscilla,* bapt. 22 July 1599; m. at Chesham, 25 Apr. 1631, Ralph Wigginton.

v. CHRISTIAN, b. probably about 1546; bur. at Chesham 2 Feb. 1610/11; m. there, 29 Nov. 1567, NICHOLAS JOHNSON, bapt. at Chesham 10 May 1543, bur. there 30 Oct. 1625, s. of William. Children, bapt. at Chesham: 1. James, bapt. 29 Jan. 1569/70. 2. John, bapt. 5 Apr. 1573; m. at Chesham, 28 Oct. 1600, Sybil Martin, sister of Thomas Martin of Chesham, miller. 3. Mary, bapt. 10 June 1576; m. at Chesham, 7 Nov. 1605, Richard Dell, s. of Thomas of Chartridge. 4. Lydia, bapt. 25 Jan. 1578/9. 5. Christian, bapt. 11 Feb. 1581/2. 6. Joseph, bapt. 19 Mar. 1586/7; m. at Chesham, 30 Jan. 1610/11, Hester Edwards.†

vi. JOAN, bapt. at Chesham 28 Dec. 1548; bur. there 24 July 1560.

vii. GEORGE, bapt. at Chesham 14 Jan. 1550/1. His father, in his will of 1571/2, devised to him three tofts called Smythes in Botley.

viii. ELIZABETH, b. probably about 1552; bur. at Chesham 22 July 1560.

3. THOMAS WEEDEN (———), of Pednor in the parish of Chesham, co. Bucks, gentleman, the testator of 1560/1, born probably about 1512, was buried at Chesham 21 Feb. 1560/1. He married ELIZABETH ———, who was living 31 Jan. 1560/1.

He was by far the most prosperous member of the Weeden family. Some of his descendants lived, for part of the time at least, in the neighboring parish of Great Missenden, a fact which accounts for the comparative incompleteness of the records regarding them herewith presented.

Children:

i. RICHARD, of Pednor, gentlemen, the testator of 1593, bapt. at Chesham 23 Jan. 1538/9; bur. there 3 May 1593; m. MARY ———, who was living 30 Apr. 1593. Children: 1. William, b. probably about 1561; m. Felix ———. 2. John, b. probably about 1563; bur. at Chesham 6 Feb. 1569/70. 3. Robert, bapt. at Chesham 29 July 1565; bur. there 4 Apr. 1595. 4. Ame or Anne, bapt. at Chesham, 18 Jan. 1567/8; m. there, 8 Aug. 1592, William Rowberd, s. of Robert. 5. Thomas, of London, draper, bapt. at Chesham 26 Aug. 1571;

*Edward, John, and Priscilla are recorded as the children of Ralph and Mary Weeden; but, as Ralph married Alice Stanley 13 Feb. 1586/7, as the wife named in his will is Alice, as she was executrix of his will and proved it, and as her burial is recorded later, it is probable that Mary was written in the register by mistake for Alice.

d. in Sept. 1624.* 6. Susan, bapt. at Chesham 11 Jan. 1572/3. 7. Josias, bapt. at Chesham or Great Missenden 15 Jan. 1575/6. 8. Mary, bapt. at Chesham 28 June 1579. 9. Daniel, bapt. at Chesham 20 Nov. 1580.

ii. JAMES, bur. at Chesham 7 Sept. 1551.

iii. ELIZABETH, living unm. 31 Jan. 1560/1, when she was mentioned in her father's will.

iv. ANNE, bapt. at Chesham 4 Apr. 1549; living unm. 31 Jan. 1560/1, when she was mentioned in her father's will.

v. CHRISTOPHER, bapt. at Chesham 11 Apr. 1552; living 31 Jan. 1560/1, when he is mentioned in his father's will.

4. RICHARD WEEDEN (James, ———), of Botley in the parish of Chesham, co. Bucks, baptized at Chesham 13 Jan. 1541/2, was buried there 15 Mar. 1623/4. He married first, at Chesham, 19 Jan. 1572/3, JOAN TURNER, who was buried there 11 May 1576; and secondly, about 1576–7, JOAN or JANE ———, the testatrix of 1635, who, as Jane Weedon, widow, was buried at Chesham 11 Dec. 1636.

His occupation is not mentioned in the records, but he is called Richard Weeden of Botley to distinguish him from other contemporary Richards.

Children by second wife, baptized at Chesham:

i. JANE, bapt. 21 Sept. 1577.

ii. HESTER, bapt. 24 July 1580; living 3 July 1638, when administration on the estate of her sister Elizabeth was granted to her and her brother John; m. ——— DAGNALL.

iii. RICHARD, bapt. 24 Mar. 1582/3; bur. at Chesham 4 Apr. 1583.

5. vi. JAMES, bapt. 30 July 1585.

v. THOMAS, bapt. 24 Sept. 1587; bur. at Chesham 19 Apr. 1588.

vi. MARY, bapt. 19 May 1589.

vii. JOHN, of Halton, co. Bucks, shoemaker, bapt. 15 Nov. 1590; living 3 July 1638, when administration on the estate of his sister Elizabeth was granted to him and his sister Hester Dagnall.

viii. ELIZABETH, of Chesham, the testatrix of 1636/7, bapt. 24 Dec. 1592; d. unm.; bur. at Chesham 30 May 1638. She was sole legatee in the will of her mother in 1635, being full of infirmity and not able to provide for herself. She made her brother James executor of her will, but before her death he had removed to New England, so that the Court granted administration on her estate to her sister Hester Dagnall and her brother John Weeden, for the use of the executor. Had it not been for her will, naming her brother James, her sister Ruth Stanley, and their children, it might not have been possible to prove which of the James Weedens born at Chesham was the emigrant to New England.

ix. JOSEPH, bapt. 13 Feb. 1596/7; bur. at Chesham 17 Mar. 1596/7.

x. RUTH, bapt. 28 May 1600; m. at Chesham, 18 May 1624, JOHN STANLEY, bapt. there 6 Apr. 1602, s. of John and Joan. She, her husband, and their son John were mentioned in the will of her sister Elizabeth, dated 9 Jan. 1636/7. Children, bapt. at Chesham: 1. John, bapt. 14 Apr. 1625; bur. at Chesham 5 June 1626. 2. Ruth, bapt. 16 Nov. 1626; bur. at Chesham 27 Nov. 1628. 3. John, bapt. 21 Nov. 1629.†

5. JAMES WEEDEN (Richard, James, ———), of Chesham, co. Bucks, and of Newport and Portsmouth, R. I., baptized at Chesham 30 July 1585, died probably before 17 Dec. 1673, when his second wife conveyed land in Portsmouth. He married first, at Chesham, 11 Sept. 1615, PHILLIP COCK, baptized at Chesham 14 Jan. 1587/8, living in 1632, daughter of William and Joan of Belenden in the parish of Chesham;* and secondly, about 1650, ROSE (———) (GRINNELL) PAINE, widow successively of Matthew Grinnell and Anthony Paine. She survived her third husband, and was living at Portsmouth 17 Dec. 1673, when she sold to Matthew Grinnell, her son, in consideration of £30 and maintenance for life, 53 acres of land in Portsmouth.

James Weeden emigrated to New England in the ship Martin in the summer of 1638, as is proved by his testimony, dated in Boston 13 July 1638, that he had witnessed the will of Sylvester Baldwin, a fellow passenger and also a native of Buckinghamshire. In 1648 he was a juryman at a court of trials held at Newport, but by 1651 he had removed to Portsmouth, where on 16 May of that year he was chosen on a committee for the General Court next ensuing. On 2 June 1653 he was chosen juryman for the next General Court, and on 17 June 1654 he was chosen, with four others, to make a rate. In 1655 he was on the list of freemen, and on 4 June 1655 and 4 Oct. 1656 he was chosen juryman. On 31 Aug. 1657 he made an agreement with William Freborne regarding land, and on 10 Dec. following he had a grant of 8 acres. On 31 Mar. 1658 he sold to Daniel Grinnell 6 acres of land, but no further record of him has been found.†

i. JOHN, bapt. 15 Sept. 1616; living 9 Jan. 1636/7, when he was mentioned in the will of his aunt, Elizabeth Weeden.

ii. DEA. WILLIAM, bapt. 30 May 1619; d. in 1676, before 29 Nov.; m ———. He emigrated to New England with his father in 1638, and settled in Newport, R. I., where on 12 Oct. 1648 he was one of the members in full communion of the First Baptist Church. He was on the list of freemen in 1655, and was commissioner, 1659-1662, deputy, 1665, 1669, 1671, 1672, and 1674, and sergeant 1670-1672. Children: 1. James. 2. William. 3. Philip. 4. John. 5. Jeremiah. 6. Joseph. 7. Thomas. 8. Phebe. 9. Hannah.‡

iii. ALICE, bapt. 26 Sept. 1621; perhaps the child of James Weedon who was bur. at Chesham 2 Mar. 1628/9.

iv. JAMES, bapt. 10 Feb. 1624/5; d. unm. in 1702, leaving his property to his brother William's children and grandchildren. He emigrated to New England with his father in 1638 and settled in Newport, R. I. He was on the list of freemen in 1655, and was juryman in 1682.§

v. ANNA, b. about 1627; living 9 Jan. 1636/7, when she was mentioned in the will of her aunt, Elizabeth Weeden.

vi. MARTHA, bapt. 1 June 1632; living 9 Jan. 1636/7, when she was mentioned in the will of her aunt, Elizabeth Weeden.

There were two other James Weedens contemporary with the emigrant to New England, James son of Richard and Joan of Ashley Green, baptized 17 Oct. 1585, and James son of Robert and grandson of Roger of Chartridge. Robert moved into Chipping Wycombe, co. Bucks, and mentions his son James in his will of 1633. This James is also mentioned in the will of his uncle, Lazarus Weeden, in 1644. The identity of the emigrant is conclusively proved by the will of his sister, Elizabeth Weeden, dated 9 Jan. 1636/7 (vide supra, p. 117).

RECORDS OF ST. JAMES'S CHURCH, DERBY, CONN., 1740–1796

Communicated by DONALD LINES JACOBUS, M.A., of Mount Carmel, Conn.

THE Church of England in Derby, Conn., was organized in 1737, but the church edifice was not completed until about 1746. It was known as Christ's Church until 1799, when the second edifice was consecrated with the name of St. James's Church.*

Three missionaries of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts rapidly followed one another as rectors of Derby parish. The fourth, Richard Mansfield, served for seventy-one years and eight months. He was born at New Haven, Conn., on 1 Oct. 1723, the eighth and youngest child of Dea. Jonathan and Sarah (Alling) Mansfield. After being graduated at Yale College in 1741, he went over to the Church of England, and was ordained a priest by the Archbishop of Canterbury, 7 Aug. 1748. He married at Derby, 10 Oct. 1751, Anna Hull, daughter of Joseph and Sarah, by whom he had thirteen children. She died 20 Aug. 1776, aged 40. Mr. Mansfield received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Yale College in 1792, the first Episcopalian to receive that honor. He died 12 Apr. 1820, aged 96.†

Until 1755 Mr. Mansfield labored as a missionary in several towns in Connecticut, some of which were at a considerable distance from Derby. His record of baptisms in these towns, from 1748 to 1754, is of great value to the historian as well as to the genealogist, and a copy is given below. After 1755 his parish included only Derby and Oxford. The register of baptisms of this parish contains a few entries in 1740 and 1742, but the continuous record does not begin until 1748, when Mr. Mansfield became rector. No record of marriages or of burials is extant for the period prior to 1800.

The vital statistics of the town of Derby are printed in Orcutt's history of that town, pages 693 to 784. The original records are far from complete, and many entries are omitted in Orcutt's copy. The earlier portion of the baptismal register of the First Congregational Society of Derby is printed in volume 1 of the Derby Town Records. The records of St. James's Church have heretofore never appeared in print. They are indispensable in any study of the Derby families, the ecclesiastical census taken by Rev. Elizur Goodrich in 1774 showing that nearly forty per cent of the inhabitants of Derby were at that time members of the Anglican Church.‡

The following copy of the register of baptisms was begun by Ethel Lord Scofield, of West Haven, Conn., and her work was verified and the copy was continued by Donald Lines Jacobus and Mrs. Ida W. L. Jacobus, the latter of whom has prepared it for publication. Rev. Mr. Mansfield was frequently careless and omitted not only the names of children but occasionally the names of parents. The contributor, so far as possible, has made good these deficiencies from other sources of information. All matter enclosed in brackets has been thus inserted by the contributor, and is not to be found in the original record. In making the copy the exact spelling of all names has been carefully followed, but this has not been done in the case of dates or of indifferent words or phrases, such as "son of," "daughter of," and the like. The copy is complete from 1740 through 1796.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By Henry Edwards Scott, A.B., Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 1 February 1922. The annual meeting of the Society was held this day, for a report of which see the Supplement to the present number of the Register.

1 March. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., Alfred Johnson, Vice President for Maine, presiding.

The minutes of the annual meeting were read and approved.

On motion of John Albree it was Voted, That the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council be read by title only.

This was done, and the above-mentioned reports were accepted and ordered on file, the report of the Council showing that since the annual meeting members of the Society had been elected as follows:

Life Member

George Wood of Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Charles C. Read of Arlington, Mass.
Belle Gilman Brown of Boston, Mass.
Mrs. Elno A. Carter of Everett, Mass.
Allen Potter Crolius of Philadelphia, Pa.
John Ailes Taft of Evanston, Ill.

The Chair then presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, Norman Morrison Isham, A.M., of Providence, R. I., whose subject, Colonial Architecture in Rhode Island, was treated in a comprehensive and carefully planned address, the technical details of which were made clear and interesting to the audience by numerous lantern slides showing diagrams and views of old Rhode Island houses.

At the conclusion of the address Albert Henry Lamson, Vice President for New Hampshire, took the chair, which Vice President Johnson had vacated, and, on motion of Hosea Starr Ballou, it was Voted, That the thanks of the Society be extended to Mr. Isham for his interesting and instructive paper.

No further business being presented, the Chair, at 4.20 P.M., declared the meeting dissolved, and the members of the Society, with their guests, were invited to remain for the usual social hour in the adjoining tea room.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

CAPT. NATHAN PEIRCE'S COMPANY AT THE SIEGE OF QUEBEC, 1776.— It is somewhat surprising that in the histories dealing with Berkshire County, Mass., no mention is made of Capt. Nathan Peirce's company of Green Mountain Boys. This Captain Peirce was my great-great-grandfather, and the tradition of our ancestor and of his part in the notable but unfortunate siege of Quebec has always been a lively one in our branch of the Peirce or Pierce family.

Capt. Nathan Peirce was born at Rehoboth, Bristol Co., Mass., 22 Jan. 1744/5. He was one of the fifteen children of Elder Nathan Peirce, for thirty years minister of the well-known Hornbine Baptist Church, and a descendant of Capt. Michael Pierce, the famous Indian fighter, whose monument, on the Blackstone River, marks the spot where he was killed in King Philip's War. Capt. Nathan Peirce married Sarah Davis, and removed from Rehoboth to the Berkshire Hills before the Revolution. His farm was in the town of Lanesborough (which then included the present town of Cheshire) and near the present village of Cheshire.

His company was recruited in answer to Arnold's repeated and insistent calls for reinforcements. Things were going slowly and badly at Quebec because of the smallness of the Colonial forces there. Only a part of the army that Arnold had taken with him up through the Maine wilderness had reached Quebec. The Congress at Philadelphia had little faith in the enterprise and neglected it, notwithstanding Washington's appeals. It was esteemed an affair for which the northern Colonial frontier should be responsible. Western Massachusetts had contributed a company or two earlier in the winter. This Peirce company seems to have been made up largely of men from the immediate vicinity of Cheshire; the names are those of Lanesborough families. It would appear from the paucity of names that the lists here given are incomplete. The documents which have been transcribed and which tell pretty much their own story were preserved by Captain Peirce's son Nathan, and are now in possession of Miss Clara Pierce of Manchester, N. Y.

[The Last Letter of Capt. Nathan Peirce]

In Camp before Quebec April 7th day 1776

To James Barker Esq. and to my beloved friends and neighbors one and all. I would inform you the condition I found this Camp in as letters could not pass without examination therefore I could not inform you before. I arrived at camp ye 28 day of february when I was almost astonish at the deploreble condition the army was in for they had neither fort battery nor brest work at all nor any cannon or artillery but what was covered in snow Nor do I think they could muster 300 men to battle on any action and the enemy not less than 1900 strong But thanks be to god the army looks in a much more prosperous situation at this day ye 28 day of february when we came first to camp the small pox in almost every house such cold weather as I never saw before and in a few days my men began to be sick with the small pox and finally they have all had it except Anthony Sprague and John Green and they were sick in another hospital three men I lost with the small pox 1 John Higgins 2 Iriah parker 3 william parker then some of my men are unwell I am not well myself if i do not git better soon I hope to obtain leave to come home soon Capt hall is dead and Capt [illegible] is dead died with the small pox I have had a little trimming of the small pox but am recovered again of that dear friends I do not expect to come home till near June except it is on account of my health for the seige at this place has got to be something warm the thundering of cannon is almost all the while and we keep the blockade tite and good you will pardon me for shortness in writing when you consider how not well I be and the scarcity of paper at this place men that had the small pox 20 including the last

* At this point part of the paper has been torn off. The names in the right-hand column are on a separate piece of paper, but seem to belong here.

[On the reverse of the sheet]

To James Barker Esq Dear Sir

I received your favor of the 3 of March which was great satisfaction to me to hear from you and give you many thanks for your favor I perceive at that time you had not received any money from me which I hope is not the case now for I see major Safford in camp he show me a Receipt he took of doctor Jay of Bennington for sixty dollars to carry to your self the over plus money I meant for my wife whether I wrote in particular before my memory doth not serve these from yours to serve

Nathan Peirce

Our family papers record the death of Captain Peirce, of smallpox, on the Island of Three Sisters, near Quebec, 19 May 1776. How this information reached his family and friends we do not know. The published and manuscript Revolutionary records of Massachusetts, Vermont, and New York are silent as to Capt. Peirce's company, but it is well known that many of the troops engaged in the earlier campaigns of the War are thus unrecorded.

After the close of the War Capt. Peirce's family removed to western New York, where his only son, Nathan, was one of the pioneer settlers of Ontario County. Of the two daughters, Sarah married John McClouth, and Lydia married Benjamin Wheeler.

Capt. Nathan invariably spelled his name "Peirce," although the variations "Pierce" and "Perse" were used by other members of his family. In the documents copied above it has been impossible to determine when the form "ye" is employed, and when the form "the."

NEWELL-STRONG.—In an old volume which has come to the Watkinson Library, entitled "Meditations and Contemplations," by James Hervey, first Worcester edition by Isaiah Thomas, 1789, I find the following writings:

"Miss Chloe Strongs Book given her By her aunt Rhoda Newell of Lanesborough while there on a visit in June 1827.

"Capt Ebenezer Newell died in 1806 adge [sic] years

"Mrs. Rhoda Newell died in 1829 January aged 84 ye Relict of the late Capt Eben^{r} Newell, and youngest daughter of the late Mr. Nathaniel Strong of Northampton, Mass."

Elsewhere in the book appear autographs of Ebenezer Newell and Mrs. Rhoda Newell, Lanesborough, Mass.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

HERALDRY.—The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

SURRY, N. H.— A genealogical register of Surry (N. H.) families and their descendants is now being prepared for the press by Mr. Frank B. Kingsbury, Surry Road, Keene, N. H.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.— Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full, if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Brooks.—Gilbert, born about 1621, died at Rehoboth, Mass., 30 June 1695, by Raymon Meyers Tingley, Herrick Center, Pa.

Morrell.—John, born at Kittery, Me., in 1640, died there after 1717, by Mrs. Ethel Morrill McCollister, P. O. Box 332, Mexico, Me.

Murray.—Jonathan, born, probably in Scotland, in 1665, died at Guilford, Conn., 27 Aug. 1747, by William B. Murray, 505 North Elizabeth Street, Peoria, Ill.

Rowe.—John, born in England, died at Gloucester, Mass., 9 Mar. 1661/2, by Raymon Meyers Tingley, Herrick Center, Pa.

"The Palimpsest is devoted to the dissemination of Iowa history. In early times palimpsests were parchments or other materials from which one or more writings had been erased to give room for later records. But the erasures were not always complete; and so it became the fascinating task of scholars not only to translate the later records but also to reconstruct the original writings by deciphering the dim fragments of letters partly erased and partly covered by subsequent texts."

PROCEEDINGS AT THE ANNUAL MEETING

THE seventy-eighth annual meeting of the Society was held on Wednesday, 1 February 1922, at 2.30 P.M., in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, President CHASE presiding and a quorum being present.

The minutes of the meeting of 4 January 1922 were read and approved, and the monthly reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting that since the January meeting members of the Society had been elected as follows:

Life Members

Robert Irving Farrington of St. Paul, Minn.
Henry Manning Garlick of Youngstown, Ohio
Henry Edwards Huntington of New York City
Fayette Phelps Leach of East Highgate, Vt.
Arthur Dorrance of Riverton, N. J.
Katherine May Edwards of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mrs. Charles Francis Wetherell of Dorchester, Mass.
Hollis Russell Bailey of Boston, Mass.
Mrs. George Clarke Bryant of Ansonia, Conn.
James Edward Kelley of Somerville, Mass.
Mrs. Robert Burns Walker of Needham, Mass.
Winifred Holman of Watertown, Mass.

On motion it was Voted, That the annual reports of the Council, including its committees, the Librarian, the Corresponding Secretary, the Treasurer, the Trustees of the Kidder Fund, and the Historian, being presented in print and now in the hands of the meeting, be accepted and ordered filed with the originals.

On motion it was Voted, That the Society proceed to the election of officers and councillors, agreeable to the provisions of the By-Laws.

That three tellers be appointed by the Chair, and that said tellers shall distribute, receive, sort, and count the ballots, and make a report to this meeting.

That the polls be now opened, and stand open until every member present has had opportunity to vote.

The Chair appointed as tellers Messrs. HENRY BEECHER REED and HENRY JOSEPH STEVENSON and Mrs. LAWRENCE BRAINERD, and the election by ballot of officers and councillors took place.

After the polls had been closed, the Chair presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, Bishop EDWIN HOLT HUGHES, A.M., D.D., LL.D., of Malden, Mass., who read a stimulating paper entitled Three Massachusetts Clergymen, in which he gave a vivid description of the life work of Michael Wigglesworth, Adoniram Judson, and Gilbert Haven, each of whom was connected with Malden and exerted a powerful influence for good in his day and generation.

On motion of EDWARD WILLARD HOWE it was Voted, That the thanks of the Society be extended to Bishop HUGHES for his interesting paper.

The tellers then made their report, which showed that officers and councillors had been elected as follows:

President

JOHN CARROLL CHASE, of Derry, N. H.

Vice Presidents

NATHAN MATTHEWS, of Boston, Mass.
ALFRED JOHNSON, of Belfast, Me.
ALBERT HENRY LAMSON, of New London, N. H.
WILLIAM WALLACE STICKNEY, of Ludlow, Vt.
GEORGE ANDREWS MORIARTY, JR., of Newport, R. I.
GEORGE SEYMOUR GODARD, of Hartford, Conn.

Recording Secretary

HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT, of Medford, Mass.

Corresponding Secretary

THORNTON KIRKLAND LOTHROP, of Boston, Mass.

Treasurer

JAMES MELVILLE HUNNEWELL, of Boston, Mass.

Librarian

WILLIAM PRESCOTT GREENLAW, of Winthrop, Mass.

Councillors for the term of three years, 1922, 1923, 1924

MRS. SUSAN WATERS (TARBOX) CARR, of Boston, Mass.
EDWARD WILLARD HOWE, of Roxbury, Mass.
MYLES STANDISH, of Boston, Mass.

President CHASE, in a few brief words of thanks, accepted the office of President to which he had been reëlected, and then, on motion, it was Voted, That the New England Historic Genealogical Society enters on its records at this time its appreciation of the services rendered by the retiring Councillor, MRS. AGNES BEVILLE (VAUGHAN) TEDCASTLE, who during her term of office has given of her time, her thought, and her counsel that the broad purposes of the Society, the collection and preservation of genealogical records for the public benefit, might be attained.

On motion it was Voted, That the proceedings of this meeting, with the annual reports accepted and the biographical notices of deceased members, be printed as a supplement to the April, 1922, number of THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER, that a copy of said Supplement be mailed to every member of the Society not receiving the REGISTER, to the families of members deceased during the past year, and to exchanging societies, and that the Council be charged with the execution of this order.

The President then announced that Messrs. GOODSPEED and VALENTINE, proprietors of Goodspeed's Bookshop, 5A Park Street, Boston, had leased for ten years from the New England Historic Genealogical Society the entire building numbered 9A Ashburton Place, and had established there a branch of their Park Street store, that the Society had remodelled and strengthened the building, making it suitable for its new purpose, and that the members of the Society and their guests were invited to visit and inspect this new store.

The President announced also that in a few days the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution would occupy as permanent headquarters the Moses Kimball Memorial Room on the street floor of the Society's building.

No further business being presented, the Chair, at 3.50 P.M., declared the meeting dissolved, and invited the members of the Society and their guests to remain for the usual social hour. Refreshments were served under the auspices of the Committee on Papers and Essays in the tea room on the auditorium floor and also in the Moses Kimball Memorial Room on the street floor.

HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT,
Recording Secretary.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL

Prepared by Mrs. Agnes Beville (Vaughan) Tedcastle

During the year 1921 the Council has sustained heavy losses in the deaths of four of its valued and efficient members, the venerable President of the Society, James Phinney Baxter, the beloved Treasurer and generous benefactor, George Lambert Gould, and the faithful, able, and genial Councillors, William Eben Stone and Frank Ernest Woodward.

The prosperity of the Society, which has been brought about in large measure through the work of the Special Committee on Endowment and Members and the Special Committee on Mural Memorials, is gratifying, yet the need of additional funds must not be overlooked.

There is a pressing and appealing need of money for the cataloguing of the Library and for the expansion of the publication work of the Society, as well as for binding.

The Council calls attention with pride to the varied uses of the Society's Library and its other resources by conveyancers, trustees, overseers of the poor, and lawyers searching for heirs.

Our work, as the name of the Society suggests, is at once historical, genealogical, and biographical. Macaulay has well said that "History, in its state of ideal perfection, is a compound of poetry and philosophy."

The reports of the various standing and special committees, which follow this report, are so complete that detailed notice of the work of the Society is unnecessary.

The Report of the Committee on Finance, by William Prescott Greenlaw:

The legacy of $4,000 bequeathed to the Society by the late Albert Crane of Stamford, Conn., mentioned in the last two annual reports of the Committee, still remains unpaid. The Assistant Treasurer wrote to the executors of Mr. Crane's will in December 1921, and received the following reply:

"The situation concerning this estate has not materially changed since I wrote you last November [1920]. The bulk of the estate of Mr. Crane was in New York real estate, and that which is available for the payment of pecuniary legacies consists of unimproved property in the portion of the city where there is now very little demand owing to the high cost of building. This condition has continued for several years, and I cannot say when it will cease. If we were to force a sale of the property at this time, it would result in non-payment of legacies, because of insufficient estate. The first opportunity which presents itself of obtaining a sufficient price for this property will be seized, and when there are sufficient funds the legacies will be paid."

Victor Channing Sanborn, of Kenilworth, Cook Co., Ill., a resident member of this Society since 1895, by his will, dated 26 July 1918, bequeathed to this Society $1,000, without restrictions. Mr. Sanborn died 13 January 1921, and his executrix paid $957.25 to the Treasurer on 13 October 1921, being the net amount of the legacy after deducting the inheritance tax assessed by the State of Illinois.

During the year the Society's building numbered 9A Ashburton Place has been leased for ten years to Messrs. Goodspeed and Valentine, proprietors of Goodspeed's Bookshop. The change in the kind of occupancy made it necessary to strengthen the building and to do considerable fireproofing. This property as a lodging house has been far from profitable while held by the Society. Under this lease it will hereafter produce a satisfactory return. The character of its new use will also be more in keeping with the Society's work.

The new Treasurer, Mr. James Melville Hunnewell, who was elected at the December meeting of the Society, has made a change in the treatment of dues and subscriptions, so that hereafter they will appear in the accounts of the years to which they belong. This will materially affect the Treasurer's annual report, and will make a large apparent deficit for 1921. For the purpose of comparison with former accounts the amounts of dues and subscriptions collected in advance in 1921 but carried over to 1922 need to be taken into consideration.

The Committee has been particularly unfortunate this year in the loss of its oldest and its most active members, Hon. James Phinney Baxter, Chairman since 9 January 1901, and Mr. George Lambert Gould, Treasurer since 6 February 1918 and a member of the Committee since 2 May 1917. Both of these men were much interested in the welfare of the Society and were regular attendants at the meetings of this committee.

The Librarian, who has been also Assistant Treasurer, by appointment of the Council, since 2 January 1918, carried on the work of the Treasurer's office, after Mr. Gould became incapacitated early in August, until the new Treasurer was elected in December.

The Report of the Committee on Ways and Means, by William Streeter Richardson, Chairman:

The conditions as reported for the year 1920 have been continued through 1921 with marked success by the work of the Special Committee on Endowment and Members and that of the Special Committee on Mural Memorials. The resulting improvement in finances and in the interior interest and decoration of our house is very gratifying.

The Report of the Committee on Increase of Membership, by Myles Standish, A.M., M.D., S.D., Chairman:

This committee has been inactive again this year because its field has been fully occupied by the Special Committee on Endowment and Members, of which the Chairman of this committee has been a member.

When the work of the Special Committee is finished, this one will again resume its activities.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON SALE OF PUBLICATIONS, by Charles Eliot Goodspeed, Chairman:

In 1921 the sales of miscellaneous publications were somewhat less than in 1920. The circulation of the NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER increased slightly.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PUBLICATIONS, by James Parker Parmenter, A.M., LL.B., Chairman:

The Committee on Publications reports that during the year 1921 the work of preparing for publication the voluminous Vital Records of Nantucket has been continued from time to time, as opportunity offered, and that considerable work also has been done in compiling the records of other towns. The high cost of printing, however, still renders it inadvisable to proceed with the publication of vital records under the law providing for the purchase and distribution of these books by the Commonwealth.

The REGISTER, with its Supplements, has been published as usual, the issues for 1921 forming the seventy-fifth volume of this magazine.

The Report of the COMMITTEE TO ASSIST THE HISTORIAN, by Andrew Fiske, Ph.D., LL.B., Chairman:

The Committee to Assist the Historian has the honor to report that it has held one meeting during the year, namely on 20 December 1921, when it rendered to the Historian such assistance as he required.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON ENGLISH RESEARCH, by George Andrews Moriarty, Jr., A.M., LL.B., Chairman:

During the past year the work of the Committee has been kept up as usual. The article in the REGISTER on the Gifford ancestry of William Sargent, dating back to 1284, has been continued and finished, and records have been furnished by the Chairman of the Committee as the result of his investigations in the winter of 1920–21 in England. The Chairman collected a large amount of material while in England, and some of this has been placed at the disposal of the REGISTER.

Meantime arrangements have been made for the purchase of an article on the Weeden family from Mrs. Elizabeth (French) Bartlett, and an article on the Jenkin family has been secured from Eben Putnam, partly at the expense of the Committee and partly at the expense of the Chairman, who also worked on the problem regarding the Eaton-Jenkins family of Kent.

On 21 December 1921, under the auspices of the Committee on Papers and Essays, an open forum was held for the discussion of English Research, which was well attended and showed that the members of the Society have great interest in this branch of genealogical investigation.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON HERALDRY, by Robert Dickson Weston, A.B., Chairman:

The Committee notices a marked revival of interest in the subject of heraldry. A number of applications for the registration of fine old coats have been made or come into view during the past year. We have carried our work far enough to be convinced that several hundred arms will ultimately be registered and that our records will furnish picturesque evidence that the colonists brought to New England much more of gentle blood than has usually been supposed.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE LIBRARY, by Mrs. Mary Ella (Stickney) Randall:

Registration of visitors to the Library shows a gain of more than forty per cent over the previous year. This increase brings the registration slightly above the point indicated for 1921 by the trend of the last thirty years. The registration in 1921 was six times larger than in 1892. The recovery from the depression caused by the World War has been much more rapid than during the period following the War with Spain. In that case registration did not get back to normal until 1905. The continued growth of interest in American family history as measured by the use of this library is very gratifying, and indicates that the Society is effectively carrying on the work it was chartered to perform.

The accessions for the year are considerably above the average in number, but not as many genealogies as usual have been acquired. The decrease in family histories published is almost wholly due to the excessive cost of printing.

During the year a much larger amount of rebinding has been accomplished, yet much more needs to be done in the immediate future.

It has been necessary this year to withdraw many duplicates from use and to rearrange the books in the entire second tier of the stack to provide space for the growth of the collections of directories and States outside of New England.

Estimates were obtained for the erection of a two-tier stack in one of the great vaults, where the Society's rare books and manuscripts are kept. The cost of doing this at present is so high that the Committee did not think it expedient to undertake it now.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON COLLECTION OF RECORDS, by Walter Kendall Watkins, Chairman:

During the year 1921 the manuscript collections received numbered fourteen. Nine of these were notes on the following families: Miles, Lovett, Cable, Greenleaf, Fish, Lawrence, Wilmarth, Williams, and Ammidown.

The more extensive collections of notes were compiled by Hon. Holmes Ammidown, Rev. Arthur W. Stanford, and Mrs. Ethel Stanwood Bolton.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON EPITAPHS, by Harold Clarke Durrell, A.B., Chairman:

The Committee on Epitaphs reports the receipt during the year 1921 of a pamphlet of 135 pages entitled "Burials and Inscriptions in the Walnut Street Cemetery, Brookline, Mass.," the gift of Harriet Alma Cummings of Brookline, of copies of inscriptions in the Valley View Cemetery, Ticonderoga, N. Y., in the Baker Street Burying Ground, Schroon Lake, Essex Co., N. Y., and in the cemetery at South Schroon, Essex Co., N. Y., gifts from Mrs. Frank Haviland of Holliston, Mass., and of a pamphlet of 64 pages, entitled "Three Ancient Cemeteries in New Hampshire," the gift of Annie Sanford Head of Boston.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PAPERS AND ESSAYS, by Mrs. Florence Reynolds (Conant) Howes, Chairman:

The Committee on Papers and Essays provided the following eight lectures for the stated meetings of the year 1921:

5 January.—"John Singleton Copley and His Sitters," by Frank W. Bayley of Boston.

2 February.—"The Boston of Bulfinch," by Martha A. S. Shannon of Boston.

2 March.—"The Influence of the Dissenting Spirit upon the New England Character," by Hon. Charles Grenfill Washburn, A.B., S.B., of Worcester, Mass.

6 April.—"Changing Ideals in Education," by Sarah Louise Arnold, A.M., Dean Emerita of Simmons College.

4 May.—"Old New England Gardens," by Loring Underwood of Boston.

5 October.—"American Doorways of the Eighteenth Century," by Edwin James Hipkiss, Keeper in the Department of Western Art, Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.

2 November.—"The Spirit of Maine," by Alfred Johnson, A.M., Litt.D., Vice President for Maine.

7 December.—"Beautiful New Hampshire," by George N. Cross, A.M., of Randolph, N. H.

Six of the lectures were illustrated with stereopticon views, and all were followed by a social hour in the tea room.

On 21 December, in commemoration of Forefathers' Day, the Committee arranged an extra meeting. It took the form of an open forum in which "English Research" was discussed under the leadership of G. Andrews Moriarty, Jr., Chairman of the Committee on English Research. This experiment proved so successful that requests for similar meetings have been received and are under consideration.

The average attendance for the year was 287, the largest since 1913, the first year in the new building.

The Committee takes this opportunity to express its appreciation of the generosity of various members of the Society who have contributed towards defraying the expenses of the meetings.

The Report of the SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON ENDOWMENT AND MEMBERS, by Mrs. Florence Reynolds (Conant) Howes, Secretary:

By action of the Council the work of the Special Committee on Endowment and Members was continued for a third year, and, although financial conditions prevented as brilliant a success as in the two years previous, the results have been satisfactory, and the Committee is deeply appreciative of the gracious responses from many donors.

Members who had already contributed generous gifts added to their donations, and others who had heretofore not been affiliated with the Society sent contributions of various amounts.

The interest thus manifested by individuals in all parts of the country in the work that the Society is doing leads the Committee to suggest that its activities be continued along similar lines, perhaps by one of the standing committees of the Society, and that special consideration be given to the work of securing new members.

The Report of the SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON MURAL MEMORIALS, by Robert Dickson Weston, A.B., Chairman:

Some seventy-six tablets have been paid or subscribed for, and the duty of getting them inscribed properly, designed by competent artists, carved in wood or stone, and erected in suitable places on the walls of the corridors and stairways has fallen on this committee.

Each tablet presents its own peculiar problems. The wishes of the donor in respect to the inscription must be complied with, so far as space, truth, propriety, artistic requirements, and economy permit. The inscription must be phrased and arranged. The artist must be chosen, and his work, not only with reference to taste but with reference to economy, must be supervised. And, finally, the place for the tablet must be selected so as to produce an effect that is harmonious without being monotonous.

The semipublic nature of the work has stimulated an interest and friendly rivalry among young architects. The result has been that we have been able to employ a much higher order of artistic taste and skill than our means commanded. The artists have done their part for a nominal price.

It requires little imagination to understand that the work of this committee cannot be finished in haste. Every portion of it takes time—time on the part of the Committee and time on the part of those who coöperate in producing the tablets. There are now twenty-four tablets in place, four more in the hands of the stonecutters, besides the tablet to Lincoln, which is nearly ready to be cast in bronze, four more have been designed, and four are being designed.

Your committee is pleased with most of the tablets that are now in place, and thinks that they add much to the interest and dignity of the building.

The Chairman cannot refrain from paying a tribute to the tact and devotion of the Secretary, Mrs. Howes, and to the cheerful patience with which she has held the rest of us to the performance of our respective tasks.

The Report of the SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON ROLLS OF MEMBERSHIP, by William Prescott Greenlaw:

In 1892 the Society published a volume of "Rolls of Membership of the New England Historic Genealogical Society" from its beginning to the end of the year 1891, with complete records of the various classes of members for the period covered. Since 1891 the Corresponding Secretaries have kept an alphabetical list of all members admitted, and the Treasurers have kept alphabetical lists of the several classes of members; but neither the Treasurers nor the Secretaries have continued the rolls of membership in chronological order. In September 1920 the Librarian was appointed by the Council to continue the work of the former committee and complete the rolls to date.

Considerable progress has been made on this task during the last sixteen months. The record of all members living at the beginning of 1892 has been made nearly complete by filling in the date and manner of all memberships which have terminated and adding data relating to degrees and changes from one class of membership to another, and most of the information has been gathered and checked up for the continuation of the rolls since that date.

There are on the membership lists, at the beginning of 1922, 12 Honorary, 48 Corresponding, 533 Pilgrim Tercentenary, 436 Life, and 818 Resident Members, a total of 1847 in all classes. Of the Life Members, there are 65 in the thirty-dollar, 322 in the fifty-dollar, and 49 in the one-hundred-dollar divisions; and of the Resident Members, there are 73 in the three-dollar, 611 in the five-dollar and 134 in the ten-dollar divisions. This does not include a number of persons who have paid in advance and will become Resident or Life Members early in 1922.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

Presented by WILLIAM PRESCOTT GREENLAW

THE total accessions for the year 1921 number 2521 volumes, 556 pamphlets, and 54 miscellaneous articles. Of these, 175 volumes and 71 pamphlets were purchased; 2291 volumes, 481 pamphlets, and 54 miscellaneous articles were given or deposited; and 55 volumes and 4 pamphlets were received in exchange. One hundred and sixty-nine genealogies were acquired during the year.

There has been an increase in the number of persons seeking genealogical information, especially towards the end of the year.

A large number of modern directories have been added, and many files of New England cities made complete or nearly so. It is believed that, when it becomes generally known that the Society has such a large collection of directories, this department will be much more useful.

MEMOIRS

NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

Prepared by Rev. LEWIS WILDER HICKS, M.A., Historian

THE following pages contain obituary notices of members who died during the year 1921, with the addition of nineteen who died in preceding years. The notices are arranged in the order in which the deaths occurred.

JOHN EDWARD DEVLIN, of Boston, a life member since 1898, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., 11 April 1851, the son of John Edward and Martha Josephine (Day) Devlin, and died in Boston 16 December 1902. His father was born in Manchester, England, but his grandfather, Daniel Devlin, was of Belfast, Ireland. His mother, Martha Josephine Day, was born at Royalton, Vt., and was a descendant of Robert[1] Day, who came to New England in 1634 in the Elizabeth from Ipswich, co. Suffolk, England, and was one of the first settlers of Hartford, Conn., through John,[2] John,[3] Benjamin,[4] Benjamin,[5] and Ebenezer,[6] her father.

Coming to this country as a young man of promise, Mr. Devlin's father was induced by Daniel Draper of Boston, a shipping merchant, to enter into partnership with his son David, and the firm of Draper & Devlin was formed. When David Draper retired from the firm, at the time of the Civil War, the name was changed to John E. Devlin & Company, and, on the coming to manhood of the subject of this sketch, the name of the firm was again changed to John E. Devlin & Son. Both the Devlins, father and son, were ardent Americans. Though they lived much of the time abroad with their families, they did not become denationalized, but their love for the United States was intensified by their absence. John Edward Devlin, Jr., spoke French, Italian, Spanish, and various Sicilian dialects.

Mr. Devlin was a Republican in politics, and was quite unable to understand the drift away from this party of the young men who had been brought up in the Republican tradition. He was a member of the Union Club of Boston and a devout Unitarian, a regular worshipper at King's Chapel in Boston and at the First Church in Wilton, N. H., his summer home.

He married, 17 September 1873, Mary Eliza Davis, daughter of Adolphus and Mary Robbins (Draper) Davis. She survived him, and died 13 January 1918. Their children were Marjorie Standish Devlin, now Mrs. Francis J. Moors of Boston, and John Edward Devlin, now deceased.

Silvanus Jenkins Macy, of Avon, N. Y., elected a resident member in 1868 and made a life member in 1870, was born in New York City 28 July 1833, the son of William Henry and Eliza Leggett (Jenkins) Macy, and died at Avon in 1902, his death having been reported in the Necrology for 1920. He traced his descent from Thomas[1] Macy of Newbury, Salisbury, and Nantucket, Mass., through John[2] of Nantucket, John,[3] Jonathan,[4] Jonathan,[5] Josiah[6] of Nantucket and of Rye, N. Y., and William Henry[7] of Nantucket and New York City, his father.

His life was that of a business man. He was for a time in the coal business in New York, and that city was his residence when he joined the Society. Thence he moved to Sodus Point, N. Y., on Lake Ontario, where he was interested, with the late E. H. Harriman, in building the Sodus Bay & Southern Railroad, which ran from Stanley, N. Y., to Lake Ontario, and is now a part of the Pennsylvania Railroad system. Shortly after that he moved to Rochester, N. Y., where he continued in the coal business, in which he was interested until the time of his death. For several years he was receiver of the Rochester, State Line & Southern Railway, now the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railway. He was a vice president of the Rochester Savings Bank and president of the Homeopathic Hospital, and was interested in numerous other enterprises in that city.

He compiled the "Genealogy of the Macy Family from 1635–1868," a volume of 457 pages, which was published at Albany, N. Y., in 1868.

Mr. Macy married first, in Philadelphia, Pa., 27 October 1853, Caroline Ridgway, born in Philadelphia 6 December 1833, daughter of Thomas and Sarah (Pancoast) Ridgway; and secondly, in 1871, Juliet Wasson of Philadelphia, who survives him, together with three daughters by his first wife, Mrs. S. F. Jenkins (Eliza Leggett Macy) of Rochester, Mrs. George Marwick (Sarah Ridgway Macy) of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Richard B. Harris (Cornelia Walker Macy) of Rochester, and two children by his second wife, Silvanus Jenkins Macy, Jr., of Avon and Mrs. Arioch Wentworth (Cecile Rushe Macy) of Swampscott, Mass.

George Henry Leonard, of Boston, elected a resident member in 1897 and made a life member in 1898, was born at Marlborough, Mass., 26 June 1837, and died in Boston 10 February 1909.

He came to Boston as a young man, and became a partner in the firm of Murdock & Bundy, manufacturers and dealers in tanners' materials. Later the name of the firm was changed to George H. Leonard & Company. Its place of business on Congress Street was burned out in the great Boston fire in 1872, and a new location was found on India Street. Mr. Leonard retired from active business in 1906, but he continued as a special partner in the firm of Marden, North & Hastings, the successors to his former business.

He was active in the Chamber of Commerce, and had been its

Fred Hannibal Seavey, of Boston, a resident member since 1901, was born in Boston 1 April 1854, the son of Charles Thompson and Emily Eastman (Fernald) Seavey, and died there, unmarried, 2 January 1912. His great-grandfather was Joseph Seavey of Rye, N. H., and his grandfather was Samuel Seavey of East Concord, N. H., where his father was born. His mother was sixth in descent from Roger Eastman of Salisbury, Mass., who came over from England in 1638.

Mr. Seavey was educated in the public schools of Cambridge, Mass., had served as deputy sheriff and special sheriff, and was, when he joined the Society, the sheriff of Suffolk County, Mass.

Robert Inglee Carter, A.B., of Cincinnati, Ohio, elected a resident member in 1888 and made a life member in 1889, was born at Petersham, Mass., 10 September 1868, the son of William and Jane Loring (Coolidge) Carter, and died at White Plains, N. Y., 9 March 1914. He traced his descent from Rev. Thomas[1] Carter, M.A. (St. John's College, Cambridge), the first minister at Woburn, Mass., through Rev. Samuel,[2] A.B. (Harvard, 1660), and his wife, Eunice (Brooks), Samuel[3] and his wife, Dorothy (Wilder), Ephraim[4] and his wife, Mary (Osgood), Oliver[5] and his wife, Emily (?Harrington), Timothy Harrington[6] and his wife, Martha (Clark), and William[7] and Jane Loring (Coolidge), his parents. His mother, born in Boston, was daughter of William Dawes and Caroline Bass (Inglee) Coolidge.

At the age of three years he had a severe fall, resulting in hip disease, which caused his mother, his father having died in 1870, to take him, when eight years old, to Europe for a cure. For four years they visited the countries of western Europe; and there he laid the foundation of his education, first in Seville, Spain, at the Colegio de San Lorenzo, and afterwards, for three years, being much stronger in body, at Wellington College, Berkshire, England, where his participation in the sports and games which form such an important part of education in England was of priceless benefit for his physical development. He returned to the United States in September 1886, spent two years in direct preparation for college at the Roxbury Latin School, and was graduated at Harvard in 1892.

In the same year he was appointed musical and dramatic critic of The Times-Star of Cincinnati. In 1896 he represented several papers at the Wagner festival at Bayreuth, and in the summer of 1897 he made a tour through the Orkneys and the Shetland Islands, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, and Russia. In September 1900 he wrote a series of articles for The Times-Star from Paris, having been appointed managing editor of that paper in 1898. In November 1900 he became editor of The Baltimore Herald, in January 1903 he was on the staff of The New York Herald, in 1904 he was the editor in charge of the Paris edition of The New York Herald, and in 1905 was on the New York staff of that paper. In the fall of 1906 he served as manager of the American tour of Saint-Saëns, the famous French composer

After that he was connected with various dramatic organizations in a managerial capacity up to the time of his death.

Mr. Carter was an accomplished linguist and a writer of note.

He married, 2 March 1891, Mary Elizabeth Peckham of Central Village, Orange Co., N. Y.

Charles Elihu Slocum, M.D., Ph.D., of Toledo, Ohio, elected a resident member in 1899 and made a life member in 1906, was born at Northville, Fulton Co., N. Y., 30 December 1841, the son of Caleb Wright and Elizabeth (Bass) Slocum, and died at Toledo 7 July 1915. He was eighth in descent from Anthony[1] Slocombe, a colonist from Taunton, co. Somerset, England, and an original purchaser of the present site of Taunton, Mass., through Giles,[2] Eliezer,[3] Eliezer,[4] John,[5] Eleazer,[6] Joseph,[7] and Caleb Wright,[8] his father.

He was educated in the schools of his native town, at the Fort Edward Collegiate Institute, and at Poughkeepsie, and later taught in public schools and in teachers' institutes. While teaching at Albion, Mich., in 1865, he began the study of medicine with Dr. Willoughby O'Donoughue, a former army surgeon, and later attended the medical department of the University of Michigan, the Detroit Medical College, and the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, in New York City, where he received the degree of Doctor of Medicine in 1869. He began the practice of medicine with his brother, Dr. Jacob Slocum, in Shelbyville, Ind., but in 1871 he removed to Defiance, Ohio. He spent parts of several years in postgraduate studies, receiving the degree of Doctor of Medicine again at the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia in 1876 and that of Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Pennsylvania in 1877. He studied also at the University of Vienna in 1879. His practice included delicate work in specialties as well as capital surgical operations.

He was at one time president of the Defiance Medical Society, and was a member of the Ohio State Medical Society from 1874 on. He was president of the Fort Defiance Scientific Association from its organization in 1897, and vice president of the Ohio State Academy of Science in 1897. He was a member also of the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences, the American Microscopical Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the American Academy of Political Science. For several years he served as United States examining surgeon for pensions and as examiner for numerous insurance and other companies, and he was for an extended period professor of psychology and ethics in the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Cleveland, Ohio.

In 1882 Dr. Slocum published "A Short History of the Slocums, Slocumbs and Slocombs of America, Genealogical and Biographical; embracing Eleven Generations of the First-Named Family from 1637 to 1881." He also wrote a history of the Maumee Valley Basin.

Dr. Slocum was chosen a director of the Defiance National Bank in 1874, and upon its reorganization as the First National Bank he became director and vice president. He was a heavy stockholder of the Defiance Savings Bank, and, after its consolidation in 1887 with the Merchants National Bank, was a director and at one time vice president and acting president of the latter. He was also interested in several of the principal manufactories of the city.

In 1894 he presented a library building to the Ohio Wesleyan University, at Delaware, Ohio, of which he was a trustee from 1894 to 1899. His private library, of ten thousand volumes, was open at all times to the people of Defiance, and, when the new library building was erected there, a large space was set apart in it for the Charles E. Slocum Reference Library, containing three thousand volumes. Later this collection was removed to Defiance College.

In 1910 Dr. Slocum moved to Toledo, Ohio, where he resided until his death. In addition to the medical and scientific organizations already mentioned, he was a member of the Maumee Valley Historical Association, the Ohio State Archæological Society, the Old Colony Historical Society of Taunton, Mass., and various Masonic bodies. He was a devoted member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

He married, in 1900, Dr. Isabel Sophia Craver of Toledo.

John Parkinson, of Boston, a life member since 1892, was born at Roxbury, Mass., 1 September 1842, the son of John and Anne Outram (Davis) Parkinson, and died 29 October 1918. He was descended from John Parkinson, a clergyman of the Church of England, who was born in Ireland, came to Delaware, and married, as his second wife, Jane Patterson. They had one child, William, who was born in Delaware in 1748, and married in Essequibo, British Guiana, 8 April 1784, Mary Reading, daughter of Dr. William Reading. Their son John, the father of the subject of this sketch, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., 20 March 1800. John Parkinson's mother, Anne Outram Davis, was born in Boston 25 March 1805, the daughter of Edward and Eliza (Outram) Davis.

John Parkinson was educated in the public schools of Jamaica Plain, Mass.

In 1862 he enlisted in the Forty-fourth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, for service in the war for the preservation of the Union, and in 1863 he was promoted to a lieutenancy in the same regiment.

His business was that of a banker and broker, and he was a member of the firm of Parkinson & Burr, of Boston and New York.

In 1866 he joined the Boston Stock Exchange, of which he was president in 1900, 1901, and 1902, and from 1879 to 1893 he was a member of the New York Stock Exchange. He was vice president of the West End Street Railway Company and a director in the Boston Steamship Company and the Hamilton Manufacturing Company.

For several years, from 1902 on, he was a vestryman in Trinity Church, Boston.

He married, 1 June 1881, Gertrude Weld, daughter of Francis Minot and Elizabeth (Rodman) Weld.

Mrs. Jessie Noyes (Chesebrough) Larkin, of Westerly, R. I., a resident member since 1909, was born at Stonington, Conn., 31 October 1848, the daughter of Joseph and Louisa Stanton (Noyes) Chesebrough, and died at Westerly 7 July 1919. She was a descendant of William[1] Chesebrough of Boston, Rehoboth in the Plymouth Colony, and Stonington, Conn., through Samuel,[2] Samuel,[3] Joseph,[4] Samuel,[5] Elias,[6] and Joseph,[7] her father. On the maternal side she was descended from Rev. James[2] Noyes, for fifty-five years pastor of the First Church of Stonington.

She was educated in the common schools of Stonington and, for one year, at the North Granville (N. Y.) Seminary.

She was married, 23 November 1871, to Frank Larkin, son of Daniel Franklin and Martha (Hiscox) Larkin. Their four children were Frank Provost Larkin, Albert Chesebrough Larkin, Jessie Louise Larkin, and Daniel Franklin Larkin.

Thomas Winston Burnham, A.B., of Cleveland, Ohio, a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1919, was born in Cleveland 22 January 1844, the fourth child of Thomas and Maria Louisa (White) Burnham, and died at Pasadena, Calif., 2 March 1920.

He was educated in the public schools and at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., where he received his academic degree in 1864.

After leaving college he engaged in business in Leavenworth, Kans., St. Louis, Mo., and New York City, returning to Cleveland in the early seventies to join his father in the Star Elevator Company, an enterprise with which he was connected up to the time of his death. He was also president of the Kilby Manufacturing Company, chairman of the Board of Directors of the National City Bank, and a director in the H. H. Hill Company, the Union Trust Company, the Cleveland Stockyards Company, and the Cleveland Burial Case Company.

He belonged to the Union, Roadside, Country, Mayfield, and University Clubs of Cleveland and to the University Club of New York. He was a vestryman in Trinity Cathedral.

He married, in 1869, Mary Kate Holliday Coll. Two daughters survive him, Mrs. George Wilbert Grandin (Mabel Gordon Burnham) and Mrs. J. P. Burton (Kate Burnham). Mrs. Grandin succeeds to her father's Pilgrim Tercentenary membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

Robert Oatley Dodge, of Lakewood, Ohio, a resident member since 1918, was born at Cortland, Trumbull Co., Ohio, 26 October 1896, the son of Charles Rufus and Anna Blanche (Oatley) Dodge, and died at Lakewood 12 March 1920. He claimed descent from Tristram Dodge of Block Island; but the earliest Dodge ancestor from whom his line of descent has been proved is Jeremiah, born in Connecticut in 1742, from whom the line runs through Eusebius, born at Lyme, Conn., in 1771, Jeremiah, born at Lyme in 1798, Hiram Lake, born at Dodgeville, Ashtabula Co., Ohio, in 1831, and Charles Rufus, born at Dodgeville in 1866, father of Robert Oatley. The Dodge family emigrated from Lyme, Conn., and settled at Dodgeville, Ohio, in September 1811. His mother's ancestors emigrated from Virginia and settled in Cortland, Trumbull Co., Ohio, in 1810. Mr. Dodge was also a descendant of Elder William Brewster of the Mayflower.

He was graduated at the Lakewood High School and subsequently attended, for one year, the Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland, Ohio, where he studied civil engineering, but, his health failing, he was unable to complete the course. He afterwards entered the banking business and became auditor of the State Banking and Trust Company of Cleveland and a director of the savings division of that institution.

He was a member of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Hon. William Henry Gove, A.B., LL.B., of Salem, Mass., a resident member since 1913, was born at South Berwick, Me., 4 September 1851, the son of Levi and Mary (Meader) Gove, and died at Salem 14 April 1920. He was descended from John[1] Gove, who came to Charlestown, Mass., from London, with his family, and died in 1647/8, through Edward[2] of Salisbury, Mass., and Hampton, N. H., John[3] of Hampton, John,[4] Daniel,[5] Daniel,[6] Moses,[7] and Levi,[8] his father.

His early education was gained at the district schools in South Berwick, at Oak Grove Seminary, Vassalborough, Me., and at the grammar school in Lynn, Mass. He was graduated from the Lynn High School in 1869, entered Harvard College in 1872, and received there the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1876. He had been admitted to practise law at Salem in 1872, and after graduating at Harvard College he continued the study of law at the Harvard Law School and received there the degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1877.

He practised his profession in Salem from 1877 to 1900, and then became the president and general manager of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, holding this position until his death.

He was vice president of the Salem Safe Deposit & Trust Company, a member of the School Committee of Lynn, 1878–1881, an alderman of Salem, 1894–1896, a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives from Salem, 1903 and 1904, serving on the Judiciary Committee, and a member of the Executive Council of Massachusetts, 1910 and 1911. A student of political economy, he devised a system for solving the question of proportional representation.

He was a director of the Essex Institute, Salem, and a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science and of the Salem and Colonial Clubs. He was a Republican in politics, a Unitarian in religion, and a Mason.

He married, 5 January 1882, Aroline Chase Pinkham, daughter of Isaac and Lydia (Estes) Pinkham, who survives him, together with four children, William Pinkham Gove, Lydia Pinkham Gove, Mrs. Mary (Gove) Putnam, and Mrs. Caroline (Gove) Doty.

Rev. Mary Clementine Collins, of Keokuk, Iowa, a resident member since 1903, was born at Alton, Ill., 18 April 1846, the daughter of Ephraim and Margaret (Lewis) Collins, and died at Keokuk 25 May 1920. She traced her descent from Benjamin[1] Collins of Salisbury, Mass., who married, 5 November 1668, Martha Eaton, daughter of John, through Ephraim,[2] Ephraim,[3] Levi,[4] who married Abigail Stanton, and Ephraim,[5] her father. Her grandmother, Abigail (Stanton) Collins, was fifth in descent from Thomas[1] Stanton of Hartford and Stonington, Conn., and among the ancestors of this Abigail Stanton were the Wheelers and Thompsons of Connecticut.

Her parents moved to Keokuk, Iowa, in 1847, and she was educated in the public schools of Keokuk and in the private school of Miss Lucy L. Seymour.

In 1875, at the age of twenty-nine years, after having taught for about three years, Miss Collins went to Dakota as a missionary to the Sioux Indians, under the auspices of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. She lived on the Cheyenne River Agency, in Dakota Territory, until 1885, and then removed to the Standing Rock Reservation, in North Dakota, where she had charge of a mission field. In 1889 she was ordained to the ministry. When the missionary work among the Indians was transferred, in 1903, from the American Board to the American Missionary Association, she continued her labors under the direction of the latter organization, until her health failed. She was universally beloved by the Indians, who adopted her into the tribe, with the name of Winona, "daughter." She was chosen by the Sioux Indians on the reservation to witness all papers executed by them, for she spoke their language and did everything in her power to protect them in their rights.

She was well-known as a speaker in behalf of the Indians, and supported President Roosevelt and others in their efforts to give the Indians their due.

Walter Cleveland Cogswell, of Scituate, Mass., a life member since 1916, was born in Boston 24 August 1854, the son of John Cleveland and Mary (Brown) Cogswell, and died at Scituate 6 July 1920.

He was a pupil at the Dwight School, Boston, where he was awarded two certificates of honor and one of the last of the Franklin Medals, and was graduated at the English High School in 1870. He entered the woolen house of Faulkner, Page & Company, where he remained until he took up the study of the law, which he practised successfully until his death. Although enjoying a lucrative practice, he was not well known to the general public, but among his brother lawyers he was highly esteemed on account of his ability. He was counsel for several insurance companies, and served as president of the Atlantic Health & Accident Company, in Boston, in the organization of which he took a leading part. He had the distinction of being one of the few lawyers who have persuaded the Supreme Court of Massachusetts to reverse its decisions.

Since 1887 he had spent his winters in Newton Centre and his summers in Scituate, which was his legal residence for many years.

He married, in November 1882, Laura D. Tedford, who survives him, together with three children, Walter Cleveland Cogswell, Jr., John Alfred Cogswell, B.A. (Williams, 1911), and Mary Elizabeth Cogswell.

Hon. William Franklin Dana, A.B., LL.B., of Newton, Mass., a resident member since 1902, was born at Somerville, Mass., 26 June 1863, the son of Thomas and Mary Catharine (Baldwin) Dana, and died unmarried at Orford, N. H., 5 August 1920. He traced his descent from Richard[1] Dana of Cambridge, Mass., through Daniel,[2] Thomas,[3] Thomas,[4] Thomas,[5] Thomas,[6] William,[7] and Thomas,[8] his father.

He was prepared for college in the Boston public schools and in the Hopkinson School, was graduated at Harvard in 1884, and received the degree of Bachelor of Laws from the Harvard Law School in 1887.

For several years he was engaged in the practice of law in Boston, both by himself and as a member of the firms of Dana & Bates and Choate & Dana. In 1897 he was a member of the Common Council of Newton, and in 1898, 1899, and 1900 he served as an alderman of the same city. He was vice president of the Board in 1900, and was reëlected to the Board for 1900–1901, but resigned to become a member, as a Republican, of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. He represented Newton in this body in 1901, 1902, and 1903, was elected to the Massachusetts Senate for 1904, 1905, and 1906, and was president of the Senate in the two last-mentioned years. His services on important committees in the Legislature were notable. He was placed on the Judiciary Committee, which was concerned with the revision and publication of the revised laws, and he was made chairman of the Committee on Insurance. In 1903 he was made chairman of the committee to revise the corporation laws of the State. He was afterwards appointed chairman of the special committee on the salaries of members and county officials, and took an important part in the deliberations and findings of the committee. He was also chairman of the Committee on Street Railways and served on the Committee on Rules. In July 1906 he was appointed by Governor Guild a justice of the Superior Court of Massachusetts, a position which he filled with ability and success.

His writings include the following: "The Optimism of Ralph Waldo Emerson" (a Bowdoin Prize essay, 1886), "The Behring Sea Controversy" (in The New England Magazine, 1890), "Monopoly under the National Anti-Trust Act" (in The Harvard Law Review, 1894), "Federal Restraints upon State Regulation of Railroad Rates of Fare and Freight" (ib., 1896), "The Declaration of Independence" (ib., 1900), and "The Supreme Court and the Sherman Anti-Trust Act" (ib., 1902).

He was a member of the Middlesex Bar Association, the Boston Bar Association, the Abstract Club of Boston, the University Club, the Republican Club of Massachusetts, and various local organizations.

MRS. HELENA AUGUSTA (COX) RAYMOND, of Brookline, Mass., a life member since 1912, was born at Sherbrooke, Province of Quebec, Canada, 26 May 1874, the daughter of Orson and Cordelia (Wiley) Cox, and died at Brookline 17 November 1920, her death having been reported in the Necrology for 1920.

Mrs. Raymond was active in charitable work.

She was married, 7 February 1900, to Arthur C. Raymond, who survives her.

JOHN HENRY CARTLAND, of Bristol, Me., a resident member since 1913, was born at Vassalborough, Me., 22 October 1841, the son of Elijah Pope and Sarah Brackett (Partridge) Cartland, and died in Boston 25 November 1920. He was a descendant of John[1] Cartland, who came from Scotland and settled at Dover, N. H., through Joseph,[2] John,[3] and Elijah Pope,[4] his father. He was also a descendant of Kenelm Winslow of Marshfield in the Plymouth Colony, his grandmother, Tabitha (Pope) Cartland, being a daughter of Elijah and Phebe (Winslow) Pope and fifth in descent from Kenelm Winslow.

He was educated in the common schools of Winslow, Me., and at the Phonetic School, taught by Miss Abby Larry at Windham Centre, Me., and spent one term and a half at Oak Grove Seminary, Vassalborough, a school that was under the management of the Society of Friends.

He taught school for a while at Bristol, afterwards went to Africa, and upon his return settled in Portland, Me., where he was engaged in business with his father, a carpenter and master mason. For a time he was in business in Wakefield, Mass. His loss of property there was the occasion of his failure in health and of his going to Pemaquid Beach, in Bristol, where he became interested in the remains of Fort William Henry, which was located on property at that time (1888) owned by his uncle. The greater part of his life thereafter was given to the study of the history of the place, to excavating its relics, and to gathering portraits and pictures pertaining to it. He acted also as agent of the Eastern Steamship Company.

For many years he was custodian of the castle of Fort William Henry, which held many of the relics collected by him. The interest which he took in the history of Pemaquid Beach is well shown in his two publications: "Ten Years at Pemaquid," 1899, and a "Brief Sketch of Pemaquid," 1912 (partly written by H. O. McCrillis of Boston).

Mr. Cartland was also deeply interested in the early Indians, particularly those of New England, and in the Quakers, one of his brothers being a Quaker minister. He also was well acquainted with the history of ships and from early days loved the sea. He was a connoisseur of music and pictures, and was skilful in the use of the camera.

He married, in Boston, 19 August 1867, Georgianna Edgecomb, daughter of William and Rachel (Chick) Edgecomb. Of their four children a daughter, Ida May, now Mrs. John Joseph Canty of Bedford, Mass., a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, survives him.

George Washington Brackenridge, of San Antonio, Tex., a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1919, was born in Indiana 14 January 1832, the son of John Brackenridge, and died unmarried at his home, "Fern Ridge," San Antonio, 28 December 1920, his death having been reported in the Necrology for 1920. His father, a lawyer and merchant, was a friend of Abraham Lincoln, and from his library Lincoln borrowed many of the books from which he obtained his education. The elder Brackenridge moved with his family to Texas a few years before the Civil War.

George Washington Brackenridge was a student at the Harvard Law School in 1860–61, and, when the War broke out, went to Washington and offered his services to the Government. President Lincoln placed him in the Treasury Department, and, after New Orleans was captured by the Federal forces, Mr. Brackenridge was sent there to take charge of commissary stores and remained there until the end of the War. During the period of his residence in New Orleans he was sent by President Lincoln to Benito Juárez in Mexico, who was then in revolt against the Emperor Maximilian, with a message that the United States, in accordance with the Monroe Doctrine, would respect Mexican sovereignty, when once it was established. After the War Mr. Brackenridge lived for a time in Jackson County, Tex. While a student at Harvard he had completed courses both in surveying and in law, and, although he never practised law, he did considerable surveying in eastern Texas. In 1866 he moved to San Antonio and founded the San Antonio National Bank, remaining at its head until 1912. He was a large purchaser of real estate near the city, and at one time owned all the land on which Fort Sam Houston and Camp Travis are now located.

Mr. Brackenridge gave to San Antonio the park which bears his name, comprising more than three hundred acres of woodland, traversed by the San Antonio River, and considered by many to be the most beautiful park in the South. He also gave to San Antonio three public buildings, a library, and much of the school equipment for the teaching of domestic science and manual training. He gave to the University of Texas, at Austin, land valued at $250,000 and a large dormitory for men. To Columbia University, New York, he gave $50,000 for a building to make possible the study of medicine by women under equal conditions with men. He contributed largely to the education of the Negroes, and was instrumental, through the San Antonio Express, in which he was a stockholder, in establishing a fund of $100,000, to be used in paying rewards for information leading to the conviction and punishment of persons participating in any mob lynching a prisoner, either white or black, anywhere in the United States. During many years he was a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas, and maintained an active interest in that institution until the day of his death.

Because of his large financial interests Mr. Brackenridge enjoyed the friendship and acquaintance of many financiers of national prominence. He was a friend of the late Porfirio Diaz, President of Mexico, and was credited with having financed the building of the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico City.

Levi Frank Eaton, of Northville, Mich., a resident member since 1915, was born at Windsor, Vt., 20 September 1851, the son of Hezekiah and Elizabeth (Damon) Eaton, and died at Detroit, Mich., 1 January 1921. He was a descendant of Robert Cushman, the agent of the Leyden Pilgrims in England, who came to Plymouth in New England in the Fortune in November 1621, but soon returned to England on business for the Colony, leaving his son Thomas, who later married Mary Allerton of the Mayflower, to continue the line in this country.

He was educated at private and public schools in Middletown, Conn., and began his active career as bookkeeper in Meriden in the same State. He then entered the photo-engraving business, and was a pioneer in this class of work. Later he sold out his interest in the Meriden Gravure Company, and went to Detroit in 1891, where he organized in 1895 the Peninsular Engraving Company, of which he was president and general manager for twenty years. He established also the Detroit Rotary Gravure Company, and turned out the first rotogravure newspaper supplements in that city. He also organized the American Photogravure Company, with which he was connected at the time of his death.

He was a member of the Detroit Board of Commerce, of the Exchange Club and other clubs, of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and of the Masonic fraternity. In politics he was a Republican and in religious affiliations a Baptist.

He married, in August 1882, Susan Medbury of Pomfret, Conn., who survives him, together with a son, Levi Medbury Eaton of Northville.

Fitzroy Kelly, of Boston, elected a resident member in 1904 and made a life member in 1912, was born in that part of Frankfort, Me., which is now the town of Winterport, 14 December 1847, the son of Albert Livingston and Caroline (Peirce) Kelly, and died in Boston 10 January 1921. He was a descendant of John[1] Kelly, who came to Newbury, Mass., in 1635, through John,[2] John,[3] John,[4] Moses,[5] Israel Webster,[6] and Albert Livingston,[7] his father. His grandfather, Israel Webster Kelly, married Rebecca Fletcher, who was sixth in descent from Robert[1] Fletcher of Concord, Mass., and a sister of Daniel Webster's first wife. His mother, Caroline Peirce, was sixth in descent from Capt. Michael[1] Pierce of Hingham, Mass., and later of Scituate in the Plymouth Colony, who fell in King Philip's War, 26 March 1676.

Mr. Kelly received his early education in private and public schools at Frankfort, and later attended the Little Blue School at Farmington, Me. He came to Boston in November 1862 and entered the law office of his brother, Edward A. Kelly, Esq., but in the following January took a position in the countingroom of Silas Peirce & Company, wholesale grocers, the founder of this firm being Mr. Kelly's uncle. Here he was promoted from time to time until, in January 1871, he was taken into the firm as a partner. He continued as such until 1 April 1900, when the firm was incorporated as Silas Peirce & Company, Limited, and he retired from active business, but remained as a director in the new corporation.

Mr. Kelly was a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and the Boston Wholesale Grocers' Association, of which he was at one time president, a life member of the Bostonian Society, and a member of the Maine Genealogical Society and of the Topsfield (Mass.) Historical Society. He was also a member of the Boston Art Club, the Oakley Country Club, and the Massachusetts Yacht Club. He served as a director in various corporations.

He married in Boston, 24 February 1875, Amanda Marble, daughter of Freeland and Eliza (Clark) Marble, who survives him, together with four children, Nathan Spaulding Kelly of Boston, Mrs. Frank Parker Davis of Evanston, Ill., Mrs. George A. Vose of Brookline, Mass., and Mrs. Wyatt St. B. Eustis of San Francisco, Calif.

Victor Channing Sanborn, of Chicago, Ill., a resident member since 1895, was born at Concord, Mass., 24 April 1867, the son of Franklin Benjamin and Louisa Augusta (Leavitt) Sanborn, and died in Chicago 13 January 1921. He traced his descent from Lieut. John[1] Samborne, who came to New England in 1632 with his grandfather, Rev. Stephen Bachiler, and settled at Hampton, N. H., through Joseph[2] of Hampton, Lieut. Joseph[3] Samborn, Benjamin[4] Sanborn, Benjamin,[5] Aaron,[6] and Franklin Benjamin,[7] A.B., his father, the well-known journalist, historian, philosopher, man of letters, abolitionist, and social reformer, who was a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society from 1894 to his death in 1917.* On his mother's side he was descended from the Williamses of Roxbury, the Holbrooks of Weymouth, and the Tilestones of Dorchester, Mass. One of his maternal great-grandfathers was Samuel Yendell, the sturdy seaman and ship carpenter, who served as a boy in the Revolution on the frigate Tartar and later voyaged with "Billy Gray's" expedition to the mouth of the Columbia River. Another great-grandfather was Samuel Holbrook, the Boston schoolmaster and friend of Governor Hancock.

He was prepared for college in the public schools of Concord, graduating from the high school at the age of sixteen, but on account of poor health he was prevented from entering Harvard College, as he had planned. In 1885, however, he spent a term as an unmatriculated student at Cornell University, and on 1 January 1886 began office work in Omaha, Nebr., for the Burlington & Missouri Railroad, under the auditor of freight and passenger accounts. After a few months he was promoted to the passenger department, and for two years served as secretary to Mr. P. S. Eustis, general passenger agent. In 1888 Mr. Eustis was moved to Chicago, to take charge of the passenger department of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, and he took Mr. Sanborn with him as his secretary. Two years later he was promoted to be assistant chief clerk, and for two years acted as chief clerk. On 1 January 1898 he resigned from the railroad service and engaged in the real estate business in Chicago, entering the office of Clarence A. Burley.

Mr. Sanborn inherited from his father an interest in genealogy which his family antecedents stimulated, and at the age of seventeen he had searched the Hampton and Exeter (N. H.) records and had laid the foundations for his most important book, "The Samborne-Sanborn Genealogy." The task of compiling this work extended over many years, and required extensive research in Old England as well as in New England. It was published by the author in one volume in 1899, and in 1916 some supplementary notes to this book, on the English ancestry of the family, were printed and bound with a few copies of the earlier work. His first genealogical work to appear in print was an article entitled "The Sambornes of England and America," which was published in THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER for July 1885, when the author was only eighteen years of age, and was reprinted in separate form. This was the forerunner of a long list of articles and notes on New England families and their English connections, most of which were published first in the REGISTER or in other genealogical magazines.

Mr. Sanborn lived for several years at La Grange, Ill., his residence when he joined the Society, but in 1900 he removed to Kenilworth, a few miles north of Chicago. There he built a house, which was his home for twenty years, until he sold it in the spring of 1920 and moved to Chicago, where he was nearer to the Newberry Library, so important to him in his researches.

In 1895 he and his wife travelled for three months in England and on the Continent, and he spent considerable time in study among the English records. In 1913 he made a second visit to England.

He was a member of the New Hampshire Historical Society, the Chicago Historical Society, the Lincolnshire (England) Record Society, and various literary, social, and athletic organizations in Chicago. He had been active in the civic life of Kenilworth, and was a member of the Home Guard there. Early in 1919 he entered the service of the American Red Cross, Central Division, in Chicago, as head of the Bureau of Accounts, where he showed a decided talent for office management and organization and won the respect and affection of all his associates in that branch of the service.

He numbered among his personal friends and constant correspondents many of the most distinguished genealogists of England as well as the United States. He was a valued contributor to the pages of the REGISTER, and showed his appreciation of the work of the Society by bequeathing to it in his will the sum of one thousand dollars. In his untimely death from pneumonia, after a short illness, genealogists and historians have suffered a great loss.

Mr. Sanborn married, 28 May 1891, Louisa Wilkinson Kirkland, daughter of Maj. Joseph and Theodosia Burr Davis (Wilkinson) Kirkland of Chicago, granddaughter of Mrs. Caroline Kirkland, the distinguished New York writer, and also a descendant of Gov. William Bradford of the Plymouth Colony. Mrs. Sanborn survives her husband, with their two daughters, Caroline Kirkland Sanborn, now Mrs. Morrow Krum, and Louisa Leavitt Sanborn. They had also two sons, who died in infancy.

OLIVER STETSON PRESBREY, of Burlington, Vt., a resident member since 1918, was born at Taunton, Mass., 17 February 1849, the son of John Oliver and Abby Leonard (Godfrey) Presbrey, and died at Burlington 14 January 1921. He traced his descent from William[1] Presbrey of Taunton, through William,[2] John,[3] John,[4] and John Oliver,[5] his father. He was also a descendant of John and Priscilla Alden, Myles Standish, the Leonards of Taunton, and other early settlers of New England.

He was educated in the Chauncy Hall School, Boston, and was prepared for Harvard College. But in 1865 he entered the employ of the Cheever Ore Bed Company of Port Henry, N. Y., of which his father was general manager, in 1874 he in turn was made general manager, and in 1891 he became the sole owner. In 1906 he formed the Cheever Iron Ore Company, of which he was president. In 1909 he sold his controlling interest in this company to Charles M. Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel Company and to Witherbee, Sherman & Company, and retired from active business.

Mr. Presbrey married, 29 April 1873, Sarah Maria Hyde, daughter of Hon. Pitt William and Maria (Kilbourne) Hyde of Hydeville, Vt., who survives him, with three sons, John Oliver Presbrey of San Francisco, Calif., Maj. Oliver Hyde Presbrey of Ogden, Utah, and Edward Hyde Presbrey of New York City. Their second son, William Hyde Presbrey, died when four years of age, and their daughter, Mrs. C. D. Deming (Helen Hyde Presbrey) of Seattle, Wash., died 25 February 1920.

ALFRED TREDWAY WHITE, C.E., A.M., of Brooklyn, N. Y., elected a resident member in 1897 and made a life member in 1898, was born in Brooklyn 28 May 1846, the son of Alexander Moss and Elizabeth Hart (Tredway) White, and died at Central Village, N. Y., 29 January 1921. In the course of one of his customary tramps in the mountain region west of the Hudson River he was skating on a lake at Central Village, when the ice gave way and he was drowned. He traced his descent from Thomas[1] White of Weymouth, Mass., through Ebenezer,[2] Thomas,[3] Rev. Ebenezer[4] of Weymouth and of Danbury, Conn., Joseph M.[5] of Danbury, Ephraim Moss[6] of Danbury, and Alexander Moss,[7] his father. He was also a descendant of Elder William Brewster of the Mayflower.

He was graduated at the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute in 1862, and then studied at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y., receiving from the latter institution in 1865 the degree of Civil Engineer and being the valedictorian of his class.

He spent a year in Europe, and then entered, as clerk, the office of the New York firm of W. A. & A. M. White, which had been established by his father and uncle in 1839. In 1868 he became a partner in this firm, which carried on the business of importing and manufacturing hatters' fur and had a factory at Danbury, Conn.

About the year 1872 Mr. White became interested in the condition of the homes of the working classes in New York and Brooklyn, and in January 1876 he went to England, where he inspected improved tenements in London. On his return he erected in Brooklyn a block of model tenements for the poorer classes, which were opened 1 February 1877 and attracted much attention, being the first tenements erected with outside stairways and separate complete accommodations for each family. He formed a company and erected in 1877–1879 the Tower Buildings and in 1890 the Riverside Buildings, these two sets of buildings containing in all 547 homes and sheltering about 2000 persons.

In 1876 he established the first seaside home for the summer relief for poor children. In 1878 he was one of the organizers of the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, served as its president for twenty-five years, and continued up to the time of his death as its secretary. He was a director of the Brooklyn Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children and, since 1868, a director of the Brooklyn Children's Aid Society.

He served as commissioner of city works in Brooklyn, 1894–1896, and was a member of the Tenement House Commission in New York, 1900–01, a director of the City & Suburban Homes Company for building improved tenements, a trustee of the Phipps Buildings, for the same purpose, and a trustee of the Russell Sage Foundation. He was the author of several books on housing.

As a recognition of his work in establishing better homes for the laboring classes, Harvard University in 1890 conferred on Mr. White the honorary degree of Master of Arts, President Eliot describing him as virum recte divitem esse scientem, "a man who knew how to be honorably rich." He, in turn, became interested in the development of the Department of Social Ethics at Harvard, and to aid in erecting Emerson Hall, in which this department is housed, he gave $50,000, and later, by various gifts for the support and equipment of this department, brought the total of his benefactions to the University up to almost $300,000, although the identity of the benefactor was, at Mr. White's request, withheld from the public for more than ten years. In 1913 a tablet in his honor was placed in Emerson Hall, with the inscription: "Harvard University here Commemorates the Gifts of Alfred Tredway White to Promote the Study of Social Ethics."

Mr. White contributed to the education of the Negro by establishing a fund at Hampton Institute and, with other members of his family, providing for the erection of White Hall at Tuskegee Institute. Many of his most characteristic benefactions were anonymous and unrecognized. After the breaking out of the World War, before any organization was proposed in this country for the relief of Belgium, Mr. White sent each month a special contribution to Cardinal Mercier from himself and his family, under the guise of "Friends," for which the Cardinal later, after learning the facts from a Brooklyn priest, made gracious acknowledgment. During the War he was prominent also in the activities of the American Red Cross.

He was a member of the New York Chamber of Commerce and of the Century, Grolier, Down Town (New York), Hamilton, and Engineers (Brooklyn) Clubs. He was independent in politics and a Unitarian in religion.

He married, 29 May 1878, Annie Jean Lyman of Brooklyn, who died in May 1920, daughter of Edward Hutchinson Robbins and Sarah Elizabeth (Low) Lyman. They had two children, Katharine Lyman White, who married Henry B. Van Sinderen and died several years ago, and Annie Jean White, the wife of Adrian Van Sinderen.

Cf. the memoir of Mr. White, by Professor Francis Greenwood Peabody, in The Harvard Graduates' Magazine for June, 1921 (vol. 28, pp. 577–583).

Barrett Wendell, A.B., Litt.D., LL.D., of Boston, a life member since 1907, was born in Boston 23 August 1855, the son of Jacob and Mary Bertodi (Barrett) Wendell, and died there 8 February 1921. He traced his descent from Evert Jansen[1] Wendell of Albany, N. Y., an immigrant from East Friesland to the Dutch settlements on the Hudson, through John[2] of Albany, Abraham[3] of New York City and later of Boston, John[4] of Boston, John[5] of Portsmouth, N. H., and Jacob[6] of Portsmouth, his father. His mother was the daughter of Nathaniel Augustus and Sally (Dorr) Barrett of Boston.

He received his early education in private schools in New York City, and entered Harvard College with the Class of 1876; but on account of illness he remained with that class for only one year, later joining the Class of 1877 in its Sophomore year and receiving his degree of Bachelor of Arts with it. He studied law for one year at the Harvard Law School, for another year in the office of Anderson & Howland in New York City, and for a third year in that of Shattuck, Holmes & Monroe of Boston; and then, in 1880, at the request of Professor Adams Sherman Hill, he accepted an appointment as instructor in English in Harvard College.

With the active teaching force of Harvard he was associated from that time, except for a part of the academic year 1881–82, until his retirement, as professor emeritus, in 1917. He held the rank of instructor in English to September 1888, assistant professor of English, 1888–1898, and professor of English, 1898–1917. His interesting personality and his stimulating influence as a teacher of English composition and English literature at Harvard have been faithfully described by his pupil and fellow worker, Professor George Peirce Baker, in The Harvard Graduates' Magazine for June 1921.

Professor Wendell's fame as a teacher, writer, and original thinker brought to him many invitations to lecture and to give instruction at other universities besides Harvard. He lectured at the University of California in the summer term of 1901. In 1902–03 he represented Harvard at the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the Bodleian Library, at Oxford, and was Clark lecturer at Trinity College, Cambridge, England. In 1904–05 he was the first of the annual lecturers in the Hyde Foundation at the Sorbonne and other French universities. In 1914 he was appointed Harvard exchange professor at the University of Berlin, but did not serve in that capacity.

As an author and historian of literature Professor Wendell held a high rank and enjoyed an international reputation. His first two published works were novels, "The Duchess Emilia," 1885, and "Rankell's Remains," 1887. These were followed by "English Composition" (a series of Lowell Institute lectures), 1891, "Cotton Mather" (in the Makers of America series), 1891, "Stelligeri and Other Essays concerning America," 1893, "William Shakespeare, a Study in Elizabethan Literature," 1894, "A Literary History of America," 1900, "Ralegh in Guiana" (a play in the Elizabethan style, presented in Sanders Theatre, Harvard University, in 1897), "Rosamond," and "A Christmas Masque," 1902, "The Temper of the Seventeenth Century in English Literature," 1904, "A History of Literature in America" (in collaboration with Chester Noyes Greenough), 1904, "Liberty, Union, and Democracy, the National Ideals of America" (Lowell Institute lectures), 1906, "The France of Today" (Lowell Institute lectures), 1907, which has been translated into French and German, "The Privileged Classes," 1908, "The Mysteries of Education," 1909, and "The Traditions of European Literature from Homer to Dante," 1920. A companion volume to this last-mentioned work, which would have continued the subject to the end of the nineteenth century, was unfinished at the time of Professor Wendell's death. In addition to these publications in book form he was a contributor, from time to time, to magazines and the daily press; and the members of the New England Historic Genealogical Society and their friends had on two occasions the privilege of listening to instructive and stimulating addresses from him — one on "Types of New England Character," at the stated meeting of the Society on 1 April 1908, and the other on "Genealogy and Social Justice," at the stated meeting of 1 December 1915.

His ability as a teacher and his attainments as an author were recognized by Columbia University in 1913 and by Harvard in 1918, both institutions conferring on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters, and in 1920 he received from the University of Strassburg the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Professor Wendell was a trustee of the Boston Athenæum for several years, and was made a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences in 1889, a member of the Massachusetts Historical Society in 1893, a trustee of the Boston Library Society in 1901, and a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters in 1916. He was a member and at one time historian of the Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and held membership also in the Somerset, Tavern, and Wednesday Evening Clubs of Boston, the Colonial Club of Cambridge, and the Century Club of New York City. In June 1920 he was elected an overseer of Harvard University, but lived only a few months after the beginning of his term.

In the course of his busy life as a teacher and writer Professor Wendell found time for travelling, in addition to the journeys made necessary by his European lectures. He spent the summers of 1877, 1880, 1888, and 1891 in Europe, and his sabbatical vacation in the academic year 1894–95 was also enjoyed, with his family, abroad. He was in California and elsewhere in the West in the summer of 1886. He went to Egypt in the winter of 1902–03, and in 1911 made a tour of the world, visiting among other countries India, China, and Japan.

He married at Quincy, Mass., 1 June 1880, Edith Greenough, daughter of William Whitwell and Catharine Scollay (Curtis) Greenough, who survives him, together with four children, Barrett Wendell, Jr., of Chicago, Ill., A.B. (Harvard, 1902), Mrs. Reinier Van der Woude (Mary Barrett Wendell) of Holland, William Greenough Wendell of New York City, A.B. (Harvard, 1909), who served in France in the World War as a first lieutenant of Infantry in the American Expeditionary Force, and Mrs. Charles D. Osborne (Edith Wendell) of Auburn, N. Y.

Francis Mason Learned, of Boston, a resident member since 1894, was born in Boston 8 June 1845, the son of Abijah and Harriet Lovenia (Skinner) Learned, and died there 14 March 1921. He was a descendant of William[1] Learned, who was at Charlestown, Mass., in 1632 and removed in 1641 to Woburn, through Isaac,[2] Benoni,[3] Thomas,[4] Abijah,[5] Isaac,[6] Abijah,[7] and Abijah,[8] his father.

He received his early education in the Mayhew Grammar School of Boston, where he was graduated in 1861, the English High School, 1861–62, and the Pierce Academy at Middleborough, Mass., 1862–63. He was a student in Harvard College, 1865–1868, and in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1872–1876, but received no degree from either institution.

Mr. Learned was in the real estate business with John H. Collamore from 1878 until Mr. Collamore's death in November 1896. He then became trustee of the Collamore estate, and held that position until his death.

He was a member of various Masonic and other fraternal organizations.

He married, 22 January 1890, Maria Lucinda Hoffman Collamore, daughter of Gilman and Lucinda (Cook) Collamore, who survives him.

Edmund Cogswell Converse, of Greenwich, Conn., a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1919, was born in Boston 7 November 1849, the son of James C. and Sarah Ann (Peabody) Converse, and died at Pasadena, Calif., 3 April 1921. He was a descendant of Dea. Edward[1] Converse, who came to New England in 1630, in the fleet with Winthrop, and was of Charlestown and later of Woburn, Mass.

He was educated at the Boston Latin School and the Boston English High School, but family reverses prevented him from entering Harvard College. His father was the first president of the National Tube Works, at McKeesport, Pa., and the son entered the service of the company in 1872 and filled various positions until his appointment as general manager in 1889. Subsequently he was associated with William Nelson Cromwell in an attempt to amalgamate all of the principal wrought-iron and steel-tube companies in the United States. While at first not successful, Messrs. Cromwell and Converse, acting as purchasers in behalf of J. P. Morgan & Company, syndicate managers, brought about the merger, in 1899, of about twenty pipe and tube concerns, which, with properties afterwards acquired, were formed into the National Tube Works Company, of which Mr. Converse was elected president. Upon the formation of the United States Steel Corporation in 1901, he withdrew from the active management of the business.

Having a practical knowledge of the iron business, Mr. Converse was able to make many inventions, the most important of which was his Converse patent lock-joint water and gas works system. Up to 1882 a perfect connection for wrought-iron pipe, without cutting threads, was unknown. After inventing the lock joint he perfected the system in all its details, and it proved to be the only perfect joint for wrought-iron water and gas works systems. The sales from this invention alone amounted to millions of dollars, as soon as it was well known.

Mr. Converse was a director in many important financial and industrial corporations, of some of which he was president. He was a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Pennsylvania Society, the New England Society of New York, and the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, as well as the Union League, New York Athletic, Metropolitan, New York Yacht, and Greenwich Country Clubs, together with many other clubs and societies. He was the owner of Conyers Manor, an extensive country seat at Greenwich, Conn.

His will contained public bequests amounting to about $2,000,000, of which ten colleges were to receive $700,000. He had previously given $125,000 to Harvard College to endow a professorship of banking in the Graduate School of Business Administration, in the development of which he showed a special interest. To the memory of two of his immigrant ancestors, Edward Converse of Woburn and John Cogswell of Ipswich, Mass., Mr. Converse placed a tablet in the stair hall of the building of the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

He married first, 2 January 1879, Jessie Macdonough Green of New York, who died in 1912; and secondly, in New York City, 30 January 1914, Mary Edith Dunshee, also of New York, who survives him, together with his three children, Mrs. Benjamin Strong, Jr. (Katherine P. Converse), of Greenwich, Baroness von Romberg of Wiesbaden, Germany, whose husband, Baron von Romberg, a captain in the Eightieth Prussian Fusiliers, was killed in the early part of the World War, and Edmund Cogswell Converse, Jr., of Santa Paula, Calif.

Hon. Henry Kirke Porter, A.M., LL.D., of Pittsburgh, Pa., a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1920, was born at Concord, N. H., 24 November 1840, the son of George and Phœbe Clarissa (Ayer) Porter, and died at Washington, D. C., 10 April 1921. He was a descendant of John[1] Porter of Windsor, Conn., through Samuel,[2] John,[3] Benjamin,[4] Moses,[5] William,[6] Isaac Adams,[7] and George,[8] his father.

He was prepared for college at the New London (Conn.) Academy, entered Brown University, and received there the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1860. He then studied for the ministry at the Newton (Mass.) Theological Institution, 1861–62, but laid aside his books to enlist, in 1862, in the Forty-fifth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteers. He continued in the military service of the United States until July 1863, when he was mustered out, having attained the grade of corporal. In the winter of 1864 he served on the United States Christian Commission. He resumed his theological studies at the Rochester (N. Y.) Theological Seminary in 1865–66, and was graduated there in 1866; but in May of that year he embarked on a business career.

He began his business life as a partner in the firm of Smith & Porter of Pittsburgh, who developed as a specialty the building of light locomotives. After their shops were destroyed by fire, the name of the firm was changed in 1871 to Porter, Bell & Company, and in 1879 to H. K. Porter & Company, and in 1899 the firm was incorporated as the H. K. Porter Company, of which Mr. Porter was president.

Mr. Porter was elected on the Republican ticket to the Fifty-eighth Congress, 1903–1905, from the Thirty-first Pennsylvania District, as a result of a demand for reform in the party.

Mr. Porter, while a student in Brown University, became a member of the historic First Baptist Church of Providence, and after graduation he transferred his membership to the First Baptist Church of Pittsburgh. Here he was superintendent, active or honorary, of the Bible school for about fifty-five years, and was also a deacon in the church for many years and up to the time of his death. He was always a very liberal contributor and faithful supporter of his church and of other agencies for bettering the world.

He was president of the Pittsburgh Young Men's Christian Association from 1868 to 1887, of the American Baptist Missionary Union, now known as the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, from 1901 to 1904, and of the American Baptist Home Missionary Society from 1895 to 1897. He was a member of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association from 1875 on, a trustee of the Carnegie Institute from 1890, a trustee of the Crozer Theological Seminary from 1871, and one of the fellows of Brown University from 1899. He was vice president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce from 1892 to 1906, a trustee of the Western Pennsylvania Institute for the Blind from 1887, and its president since 1904.

He was a member of the American Geographical Society, the American Archæological Society, the Duquesne and University Clubs of Pittsburgh, the University and Century Clubs of New York, the University Club of Providence, R. I., the Jekyl Island Club, Jekyl Island, Ga., and the Metropolitan, Cosmos, and Chevy Chase Clubs of Washington, D. C. He received the degree of LL.D. from Bicknell University in 1893.

He married, 23 November 1875, Mrs. Annie (de Camp) Hegeman, who, with her daughter, Annie M. Hegeman, survives him.

Seth Augustus Fowle, of Needham, Mass., elected a resident member in 1904 and made a life member in 1911, was born in Boston 27 March 1840, the son of Seth Wyman and Lucy Ann (Sweetser) Fowle, and died at Needham 20 April 1921. He traced his descent from George[1] Fowle of Concord and Charlestown, Mass., through Lieut. James[2] of Woburn, Mass., John,[3] John,[4] Jonathan,[5] John,[6] and Seth Wyman,[7] his father.

He was educated in private schools until he was eight or nine years of age, then attended the Phillips Grammar School in Boston for about two years, and after that was a pupil at the Mayhew Grammar School until 1854, when he was graduated, receiving a Franklin Medal. For two years thereafter he attended the English High School.

In 1856 he entered the office of his father, a wholesale druggist in business on High Street, and remained with him as clerk and partner until the father died in 1867. He afterwards carried on the business, which was chiefly in proprietary medicines, under the name of Seth W. Fowle & Sons, his brother, Horace Sweetser Fowle, being his partner for most of the time. He retired from active business when about seventy years of age.

In 1865 and 1866 Mr. Fowle was president of the Mercantile Library Association of Boston. He had been president of the Class of 1857, English High School, and a member of the Veterans' Association, Independent Corps Cadets, since its organization, having previously been an active member of the Corps. He was a justice of the peace from 1870 on, and had served as executor, administrator, or trustee of numerous estates.

He married, 12 September 1866, Emily Morton Mitchell of Nantucket, daughter of Capt. Richard and Charlotte Frances (Morton) Mitchell. They lived for a time in Roxbury, and later, for some years, at Auburndale, Mass., going from there eight or more years ago to Needham. Mrs. Fowle died about five years ago. Mr. Fowle is survived by his youngest child, Mrs. Boylston Lincoln Williams (Frances Sweetser Fowle), and two granddaughters. Two older children, a son and a daughter, died young.

HENRY HARRISON PROCTOR, of Boston, elected a resident member in 1904 and made a life member in 1911, was born in that part of Danvers, Mass., which is now the city of Peabody, 18 December 1840, the son of John W. and Mary Ingersoll (Osborn) Proctor, and died at Wellesley Hills, Mass., 23 April 1921.

He received his early education in the schools of Peabody, and at the age of fifteen entered the employ of Abel Proctor & Son, a firm engaged in the sole-leather business. By dint of hard work he attained great success in this field, and became president of the Proctor-Ellison Company, a position from which he retired only two or three years ago. He had long been a member of the New England Shoe & Leather Association, of which he was at one time vice president.

Mr. Proctor had been interested for years in educational and religious undertakings. He helped to start S. M. Sayford of the New England Evangelistic Association on his long and fruitful career. He was one of John R. Mott's earliest supporters, and was deeply interested in the Twenty-four Hour a Day Club, an agency instituted by the Young Men's Christian Association to help forward its work in foreign lands. Dwight L. Moody found in him a man of like spirit, and enlisted his restless energy and practical help in connection with the work for young women at Northfield and for young men over the River at Mount Hermon. For thirty-five years he was an influential member of the Prudential Committee of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, and it was his deep sympathy with the returned missionaries of the Board that led him to start a fund (of which he contributed himself over one fourth), now amounting to $200,000, for retired and disabled veterans of that service.

He was a member of the Old South Church and of the Eastern Yacht Club, the Brookline Country Club, and the Tedesco Club.

He married, in 1863, Ellen Augusta Perkins of Peabody, who survives him, together with two sons, Francis Ingersoll Proctor of Wellesley, Mass., A.B. (Harvard, 1887), M.D. and A.M. (ib., 1892), and Charles Anderson Proctor of Boston, LL.B. (Harvard, 1897).

FRITZ HERMANN JORDAN, of Portland, Me., a resident member since 1881, was born at Portland 4 May 1848, the son of Winthrop Stanwood and Elizabeth Sophia (Merrill) Jordan, and died there in April 1921. He was a descendant of Rev. Robert[1] Jordan of Scarborough, Me., a clergyman of the Church of England, who was at Casco before 1641, through Dominicus,[2] Maj. Dominicus,[3] Nathaniel,[4] Benjamin,[5] Rishworth,[6] and Winthrop Stanwood,[7] his father. Dominicus[2] Jordan, son of Robert, was of Scarborough, Me., and was killed by the Indians in 1703, when his wife and children were carried off to Canada. Of the family only the son Dominicus[3] escaped, thirteen years later, and returned to Maine.

After graduating at the Portland High School Fritz Hermann Jordan, at the age of sixteen, entered the employ of his father in the ship-chandlery business, became a partner in the firm (W. S. Jordan & Company) in 1870, and, when the firm was incorporated in 1916, was made president of the company. For fifty-seven years he devoted his energies to this business.

He inherited a fondness for the sea and all pertaining to it, and by study he mastered the details of the construction, operation, and management of vessels. The sound, honorable business methods of his father were continued by him, and the business, small when he entered it, gradually increased, until the controlling interest in a large fleet of coasting and deep-water vessels was acquired, many of which were under his management. He was also a model maritime assessor in the Admiralty Court.

Mr. Jordan was an officer of the Portland Savings Bank, and was connected with many other business enterprises. For three years he was a member of the city government of Portland. He appreciated the value of historical studies, and was for twenty-five years the treasurer of the Maine Historical Society. He was also a member of the American Historical Association, the Maine Genealogical Society, the Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and several local organizations and clubs. For many years he served as treasurer of the First Parish Church of Portland.

He married, 22 August 1905, Ethel Abbot, who survives him.

GEORGE HARLAN LEWIS, of Los Angeles, Calif., a resident member since 1918, was born at Malden, Mass., 28 February 1840, the son of George Amasa and Caroline Antoinette (Cutter) Lewis, and died at Los Angeles 30 April 1921. He was a descendant of William[1] Lewis of Roxbury, Mass., in 1630, and of Lancaster, Mass., in 1653, through John,[2] John,[3] Jonathan,[4] Aaron,[5] a Revolutionary soldier, Amasa,[6] and George Amasa,[7] his father. His maternal grandfather, Joshua Cutter, served in the War of 1812 on the U. S. Ship Constitution, when that famous frigate captured the Guerrière, the Cyane, and the Levant. Joshua Cutter's father, Ammi Cutter, was one of twelve men who captured a supply train on the way to Lexington, 19 April 1775.

Mr. Lewis was educated in the public schools of Malden and at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.

He served in the United States Navy during the years 1861–1867. From 1868 to 1876 he was engaged in the wholesale grocery business in Chicago, Ill., and after 1876, until 1903, when he retired from business, he was cashier of the Standard Oil Company in its office in New York City.

Mr. Lewis did some important genealogical work, compiling a lengthy article entitled "Edmund Lewis of Lynn and some of his Descendants," which was published in 1907 and 1908 in the Essex Institute Historical Collections, and a briefer article entitled "Edward Lumas of Ipswich, Mass., and some of his Descendants," which appeared in the same periodical in 1917, and contributing genealogies of various Lewis families to several volumes of Lewisiana.

He married Frances Maria Whitney, daughter of William James and Mary Ann (Siver) Whitney. She is not living, but three sons, Harry Lincoln Lewis, Edwin Whitney Lewis, and George Arthur Lewis, survive their father.

GEORGE ALONZO GIBSON, A.B., LL.B., of Boston, a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1919, was born in Boston 27 February 1851, the son of George Martin and Frances Rebecca (Esten) Gibson, and died in Boston 2 May 1921. His father was born at Smithfield, R. I., 3 April 1824, and his mother was a daughter of John and Emmeline (Williams) Esten of Providence, R. I.

He received his elementary education at the Phillips School, and was prepared for college at the Boston Latin School and at the New Church Institute at Waltham, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard in 1872.

Immediately after leaving college he engaged in the real estate business, from July 1872 to September 1875. He began reading law, "on the side," under the advice and direction of the late F. H. Sawyer of the Suffolk bar, and in September 1875 entered the Boston University Law School, from which he received the degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1878. He was in the office of William S. McFarlane of Boston from September 1876 to February 1878, was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in February 1877, and began to practise his profession in Boston. In the fall of 1880 he became interested in the manufacture of pianos, and in April 1881 he gave up the practice of law and devoted himself entirely to this business. With Handel Pond, William Ivers, and James Thompson he founded in 1880 the widely known and successful Ivers & Pond Piano Company, of which he was treasurer, secretary, a director, and, later, president.

In 1897 he was elected one of the directors of the corporation of the New Church Institute of Education. He was a member of the University Club of New York, the Harvard, Union, Algonquin, Papyrus, St. Botolph, and New Church Clubs of Boston, the Boston Athletic Association, the Merchants' Association of Boston, the Eastern, Corinthian, and Boston Yacht Clubs, and the Megantic Fish and Game Corporation of Maine and Canada.

He showed his interest in family history and his appreciation of the work of the New England Historic Genealogical Society by placing in the stair hall of the building of the Society a tablet in memory of his kinsman Stephen Hopkins, Governor of Rhode Island, Chief Justice, Signer of the Declaration of Independence.

He lived at one time in Medford, Mass., but in his later years resided in Boston.

He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., 12 December 1872, Emily Ruth Dickinson, daughter of Darius Leander and Lida Maria (Cowing) Dickinson, who survives him, together with a son, Kirkland Hopkins Gibson, A.B. (Harvard, 1904), who was associated with his father in the piano business and succeeds him in his Pilgrim Tercentenary membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society. An older son, George Cowing Gibson, died in 1895, in his twenty-second year.

EVERETT WILSON, of Winnetka, Ill., a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1920, was born at Vernon, N. Y., 14 August 1854, the son of William Henry and Mary Catherine (Newell) Wilson, and died in Chicago, Ill., 30 May 1921. He was a descendant of William Wilson of Connecticut, who married Clarissa House in 1750, and, on his mother's side, of Abraham Newell of Roxbury, Mass., who came to New England in 1634 in the Francis, from Ipswich, co. Suffolk, England, aged 50, with his wife Frances, aged 40, and several children.

He was educated at the Clinton (N. Y.) Liberal Institute and at the Canandaigua (N. Y.) Academy, and entered the employ of his father, who had incorporated, in the early seventies, the Oneida Steam Engine & Foundry Company at Oneida, N. Y. He remained with this company until 1878, when he took a position with the well-known packing house of Armour & Company of Chicago. His first work there was at the billing desk, but it was not long before his tireless energy and ability were recognized, and he was promoted from one position of responsibility to another, until he became general branch-house superintendent and a director and vice president of the company. He was the father of the branch-house system, and developed the system of distribution which enabled the company to put its products, in prime condition, into practically every community of consequence in the country.

As a memorial to his father, William Henry Wilson, who was born at Vernon, N. Y., 14 April 1824, and died at Adrian, Mich., 6 June 1891, "Righteous, Diligent, Beloved," Mr. Wilson placed a tablet on the wall of the stair hall of the building of the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

He married, 23 February 1886, Martha Hyde Lord of Springfield, Ill., who died in the following July, daughter of Dr. Rufus S. Lord. Two sisters and two brothers survive him, Eva Wilson of Winnetka, who succeeds to her brother's Pilgrim Tercentenary membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society, Mrs. Mary Hand of Adrian, Mich., Harry Wilson, and Frank Wilson.

CHARLES PICKERING BOWDITCH, A.M., of Jamaica Plain, Mass., a life member since 1881, was born in Boston 30 September 1842, the son of Jonathan Ingersoll and Lucy Orne (Nichols) Bowditch, and died at Jamaica Plain 1 June 1921. His earliest Bowditch ancestor in New England was William Bowditch, of Thorncombe, then in co. Devon but now in co. Dorset, England, clothier, who was baptized in that parish 26 December 1639 and emigrated to Salem, Mass., in 1671. At Salem he was collector of customs, and died in 1681, while holding that office. His wife, Sarah Bear of Wayford, co. Somerset, England, whom he married at Bothenhampton, co. Dorset, 15 September 1663, came to New England about 1679, bringing with her their son William, and outlived her husband by more than twenty years. The English ancestry of William Bowditch of Thorncombe and Salem has been traced back, through William, his father, Michael, his grandfather, and George, his great-grandfather, to John of Thorncombe, his great-great-grandfather, who made his will 10 May 1563 and was buried at Thorncombe 17 May 1563.* From William[1] Bowditch of Thorncombe and Salem Charles Pickering Bowditch was descended through Capt. William,[2] Ebenezer,[3] Habakkuk,[4] Nathaniel,[5] A.M. (Harvard, 1802), LL.D. (ib., 1816), the famous mathematician and astronomer, and Jonathan Ingersoll,[6] A.M. (Harvard, 1849), LL.D. (ib., 1886), his father. On the maternal side he was descended from John[1] Pickering, the founder of the Pickering family of Salem, through John,[2] John,[3] Timothy,[4] Hon. Timothy,[5] A.M., LL.D., Revolutionary soldier and post-Revolutionary statesman, and Mary,[6] his grandmother, who married Benjamin Ropes Nichols, father of Lucy Orne Nichols, the mother of the subject of this memoir.

He was prepared for college at the schools of Thomas G. Bradford and Epes S. Dixwell, entered Harvard in 1859, and received there the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1863 and that of Master of Arts, in course, in 1866.

Already before his graduation he had enlisted in the war for the preservation of the Union. In May 1863 he received a commission as second lieutenant in the Fifty-fifth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, was promoted, 7 June 1863, to the rank of first lieutenant in the same regiment, and on 29 June 1863 became a captain. On 7 January 1864 he was made a captain in the Fifth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Cavalry, but on 23 August of the same year he was honorably discharged, having been compelled, by reason of disability contracted in the service, to tender his resignation.

Mr. Bowditch, after leaving the Army, engaged in the business of digging oil wells in Pennsylvania, and then was placed in charge of some estates in New York State, with his residence at Geneseo. In November 1872 he returned to Boston, which was his residence for the rest of his life, his home in his later years being at Jamaica Plain. His main occupation was that of trustee for several large estates, and he had an office in the business section of Boston. He became an officer or director in many financial and industrial corporations, among them being the American Bell Telephone Company, of which he was vice president, 1883–1886, the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, the Massachusetts Cotton Mills, the Massachusetts Mills of Georgia, the Pepperell Manufacturing Company, the Saco Water Power Company, the Massachusetts Hospital Life Insurance Company, and the old Boston & Providence Railroad Corporation. He was also a trustee of the Boston Athenæum.

Among scholars Mr. Bowditch held a high rank as an authority on Central American archæology. He was a member of the faculty of the Peabody Museum of American Archæology and Ethnology at Harvard University, was associated with the Department of Archæology of the University of Pennsylvania, and was a member of the Archæological Institute of America, of which he was vice president, the American Anthropological Association, and the American Ethnological Society. He was the author of numerous articles on Central American archæology, some of which first saw the light in The American Anthropologist, and in 1910 he published a book entitled "The Numeration, Calendar Systems and Astronomical Knowledge of the Mayas." Other published works by him in the fields of folklore, literary history, and genealogy were "Negro Songs from Barbados," which appeared in "The Folk-Lore Journal," vol. 5, part 2 (London, 1887), "The Connection of Francis Bacon with the First Folio of Shakespeare's Plays and with the Books on Cipher of His Time," 1910, and "The Pickering Genealogy," 1897, a monumental family history in three massive volumes, accompanied by a volume of tabular pedigrees. He was the author also of "An Account of the Trust administered by the Trustees of the Charity of Edward Hopkins," 1889.

After reaching middle life Mr. Bowditch travelled extensively in the United States, the British Isles, on the European Continent, and in North Africa. In the early part of 1888 he went to Mexico and Yucatan, and in the early part of 1890 he made a trip to the Bahamas, Cuba, and Honduras. In 1904 he was in Mexico and southern California, and from 1904 to 1910 he spent his winters in Santa Barbara, Calif. In 1910–11 he journeyed to the Philippine Islands, China, Singapore, Java, and Japan. His travels in Central America were important in connection with his archæological researches.

In addition to the organizations mentioned above, which were connected with his archæological work, Mr. Bowditch was a fellow (and in 1917 became president) of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and a member of many other organizations, among which may be mentioned the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Antiquarian Society, the Massachusetts Historical Society, the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Essex Institute, the Bostonian Society, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, the American Forestry Association, the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, the Boston Society of Natural History, of which he was vice president, the American Geographical Society, the Explorers' Club of New York, the Travelers' Club, the International Society of Americanists, the Société des Américanistes de Paris, the Unitarian Club, the Harvard Clubs of New York and Boston, the Union Club, and the Brookline Country Club. In 1920 he was appointed a member of the Committee on English Research of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and served on this committee until his death.

Mr. Bowditch married at Lenox, Mass., 7 June 1866, Cornelia Livingston Rockwell, daughter of Hon. Julius and Lucy Forbes (Walker) Rockwell of Lenox, who survives him, together with three daughters and a son, Cornelia Bowditch, Lucy Rockwell Bowditch, wife of Franklin Greene Balch of Boston, A.B. (Harvard, 1888), M.D. and A.M. (ib., 1892), Katharine Putnam Bowditch, wife of Ernest Amory Codman of Boston, A.B. (Harvard, 1891), M.D. (ib., 1895), and Ingersoll Bowditch, A.B. (Harvard, 1897), S.B. (Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1900). Another daughter, Edith Bowditch, died in infancy in 1872.

CORNELIA WARREN (formerly Cornelia Lyman Warren), of Waltham, Mass., a resident member since 1913, was born at Waltham 21 March 1857, the daughter of Samuel Dennis and Susan Cornelia (Clarke) Warren, and died at Waltham 4 June 1921. Her father was a well-known paper manufacturer, and the business established by him is carried on to-day by the S. D. Warren Company, with main offices in Boston. In 1854 he purchased the Ammoncongin Mills, in Westbrook, Me., now greatly expanded and known as the Cumberland Mills, and his success was in large measure due to the importing of rags for paper-making. Miss Warren's mother was a daughter of Rev. Dorus Clarke, D.D., a distinguished Massachusetts clergyman, writer, and editor, who was a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society from 1862 to his death in 1884. He became a life member in 1870, was a director of the Society, 1868–1884, and served as its historiographer, 1868–1875.* The Warren family had a beautiful country estate, "Cedar Hill," in Waltham and a winter residence on Mount Vernon Street in Boston.

Among other schools, Miss Warren was educated at Miss Gage's school on Mount Vernon Street and Miss Hubbard's school on Bowdoin Street in Boston. She then studied with Nathaniel Hooper, and in 1876 passed, with an excellent record, the preliminary examinations for women given under the auspices of Harvard College. Having become interested in the study of philosophy, she pursued this branch of learning for three years under Professor George Holmes Howison of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Professor George Herbert Palmer of Harvard University.

From the age of twelve she made frequent trips to Europe, usually with her mother, and spent much time in Paris, where she became proficient in the French language and made great progress in music. In their later travels she and her mother visited Egypt. In her more mature years she was an energetic traveller by herself, and became well acquainted with her own country and with Mexico.

From her early years she was a writer of verse, although only a few of her poems have been printed. She was the author of a novel, "Miss Wilton," which was published in Boston in 1892, and in 1908 she printed privately "A Memorial of My Mother," a charming tribute to her mother, who had died in 1901.

Her interest in philanthropic work and in educational and social service was, however, superior to the allurements of literary activity. She did much for the welfare of the operatives in the Cumberland Mills, the great paper-manufacturing plant of her family, providing for them a gymnasium, tennis courts, a baseball stand, and a river bath, aiding in the development of the library there, and encouraging the work of the Girls' Club and the Boy Scouts. She was a trustee of the Boston Home for Incurables, from its incorporation in 1884 until 1900, treasurer of the College Settlements Association, now the Intercollegiate Community Service Association, from 1892 to 1900, a director of Denison House, and an honorary vice president of the Consumers' League. With Miss Katharine Coman, professor of economics at Wellesley College, she organized in Boston, some thirty years ago, an association of tailoresses which, as the Thursday Evening Club, is still active.

Her father had been a trustee of Bradford Academy, and on his death in 1888 her mother succeeded him in this office, being the first woman member of the Board of Trustees. Miss Warren succeeded her mother as trustee after the death of the latter, and held this position for the rest of her life. She was also a trustee of Wellesley College from 1900 to 1913.

Both Miss Warren and her mother were generous helpers of the International Institute for Girls in Spain, and the former served on its board of directors from 1911 to 1919. Numerous other gifts to educational institutions were widely distributed, ranging from Tuskegee to Constantinople.

She gave liberally to the Waltham Hospital, the Waltham Girls' Club, and other Waltham enterprises, and the grounds of her beautiful Waltham estate, "Cedar Hill," were often opened for dramatic festivals, picnics, and other gatherings. A lover of music and an accomplished pianist, she gave loyal support to the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Miss Warren's father had been one of the founders of the Mount Vernon Church in Boston, and she herself was a liberal Congregationalist, a member of the Waltham Congregational Church, and a generous supporter of church activities, including foreign missions.

In a beautiful tribute to Cornelia Warren published in a Boston newspaper Miss Katharine Lee Bates wrote: "The law of her life was Christian service. The achievement of her life was Christian character."

Miss Warren is survived by her two younger brothers, Edward Perry Warren, A.B. (Harvard, 1883), B.A. (University of Oxford, 1888), M.A. (ib., 1911), a classical scholar and author, who has spent much time in England, and Fiske Warren of Boston and Harvard, Mass., A.B. (Harvard, 1884), a well-known publicist and a life member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society. Two older brothers were Samuel Dennis Warren of Boston, A.B. (Harvard, 1875), LL.B. (ib., 1877), A.M. (ib., 1878), who succeeded his father in the business of paper manufacturing, was a public-spirited citizen, and died in 1910, and Henry Clarke Warren of Cambridge, Mass., A.B. (Harvard, 1879), an eminent Sanskrit scholar and a benefactor of Harvard University, who died in 1899.

Albert Henry Stearns, of Dorchester, Mass., a resident member since 1909, was born at Waltham, Mass., 15 August 1844, the son of Albert Thomas and Salome (Maynard) Stearns, and died at the home of his son, Albert Thomas Stearns, at Pawtucket, R. I., 5 June 1921. He was a descendant of Isaac[1] Stearns, who was at Watertown, Mass., in 1630, through Lieut. John[2] of Billerica, Mass., John,[3] John,[4] Edward,[5] Abner,[6] and Albert Thomas,[7] his father. On his mother's side he was descended from John[1] Maynard, one of the first settlers of Sudbury, Mass., through Zachariah,[2] Capt. Moses,[3] Samuel,[4] Samuel,[5] Samuel,[6] and Salome,[7] his mother.

He was graduated at the Dorchester High School with the Class of 1862, and from this school went directly into the lumber business with his father, the firm-name becoming eventually A. T. Stearns and Sons. This firm was incorporated, in 1883, as the A. T. Stearns Lumber Company, of Neponset, Mass. Along with this company the Cypress Lumber Company was developed, owning timberlands and operating a saw mill at Apalachicola, Fla.

In 1892 Mr. Stearns retired from active participation in the business, and afterwards travelled extensively with different members of his family, making two trips to Europe — the last in 1914 — and several trips to the Pacific Coast, as well as visits to the West Indies and Central America.

He was a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, the Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the Society of Sons of the Revolution, and other organizations, including the Masonic fraternity. He was one of the organizers and a director of the Dorchester Savings Bank. He was a Republican in politics and a communicant in All Saints' Church (Protestant Episcopal), Dorchester, of which he was at one time a vestryman.

Mr. Stearns married, 11 November 1885, Kate Bowers Dexter of Pawtucket, daughter of Henry Bowers and Emily Frances (Cambell) Dexter, who survives him, together with three children, Albert Maynard Stearns, B.A. (Amherst, 1908), associated with the A. T. Stearns Lumber Company, Albert Thomas Stearns of Pawtucket, a chemist, and Mrs. Katherine (Stearns) Haven, widow of E. Otis Haven, who was the son of Dr. Alfred Haven of Lake Forest, Ill.

Mary Perkins Quincy, of Litchfield, Conn., a life member since 1898, was born in New York City 13 January 1866, the daughter of John Williams and Lucretia Deming (Perkins) Quincy, and died at Litchfield 12 June 1921. She traced her descent from Edmund[1] Quincy, who arrived in Boston in 1633 and settled at Mount Wollaston (Braintree), Mass., through Lieut. Col. Edmund[2] of Braintree, Col. Edmund[3] of Braintree, A.B. (Harvard, 1699), A.M. (ib.), a justice of the Superior Court of the Province, Edmund,[4] A.B. (Harvard, 1722), A.M. (ib.), a judge of the Court of Common Pleas, Jacob[5] of Boston, A.B. (Harvard, 1753), A.M. (ib.), John Williams[6] of Boston, and John Williams[7] of New York City, her father.

She was educated at Miss Leverett's school in New York City and at the school kept in New York by Mesdemoiselles Charbonnier of Paris. She also studied with other teachers and masters at home and in Europe.

Miss Quincy had travelled far and wide — in the United States, all the countries of Europe, Egypt, Palestine, Asia Minor, the British Provinces in North America, parts of South America, and the West Indies.

She wrote extensively on historical and genealogical subjects, especially on topics connected with the Quincy family, and many of her articles appeared in print. She was a member of the Archæological Institute of America, the New York Historical Society, the New Haven Colony Historical Society, the Litchfield (Conn.) Historical Society, the American Geographical Society, as well as the Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Society of Colonial Dames, and other hereditary-patriotic organizations.

GEN. CHARLES HENRY TAYLOR, A.M., of Boston, a life member since 1902, was born at Charlestown, Mass., 14 July 1846, the son of John Ingalls and Abigail Russell (Hapgood) Taylor, and died in Boston 22 June 1921. He was a descendant of William[1] Taylor of Exeter, N. H., through Joseph,[2] William,[3] William,[4] Benjamin,[5] Eliphalet,[6] John,[7] and John Ingalls,[8] his father. "He was the eldest son of the eldest son of the eldest son, and so on back to William, the first settler, and so the head of the family of all the host of New England Taylors who are descendants of William Taylor of Exeter." Joseph Taylor, the settler's son, removed to Wells, Me., where he and his descendants did gallant service in the Indian wars. Two of General Taylor's ancestors, father and son, are on the Revolutionary rolls, the son being in General Scammon's regiment, which covered the retirement of Prescott's men from Bunker Hill, and taking part later in the decisive battle of Saratoga and the surrender of Burgoyne's army. This Revolutionary soldier's son, the grandfather of General Taylor, served in the War of 1812 on the famous privateer America. General Taylor's mother, who was born at Marlborough, Mass., 28 April 1818, was the daughter of David and Lydia (Stearns) Hapgood.

He was educated in the grammar and high schools of Charlestown, and at the age of fifteen entered the employ of a Boston printing office, where The Massachusetts Ploughman and The Christian Register were set up, and where he learned the trade of a compositor. Soon afterwards he found a position in the office of the Boston Traveler, where he worked at different times in the mail room, the pressroom, and the composing room.

When but sixteen years old he left the office of the Traveler and enlisted as a private in the Thirty-eighth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, and served in the field about a year and a half (1862–63) with General Banks's command. In the assault upon Port Hudson, 13 June 1863, he was severely wounded, and in consequence was honorably discharged from the service and sent home.

On returning to civil life he reëntered the office of the Traveler, and after working for some time in the composing room became one of the reporters for that newspaper. He soon made his mark as an intelligent and ready writer. He took up shorthand writing and did notable work as a stenographer. While connected with the Traveler he also attracted much attention as a correspondent for newspapers in other cities, especially the New York Tribune and the Cincinnati Times.

On 1 January 1869 he became private secretary to Gov. William Claflin, who made him a member of his military staff, with the rank of colonel. He served as secretary to the Governor for three years, but he continued to do a large part of his former work as a newspaper correspondent, never once dissociating himself from his chosen profession as a journalist.

In 1872 he was a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives from Somerville, and was reëlected for the following year, receiving the unusual honor on both occasions of being the unanimous choice of his fellow citizens, regardless of party lines. He was elected clerk of the House, and filled that office until August 1873.

He then, in 1873, took charge of the Boston Daily Globe, a newspaper which had been started a little over a year before and was then struggling hard to obtain a foothold among the Boston dailies. For nearly five years Colonel Taylor, as manager of the Globe, seemed to be fighting a losing battle, but in March 1878 he took a bold, new departure, organizing the paper as a Democratic two-cent daily, to be conducted on popular lines and to appeal to the many, instead of the few. This action proved to be the turning point in the history of the paper. From this time it prospered more and more under the able management of its resourceful editor, whose name is now enrolled among the names of the great newspaper editors of the Nation.

Gov. William E. Russell recognized Colonel Taylor's ability by appointing him to his staff, with the rank of brigadier general, a position which he held for the three years (1891–1893) of Mr. Russell's governorship. In 1896 Dartmouth College conferred on him the honorary degree of Master of Arts.

General Taylor founded the Middlesex Club, an example which was followed by the organization of the Norfolk County Club and the Essex County Club. He took a deep interest in the Grand Army of the Republic, and was a member of several other organizations, including the Algonquin Club and the Boston Art Club.

"The personal qualities of General Taylor are well known. He was genial, having a genius for friendship; his employees held him in affectionate esteem, he gave time, thought and money to plans for their welfare. He was an admirable story-teller. He was versatile and level-headed, not easy to stampede. He found his ideals early and aimed at them all his life."

He married, 7 February 1866, Georgianna Olivia Davis, who died 18 July 1919, daughter of George William and Lovilla Frances (Lovering) Davis of Charlestown. Three sons and two daughters survive him. The eldest son, Charles Henry Taylor, Jr., is general manager, and the second son, William Osgood Taylor, A.B. (Harvard, 1893), is business manager of the Globe. The youngest son, John Irving Taylor, is interested in real estate. The older daughter, Elizabeth, is the wife of Horace D. Pillsbury of San Francisco, Calif., and the younger daughter is the wife of Matthew C. Armstrong of Hampton, Va.

Israel H. Hatch, of Marshfield, Mass., a resident member since 1904, was born at Marshfield 8 December 1837, the son of Joel and Rebekah (Hatch) Hatch, and died there 25 June 1921. He was a descendant of Elder William[1] Hatch, who embarked for New England in March 1634/5 in the Hercules, sailing from Sandwich, co. Kent, and settled at Scituate in the Plymouth Colony,* through Walter,[2]

* For the English home and ancestry of Elder William Hatch see Register, vol. 70, pp. 245 et seq.

Israel,[3] Israel,[4] Israel,[5] and Joel,[6] his father. Among his mother's ancestors were Richard Warren of the Mayflower and Gov. Thomas Prence.

He received his early education in the common schools, and, his father having died when he was eleven years old, he left school at the age of fourteen and worked for two years in New Bedford, going forth from the office of the New Bedford Standard in 1853. He then attended a private school that was kept by Rev. Frederic Fiske at Marshfield Hills, 1854–1856.

He taught in the public schools at Marshfield in 1857–58, served in the Civil War as a member of Company K, Thirty-eighth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, 1862, and Company C, Sixty-first Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, 1864–65, and from 1869 to 1881 was engaged in the manufacture of wooden boxes. He afterwards became a farmer.

For twelve years he was one of the Board of Selectmen, Assessors, and Overseers of the Poor at Marshfield, and he was for a number of years a justice of the peace. He was for many years secretary of the Marshfield Agricultural and Horticultural Society, and was clerk and treasurer of the Second Congregational Church (Trinitarian) from 1884 until three months before his death.

Mr. Hatch married at Marshfield, 1 August 1859, Caroline Blanchard Oakman of Marshfield, daughter of William Clift and Caroline (Ford) Oakman, who survives him, together with a daughter, Alice Soule Hatch, and a son, Harris Blanchard Hatch, vice president and treasurer of the Royal Electrotype Company of Philadelphia, Pa. Their oldest child, Israel Ellis Hatch, died in infancy, and their youngest child, Tracy Weston Hatch, died without issue in his thirtieth year.

Frank Forrester Stanley, of Swampscott, Mass., a resident member since 1904, was born at Lynn, Mass., 1 April 1850, the son of Joseph and Mary Jane (Atkins) Stanley, and died at Swampscott 18 July 1921. He was a descendant of Stephen Hopkins and his son Giles of the Mayflower.

He was educated in the public schools of Lynn and Swampscott.

From his early manhood Mr. Stanley was associated with the Stanley Manufacturing Company of Lawrence and Salem, Mass., engaged in the manufacture of machinery, and from 1882 on he was the head of this company. He was an inventor of note, a marine engine being among his many inventions. He was also the head of the Stanley Marine Engine Company.

Mr. Stanley was a trustee of the estate of the late Gordon McKay, having been his personal friend and closely associated with him in his business undertakings. For forty years he was a trustee of the Swampscott Public Library, and he was a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Boston Athletic Association, the Tedesco Country Club, the Corinthian Yacht Club, and the Swampscott Historical Society. In politics he was a Republican.

He married, 18 November 1875, Caroline Frances Roberts of Lynn, who died 4 April 1914, daughter of Daniel and Lucinda (Washburn) Roberts. A son, Lyman Roberts Stanley of New York, and two daughters, Grace Forrester Stanley, wife of Walter Meredith Boothby of Rochester, Minn., A.B. (Harvard, 1902), M.D. (ib., 1906), A.M. (ib., 1907), and Gertrude Frances Stanley, survive him.

EDWARD HARTWELL KIDDER, A.M., of New York City, a life member since 1882, was born at Cambridge, Mass., 12 August 1840, the son of Edward and Ann (Potter) Kidder, and died at Ridgefield, Conn., 22 July 1921. He was descended from James[1] Kidder, who was born at East Grinstead, co. Sussex, in 1626, and settled at Cambridge, Mass., as early as 1650, through John,[2] Thomas,[3] Col. Reuben,[4] an early settler of New Ipswich, N. H., Isaiah,[5] and Edward,[6] his father. The English ancestry of the family has been traced back for several generations to Richard Kidder, who was living at Maresfield, co. Sussex, in 1492.*

Edward[6] Kidder was born at New Ipswich, N. H., 19 October 1805, settled in Wilmington, N. C., in 1826, and resided there until his death, which occurred 25 February 1885. His wife, Ann Potter, whom he married soon after his removal to Wilmington, was a daughter of Capt. Gilbert Potter of New York. For about eight years he was engaged in the commission business at Wilmington with his elder brother, Frederic, under the firm name of F. & E. Kidder, until the partnership was dissolved on the removal of Frederic Kidder to New England. Edward Kidder continued in business for a while at Wilmington in a new firm, but soon, with his father-in-law, Captain Potter, embarked in the steam-sawmill business, which he carried on for the remainder of his life. He was elected a corresponding member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society 5 February 1851, was transferred to life membership in 1871, and was Honorary Vice President of the Society for North Carolina from 1856 to 1863 and from 1883 until his death.† He was a strong supporter of the Union during the Civil War, although one of his sons served in the Confederate Army. Frederic Kidder, brother of Edward, was elected a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society 11 July 1849, was made a life member in 1863, and died 19 December 1885. He was Treasurer of the Society, 1851–1855, a Director, 1851–1855 and 1862–1885, and by establishing in his will the Kidder Fund for the purchase of books for the Library became one of the Society's generous benefactors.‡

Edward Hartwell Kidder, at the age of thirteen, was sent from Wilmington to the school kept by Stephen M. Weld, at Jamaica Plain, Mass., and in 1856 was placed in the Rectory School of Rev. C. W. Everest, at Hamden, Conn. There he was prepared for college, and entered Harvard in 1859. In consequence of the breaking out of the Civil War, in 1861, he was, as he expressed it, "cut off from supplies," and therefore left college and taught during his Junior year at Mr. Everest's school. He rejoined his college class, however, in 1862, and received the degree of Bachelor of Arts with his classmates in 1863. The degree of Master of Arts, in course, was conferred on him in 1866.

After graduation he settled in the North. Before engaging in business he went to Nassau, Bahama Islands, for a short visit, and then, in October 1863, entered the employ of George S. Page & Brother of New York City, dealers in coal tar products. On 1 January 1865, having bought an interest in the business, he was admitted as a partner, the firm being known as Page, Kidder & Company. A few years later Mr. I. D. Fletcher became a partner in the business, and the firm name was changed to Page, Kidder & Fletcher. In 1872 the firm was incorporated as the New York Coal Tar Chemical Company, of which Mr. Kidder, after a year's retirement, was elected secretary in 1874. Afterwards it was one of the important companies taken into the merger known as the Barrett Manufacturing Company, of which Mr. Kidder had been secretary and was a director at the time of his death, although he had retired from active business some years previously. He had also been secretary of the American Coal Products Company.

Mr. Kidder was for some years a vestryman of St. James's Church in Brooklyn, N. Y., and was a trustee of Adelphi Academy, the Brooklyn City Hospital, and the Brooklyn Savings Bank, and he gave freely but unostentatiously of his time, his sympathy, and his wealth to the church, to charities, and to social service.

His residence during his married life was in Brooklyn, but later he lived in New York City, at 37 East 77th Street. In the latter part of his life he travelled much, going to Europe for several months in the summers of 1895 and 1896, spending some seven or eight months in Egypt and in Europe in 1899, four more months abroad in 1901, and the winter of 1904–05 in Rome, and making another journey to Europe in 1906.

He married at Brooklyn, 11 October 1865, Mary Lincoln Hathaway, who died 25 December 1890, daughter of James L. Hathaway of Brooklyn. Two children survive him, James Hathaway Kidder, A.B. (Harvard, 1892), and Mary Grace Kidder, who was married, 18 September 1900, to Paul Leicester Ford, a well-known writer. Mr. Ford died 8 May 1902, and his widow was married secondly, 18 January 1908, to Dr. Linsly Rudd Williams. Mr. Kidder's oldest child, Edward Hartwell Kidder, Jr., died in 1876, in his ninth year.

Florence Hale Abbot, B.L., M.D., of Boston, a resident member since 1920, was born at Wilton, N. H., 20 October 1867, the daughter of Harris and Caroline Ann (Greeley) Abbot, and died unmarried in Boston 1 August 1921. She was a descendant of George[1] Abbot, who came from Yorkshire, England, about 1640, and settled in Andover, Mass., where his house was a garrison, through John,[2] John,[3] John,[4] Maj. Abiel[5] of Wilton, N. H., Capt. Ezra,[6] and Harris,[7] her father. Her grandfather, Capt. Ezra[6] Abbot (1772–1847), the first manufacturer of potato starch, married Rebecca Hale, daughter of Lieut. Joseph and Rebecca (Harris) Hale and niece of Capt. Nathan Hale, the Revolutionary patriot.

She received her preliminary education in the common schools of Wilton, at the Pembroke (N. H.) Academy, and at Cushing Academy, Ashburnham, Mass., where she was graduated in 1887. She entered Smith College, and received there the degree of Bachelor of Letters in 1891. She was a governess and a teacher, at Bermuda and at Pembroke Academy, 1891–1893, and then studied medicine for four years, receiving the degree of Doctor of Medicine in 1897 from the Women's Medical College of the New York Infirmary. In 1898 she obtained a diploma from the Woman's Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa., where she had spent a year as resident physician.

After leaving Philadelphia she served as assistant physician in three State hospitals for the insane in Massachusetts, at Medfield, 1898–1903, Taunton, 1903–1908, and Worcester, 1908–1910. From 1910 to 1917 she was assistant physician at Dr. Mellus's private hospital in Newton, Mass., and then held a similar position at the Boston State Hospital at Mattapan, where she died.

She was a member of the American Medical Association, the Massachusetts Medical Society, the American Medico-Psychological Association, the New England Society of Psychiatry, the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, and the College Club of Boston. In religion she was a Congregationalist.

Mrs. Louise Bartlett (Carruth) Baxter, of Pine Orchard, Conn., a life member since 1913, was born at Northborough, Mass., 20 January 1846, and died at Framingham, Mass., 2 August 1921. She was the daughter of Henry Ware and Harriet A. (Gould) Bartlett, but was adopted by Horatio Townsend and Charlotte (Martin) Carruth of Northborough and brought up as their own child, and she cherished their memories "with gratitude and loving respect." Her father, Henry Ware Bartlett, was born at Northborough 25 December 1825, the son of Joel and Sarah Bartlett; and her mother, Harriet A. Gould, was born at St. Johnsbury, Vt., in 1829, the daughter of Phineas and Harriet (Spear) Gould. Horatio Townsend Carruth was born at Northborough 28 March 1801, and died at Quincy, Mass., 11 March 1875; and Charlotte Martin, his wife, was born at Portsmouth, N. H., 28 February 1804, and died at Northborough 30 April 1873.

She was educated in public and private schools in Northborough, and was graduated at the Framingham Normal School in 1867. She taught in Northborough from 1867 to 1870.

She was married at Northborough, 10 February 1870, to Charles Newcomb Baxter of Quincy, who died 30 October 1882, son of Thompson and Dolly Ann (Perley) Baxter. Two of her children survive her, Dolly Ann Baxter, at the Taunton (Mass.) State Hospital, and Charles Newcomb Baxter, S.B. (Massachusetts Agricultural College and Boston University, 1898), A.B. (Harvard, 1902), now librarian of the James Blackstone Memorial Library at Branford, Conn., and since 1911 a life member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society. Three other children died in infancy. Mrs. Baxter's five children were born at Quincy, but she joined the Society in 1913 as a resident of Southborough, Mass.

THEODORE EDWARD LEEDS, of New York City, elected a resident member in 1896 and made a life member in 1898, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., 4 October 1839, the son of Theodore Churchill and Mary Ann (Leach) Leeds, and died in New York City 6 August 1921. He traced his descent from Richard[1] Leeds, who, aged 32, sailed from Great Yarmouth, co. Norfolk, in April 1637, on the John and Dorethey, with his wife Joan, aged 23, and one child, and settled in Dorchester, Mass., through Joseph,[2] Joseph,[3] Hopestill,[4] Daniel,[5] Benjamin Bass,[6] and Theodore Churchill[7] of Boston, his father. The first Joseph removed from Dorchester to Northampton, Mass., where he married and lived for about sixteen years (1661–1677), afterwards returning to Dorchester; but, with this exception, the ancestors of Theodore Edward Leeds, from Richard, the immigrant, down to Theodore Churchill Leeds, were residents of Dorchester.

He was educated under private instructors and was prepared for Harvard College, but financial losses suffered by his father prevented him from taking a college course. He therefore entered, as a student, the law office of A. A. Ranney and Nathan Morse of Boston, and was admitted to the Suffolk bar in January 1863. A few years afterwards he removed to New York City, and became a member of the New York Stock Exchange, without, however, relinquishing his legal studies. In the office of George Buckham, Joshua M. Van Cott, and Francis N. Bangs, in New York City, he studied the practice of New York State, and, after admission to the New York bar, resumed the practice of his profession there. At different times he was associated with John S. Davenport and George W. Dillaway, until 1894, when the partnership was dissolved, and Mr. Leeds devoted himself to legal work solely as a counsellor. His clientele was largely made up of trustees of estates, banking interests, and industrial corporations.

In a history of the bench and bar of New York, published about 1896, appears the following statement: "Mr. Leeds enjoys a large and lucrative practice. He is a man of strict integrity, a sound lawyer, a patient and sagacious counsellor, a wise and successful healer of differences, and a loyal and disinterested friend."

He was a member of the Union League Club, the Social Reform Club of New York City, and other New York organizations, and in 1906 made, with his wife, a voyage to Europe. He was an earnest student of Elizabethan literature and an ardent admirer of Shakespeare.

He married, 4 February 1886, Mary Eliza Bronson, who survives him, daughter of Malcolm and Jane Eliza (Tibbitts) Bronson, Malcolm Bronson being the son of Edward and Mary (McLaren) Bronson and Jane Eliza Tibbitts being the daughter of Freedom and Eliza (Sanger) Tibbitts. Mr. and Mrs. Leeds had no children.

COL. SAMUEL POMEROY COLT, LL.B., of Bristol, R. I., a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1919, was born at Paterson, N. J., 10 January 1852, the son of Christopher and Theodora G. (DeWolf) Colt, and died at Bristol 13 August 1921. On his father's side he was a descendant of the Colts of Hartford, Conn., his grandfather being Christopher Colt, and his uncle, for whom he was named, being Samuel Colt, the inventor of the Colt revolver. On his mother's side he was connected with the DeWolfs of Bristol, who in the early part of the last century amassed large fortunes in the East India trade. His great-uncle, James DeWolf, was United States senator from Rhode Island from 1821 to 1825. His great-grandfather, William Bradford, a descendant of Gov. William Bradford of the Plymouth Colony, was United States senator from 1793 to 1797.

He received his early education at Hartford, Conn., and at Anthon's grammar school in New York City, was a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1870–1873, and, entering the Columbia University Law School, received there the degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1876. He was admitted to the New York bar in the same year and to the Rhode Island bar in 1877. From 1877 to 1887 he practised law in Providence, R. I.

A Republican in politics, he served on the staff of Gov. Henry Lippitt of Rhode Island, with the rank of colonel, 1875–1877, was a member of the Rhode Island General Assembly from Bristol, 1876–1879, and was assistant attorney general of Rhode Island, 1879–1882, and attorney general, 1882–1885.

Colonel Colt founded the Industrial Trust Company of Providence, one of the strongest financial institutions of Rhode Island, of which he was president until 1908 and afterwards chairman of its Board of Directors, and in 1888 he entered the field of industry by reorganizing the National India Rubber Company of Bristol, consolidating three rubber companies and becoming president of the new company. Later he amalgamated this with other concerns under the name of the United States Rubber Company, with a capital stock of $50,000,000, which was increased fifty per cent in 1905. Originally the legal adviser of this company, he became its president in 1901 and served in that capacity until 1918, when he was appointed chairman of its Board of Directors. He was also a director in forty or more other organizations, including banks, railroads, steamship companies, and manufacturing companies. His home was in Bristol, but he had offices in Providence and in New York City.

His large fortune enabled him to make many liberal gifts for worthy purposes. As a memorial to his mother, he erected a white marble building for the Bristol high school, at a cost of about $150,000. He laid out a beautiful public park of three hundred acres on Popaquash, a peninsula jutting out from Bristol, in which he placed a costly work of art in marble and bronze, and erected a big tower as an observatory. He purchased part of Mount Hope, overlooking Mount Hope Bay and Fall River, with the intention of establishing a public park there. He also contributed $10,000 to start a fund for the building of a memorial library to Col. John Hay, the distinguished writer and statesman, at Brown University.

He was a member of the Squantum, Hope, and University Clubs of Providence, and of the Metropolitan, Lawyers', and East Indian Clubs of New York.

He married, 12 January 1881, Elizabeth M. Bullock of Bristol, daughter of J. Russell Bullock, a former judge of the United States District Court for Rhode Island, who survives him, together with two sons, Russell Griswold Colt and Roswell Christopher Colt. He is also survived by an elder brother, Hon. Le Baron Bradford Colt, A.M., LL.D., of Bristol, R. I., formerly a judge of the United States District Court for Rhode Island and afterwards of the United States Circuit Court for the First Judicial Circuit, and since 1913 a United States senator (Republican) from Rhode Island.

JANE WILKES, of Washington, D. C., a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1920, was born in New York City 3 January 1829, the daughter of Rear Admiral Charles Wilkes, U. S. N., and his wife, Jane Jeffrey (Renwick) Wilkes, and died at Wellesley Hills, Mass., at the home of her niece, Mrs. A. E. Rankin, 17 August 1921. She traced her descent from Israel Wilkes, surveyor, officer in the Colonial Army, and lawyer, who was born in England in 1722, married there in 1752 Elizabeth De Ponthier, came to New York City in 1754, died there in 1803, and was buried in Trinity Churchyard. His son, Capt. John De Ponthier Wilkes, was born in England in 1753, married in New York City, in 1789, Mary Seton, daughter of Lieut. Andrew and Margaret (Seton) Seton of New York and New Jersey, and died in 1835.

Charles Wilkes, fifth child of Capt. John De Ponthier Wilkes and father of Jane Wilkes, was born in New York City 3 April 1798, married there, in 1826, Jane Jeffrey Renwick, born in New York City in 1802, daughter of William and Jane (Jeffrey) Renwick, and died in Washington 8 February 1877. He was a distinguished officer in the United States Navy, entering the service as a midshipman 1 January 1818 and advancing through the various grades until, while holding the rank of commodore, he was retired on account of age, 25 June 1864, and was promoted to the rank of rear admiral on the retired list, 25 July 1866. He was in command of an exploring squadron which sailed from Norfolk, Va., in 1838, entered the Pacific Ocean, discovered the Antarctic Continent, cruised along the western coast of North America, and arrived in New York in 1842, having circumnavigated the globe. For the services rendered to science by this expedition its commander received a gold medal from the Geographical Society of London, and the reports of the expedition fill several volumes. In the Civil War, when, as captain, he was in command of the U. S. Ship San Jacinto, he intercepted on the high seas, 8 November 1861, the British mail steamer Trent, on her way from Havana to St. Thomas, took from her the Confederate commissioners, Mason and Slidell, with their secretaries, and brought them into Boston Harbor. Although he received the thanks of Congress and the plaudits of the people of the North for this act, the United States Government very properly, at the demand of Great Britain, released the prisoners, on the ground that Captain Wilkes had not proceeded in the case according to the requirements of international law. In May 1920 the remains of Rear Admiral Wilkes were removed from Oak Hill Cemetery, where they had been buried, and were interred in the National Cemetery at Arlington, where a monument to his memory has been erected by the National Geographic Society.

Rear Admiral Wilkes had two sons and two daughters. The elder son, John, who was born in 1827 and died in 1908, was graduated in 1841 at the head of the first class graduated at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, and, after several years of service in the Navy, resigned and settled at Charlotte, N. C., establishing there the first national bank in the South. The elder daughter, Jane, the subject of this memoir, led an uneventful life. She was educated in Washington, at the school conducted by Madam Breschard, which was then considered the best school in the capital, and was graduated there in 1848 in Spanish, French, and English, receiving silver medals in recognition of her attainments in these languages. In her ninety-second year she showed her interest in the work of the New England Historic Genealogical Society by accepting an invitation to become a Pilgrim Tercentenary member, and she is succeeded in this membership by her nephew, John Francis Wilkes of Charlotte, A.B. (University of North Carolina, 1883), M.E. (Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J., 1885), son of her deceased brother John.

Alfred Varnum Lincoln, of Charlestown, Mass., a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1920, was born at Andover, Mass., 25 August 1852, the son of Rev. Varnum and Emmeline (Sprague) Lincoln, and died in East Boston 21 August 1921. It is believed that he was descended from Samuel Lincoln of Hingham, Mass., who came to New England in 1637, but the ancestral line has been carried back with certainty only to Luke Lincoln, from whom Alfred Varnum Lincoln traced his descent through Mark, Abel, Abel, and Rev. Varnum, his father.

For more than fifty years Mr. Lincoln had made his home in Charlestown, where for more than twenty years he was engaged in the real estate business.

He left generous sums of money for the benefit of his native town, Charlestown, and Gilford, N. H., where he had a summer residence, and also to several hospitals, a number of churches, mostly Universalist (for he was a member of this denomination), and other worthy causes.

He married, 18 October 1872, Ida Hannah Cook, who survives him, together with five children, Alfred Varnum Lincoln, Jr., Mrs. Grace Sprague (Lincoln) Hawkes, Mrs. Alice Thayer (Lincoln) Crosby, Florence Lincoln, and Mrs. Ida Mabel (Lincoln) Adams.

Willard Atherton Nichols, S. B., of Redlands, Calif., a resident member since 1907, was born at Standish, Me., 25 August 1844, the son of George Henry and Sarah Ann (Atherton) Nichols, and died unmarried at Redlands 22 August 1921. He was descended from Thomas[1] Nichols, who was at Amesbury, Mass., as early as 1665, through Thomas[2] of Amesbury, David[3] of Salem, Mass., Capt. Ichabod[4] of Salem, Rev. Ichabod[5] of Portland, Me., A.B. (Harvard, 1802), A.M. (ib., 1805), D.D. (Bowdoin, 1821), S.T.D. (Harvard, 1831), who died in 1859, and George Henry,[6] A.B. (Harvard, 1833),

M.D. (University of Pennsylvania, 1836), his father, a distinguished physician, who practised his profession at Standish, Me., from 1836 to 1859 and in Boston from 1859 until his death in 1890. Mr. Nichols numbered also among his ancestors Gov. John Winthrop, Gov. Thomas Dudley, Mary Chilton of the Mayflower, and many other founders of New England.

He received his early education at a private school and at the Standish Academy, and, after the removal of his father to Boston, took an advanced course at the Boston Latin School, 1859–1861, and was for two years, 1861–1863, a pupil at the Boston English High School. He then studied for two years at the Lawrence Scientific School, Harvard University, taking the course in civil engineering and receiving in 1865 the degree of Bachelor of Science.

From 1865 until 1890 Mr. Nichols was engaged in the practice of his profession as a civil engineer. He was connected with the Bureau of Sewers in New York City, 1865–66, and was assistant engineer of the Sullivan & Erie Railroad, in Pennsylvania, 1866–1868, assistant engineer and afterwards resident engineer of the European & North American Railway, in Maine and New Brunswick, 1868–1871, chief engineer of the New Brunswick Railway, 1871–1876, and first assistant engineer in the Department of Docks in New York City, 1876–1890.

He was an able and eminent member of his profession, but his health became seriously impaired, and he therefore, in 1890, removed to southern California and engaged in the cultivation of oranges. His orange grove at Redlands produced a very fine quality of fruit. His advice as an expert in civil engineering was often sought in San Bernardino County, Calif.

The wide range of his interests is shown by the list of societies and clubs of which he was or had been a member. It includes the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Prince Society of Boston, the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of California, the Society of Sons of the Revolution in the State of California, the Society of the War of 1812 in the State of Pennsylvania, the National Geographic Society, the Southwest Society of the Archæological Institute of America, the Harvard Club of Los Angeles, Calif., the University Club of Redlands, and various other organizations at Redlands. He was a trustee of the A. R. Smiley Public Library of Redlands and of the Unity Church there.

Mr. Nichols is survived by his twin sister, Mrs. Francis Lowell Hills (Elizabeth Keith Nichols) of Marblehead, Mass.

Henry Oliver Underwood, A.B., of Belmont, Mass., a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1919, was born in that part of Watertown, Mass., which is now included in the town of Belmont, 29 March 1858, the son of William James and Esther Crafts (Mead) Underwood, and died at Nantucket, Mass., 22 August 1921. He was born on the old estate originally settled about 1636 by his maternal ancestor, Roger Wellington, and occupied from that time on by consecutive generations of descendants.

His grandfather was William Underwood, an Englishman, who introduced into New England the art and the industry of preserving food by canning. He was born at Great Ealing, co. Middlesex, England, 12 November 1787, the son of William Underwood, a baker of that parish, and served an apprenticeship with the house of Mackey & Company of London, in the trade of pickling and preserving food. In 1812 Nicholas Appert, a Frenchman, to whom in 1809 a prize of 12,000 francs had been paid by the French Government for the best treatise on the art of preserving animal and vegetable substances, published an account of his method in London; and in 1817 William Underwood left England for the purpose of establishing himself in this business in the United States. He arrived at New Orleans, La., in the same year, but, not wishing to settle there, started out on foot in search of a suitable place for his business. He went into every State at that time in the Union, and in 1819 came to Boston, having walked almost the entire distance from New Orleans. Here he founded the firm of William Underwood & Company, manufacturers of canned goods, a business which is still carried on by his descendants under the corporate name of the William Underwood Company. It is not known with certainty when he began the business in Boston, but in 1821 he was shipping goods to South America, and the next year he was selling fruits and berries in glass jars. At first the bulk of his goods went to foreign markets — Gibraltar, India, Batavia, Hong Kong, Manila, Havana, Porto Rico, and South America, but so great was the prejudice against American goods that oftentimes it was deemed necessary to give them an English label. For a while, from 1819 on, James Underwood, a younger brother of William, who also had migrated from England to America about 1817, was associated with William in the business in Boston, but after two years he removed to Philadelphia, Pa., and became a publisher. One of his sons, Charles James Underwood, was later, for a time, a member of the Boston firm of William Underwood & Company.

William Underwood married, 18 December 1824, Betsy Hale, a native of Groton, N. H., a granddaughter of Col. John Hale of Hollis, N. H., and a descendant of many prominent early settlers of New England, among her ancestors being Thomas Hale of Newbury, Mass., Isaac Allerton, passenger in the Mayflower, Rev. John Miller of Yarmouth and Josiah Winslow of Marshfield in the Plymouth Colony, Rev. John Maverick of Dorchester, Rev. Peter Bulkley and John Hoar of Concord, John Prescott of Lancaster, John Tuttle and John Cogswell of Ipswich, Richard Hutchinson of Salem, and Samuel Ward of Hingham, Mass.

William Underwood died 5 February 1864. Of his nine children, William James Underwood, his third child and eldest son, was born in Boston 22 December 1830 and died 20 April 1897. He married, 17 June 1852, Esther Crafts Mead, daughter of Samuel O. and Minnie Maria Dix (Wellington) Mead, and had three children, Henry Oliver Underwood, the subject of this memoir, William Lyman Underwood of Belmont, a director in the business founded by his grandfather, a lecturer in the biological department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and an authority on bacteriology, and Loring Underwood of Belmont, A.B. (Harvard, 1897), a well-known landscape architect. After his marriage William James Underwood resided in Belmont, and continued to be associated with the business established by his father in Boston.

Henry Oliver Underwood was prepared for college in the school of George Washington Copp Noble of Boston, entered Harvard in 1875, and was graduated there in 1879, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts. After spending a year as clerk in the employ of M. F. Pickering & Company, ship brokers, of Boston, he entered his father's office as a clerk, became a partner in the business in 1886, and at the time of his death had been for many years president and treasurer of the William Underwood Company, which was incorporated in 1895. He was a director, also, of the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates, the Old Colony Trust Company, the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and other organizations. His wealth enabled him to do much for the benefit of Belmont, Harvard University, and deserving charities. He gave to the town of Belmont a public library, in memory of his parents, and also the Underwood Playground and Swimming Pool. He contributed $100,000 toward the Harvard Endowment Fund. He had a summer residence at Nantucket, and aided in erecting in that town a hospital in memory of his wife. After becoming a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society he made provision for the erection of a tablet in the stair hall of the Society's building, to commemorate his ancestors. He was a member of the Belmont Unitarian Church, the Oakley Country Club, the Country Club of Brookline, the Union, Exchange, and Harvard Clubs of Boston, and the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

He married in Boston, 21 May 1884, Jennie Cushing, who died several years ago, daughter of Hayward W. and Maria (Pierce) Cushing of Boston. Three daughters survive him, Alice Cushing, wife of Raynor Monteith Gardiner, S.B. (Harvard, 1909), of Belmont, Margaret Cushing of Belmont, and Helen Cushing, wife of Charles Oliver Wellington, A.B. (Harvard, 1907), of Belmont.

Albert Randolph Crittenden, of Middletown, Conn., a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1919, was born at Portland, Conn., 4 December 1843, the son of George and Eliza (Sellew) Crittenden, and died at Middletown 15 September 1921. He was a descendant of Abraham Crittenden, who came to New Haven from the vicinity of Dover, England, about 1635, and joined the Guilford colony two or three years later.

He was educated at the Chase School in Middletown and at Brown Academy in West Haven, Conn. In 1859 he entered the employ of Wilcox & Hall, ship chandlers, of Middletown, and at the age of seventeen was placed in charge of the shipping department of this firm. When the Civil War broke out, he responded to the call of President Lincoln, and in July 1862 enlisted in Company B, Fourteenth Regiment, Connecticut Volunteers. He took part in twenty-five engagements, and was wounded slightly several times. At the close of the War he returned to Middletown and received his former position again. Soon afterwards he became a travelling salesman for the firm, and in 1889 he was admitted to partnership, the name of the firm being changed to Wilcox, Crittenden & Company.

Mr. Crittenden was active in Middletown affairs. In 1894 he was elected a trustee of the Middletown Savings Bank, and in 1904 he was elected mayor of the city and held that office for two years. When the Middlesex Hospital was organized, he was chosen president and served in that capacity for seven years.

"Mr. Crittenden was a man of rare character and possessed a charming personality. His cheerful disposition, his friendly way of ever treating those in his employ, won him the love of all who knew him."

He married, in 1869, Mary Louise Ferree, who survives him.

Mrs. Mary Jane (Stull) Studebaker, of South Bend, Ind., a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1919, was born at South Bend 25 March 1836, the ninth and youngest child of Henry Stull, and died there 17 September 1921. Her grandfather, Godfrey Stull, a native of Hanover, Germany, emigrated to America, settled in Fayette County, Pa., served in the War of 1812, and later removed to Jennings County, Ind. He married Rebecca Hughes, and six children were born to them, the oldest of whom was the father of the subject of this memoir.

Mary Jane Stull "grew to womanhood amid the humble and homely surroundings of a pioneer's home," and was married, 2 January 1860, to John Mohler Studebaker, a young mechanic, who was born at Gettysburg, Pa., 10 October 1833, the son of John and Rebecca (Mohler) Studebaker. The family migrated to Ashland County, Ohio, in 1835, and in 1851 to South Bend, Ind. There the young man learned to make wagons, went to California in 1853, and, returning to South Bend in 1858, became, with his brothers, the organizer of a company which grew into the Studebaker Brothers Manufacturing Company and is now the Studebaker Corporation, operating one of the largest plants for the manufacture of vehicles in the world. He died 16 March 1917.

The first years of the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Studebaker were years of hardship, on account of the Civil War, but these hardships were bravely met, and the opportunities given to Mrs. Studebaker to engage in relief work were gladly welcomed by her. The prosperity which afterwards came to the family through the wonderful success of the Studebaker Company enabled Mrs. Studebaker to extend her charities in many directions, but her services were given especially to unfortunate children. For many years she was one of the most influential and devoted friends of the Orphans' Home in Mishawaka, Ind., and it was through her efforts that the Work Orphanage at Plymouth, Ind., was placed under the supervision of the State Board of Charities.

Like her husband, she was reared in the Dunkard faith, and, like him, went over to the Presbyterian Church; but denominational lines were never regarded by her when the call to service for her fellow men came. It was enough that they needed her. Her response was immediate and helpful.

Mrs. Studebaker is survived by two of her three children, Grace A. Studebaker, wife of Col. Frederick Samuel Fish of South Bend, A.B. (University of Rochester, 1873), chairman of the Board of Directors of the Studebaker Corporation and a Pilgrim Tercentenary member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and John Mohler Studebaker, Jr.

SEYMOUR MORRIS (formerly Tyler Seymour Morris), of Chicago, Ill., elected a resident member in 1894 and made a life member in 1898, was born at Utica, N. Y., 15 February 1863, the youngest son of Joseph and Clara Elizabeth (Seymour) Morris, and died in Chicago 27 September 1921. He was descended from Lieut. Edward[1] Morris, who was baptized at Nazeing, co. Essex, England, 8 August 1630, the son of Thomas and Grissie (Hewsome) Morris, and, emigrating to New England, settled at Roxbury, Mass., and later at New Roxbury (Woodstock), Conn., through Dea. Edward[2] of Roxbury and Woodstock, Lieut. Edward[3] of Woodstock, Isaac[4] of Wilbraham, Mass., Ephraim[5] of Bethel, Vt., and Joseph[6] of Utica and Chicago, his father. On the maternal side he traced his descent from Richard[1] Seamer (Seymour), who was baptized at Sawbridgeworth, co. Herts, England, 27 January 1604/5,* and appears as a proprietor at Hartford, Conn., in 1639, through Capt. Richard[2] of Farmington, Conn., Ebenezer[3] of Farmington, Capt. Stephen[4] of Plymouth, Conn., Gideon[5] of Paris, N. Y., Salmon[6] of Westmoreland, Oneida Co., N. Y., and Clara Elizabeth,[7] his mother. His father was born at Bethel, Vt., and his mother at Paris, Oneida Co., N. Y.

He was educated in the public schools of Utica, and, after the removal of his parents to Chicago in April 1875, in those of the latter city, and was graduated at the Chicago High School in 1880. On 6 September 1880 he entered the office of Judge Lucius B. Otis, in the real estate and renting business at 142 LaSalle Street, Chicago. Later he engaged in business by himself, and, his sound judgment in financial matters being widely recognized, he was selected as trustee of the L. Z. Leiter and many other large estates and became a director in a number of important financial organizations.

During the World War Mr. Morris was appointed chairman of Exemption Appeal Board No. 2, of the Northern District of Illinois, and served in that capacity until the end of the War.

He was greatly interested in genealogical research, and had collected a library of some six thousand volumes, consisting chiefly of genealogies, vital records, and New England town histories. His published works include "Ephraim and Pamela (Converse) Morris, Their Ancestors and Descendants," 1894, "The Tucker Genealogy," 1901, and "Richard Seymour of Hartford and Norwalk, Conn., and Some of His Descendants," which was begun in the REGISTER, vol. 72, and continued in vol. 73, but was not finished when Mr. Morris died.* He also edited several volumes of publications of the Illinois Societies of Mayflower Descendants, Colonial Wars, and the Sons of the American Revolution.

He was the prime mover in the organization of the Society of Mayflower Descendants in the State of Illinois, a life member of the Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and founder of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of Illinois. He was also a founder and one of the incorporators of the Illinois Genealogical Society. Among other organizations of which he was a member were the Society of the Cincinnati, the New England Society of Chicago, the Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Pennsylvania Society of the Order of Founders and Patriots of America, the Chicago Club, the Union League Clubs of Chicago and New York, and the Metropolitan Club of New York.

He had been adjutant of the Chicago Continental Guard, a military organization composed of members of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, uniformed and equipped similarly to the New York Infantry of the Revolution.

In politics he was a Republican and in religion a Congregationalist, but for many years he held various offices in the Third Presbyterian Church of Chicago.

He married at Chicago, 18 January 1888, Ida Nesbitt Tucker, daughter of William Stringham Snyder and Martha Ann (Nesbitt) Tucker, a descendant of Gov. William Bradford, John Alden, and Thomas Rogers of the Mayflower, and of Gov. Thomas Dudley of the Colony of the Massachusetts Bay, and since 1920 a Pilgrim Tercentenary member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society. Mrs. Morris survives her husband, with one son, Seymour Tucker Morris of Chicago.

Mrs. Laura Cornelia (Bingham) Heely, of New York City, a resident member since 1913, was born at Buffalo, N. Y., 18 April 1846, the daughter of Alonzo Landon and Louisa Maria (Folsom) Bingham, and died at South Lee, N. H., 15 October 1921. She was a descendant of Dea. Thomas[1] Bingham of Norwich and Windham, Conn., who married Mary Rudd, through Joseph,[2] Dea. Elijah,[3] Vine,[4] Homer,[5] and Capt. Alonzo Landon,[6] her father, who was born at Perry, N. Y., 18 August 1816, and died at Saginaw, Mich., 25 January 1893. His wife, Louisa Maria Folsom, whom he married at Buffalo 29 June 1845, was born there 31 May 1823, and died at Saginaw 25 February 1901. He was engaged in educational work, migrated with his family to Saginaw while his daughter was still a young girl, and became especially prominent in his chosen profession. He was a captain in the Civil War. Mrs. Heely numbered also among her ancestors Rev. Peter Bulkley, Capt. Roger Clap, Mark Hunking, chief justice of New Hampshire, and members of other prominent families of early New England.

She received a good common-school education. Left a widow in Saginaw when only thirty years of age, she soon had the distinction of being the only woman register of deeds in the country. She took up genealogical research as a profession, and became well known as a genealogist in New York City, whither she removed, and its vicinity. She was an authority on the ancestry of New Hampshire families, and did much valuable research work in connection with the Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Society of Colonial Wars, and other hereditary-patriotic societies.

She was a member of the New York Historical Society, the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the New Hampshire Chapter of the United States Daughters of the War of 1812, of which she was historian, the Military Society of the Frontier, and the Washington Headquarters Association, of which she was for many years a director. Her valuable collection of genealogical data becomes the property of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society.

She was married at Saginaw, 9 February 1871, to John Jasper Heely, formerly of Manchester, England, son of William and Ann Heely, a prominent lawyer of Saginaw, who died there in 1877, aged 33 years. Three daughters survive her, Mrs. Stanley Lyman Otis (Blanche Heely) of New York City, Mrs. George A. Hayes (Neal Heely) of Boston, and Mrs. George W. King (Gertrude Heely) of Yonkers, N. Y. Another daughter, Ruth Heely, now deceased, twin sister of Gertrude, was the wife of Judson Hodgkins of New York City.

Camillus George Kidder, A.B., LL.B., of New York City, a life member since 1883, was born in Baltimore, Md., 6 July 1850, the son of Camillus and Sarah Thompson (Herrick) Kidder, and died in New York City 20 October 1921. He was descended from James[1] Kidder of Cambridge and Billerica, Mass. (whose ancestry has been traced back to Richard Kidder, living at Maresfield, co. Sussex, England, in 1492), through John[2] of Chelmsford, Mass., Thomas[3] of Chelmsford, Col. Reuben,[4] who, with two of his brothers, Aaron and Joseph, was an early settler of New Ipswich, N. H., Reuben,[5] A.B. (Dartmouth, 1791), a lawyer of Waterville, Me., and Camillus,[6] his father. He was, therefore, a second cousin of Edward Hartwell Kidder, of whom a memoir may be found on page lxviii of this Supplement, both being great-grandsons of Col. Reuben[4] Kidder of New Ipswich, N. H. His father, Camillus[6] Kidder, born at Waterville, Me., was in early life in business in Bangor, Me., but in 1838 removed to Maryland and in 1842 entered on a large commission business in Baltimore, in which he was engaged during the Civil War. He died in Boston in 1883. Sarah Thompson Herrick, wife of Camillus[6] Kidder, was a native of Hampden, Me., being the daughter of Jedediah Herrick of Hampden, who was a major general in the militia in the War of 1812.

Camillus George Kidder was twelve years old when he was first sent to school, his teacher being a Mr. Beecher in Brooklyn, N. Y., a cousin of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. He was prepared for college at the Phillips Academy at Exeter, N. H., entered Harvard as a Sophomore, held a high rank in his class, and was graduated in 1872.

After a trip to Europe, he entered the Harvard Law School in 1873, and received there the degree of Bachelor of Laws, cum laude, in 1875.

After completing his course at the Law School he became managing clerk in the law office of Emott, Burnett & Hammond of New York City, and in January 1877 he was admitted to the New York bar. In November of the same year he was made a member of the firm, the name of which was changed, in February 1879, to Emott, Hammond & Kidder. On the death of the senior partner, James Emott, Mr. Kidder started in the practice of the law by himself, but in 1891 entered into partnership with John Stevens Melcher, A.B. (Harvard, 1881), LL.B. (Columbia, 1884). In 1896 William M. Ivins joined the firm, which then took the name of Ivins, Kidder & Melcher. On the death of Mr. Ivins, Mr. Melcher withdrew from the firm, and Mr. Kidder formed a new partnership in the firm of Ayres & Riggs, later Alger & Ayres, Mr. Charles Hamilton Ayres also being a graduate of Harvard (A.B., 1898, A.M., 1899, Ph.D., 1901, LL.B., 1905). Mr. Ayres died in 1917.

For many years Mr. Kidder resided in Orange, N. J. He was a school commissioner there from 1890 to 1893, served on the Excise Board of that city for nine years, resigning in 1910, and then was made a member of the Park Commission of Essex County, N. J. In 1912 he was vice president of the National Municipal League and chairman of a committee of this organization that was charged with an investigation of the liquor problem. He was one of the early advocates of military preparedness, was a member of the Security League and the American Rights League, and delivered public addresses on this subject in the early days of the World War.

He was a member of various bar associations, of the Civil Service Reform Association, of the New England Society of New York, and of several clubs, among which were the Harvard Clubs of New York City and of New Jersey, the University and Century Clubs of New York City, and the Cosmos Club of Washington, D. C.

He married in New York City, 3 December 1881, Matilda Cushman Faber, daughter of Gustavus William and Angelica B. Faber of New York City, who survives him, together with three children, Jerome Faber Kidder of Lake Mohonk, N. Y., Mrs. Eugene Yorke Allen (Lois Faber Kidder) of Plainfield, N. J., and George Herrick Faber Kidder of Minneapolis, Minn.

Rev. Roswell Randall Hoes, A.M., Chaplain, U. S. N., Retired, of Washington, D. C., a corresponding member since 1879, was born at Kingston, N. Y., 28 February 1850, the son of Rev. Dr. C. F. and Lucy Maria Hoes, and died in Washington 26 October 1921.

He received his preliminary education in the Kingston (N. Y.) Academy, and later studied at Amherst College and Princeton University, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Princeton in 1871 and that of Master of Arts from the same institution in 1874. In the following year he was graduated at the Princeton Theological Seminary, after completing the three years' course there.

He was appointed a chaplain in the Navy by President Arthur, 26 July 1882, having been recommended for this position by such men as Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, President McCosh of Princeton, and Secretary of State Frelinghuysen. He served as chaplain for almost thirty years, attained the rank of commander in 1897 and that of captain in 1903, and was retired, with the latter rank, in February 1912. In the War with Spain he was assigned for duty to the U. S. Ship Iowa, attached to the fleet in Cuban waters and commanded by Capt. Robley D. Evans.

Chaplain Hoes found his recreation in genealogical and historical research. Years ago, at the request of the Queen of the Hawaiian Islands and by arrangement with Secretary Blaine, he was engaged to arrange the government archives and to prepare a bibliography of the Kingdom of Hawaii. Later he did similar work with reference to the early history of the Dutch settlers in New Amsterdam. In 1891 appeared his monumental work, "Baptismal and Marriage Registers of the Old Dutch Church of Kingston, Ulster County, New York," which he had himself transcribed and edited and which was printed for him by the De Vinne Press of New York.

Captain Hoes was a member of the Huguenot Society of America, the State historical societies of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Virginia, the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, the Newport Historical Society, the Hawaiian Historical Society, the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of Rhode Island, the Society of Sons of the Revolution, and the Cosmos Club of Washington.

He married first, shortly after leaving the Seminary, Elizabeth Seabrook Welch, who died in 1879; and secondly, nine years later, Rose de Chine Gouverneur of New York, who survives him, together with four children, John Paul Hoes and Isabell Derrance Hoes of New York, Lieut. Gouverneur Hoes, U. S. A., and Laurence Gouverneur Hoes of Washington.

JOHN VACHER BACOT, of Utica, N. Y., a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1919, was born at Jersey City, N. J., 31 October 1857, the son of Robert Cochran and Mary (Gilchrist) Bacot, and died at Utica 30 October 1921. He was descended from Pierre[1] Bacot, a Huguenot, who was born at Tours, France, in March 1670, and married Jacquine Mercier in 1690. He emigrated with his family to South Carolina in the latter part of the seventeenth century, settled as a planter at Goose Creek, about nineteen miles from Charleston, on the Santee River, and afterward took up his residence in Charleston. From him the line of descent is continued through Pierre,[2] Pierre or Peter,[3] Thomas Wright,[4] the first postmaster of Charleston after the adoption of the Constitution, Peter,[5] who removed to Jersey City in 1836, and Robert Cochran,[6] father of the subject of this memoir. His paternal grandmother, the wife of Peter[5] Bacot, was Mary Eugenia Cochran, daughter of Col. Charles Burnham Cochran of Charleston, who was for several years a member of the South Carolina Legislature, and granddaughter of Capt. Robert Cochran, who was born at Londonderry, N. H., about 1735, of Scotch-Irish ancestry, became a sailor, settled in Charleston in 1763, and, as a captain in the naval service of South Carolina in the Revolution, did much to uphold the American cause.

John Vacher Bacot was educated at private schools, the last of which was the Hasbrouck Institute in Jersey City, which he left at the age of sixteen. For three years after this he attended the Cooper Institute evening debating classes, and also, for two years, studied once a week, in the evening, elocution and dramatic expression under Charles G. D. Roberts.

When he was sixteen years of age, he entered his father's office, intending to become a civil engineer; but soon afterwards he decided to study law, and began his training for this profession in the office of Alexander T. McGill, a lawyer of Jersey City. Three years later, upon the appointment of Mr. McGill as chancellor of New Jersey, Mr. Bacot entered the office of his uncle, Robert Gilchrist, a former attorney general of New Jersey, and one year later, in 1881, he was admitted as attorney at law and solicitor in chancery. In 1884 he was admitted by the Supreme Court of New Jersey as counsellor and was made a master in chancery. In 1911 he was admitted as an attorney and counsellor of the Supreme Court of the United States.

For five years he had as a law partner George L. Record, the firm name being Bacot & Record. His practice was mostly in corporation cases, and he was for a long time counsel for the First National Bank of New York City and allied interests, being associated in these matters for three years with Hon. Garret Augustus Hobart, later Vice President of the United States.

Early in his career he became engaged in promoting the organization of companies for supplying cities and towns with water. At the age of twenty-two he took part in establishing the Hackensack Water Works, for the purpose of furnishing pure water to Hoboken, N. J., and to several adjoining cities, towns, and villages, now about fifty in number. Afterwards he represented for three years the East Jersey Water Company as one of its agents and attorneys in its large operations in municipal water supply in northern New Jersey. With others, in 1898-99, he assisted in the organization and development of the Consolidated Water Company of Utica, of which he was afterwards president. He was also president of the Utica City Ice Company. Both of these companies are public utilities in Utica and in surrounding towns and villages.

Mr. Bacot was a member of the Huguenot Society of America, the Huguenot Society of South Carolina, Les Amis de la France of Paris, the St. Cecilia Society of Charleston, one of the oldest and most conservative social organizations in this country, and of several social and athletic clubs in Utica and vicinity and elsewhere. In Jersey City he was long a vestryman of St. Matthew's Church (Protestant Episcopal), and after his removal to Utica he was a member of Grace Church in that city.

His interest in his Huguenot progenitors inspired him to set up, in the stair hall of the building of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, a beautiful tablet of Caen stone, in memory of Pierre Bacot, his immigrant ancestor.

He married first, 10 September 1894, Elizabeth Coley Carter, who died in 1900, daughter of Oliver Stanley and Elizabeth (Coley) Carter; and secondly, 17 January 1921, Katherine Clarke of Morristown, N. J., who survives him, together with his two children, John Vacher Bacot, Jr., and Eleanor Carter Bacot, wife of Howard A. Darrin of New York. He also leaves a brother, Richard Wainwright Bacot of New York, and a sister, Mrs. Annie B. Roundey of Madison, N. J.

EMILY WILDER LEAVITT, of Brookline, Mass., a life member since 1898, was born in Boston 28 December 1837, the daughter of Benson and Abigail (Ward) Leavitt, and died at Roxbury, Mass., 2 November 1921. She was a descendant of Thomas[1] Leavitt, who was at Exeter, N. H., in 1639 and afterwards removed to Hampton, N. H., through Aratus[2] of Hampton, Thomas,[3] Benjamin,[4] Thomas,[5] and Benson,[6] her father. Benson Leavitt was born at Hampton Falls, N. H., 21 June 1797, and married Abigail Ward, who was born at Hampton 12 April 1801, the daughter of Capt. Thomas and Lydia (Garland) Ward. Mr. Leavitt resided in Boston, where he was elected to the Board of Alderman and served as acting mayor of the city.

Miss Leavitt was educated at the old Hancock School in Boston, and made genealogy her profession. She compiled the genealogies of several families, some of which were published, and she contributed from time to time genealogical articles and records to THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER. In collaboration with J. Howard Morse and under the auspices of the Morse Society she compiled the "Morse Genealogy," a revision of Rev. Abner Morse's "Memorial of the Morses," published in 1850.

Miss Leavitt was a Unitarian, and was interested in various religious and charitable organizations. She had been secretary of the Women's Auxiliary of the First Church, Roxbury, a director of the Old Ladies' Home in Roxbury, and chairman of the Library Committee of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston.

MRS. ELIZABETH PUTNAM (PEABODY) ROGERS, of Boston, a Pilgrim Tercentenary member since 1919, was born at Salem, Mass., 10 May 1829, the daughter of Francis and Martha (Endicott) Peabody of Salem, and died in Boston 27 November 1921. She was a descendant of Lieut. Francis[1] Peabody, who came to New England in the Planter in 1635, settled at Ipswich, Mass., and removed later to Topsfield, Mass., through Isaac[2] of Topsfield, Francis,[3] Francis,[4] Joseph,[5] and Francis,[6] her father. Her mother was a daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Putnam) Endicott of Worcester, Mass.

She was educated in the school of Miss Elizabeth Peabody on Charter Street, Salem, and afterwards, with her sister Martha, received instruction from an English governess.

The Peabody family lived in a beautiful home on Essex Street, Salem, where the Armory now stands. Mr. Peabody had considerable knowledge of science, made several inventions, and lectured on physics and chemistry in lyceum courses in Boston and other places. During the early fifties the family made an extended tour of Europe, where they met many interesting people and enjoyed educational advantages which bore fruit in the refinement of Miss Peabody's conversation and in her knowledge of literature and art.

She was married, 9 February 1853, to Jacob Crowninshield Rogers of Salem, a merchant and banker, who in his later years was a partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company in London and an agent of this house in Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers lived for many years in England, and on their return resided at 231 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, and at the beautiful estate of Oak Hill in Peabody. Mr. Rogers died in Boston 2 January 1900.

Mrs. Rogers was one of the founders and for many years president of the Boston Society of Decorative Art. She was also one of the founders and president of Brooke House, a model boarding house for working girls, on Chandler Street, Boston. She was untiring in her efforts to make these undertakings successful, and was generous in her support of them and of many other charitable and religious institutions. Many young women students and workers were helped by her. She was a Unitarian, and was prominent in the activities of the First Church in Boston, to which she gave a fine organ.

Although she had no children, she was the centre of a great family circle, by whom she was loved and is sincerely mourned.

Benjamin Butler Gilman, of Haverhill, Mass., a resident member since 1915, was born at Exeter, N. H., 27 August 1861, the son of John Whittingham and Julia Colton (Thing) Gilman, and died at Haverhill 5 December 1921.

While a young man in Exeter, he was connected with the Perkins Express Company, and acquired a general knowledge of business and a fund of information about transportation matters. In Haverhill, whither he went to reside about forty years ago, he held important positions with the Carter, Russell Express Company and was for many years in charge of its main office. He made a special study of the shoe-findings industry, and later entered that business for himself, being for over twenty years at the head of the B. B. Gilman Company, which was engaged in the manufacture of such products.

Mr. Gilman was one of the leading business men of Haverhill. At the time of his death he was a member of the Haverhill Water Board, a director of the Essex National Bank, and one of the county commissioners of Essex County. He was also a member of many Masonic organizations, and his religious affiliations were with the First Universalist Church.

He married, 10 September 1914, Bertha Lord, daughter of William Crofford and Eleanor Cordelia (Morrill) Lord, who survives him. Two sisters also are living, Mrs. Irving Sleeper of St. Louis, Mo., and Miss Tina Gilman.

James Wells Goodwin, A.B., of Haverhill, Mass., a resident member since 1919, was born at Haverhill 1 October 1855, the third son of James Munroe and Martha Ann (Currier) Goodwin, and died there, unmarried, 12 December 1921. He was descended from Edward[1] Goodwin of Salisbury, Mass., through Richard,[2] Samuel,[3] Daniel,[4] Theophilus,[5] Wells,[6] and James Munroe,[7] his father. He numbered also among his ancestors Thomas[1] Wells of Ipswich, Mass., who came in the Susan and Ellen from London in 1635, and, on his mother's side, Richard[1] Currier of Salisbury and Amesbury, Mass.

He was prepared for college at the Haverhill High School, entered Harvard in 1873, and received the degree of Bachelor of Arts there in 1877. From October 1877 to January 1880 he was a student in the Harvard Law School, and after leaving the Law School he read law until he passed the Essex County bar examinations in the following June.

Soon afterwards he entered as a clerk a law office in St. Paul, Minn., and the following year edited the Federal Reporter. Returning to Haverhill in the spring of 1882, he accepted a position with a leather firm, but in February 1887 gave up business and entered upon the practice of the law in his native city. His inclination to give special attention to financial matters led him to organize, in the same year, the Citizens Coöperative Bank of Haverhill, of which he became the leading spirit. At the first meeting of its founders he was elected secretary and treasurer, and continued to hold these positions until his death.

Mr. Goodwin was a member of the Harvard and University Clubs of Boston and the Pentucket Club of Haverhill, and belonged to the Masonic fraternity.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lindsley H. Shepard (Florence Goodwin) of Brookline, Mass.

Nelson Slater Bartlett, A.B., of Manchester, Mass., a resident member since 1916, was born in Boston 11 April 1848, the son of Matthew and Mary Eliza (Meads) Bartlett, and died there 23 December 1921. He traced his descent from Richard[1] Bartlett, who is found at Newbury, Mass., in 1637, through Richard[2] of Newbury, Richard[3] of Newbury, Richard[4] of Newbury, Richard[5] of Sutton, Mass., Stephen[6] of Sutton, Dea. Stephen[7] of Sutton and Dudley, Mass., Nathaniel[8] of Dudley, who married at Dudley, in 1814, Polly Foster, moved to Petersburg, Va., and died there in 1823, and Matthew,[9] his father. Matthew[9] Bartlett was born at Petersburg 21 August 1817, came North in early manhood, was for a while in the employ of Samuel Slater & Son, cotton manufacturers in Rhode Island, and finally settled in Boston, where he was engaged in business until his death in 1880. He married in Boston, in 1847, Mary Eliza Meads, who was born in Boston 9 September 1826, daughter of Joseph (1798–1844) and Abby (Ingersoll) Meads of Boston and granddaughter of Thomas and Charlotte (Dodge) Meads of Lunenburg, Mass.

Nelson Slater Bartlett was prepared for college under a private tutor, entered Harvard in 1867, and received there the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1871.

After graduation he travelled in Europe for a year, and then engaged in business. For many years he was at the head of the iron firm of N. S. Bartlett & Company of Boston; but in 1905 he retired from active business, and gave his attention to caring for property as a trustee. He was for a long time treasurer of the Infants' Hospital of Boston.

He resided in his earlier years in Boston, and in his later years at Manchester. He was a member of the Union Club of Boston, the Essex County Club of Manchester, and the Eastern Yacht Club.

He married, 26 June 1873, Isabel Hazard Bullock, who died 5 February 1896, daughter of Hon. Alexander Hamilton Bullock, Governor of Massachusetts, 1866–1868, and his wife, Elvira (Hazard) Bullock. Four children survive him, Elvira, wife of Edwin Augustus Boardman of Boston, Matthew Bartlett of Boston, A.B. (Harvard, 1901), Nelson Slater Bartlett, A.B. (Harvard, 1903), and Augustus George Bartlett. His second child, Mary Isabel Bartlett, died in infancy.

Agnes Wyman Lincoln, of Medford, Mass., a resident member since 1911, was born at Medford 16 July 1856, the daughter of Algernon Sidney and Abigail Bigelow (Stone) Lincoln, and died in Boston 27 December 1921. She was a descendant of Thomas[1] Lincoln, the miller, who was at Hingham, Mass., in 1636, and afterwards removed to Taunton, through Thomas[2] of Taunton, Thomas[3] of Taunton, Jonathan[4] of Norton, Mass., Elkanah[5] of Norton, Enos[6] of Petersham, Mass., Amasa[7] of Athol, Mass., and Algernon Sidney[8] of Templeton and Medford, her father. On the maternal side she was descended from Dea. Simon[1] Stone of Watertown, Mass., who came to New England in the Increase from London in 1635, and was an elder brother of Dea. Gregory[1] Stone of Cambridge, Mass., through Simon[2] of Watertown, Dea. Simon[3] of Groton, Mass., Benjamin[4] of Groton, Capt. Leonard[5] of Templeton, Col. Leonard[6] of Templeton, and Abigail Bigelow,[7] her mother. The English ancestry of the two brothers, Simon and Gregory Stone, has been traced back for several generations, and may be found in the first pages of the "Gregory Stone Genealogy," compiled by J. Gardner Bartlett and published in 1918 under the auspices of the Stone Family Association.

Miss Lincoln was educated at a private school taught by Miss Ellen Wild in Medford and at the Medford High School, where she was graduated in 1871. After leaving school she attended courses of Lowell Institute lectures and schools for the study of special subjects, such as modern languages, and was constantly seeking to enlarge the horizon of her intellectual life. She was interested in such sciences as geology, was fond of outdoor exercise, and went on many of the excursions of the Appalachian Mountain Club. She was corresponding secretary of the Stone Family Association, and compiled a catalogue of its members, showing their lines of descent, which was published by the Association in Boston in 1901 as a pamphlet of 92 pages. She was librarian and curator of the Medford Historical Society, 1900–1919, and in 1920 was elected one of its vice presidents. A lifelong resident of Medford, she was generous in her financial support of deserving charitable organizations in her home city and of the First Parish (Unitarian) Church, of which she was a member.

FRANK ETHRIDGE COTTON, B.A., of Malden, Mass., elected a resident member in 1899 and made a life member in 1919, was born at Mainville, Warren Co., Ohio, 27 September 1861, the son of Noah Franklin and Lydia Ann (Ethridge) Cotton, and died at Malden 29 December 1921. He traced his descent from William[1] Cotton, who was at Portsmouth, N. H., in 1640, through John[2] of Portsmouth, Thomas[3] of Portsmouth, Thomas[4] of Portsmouth, 1726–1803, John[5] of Gilmanton, N. H., 1750–1820, a Revolutionary soldier, John[6] of Meredith, N. H., 1778–1823, John[7] of Moultonborough, N. H., 1806–1899, and Noah Franklin,[8] his father, who was born at Moultonborough 12 August 1835 and died at Lebanon, Ky., 18 February 1862, in the military service of the United States. His mother, Lydia Ann Ethridge, was born at Sandwich, N. H., 11 May 1836, the daughter of Col. Samuel and Lydia (Cook) Ethridge, granddaughter of Maj. Stephen Gilman Ethridge, a Revolutionary soldier, and great-granddaughter of Nathaniel Ethridge.

He came East when a boy, was prepared for college in the Stoneham (Mass.) High School, entered Amherst College in 1879, and received there the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1883.

After graduating at Amherst he taught school for one winter in Salem, a country town of Illinois, and then entered business. From 1884 to 1888 he was with the Eau Claire Lumber Company, being stationed for one year at Eau Claire, Wis., and for three years at St. Louis, Mo. From 1888 to 1892 he was connected with the St. Louis Steam Heating & Ventilating Company. From 1892 on he was for many years with the Russell Counter Company (a shoe-counter firm) in Woburn, Mass. For two years he was office manager for the R. H. White Company of Boston. For the last twelve years he had been office manager and cashier with the firm of Braman, Dow & Company of Boston, dealers in steam pipes, valves, and fittings.

Mr. Cotton resided for several years in Woburn, and was at one time a member of the School Committee there. Since 1904 he had resided in Malden. He was a member of the University Club of Boston, the Malden Historical Society, and the First Congregational Church of Malden.

He married at Stoneham, Mass., 12 November 1889, Anna Cordelia Putney, daughter of George Henry and Ardelia (Tapley) Putney of Stoneham, who survives him, together with two daughters, Edith Frances Cotton and Rachel Ethridge Cotton.

MRS. ABBY CATHERINE (LEWIS) STEARNS, of Brookline, Mass., a resident member since 1914, was born at Alfred, Me., 6 March 1847, the daughter of John and Abigail Frost (Parsons) Lewis, and died at Brookline 31 December 1921. She traced her descent from John[1] Lewis of Roxbury, Mass., 1640, through, Peter[2] of Kittery, Me., Morgan,[3] Nathaniel,[4] Maj. Morgan,[5] Col. Daniel,[6] and John,[7] her father. On her mother's side she was descended from Joseph[1] Parsons of Springfield, 1636, and Northampton, Mass., through Joseph[2] of Northampton, Rev. Joseph,[3] A.B. (Harvard, 1697), A.M. (ib.), Rev. Joseph,[4] A.B. (Harvard, 1720), A.M. (ib.), William,[5] John,[6] and Abigail Frost,[7] her mother.

She attended the district school and the high school at Alfred, and for two years was a pupil at the Female Seminary in Charlestown, Mass. She continued her studies at the Salem (Mass.) Normal School, and was graduated there in 1869. When she joined the New England Historic Genealogical Society she was a resident of Watertown, Mass.

She married, 20 September 1881, Charles A. Stearns, who was born 1 June 1838 and died 11 August 1908, the son of Edward Ray and Eliza Tyler (Barker) Stearns. Her younger daughter, Georgia Harris Stearns, survives her, the elder daughter having died in infancy.

ADDENDUM to the memoir of RICHARD CLAPP HUMPHREYS (vide REGISTER, vol. 75, Supplement, p. xlii):

The last paragraph in the memoir contains an error and is also incomplete. Mr. Humphreys married first, 5 March 1863, Sarah Elizabeth Beals, who died in 1889, daughter of Thomas and Mary (Pope) Beals; and secondly, in 1892, Mrs. Susan M. Clapp, widow of George W. Clapp, who survives Mr. Humphreys, together with one son by his first wife, Clarence Blake Humphreys.

Memoirs of the following-named members of the Society may be found as indicated:

JAMES PHINNEY BAXTER, in the REGISTER of July 1921; FRANK ERNEST WOODWARD, in the REGISTER of October 1921; GEORGE LAMBERT GOULD, in the REGISTER of January 1922; WILLIAM EBEN STONE, in the REGISTER of April 1922.

It is expected that memoirs of JAMES WILSON CLARK, ALFRED WILLIAM SAVARY, MRS. SARAH B. (STEUART) WYETH, CHARLES SHERBURNE PENHALLOW, SAMUEL T. PETERS, and GEORGE GERY MILNER-GIBSON-CULLUM will appear in future numbers of the REGISTER or in the Supplement for April 1923.

THE LINCOLN MEMORIAL TABLET

A BRONZE TABLET in memory of Abraham Lincoln was unveiled on Wednesday, 31 May 1922, in the stair hall of the building of the New England Historic Genealogical Society in Boston. Invitations to attend the ceremony had been sent by the Special Committee on Mural Memorials to members of the Society and their friends and to representatives of a few kindred organizations in Massachusetts, and the company assembled in Wilder Hall at 3.30 P.M. On the platform were John Carroll Chase, President of the Society, Robert Dickson Weston and William Streeter Richardson, of the Special Committee on Mural Memorials, and the speakers of the afternoon, Rev. Charles Edwards Park, D.D., and Charles William Eliot, LL.D. Mr. Weston, as Chairman of the Committee, opened the exercises with a brief address of welcome, speaking as follows:

"On behalf of the committee that invited you to attend this ceremony, I extend to our honored guests and fellow members of the Society a cordial welcome.

"It has been the duty of my committee to supervise the designing and inscribing of a great many tablets. Many have interested us greatly, but none has interested us nearly so much as this tablet in honor of Lincoln. After much deliberation we decided that it should take the form of a bronze bas-relief. We then selected the artist, and watched the progress of his work. Now that the tablet has been cast in bronze and fixed in its place on the wall, we have called our friends and our neighbors together, saying 'Rejoice with us.'

"We all owe a great debt to the sculptor, Mr. Frederick W. Allen. I had hoped that Mr. Allen would be here this afternoon, so that you all might have had an opportunity to meet a great master of his art and tell him how noble and beautiful a portrait he has made.

"From the first my committee felt a great solicitude about this tablet. We were very anxious that it should be a worthy tribute to Lincoln himself, and we also were anxious that it should be worthy of the sentiment which prompted Mr. Robert Todd Lincoln to give a tablet in memory of his father to our New England Society.

"Lincoln himself never knew that his family came out of New England. For about forty years his son has known that the President's great-great-grandfather was Mordecai Lincoln, born in Scituate, himself a grandson of Samuel Lincoln, one of the half dozen Lincolns who settled at Hingham between 1630 and 1640 and are all believed to have come from Norfolk. Mordecai's maternal grandfather was Abraham Jones of Hull, and this obviously accounts for the fact that the name Abraham was given to Mordecai's brother, to his grandson, and to his great-great-grandson. The President's surname, therefore, goes back to our Hingham and his Christian name to our Hull. The sentimental value which Mr. Lincoln attaches to his father's New England origin makes a special and peculiarly strong appeal to the sympathy of all who care about New England genealogy.

"Anxious as we were at the outset, we have felt no anxiety and no misgivings since Mr. Allen first permitted us to see his work. Of its merit each of you will in a few moments be able to judge for himself.

"Having bidden you welcome, I now surrender the conduct of our simple exercises to the President of the Society."

President Chase spoke as follows:

"Yesterday witnessed the dedication, in Washington, of a grateful nation's memorial to the martyred and immortal Lincoln. To-day we assemble to add our bit of silver to the golden tribute of yesterday, feeling assured that no more noble portrait can adorn a panel in this Historic Genealogical Hall of Fame.

"The remarks by Mr. Weston, to which you have just listened, leave nothing for me to do but to present the next speaker, and I have the pleasure of introducing Rev. Charles Edwards Park, D.D., minister of the First Church in Boston."

Dr. Park, advancing to the front of the platform, said:

"People who take a disinterested view of our country's history declare that in our treatment of the memory of Abraham Lincoln we have laid aside the critical faculty and have developed what they call the Lincoln myth. This means, as we understand it, that our popular conception of Lincoln is guided so completely by reverent and affectionate gratitude that it lacks photographic verisimilitude. It is not a strictly authentic portrait. It is idealized by our admiration. We love him too much to apply the critical method of portraiture. We allow his weaknesses to be disguised and forgotten behind his greatness. We attribute to him qualities of wisdom and moral worth to which he himself would have made no claim. We make him the type of American manhood, the personification of civic virtue and wisdom, the beloved object of our ardent hero worship.

"Doubtless the thoroughgoing biographer would find much to deplore in this habit of ours. He might object that a great man's memory never does so much good to posterity, all things considered, as when it is preserved in terms of strict historical accuracy and precision; that any departure from the authenticated facts is bound to weaken the portrait; and that to overidealize the portrait in an impulse of ardent gratitude is in its way as harmful as to caricature the portrait in an impulse of resentment and detraction.

"We have no quarrel with the biographer. He is welcome to treat Abraham Lincoln as he will. We can only fall back upon the guidance of intuition and say that there is a power in the personality of Abraham Lincoln which can never be discovered by the methods of pedantry. One hardly gets an adequate idea of the Pyramid of Cheops by studying it through a microscope. Our intuition tells us that in Lincoln's case the method of minute precision is not the right instrument to use, if we wish to secure an adequate understanding. There was in Lincoln a very marked spiritual and moral consistency which makes it necessary to contemplate him as a whole, if anything like a correct estimate is to be gained. Some men are best studied piecemeal. Their natures are broken up into contradictions; and the only fair way to appraise their good qualities is to segregate those good qualities and examine them independently of the rest of their natures. This is precisely the method that cannot be applied to Lincoln.

"For the most noticeable thing about him was the unity of his make-up. He never acted by departments. The whole man always functioned in every thing he did; and the only way to see him truly is to see him whole. Add to this fact of his spiritual unity the further fact of his spiritual and moral stature, and we begin to understand why it is that an idealization of Lincoln is not only inevitable but justified. Because of his gigantic moral stature it is impossible to get the whole man within the narrow compass of a close-up field of vision. We have to look at him at a distance, in something approximating a complete perspective. We have to look at him in connection with his times and surroundings, in his true context of circumstance; for it is peculiarly true in his case that the man and the circumstance acted and reacted upon each other intimately and constantly. If circumstance hastened and determined his own self-development, it is equally true that he moulded and determined circumstance.

"Now in order to see a man of Lincoln's moral stature, as a whole, in his true relation to time and circumstance, it is necessary to take the distant view. And we can have no hesitation in saying that Lincoln was one of those rare men who are never seen truly unless they are seen at a distance. This explains why it is that, as his beloved figure recedes from our sight upon the swift current of time, we feel for him an increasing affection and an increasing admiration. It also explains why it is that this idealizing process has set in: the very distance at which it is necessary to see him truly tends to conceal and disguise his faults. We cannot distinguish the faults at that distance, and to that extent our vision of him may be imperfect. But we have no choice. We have got to accept these imperfections in our vision, in order to get that infinitely grander and more truthful vision which only distance can give. We have got to sacrifice the lesser truths in order to possess the greater. If this be idealization, we shall have to plead guilty. We have no choice but to idealize him for the sake of that truer knowledge which only idealization can give.

"As we look at him thus, it becomes possible for us to recognize the nature of the man's make-up and to understand, so to speak, the 'lay of the land' in his spirit. As we have seen, there was in him a certain singleness of design, a moral and spiritual unity. All his traits and characteristics may be related directly to that primal source. The thoughtful biographer of Lincoln can hardly help wishing he were a musician, or at least had at his command something of the musician's technique. For Lincoln's character lends itself admirably to the idiom and structural method of musical composition. There was in him the single, principal theme, controlling the whole symphony and furnishing the source from which were derived the several variations of movement and developments of mood. That single, principal theme was his love of humankind. He had a natural affection for people. Human interest amounted in him to a passion.

"Something of this love of humankind we all have. It is one of the instincts of our human nature. But where in some of us this human interest exhausts itself upon our own persons and the members of our immediate family circles, and where in others this human interest finds its satisfaction in a relatively narrow list of friends and fellow travellers in the same walks of life, with Lincoln it included everybody, and felt itself cheated if any were left out. As Emerson said of him, 'His heart was wide as the world.' He was a lover of humanity. He believed in human nature. In him the basic assumption which underlies our whole political theory, the assumption that ordinary human nature can be trusted to choose on the whole wisely and to act on the whole rightly, found its supreme embodiment. What Lowell said of him therefore is not superficially but profoundly true. He was the first American, because in him was found in its full majesty precisely that confidence in mankind upon which we have dared and still dare to vindicate our theory of American citizenship.

"It is worth noting that the possession of this world-wide human interest puts Abraham Lincoln in the small class of the world's greatest ones, the servants and prophets of our humanity, who at various times have appeared to guide and rectify the course of human development, and who, though working in different places and through different methods, have one and all possessed that single supreme gift, an all-embracing love of mankind. It is worth noting also, either as a most happy coincidence, or as indicating the presence of that Divinity that doth shape our ends, roughhew them as we will, that, just at the moment when our political theory was called upon to endure its most critical ordeal, the championship of that theory was entrusted to one who in himself exemplified in perfect measure the very convictions on which the theory is built. Lincoln was more than one of the people. In a larger sense, he was the people. He understood his nation better in some respects than his nation understood itself. He knew the hearts of his countrymen. He thought their truest thoughts for them. In him the Nation discovered its true self personified. And his triumph was no mere private affair. It was the triumph of a whole people, the triumph of a whole philosophy of life vindicating itself, at the moment of its gravest ordeal, through the fateful words and actions of one who was himself the spiritual type and representative of that people and of that philosophy of life. In his actions America acted; and in his success America succeeded.

"In his supreme human interest, then, we may justly feel that we possess the master key to Lincoln's character. His love of humankind was the main theme of the entire symphony of his nature, and all his other traits and characteristics were but the logical developments of this theme. His patience was the patience of one who trusts and can afford to wait. His mercy, his hatred of every form of cruelty and injustice, his ever-ready sympathy — these were only what we might expect in one who loved his fellow creatures. His political wisdom was something far more profound than the mere political shrewdness which we know all too well; it was the kind of wisdom that comes when 'love teaches the monarch to be wise' and to speak and act as a representative of the truer wishes and idealisms of his nation. His rectitude, his self-sacrifice were equally the natural developments of this main theme. Personal temptations and personal ambition were as real to him as to any ordinary man, but were quite unable to resist the prior claims of a human solicitude which swept them aside as being hostile to its own nobler purposes.

"We might sum it all up by saying that Lincoln was one of those men in whom the love of mankind was not a passive but an active principle, not a negative condition but a positive force, not an armor of defense but a weapon of offense. Understanding that, we find his whole life hanging together as a simple unity — logical, consistent, harmonious throughout. And understanding that, we discover in the manner of his death a tragic sublimity that throws an unearthly grandeur over all his days, because it adds the last touch of symbolism to a life that had been governed by devotion to mankind and had been spent in the service of those eternal principles of justice and right on which alone man's life can prosper."

At the conclusion of Dr. Park's address the ushers led the way to the entrance floor of the building, where President Chase presented Dr. Charles William Eliot, an honorary member of the Society, who needed no introduction to the assemblage. The flag over the tablet was slowly withdrawn by Abigail Aldrich, the little daughter of William Truman Aldrich, a member of the Committee; and President Eliot and the members of the Society, gathered in the corridor and on the staircase, stood for a moment in silence, looking at the bas-relief. Then President Eliot said:

"This portrait represents Abraham Lincoln as a younger man than we have been accustomed to see him in photographs and engravings. The face is not so furrowed with lines which care and sorrow later made upon it. On that very account, it is a beautiful and impressive likeness, especially welcome in this Society's building.

"I never saw Abraham Lincoln, and I never heard him speak; but inevitably, because of my profession, my earliest interest in him related to his education, and to his opinions and his action with regard to the education of his son Robert at Exeter and Harvard.

"Abraham Lincoln's education was extremely meagre as regards schooling and contact with educated persons. He had in his own nature a very strong love of reading and an intense desire to learn; and through that love of reading and that ambition to learn, he obtained an education of marvellous efficacy. His favorite books were the Bible and Shakespeare; and these two books he mastered as few men have ever done. From them he learned the simple, clear, and idiomatic English which distinguished both his speeches and his writings throughout life. From these books he stored his mind with the images, symbols, and phrases which illustrated his public and private thought and action.

"Lincoln's training in the law was very scanty; but he promptly succeeded at the Bar, because of his clear and just thinking, and the influence of his speech and character on the minds of juries, and judges, and of the public interested in the cases he argued. When he began to take part in political discussion and action, it was again the power of his spoken word which gave him his remarkable success.

"One would like to think that Lincoln often felt joy in exercising his remarkable powers of statement and persuasion; but there is little evidence that he ever felt that enjoyment. His Gettysburg Address is the finest piece of English ever written, matchless in dignity, justness, and fitness; but as he returned to Washington he felt and said that it was a failure; and he probably never realized how memorable an utterance he had made that day.

"Like many another great man, his very greatness often left him alone, solitary in his thoughts and his actions. When he first submitted to his Cabinet the tentative draft of his Emancipation Proclamation, not a man in that Cabinet supported his proposal. Lincoln waited for a few weeks, and when he thought the time was ripe, he issued the Proclamation on his sole responsibility, months before the military situation had begun to brighten.

"Let me read to you as you stand looking at this tablet the last paragraph of Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address — an address given several weeks before the surrender at Appomattox and the entry of the Northern troops into Richmond:

'With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan — to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations.'

"As we listen to this sentence we realize what an immense loss the American people suffered from the absence of Abraham Lincoln in the Reconstruction period. In these few words Lincoln described, fifty-seven years ago, the solemn duty of the American people toward the World at the present hour.

"Only a poet can adequately describe in a few words Abraham Lincoln's character, or set forth the nature of his enduring fame. Let me therefore read to you two verses — the first and the last — from Bryant's short poem on the Death of Lincoln:

'Oh, slow to smite and swift to spare,
Gentle and merciful and just!
Who, in the fear of God, didst bear
The sword of power, a nation's trust!

'Pure was thy life; its bloody close Hath placed thee with the sons of light,
Among the noble host of those Who perished in the cause of Right.' "

With President Eliot's address the formal ceremonies connected with the unveiling of the tablet were brought to a close, and refreshments were served in the John Foster Memorial Room, which had been decorated with an abundance of flowers generously provided by Miss Mary Foster Bartlett from her Manchester estate. Mrs. Florence Conant Howes of the Committee had charge of the tea room. Mrs. Robert Dickson Weston of Cambridge and Mrs. Edmund Ingersoll Leeds of Newton presided at the table, and were assisted by Mrs. Samuel Cate Prescott of Brookline, Miss Elizabeth Prentiss Fowle of Dorchester, the Misses Harriet Scott, Frances Burrage, and Helen Macgregor of Radcliffe College, Miss Elizabeth Leeds of Newton, Miss Elsie McCormack of Manchester, and Miss Mildred Dutton of Dorchester. In the Library an interesting collection of Lincoln mementoes was on exhibition, loaned by Mrs. Florence L. Dunham of Winthrop, a granddaughter of Mrs. Rebecca Rossignol Pomroy, who served from time to time as a nurse in the Lincoln household while Mr. Lincoln was President. The collection comprised autographs, photographs, a glass, a plate, and various other pieces associated with the President and his family.

The ushers for the exercises were Messrs. Edmund Ingersoll Leeds of the Special Committee, Wm. Sumner Appleton, Courtenay Guild, Alfred Johnson, Thornton Kirkland Lothrop, John McKinstry Merriam, George Andrews Moriarty, Jr., and Charles Sedgwick Rackemann.

The Lincoln tablet, a representation of which appears as the frontispiece in this number of the REGISTER, is one of a series of notable memorial tablets which members of the Society are placing in the panels on the walls of the stair hall of the Society's building, to commemorate their ancestors or kinsmen who took part in the founding, development, or preservation of the Nation. The designs are drawn by artists and architects of high standing, under the supervision of the Special Committee on Mural Memorials, and the inscriptions are framed to meet the wishes of the donors and the requirements of the Committee. Already more than thirty tablets have been affixed to the walls, and nearly fifty more remain to be executed. Among the individuals thus commemorated are John Alden, Susannah Fuller, John Howland, and Thomas Rogers and his son Joseph — all of the Mayflower, John Wilson, pastor of the First Church in Boston, Richard, Increase, and Cotton Mather, Gov. Thomas Dudley, his daughter Anne, and her husband, Gov. Simon Bradstreet, Ezekiel Cheever, the famous schoolmaster, William Pynchon, founder of Springfield, Edward Converse, founder of Woburn, Samuel and Sarah Hinckley and their son, Gov. Thomas Hinckley, of the Plymouth Colony, Roger Williams, founder of Rhode Island, and his wife, Mary Barnard, Stephen Hopkins, governor of Rhode Island, chief justice, and signer of the Declaration of Independence, Pierre Bacot, an early Huguenot settler in South Carolina, Joseph Rochemont de Poyen de St. Sauveur, of Newburyport, a nephew of the Chevalier de St. Sauveur, and James Buchanan Austin, a young captain in the World War, who was killed in the Argonne. Others to be commemorated are Rev. John Robinson, Elder William Brewster, Mary Chilton, Miles Morgan, Col. Arthur Noble, and Gen. Artemas Ward.

INSCRIPTIONS IN THE MUDDY BROOK CEMETERY, GREAT BARRINGTON, MASS.

Copied by Mrs. Mary E. Walton and Miss Emma Lee Walton of Chicago, Ill.

Below are given all the inscriptions in the Muddy Brook Cemetery, in Great Barrington, Mass., which could be found there on 23 Sept. 1921, when they were transcribed from the gravestones. The exact wording of the inscriptions has been followed, but quotations from the Scriptures and verses of no genealogical interest have been omitted. The punctuation has been inserted by the Editor.

In the "Vital Records of Great Barrington," published by the New England Historic Genealogical Society in 1904, the only gravestone records used were those from the South Cemetery. The deaths of only a few of the persons buried in the Muddy Brook Cemetery are found in the town and church records which were used in compiling the printed book, and therefore the inscriptions which follow furnish a considerable addition to the vital records of the town.

RECORDS OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF WELLS, ME.

A Record of Infant Females baptized in the first Church in Wells from the 8th Day of August 1759 being bro't thereunto by one or both of the Parents with a Line drawn under the Parents Name by whom they were respectively bro't.||

*According to Vital Records of Great Barrington, the information being taken from the records of St. James's Church (Protestant Episcopal), he was buried Jan. 4, 1842. — EDITOR.

†Aged 83, according to Vital Records of Great Barrington. — EDITOR.

‡This inscription is found among the Townsend inscriptions, and is probably that of Rufus Townsend. — EDITOR.

§Mr. Stewart died at Watertown, Mass., 17 Apr. 1922.

||Vide supra, p. 102, footnote, for explanation of the arrangement of this printed copy of the Records of the First Church of Wells, Me. The statements there made in regard to the baptisms of infant males apply also to the baptisms of infant females, which begin on this page, except that the words "Daughter of" are used instead of the words "Son of." The underlining of the names of the parents of female infants was discontinued after the entry of May 15, 1768.

OLD BOSTON FAMILIES

Number Six*

THE LEE FAMILY

By Thomas Amory Lee, A.M., LL.B., of Topeka, Kans.

The Lee family which forms the subject of this article has been prominent in Boston for the last one hundred and fifty years, and was long supposed to be a branch of the Lee family of Marblehead and Manchester.† In the earlier generations no connection between the two families can be definitely shown, but in more recent times Col. Henry Lee (10) and his brother, Col. Francis L Lee (11), of the Boston family, were cousins of Gen. William Raymond Lee of Boston, who belonged to the Marblehead family, by reason of a common maternal descent from the Tracy family of Newburyport.‡ It has been suggested that Thomas Lee, son of Henry and Mary Lee of Manchester, was identical with Thomas Lee of Boston (vide infra, 2). But the records tend to show that Thomas Lee, son of Henry, was a soldier in Capt. William Raymond's company in the Canadian expedition of 1690, from which, apparently, he never returned, and in 1697 his brothers, John and Samuel Lee of Marblehead, divided his property, including land received for military services.§

Henry Lee, the founder of the Marblehead family, was probably the Henry Lee who was admitted as an inhabitant of Boston, with his family, in 1655. His wife was named Mary, and they had a son Richard, born in Boston 2 Aug. 1657, of whom nothing further is known. A Thomas Lee was taxed in Boston in 1681, a John Lee was taxed there in 1687, 1688, 1691, and 1695, and a Joshua Lee was taxed there in 1688. A Samuel Lee of Middlesex County died in 1677, leaving £8 of silver, a musket, a sword, etc.* In 1647 John Lee, "late of Sawco in the Province of Maine," mortgaged to Adam Winthrop of Boston, son of Gov. John Winthrop, for £12, one cow, two heifers, and a bull, in the hands of Ralph Trustram and William Hammond of "Cape porpas."† William Lee was probably a brother or half brother of Thomas Lee (2) of the Boston family, and there was a John Lee who was possibly a relative of Thomas and William; but the exact relationship between these men cannot be proved, and information about William and John Lee and their families will be given in an Addendum at the end of this article. The Christian name of the founder of the Boston family, with whom this article begins, is not known.‡

1. ———[1] LEE (or LEIGH), of Boston, married, probably before 1673, MARTHA MELLOWES, who was born in Boston 8 Feb. 1653/4, daughter of John and Martha of Boston.§ She was living 29 Jan.

†Suffolk Deeds, lib. 1, fo. 92.

‡The compiler of this article is greatly indebted to the kindness of the late Charles Pickering Bowditch, A.M., of Jamaica Plain, for permission to make use of the very considerable Lee data collected in his valuable Pickering Genealogy.

§Abraham Mellowes was admitted to the church at Charlestown, with his wife Martha and his son Edward, 19 Aug. 1633. He was freeman 14 May 1634, and died as early as 1639, his will being mentioned in the General Court on 4 June of the latter year. About 1630, before coming to New England, he invested £50 in the stock of the Massachusetts Bay Company. He left six children.

Sergt. Edward Mellowes, of Charlestown, one of the children of Abraham, was probably born in England, and probably came to New England with his father and mother, being admitted to the church with them on 19 Aug. 1633. He married Hannah ———. He was freeman 4 Mar. 1633/4, constable in 1637, and was town clerk and selectman of Charlestown five years. He died 5 May 1650, and his widow married (2) 24 June 1651, as his second wife, Joseph Hills of Malden, and was dead in Jan. 1655/6, when Joseph Hills solemnized his own marriage to his third wife, Helen Atkinson. Edward and Hannah Mellowes had the following children: 1. Hannah, bapt. 22 Nov. 1636. 2. Mary, b. 21 July 1638. 3. Martha, b. 26 Oct. 1640; d. 25 Feb. 1642/3. 4. Edward. 5. Elizabeth, b. 5 Mar. 1643/4. 6. Abraham, b. 22 June 1645.

Oliver Mellowes, perhaps son of Abraham and brother of Edward, was admitted to the church in Boston, with his wife Elizabeth, 20 July 1634, and was freeman 3 Sept. 1634. He was one of the followers of Mrs. Anne Hutchinson and Rev. John Wheelwright, and, with others, was disarmed by the General Court in 1637. He died at Braintree, where he had probably taken up his abode; the inventory of his estate, amounting to £210. 19s., was taken 12 Nov. 1638; and administration on his estate was granted 5 Dec. 1638 to his widow, Elizabeth Mellowes, who took oath to the inventory 17 Feb. 1638/9. (REGISTER, vol. 30, pp. 78–79.) She married (2) not later than 25 July 1641, as his second wife, Thomas Makepeace of Dorchester and later of Boston, who petitioned the Court, 22 May 1651, for power to sell land in Braintree for the benefit of the six children of Oliver Mellowes and gave security, with the eldest son John, for the payment of the portions of the younger children. Thomas Makepeace made his will 30 June 1666, and in the inventory of his estate, dated 2 Mar. 1666/7 and showing property valued at £291. 7s. 1d., he is described as "lately deceased." His wife Elizabeth was living 30 June 1666. The children of Oliver Mellowes were: 1. John, eldest son, b., probably in England, about 1620. 2. ———, probably b. in England. 3. Mary (perhaps the second child), probably b. in England; living 30 June 1666, when she is mentioned in the will of Thomas Makepeace, her stepfather; m. about 1653 or earlier James Dennis of Boston. 4. Samuel, bapt. in Boston 7 Dec. 1634. 5. Martha, bapt. in Boston 6 Mar. 1635/6; living 30 June 1666, when she is mentioned in the will of her stepfather; m. in Boston, 13 Sept. 1655, Joseph Waters. 6. Mary, bapt. in Boston 26 Aug. 1638; living 30 June 1666, when she is mentioned in the will of her stepfather; m. in Boston, 13 Sept. 1655, Emanuel Springfield, with whom she was living in Old England in 1666. (Cf. will of Thomas Makepeace, in Genealogy of the Makepeace Families, Boston, 1858, pp. 15–20.)

John Mellowes of Boston, eldest son of Oliver, was born, probably in England, about 1620, for he deposed 30 Jan. 1673/4, aged about 53 years, and died between 15 Dec. 1674 and 29 Jan. 1674/5. He married Martha ———, who was born about 1630, for she deposed 30 Jan. 1673/4, aged about 43 years. He was freeman in 1671, and had a grant of land in the Stonington country. His wife Martha, a kinswoman of Rev. John Cotton, survived him, and married (2), as his second wife, Deane Winthrop of Pulling Point (now Winthrop), sixth son of Gov. John Winthrop. He was born in England, was brought to New England by his brother John in the Abigail in 1635, aged 12 years, had several children by his first wife, Sarah Glover, daughter of José, and died 16 Mar.

1674/5, when, as Martha Lee, she took oath to a codicil attached to her father's will and witnessed by her,* but she was dead by 26 Oct. 1704, when her son, Thomas Lee of Boston, blockmaker (vide infra, 2), and her mother, Martha Winthrop of Boston, widow, conveyed to Robert Ware of Boston, housewright, for 20 pounds, one-third of a lot of land in Coney's Lane, Boston.†

Child:

2. i. THOMAS,[2] b. probably in Boston about 1673.

2. THOMAS[2] LEE (———[1]), born, according to his obituary notice, about 1673, died in Boston 16 July 1766. He married DEBORAH FLINT, born in 1672, died 3 Apr. 1763, daughter of Ensign Edward and Elizabeth (Hart) of Salem, Elizabeth Hart being the daughter of John and Mary Hart. Ensign Edward Flint was apparently the son of William and Alice Flint of Salem. No wife, however, signed with Thomas Lee in 1704, when he and his grandmother, Mrs. Winthrop, conveyed one-third of a lot in Coney's Lane, Boston.‡

He was brought up by his grandmother, Mrs. Deane Winthrop, and upon her death he sued "Honble Wait Winthrop, Esqr and Adam Winthrop Esqre" for her funeral expenses, losing his case in the lower court but winning it on appeal. He appears in numerous deeds as Thomas Lee, blockmaker, or, sometimes, merchant. In 1717 John Wentworth, Esq., of Portsmouth sold to Thomas Lee of Boston, blockmaker, for £640, the Castle Tavern on Ship Street, Boston.§ In 1726 he bought of Jonas Clarke a triangular piece of land on Bennett

1703/4. His widow, Martha (———) (Mellowes) Winthrop, was living 6 May 1706, when she, calling herself "Martha Winthrope Executrix of the Last Will of her former Husband . . . John Mellows Senr," with Jonathan Gatchell and Martha his wife, only child of John Mellows, Jr., deceased, acknowledged a document, dated 2 May 1706, in which they chose John Barnard and John Goodwin to lay out a four-foot way provided for in the will of her first husband (Suffolk Deeds, lib. 23, fo. 3). John Mellowes, Sr., of Boston, in his will, dated 15 Dec. 1674 and proved 29 Jan. 1674/5, devised to his son John the new house and the ground at the end of it, John to pay to his mother 50 pounds in five years' time, and bequeathed to his daughters Martha and Saray, to his son Oliver, and to his (the testator's) children. In a codicil, to which Martha Lee (the testator's daughter) was a witness, the testator appointed his wife Martha Mellowes sole executrix and his sons John Chanterell and John Mellowes overseers. (Suffolk Probate Records, vol. 6, p. 79.) The inventory of the estate of John Mellows, brought in by Martha Mellows 29 Jan. 1674/5, amounted to £202. 7s. 6d. (ib., vol. 5, p. 224). The children of John and Martha Mellowes were: 1. John, b. in Boston 8 Apr. 1647; d. 19 Apr. 1647. 2. John, b. probably about 1650; living 15 Dec. 1674; deceased by 6 June 1684, when his mother, Martha Winthrope, gave a receipt for the 50 pounds due from him under his father's will and acquitted "my Daughter in Law Sarah Mellowes, the Relict of my s^d Son John," etc., from liability for this sum, this receipt being acknowledged by Martha Winthrope 22 Apr. 1700 (Suffolk Deeds, lib. 20, fo. 501); m. Sarah ———; had issue: John, b. in Boston 5 Mar. 1675/6, Elisha, b. in Boston 16 Mar. 1680/1, Martha, living 5 May 1706, being then the wife of Jonathan Gatchell (to whom she was married in Boston 10 July 1701) and described as the only [surviving] child of her father, and perhaps other children. 3. Martha, b. in Boston 8 Feb. 1653/4; m. ——— Lee (or Leigh) of Boston, the New England founder of the Lee family which forms the subject of this article. 4. Elizabeth, b. in Boston 15 Dec. 1656; not mentioned by name in her father's will in 1674; perhaps m. before 15 Dec. 1674 John Chanterell. 5. Street, Boston, between the land of said Lee and "my Garden Land."* In 1731 he bought of his son, Thomas Lee, Jr., merchant, land and buildings on Bennett Street, bounded ninety-two feet southeasterly by John Charnock, and sold them to John Steel in 1734 for £1700.† In 1748 and 1750 he loaned money to William Lee of Boston, shipwright, who was apparently a near relative (vide infra, Addendum), and received mortgages in return.‡ In 1708 he bought land on Sun Street of Stephen French and in 1712 land on Bennett Street of Job Bull.§ He was a prosperous merchant, and was chosen by the town for certain minor offices, such as that of constable. He seems to have been licensed at various times to sell strong drink and to have kept the Castle Tavern.‖

He lived in a mansion house on Bennett Street, in the North End of Boston, near the Universalist Church of later years, and was the seventh signer of the agreement of the twenty-four members of the New North Church who seceded in disgust when Rev. Peter Thacher was called to its pulpit. They founded the New Brick Church on Hanover Street, nearby, sometimes called the Cockerel Church on account of the weather vane, which was later occupied by the Old North Church Society. He was on every committee of this church from its foundation to his death, the entertainments on ordination and other feast days were always held at his Bennett Street mansion, and he was, after much persuasion, prevailed upon to be chairman of the meetings. He was its deacon and treasurer, was thanked by the church for his generous gift of pews, and was, with Hon. Thomas Hutchinson and three other dignitaries, "desired to sit in the front as long as he thought proper."¶

Dea. John Tudor of the same church noticed his death as follows: March 16, 1769, "This Morning we heard of Deacon Lee's Death. He Died last night pretty suddenly Æ 90. The last of the Founders of our Church." No Thomas Lee is known to have died in Boston in 1769, and the notice seems to refer to our Thomas Lee, who died 16 July 1766, according to the following obituary, which appeared in the Supplement to the Boston Gazette of Monday, 21 July 1766:

> "Wednesday Morning died Mr. Thomas Lee, in the 94th year of his Age, who in the early and active Part of Life carried on considerable Trade in this Town, tho' he deserves to be recorded, rather for the unblemished Integrity of his Dealings, and the exact Punctuality of his Payments, than for the Extent of his Trade, or the Length of his Life."

He was buried in his tomb on Copp's Hill. He used upon his will an heraldic seal with the device of a demi-lion rampart, the characteristic bearing of the families of Leigh of the East Hall in High Leigh, co. Chester, England, and of Leigh of the West Hall. Col. Henry Lee (10) of Boston, one of his descendants, describes him as "an honest, modest, industrious, prosperous 'North End' citizen, entrusted with many duties by town and church, all of which he accepted, except the highest, which from modesty, he declined, or accepted only after repeated elections."*

The will of Thomas Lee of Boston, "Merchant," is dated 2 Dec. 1760, and was proved 8 Aug. 1766. All his real estate was left to his wife, Deborah, for life, two-sixths of the residue to his son Joseph (who was to have a double portion as though he were the eldest son, and the children of the deceased son Thomas were to be content with but a single portion), one-sixth each to his daughters Deborah Love, Abigail Lee, and Mary Shipperd, and one-sixth to the children of his deceased son Thomas, viz., Elizabeth Newell, Thomas Lee, Joseph Lee, and Lois Lee. His wife and his son Joseph Lee were to be executors. The witnesses were Henry Atkins, Henry Atkins, Jr., Robert Breck, and William Ford.

His inventory amounted to £2,055. 5s. 10d., and included two pictures, one eight-day clock, silver plate valued at £60. 19s. 2d., one musket, two pistols, one chaise and harness, one Negro man, one pew in the New Brick Meeting House, the mansion house on Bennett Street, valued at £600, and four other houses, including "ye King's head Tavern" occupied by Mr. William Bennett (William Bennett was married, 11 May 1710, to Jane Lee, by Rev. Dr. Cotton Mather). On 31 Oct. 1766, the wife being dead, the land of "Mr. Thomas Lee, Merchant," was divided among his heirs as follows: to Joseph Lee, Esq., the mansion house and land on Bennett Street; to the heirs of Thomas Lee, Jr., a house and land in the northerly part of Boston Common, known as the Castle Tavern; to Miss Abigail Lee, a house and land on Ship Street, on Lee's Wharf 90 feet; to Mrs. Mercy Shippard, part of the wharf and stores, and a house and land on Court Street; to Mrs. Deborah Love, Lee's Wharf and stores. The division was completed 27 Mar. 1767 by John Tudor and two others.

1710/11; d. s.p. at Cambridge 5 Dec. 1802; m. in Boston, 14 May 1755, REBECCA PHIPS, b. 14 Feb. 1727, dau. of Hon. Col. Spencer, Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts, and Elizabeth (Hutchinson). At Harvard he was placed eleventh in a class of twenty-three. He was a classmate of Richard Clarke, consignee of the tea made famous by the Boston Tea Party. He was a merchant of Boston and owned the mansion house of his father on Bennett Street and the Castle Tavern on Ship Street, bounded northerly by the Old North Church land.* He was one of the founders of Christ Church in Cambridge. In 1759 he was on the building committee of the Church and was chosen warden in 1773. In 1770 he was on a committee of the town to choose a summer schoolmaster. In 1756 he was commissioned a justice of the peace for Suffolk County, and in 1760, 1761, and 1764 for Middlesex County. On 7 Mar. 1764 he was a special justice of the Court of Common Pleas; on 24 May 1769 he succeeded Andrew Boardman, Esq., as a regular justice of the same court; and on 30 Aug. 1770 and 17 Feb. and 4 Mar. 1773 he was commissioned a special justice of the Superior Court of Judicature. He was a deputy to the General Court in 1764 and 1765, and was commissioned a mandamus councillor 9 Aug. 1774. He took the oath of office as a councillor, but was forced to resign by the great mob which paid its respects to Lee, Phipps, and Oliver. The Boston Gazette† published his resignation: "At Cambridge, 2d Sept., 1774. As great numbers of the inhabitants of the County are come into this town since my satisfying those who were met, not only by declaration but by reading to them what I wrote to the Governor at my resignation, and being desirous to give the whole County and Province full satisfaction in this matter, I hereby declare my resignation of a seat in the new constituted Council, and my determination to give no farther attendance. Jos. Lee. A true copy. Test. Nath. Cudworth, Cl." He was a Loyalist, but took no active part in the Revolution. He was in Boston during the siege, and then returned to his home in Cambridge. His fine old mansion,‡ preserved for many years by Col. Henry Lee of Boston, was on the corner of Brattle and Appleton Streets, between the Longfellow house, formerly owned by Hon. Nathaniel Tracy, Esq., who married a daughter of Col. Jeremiah Lee of Marblehead, and the home of Judge Lee's nephew, Thomas Lee, which in turn was next to the house of Judge Lechmere, later owned by Thomas Lee, Esq., ancestor of Bishop Alfred Lee of Delaware. Judge and Mrs. Lee played a prominent part in the elegant society of Tory Row, Mrs. Lee being a sister of Mrs. Lechmere and Colonel Phips and an aunt of Colonel Vassall and Mrs. Oliver. Baroness Riedesel described the community and its life as one of the most pleasant which she had ever known. Judge Lee devised to Harvard a house and land in Cambridge formerly occupied by Professor Samuel Williams and to Cæsar, an old servant of his father, an annuity, and he divided his good-sized estate among his nephews and nieces. The following obituary notice of Judge Lee appeared in the Columbian Centinel, 8 Dec. 1802: "At Cambridge, on Sunday last, Hon. Joseph Lee, aged 93. During a long life Judge Lee was respected by all who knew him. He was distinguished in Society by the manners of a gentleman, and by the habits and principles of an honest, honorable man. He was a kind neighbor, warm and sincere in his friendship. Attached to government from principle, he was a good subject to his king, under whom he executed the duties of an important office with fidelity and honor, and with equal fidelity he adhered to the government of the United States, since the Revolution. In attendance on religious duties he was exemplary, and, amidst the infirmities of

3. THOMAS[3] LEE (Thomas,[2] ———[1]), A.B. (Harvard, 1722), A.M. (ib., 1725), merchant, born in Boston 17 Dec. 1702 and baptized there 5 Sept. 1703, died at Salem 14 July 1747. He married first (intention recorded 13 July 1727) ELIZABETH CHARNOCK, baptized 14 Sept. 1707, died between 1731 and 1737, daughter of Capt. John and Mary (King) of Boston,† Mary King being the daughter of Ralph King of Lynn; and secondly, at Salem, 29 Dec. 1737, "MRS." LOIS ORNE, born at Salem 16 Mar. 1711/12 and baptized there 30 Mar. 1712, died there 21 Dec. 1790, daughter of Capt. Timothy and Lois (Pickering) Orne, Lois Pickering being the daughter of John and Sarah (Burrill) Pickering.

Thomas Lee was the first of his name at Harvard, and was placed sixteenth in a class of thirty-one. He was a prosperous merchant of Boston and Salem, his house in Boston being on Bennett Street, in the North End. He moved to Salem in 1731, probably, and lived there until his death. He was prominent in Salem, and was a deputy to the General Court from that town in 1739, 1740, and 1747.

On 10 Aug. 1747 Lois Lee, widow, of Salem, was appointed administratrix of her husband's estate, James Diamond, "Clark," and Sam'll Gardner, "Merchant," being her sureties on a bond for £3000. The inventory, rendered 31 Dec. 1756, was taken by Doct. John Cabbot and Messrs. Jonathan Gardner and Stephen Higginson. The estate was appraised at £7,039. 8s. 4d., old tenor, or £1,759. 17s. 1d., new tenor, and among the items were the following: a one-quarter part of the Snow Sea Horse, £900, a hat, £5, watch, £45, large Bible, £11, three belts and cartouche boxes, two dozen china plates, £13, silver tankard, porringers, etc., £170. 10s., gold buttons and rings and pepper box and spoons, £97, five brass candlesticks, snuffers, and a brass "Chafin Dishe," £6, eight pictures painted on glass, £8, ten Latin books, Watt's Poems, Milton, Spectator, Tatler, Roman History, etc., a negro wench named Maria and negro boy Tiro, £250, a beaver hat, £12, and wig, £5, a one-quarter part of the schooner Samuel, £1075, one-half warehouse and wharf with Benja Gerrish, Esq., £150,

4. CAPT. THOMAS[4] LEE (Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] ———[1]), born at Salem 25 July and baptized there 26 July 1741, died at Cambridge 11 Jan. 1830. He married, probably about 1768, JUDITH COLMAN, born in Boston 8 July 1738, died at Cambridge 9 Feb. 1807, daughter of Benjamin and Deborah (Oulton) of Boston. Her paternal grandmother was a sister of Sir Charles Hobby.

He was a master mariner and merchant of Boston, who, having become wealthy, retired from business and lived in Cambridge, next to his uncle, Judge Joseph Lee (2, vi).

On 12 July 1757 Lois Lee, widow, of Salem, was appointed guardian of her son Thomas Lee, a minor aged over fourteen, Brown Emerson, Gentleman, and Capt. Joseph Russell of Andover being her sureties on a bond of £1000, and Benja. Gerrish and David Appleton witnesses. While in Salem Captain Lee lived on the eastern corner of Essex and Crombie Streets. He was said to be "a gentleman of wealth and leisure."† On 30 Oct. 1768 Thomas Lee and Joseph Lee of Salem, mariners, for £200, conveyed to their uncle, Joseph Lee of Cambridge, Esq., a two-thirds part of the Castle Tavern, fronting fifty feet on Ship Street, and southerly fifty feet, ten inches, on Fleet Street, Boston, which "we own on the division" of the estate of Thomas Lee, deceased.‡ The other one-third part was conveyed on 4 Nov. 1768, by Andrew Newell and Elizabeth his wife, to Joseph Lee, Esq.

Children, probably born at Salem:

i. THOMAS,[5] b. 18 May 1769; d. 5 Dec. 1772.

ii. LOUISA, bapt. at Salem 13 Dec. 1772; d. s.p. at Cambridge 9 Nov. 1863; m. 19 Sept. 1819, as his second wife, BENJAMIN WATERHOUSE, M.D. (University of Leyden, 1780), honorary M.D. (Harvard, 1786), b. at Newport, R. I., 4 Mar. 1754, d. at Cambridge 2 Oct. 1846, s. of Timothy and Hannah (Proud). He was a noted physician and author, and was educated at the University of Edinburgh, by his kinsman, the famous Dr. Fothergill of London, and at the University of Leyden. He introduced vaccination into America, was professor of natural history at Brown, 1784–1791, and Hersey Professor of the Theory and Practice of Physic at the Harvard

5. CAPT. JOSEPH[4] LEE (Thomas,[3] Thomas,[2] ———[1]), born at Salem 22* May 1744 and baptized there 13 May 1744, died, probably in Boston, 6 Feb. 1831. He married first, 9 June 1769, ELIZABETH CABOT, born at Salem 24 Feb. 1747/8, buried at Beverly 22 June 1786, aged 38 years, having died of pulmonary consumption, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth (Higginson) and sister of Hon. George Cabot, who was United States Senator from Massachusetts, 1791–1796; and secondly, 12 May 1793, DEBORAH (HIGGINSON) CABOT, born at Salem 6 Jan. 1754, died in Boston 4 Dec. 1820, daughter of Stephen and Elizabeth (Cabot) Higginson, and widow of her first cousin, Stephen Cabot, born 26 Nov. 1754, died in 1779, son of Joseph and Elizabeth (Higginson), to whom she had been married 29 Mar. 1777 and by whom she had a daughter, Mary Cabot, born 4 Feb. 1778, died unmarried 7 Aug. 1802.

Joseph Lee was a sea captain, and a merchant of Boston, Beverly, and Salem, being in partnership with his kinsmen, the Cabots, among whom was his brother-in-law, Hon. George Cabot, in the firm of Cabot & Lee. He had risen from cabin boy to be junior partner in the firm. He moved to Boston in 1807 and became a director in various banks and insurance companies. He was a fine naval architect, and designed a numerous fleet, which he sent out as privateers during the Revolution. He was also very fond of gardening. He was very generous with his fortune, and gave $20,000 to the Massachusetts General Hospital a year before he died. He designed without charge the Essex Bridge, and for this work he was presented with a silver pitcher by the proprietors, to his great disgust. He had great talent for mechanics in general and for shipbuilding in particular. His large desk is owned by his great-grandson, Joseph Lee of Boston.

Children by first wife, born at Beverly:

i. JOSEPH,[5] b. 7 Feb. 1770; d. unm. in Boston 8 Apr. 1845. He was a student at Phillips Academy, Andover, in 1779, and became a wealthy merchant of Boston, but retired from business at an early age. He inherited his father's remarkable talent for naval architecture, and designed a large fleet. During the War of 1812 the "Lee model" was said by Commodore Downes to have been the favorite model in the Navy. His place at Chestnut Hill is now owned by collateral kinsmen. A niece now owns his portrait, painted about 1838 by John Pope.

H., probably in 1788, d. at Brookline 22 June 1864, dau. of Rev. Joseph and Sarah (Stevens) Buckminster and sister of Rev. Joseph Stevens Buckminster. She was the author of a number of books, among them being "Memoirs of Rev. Dr. Buckminster and J. S. Buckminster," 1849. Thomas Lee was educated at Phillips Academy, Andover, and at Harvard, but left college before graduating and received his degree of A.B. in 1866. He went into the counting-room of Hon. William Gray, and afterwards entered the house of Cabot & Lee, in which his father was a partner. Having made a moderate fortune, he retired early, and devoted himself to landscape gardening. His country seat at Brookline, later owned by Professor Charles Sprague Sargent, was a model estate. In 1865 he gave to the city of Boston a granite statue of Alexander Hamilton, by Rimmer, which stands on Commonwealth Avenue, and in 1867 he built a fountain in the Public Garden, to commemorate the discovery of the anæsthetic properties of ether. He also gave $35,000 to Harvard College, $30,000 to Boston for statues, $43,500 to his servants, and the bulk of his estate to nephews and nieces.*

WILLIAM LEE AND JOHN LEE OF BOSTON

WILLIAM LEE, shipwright, appears in the Boston records from 1705 to 1750, but probably left Boston before his death, as he was a man of property and no administration on his estate has been found. He married first, in Boston, 8 Nov. 1705, Rev. Benjamin Wadsworth officiating, MERCY JACKSON, daughter of John of Boston, housewright, deceased, intestate; probably secondly, in Boston, 24 Aug. 1721, Rev. Benjamin Wadsworth officiating, RUTH WARDEN; thirdly, in Boston, 29 June 1738, Rev. Peter Thacher officiating, REBEKAH HOOD, probably a widow, who died between 25 Apr. 1749, when her will was dated, and 30 May 1749, when it was proved; and fourthly, in Boston, 24 Aug. 1749, Rev. William Welsted officiating, REBECCA WINSLOW. He is styled "Mr.," and was apparently a close relative, probably a brother or half brother, of "Mr. Thomas Lee, merchant" (vide supra, 2), two of whose children were named William and Mercy.

On 15 Sept. 1708 William Lea of Boston, shipwright, his wife Mercy, and Elizabeth and Abigail Jackson, spinsters, the three daughters of the late John Jackson, conveyed to their brothers, John and Thomas Jackson of Boston, housewrights, for £60, the estate of their father, 32 feet, 2 inches, on the Back Street, leading from Mill Bridge to Winnisomet ferry place.* On 9 Sept. 1740 William Lee, shipwright, and Rebecca his wife mortgaged for £225 land on Middle Street, Boston, and in New Boston to Robert Auchmuty of Roxbury, Esq., Samuel Adams and William Stoddard of Boston, Esquires, Peter Chardon of Boston, merchant, Samuel Watts of Chelsea, Esq., George Leonard of Norton, Esq., Robert Hale of Beverly, Esq., John Choate of Ipswich, Esq., and Thomas Cheever of Lynn, Gentleman, all directors of the Manufacturing Company, so-called, to pay for William Lee's share in the Company.* On 18 Mar. 1748 William Lee mortgaged to Thomas Lee of Boston, merchant, as security for a debt of £500, a brick building, 33 feet, 3 inches, on Middle Street, Boston. He acknowledged this deed alone, and is called "Mr. William Lee."† On 28 Dec. 1750 he again mortgaged the same building, 33 feet, 3 inches, on Middle Street, to Thomas Lee, merchant, as security for a debt of £120, his wife Rebecca [(Winslow)] joining with him in this conveyance.‡ On 7 Aug. 1749 William Lee sold to John Pulling of Boston, shopkeeper (father of the brave Maj. John Pulling of the Revolution), his wharf and land, 97 feet from the east end of Fish Street, and the warehouses, etc., "which I bought of Elisha Cooke, Esq. and Jane, his wife."§

In her will, dated 25 Apr. 1749 and proved 30 May 1749, Rebekah (———) (Hood) Lee, the third wife of William Lee, bequeathed to her dear and loving husband, William Lee of Boston, shipwright, her pint silver tankard, and left articles of wearing apparel to her sister Mary Henchman and her two daughters-in-law [stepdaughters], Mercy Elliot and Abiel Guffett [daughters of her husband William Lee by his first wife]. To each of her granddaughters, Rebecca Howard and Rebecca Clark, she bequeathed a silver cup, to her son Comby Hood, she left one-half of the rest of her plate, and to her granddaughter Rebecca Hood she gave the other half of her plate, her gold chain and gold-spangled necklace, and numerous articles of clothing, linen and household stuff. William Lee and her sister Mary Henchman were executors, and Mary Goodwin, Elias Jarvis, and John Procter were witnesses.||

i. WILLIAM, b. 27 June 1706.
ii. MERCY, b. 9 July 1709; living in 1749; m. in Boston, 26 May 1742, Rev. William Welsted officiating, HENRY ELIOT.

There was a William Lay of Boston, victualler, who married, 11 Jan. 1689, Mary Howen, daughter of John. Apparently she died not later than 25 July 1694, as on that date William Lay and Anna Howin, spinster, daughter of John Howin, conveyed the land and house of said John Howin to Returne Mullins of Boston, cooper, the deed being signed only by William Lay and Anna Howin. (Suffolk Deeds, lib. 17, fo. 279.)

vii. THOMAS, b. 9 Oct. 1724; possibly the one who m. (intention recorded in Boston, 19 Oct. 1743) ISABELL THOMPSON. They had no children recorded in Boston.
viii. FRANCIS, b. 6 Sept. 1727.

JOHN LEE, of Boston, mason and limeburner, possibly a relative of Thomas Lee (vide supra, 2) and William Lee, died in 1738 or 1738/9, administration on his estate being granted, 20 Mar. 1738/9, to his widow, Mary Lee, with whom Samuel Avis of Boston, blockmaker, and John Henderson of Boston, merchant, were bound in the sum of 5000 pounds, "Currant Money of New England."* He married first, at Charlestown, 5 Dec. 1717, ELIZABETH PIERCE, baptized at Charlestown 12 Mar. 1693/4, died probably in 1733, daughter of John and Elizabeth (Mudge) of Charlestown;† and secondly MARY ——— [? FLYNT].‡ His widow, Mary, died soon after 20 Mar. 1738/9, and administration de bonis non administratis of her late husband, John Lee, was granted, 9 Apr. 1739, to Samuel Aves of Boston, blockmaker, and John Pearce of Boston, housewright, with whom James Varney of Boston, limeburner, and Joseph Rix of Boston, housewright, were bound in the sum of 5000 pounds, "Currant Money in New-England."§

The inventory of the estate of John Lee, taken 31 Mar. 1739 and exhibited by the two administrators 4 Dec. 1739, shows property appraised at £4494. 5s. 2d., including the mansion house, land, lime kilns, barns, and wharf, £1800; a brick house and land in Cambridge Street, in the possession of Mr. Josiah Quincy, £1100; a piece of land, £50; a house and land in Stanniford Street, £750; a piece of land "by the Copper Works," £150; one-half of a boat, £30; two Negro men, Boston and York, and a Negro woman, Beck, valued respectively at £120, £20, and £35; Mr. Lee's wearing apparel, £57. 12s.; four horses, £49; two carts and tackle, £40; a parcel of lime and lime measures, £61. 12s.; household furniture, £220. 6s. 6d.; and two large spoons, six tea spoons, a pair of gold buttons, and a pair of silver knee-buckles, £10. 14s. 8d.|| The accounts of the administrators, allowed from time to time, show receipts that increase the total valuation of the estate, until the final account of John Pierce of Stow, Middlesex Co., allowed 17 May 1749 (in this account and in an account of 13 Apr. 1749 John Pierce of Stow appears as the surviving administrator), brings the total up to †Cf. Wyman's Genealogies and Estates of Charlestown, pp. 612, 758. The intention of marriage of John Lee and Elizabeth Peirse of Charlestown was recorded in Boston 30 Oct. 1717. Susannah Lee, daughter of John, was undoubtedly one of his children by his first wife, Elizabeth Pierce, as she chose John Pierce, brother of Elizabeth, as her guardian, 19 Jan. 1749/50, when she is described as a minor, aged about 16 years (vide infra). She was, therefore, born about 1733, and it may be conjectured that her mother died at or soon after her birth.

‡The Boston records give the marriage in Boston, 20 Dec. 1733, Rev. William Welsteed officiating, of John Lee and Mary Flynt, and this is probably the second marriage of the John Lee of this addendum. In Wyman, ib., p. 612, John Lee is said to have married (2) 5 Oct. 1725 Esther Nichols, who was called "an aged woman" 14 Feb. 1740 and died 1 Sept. 1765; but it is evident that the John Lee who married Elizabeth Pierce and who left a widow named Mary in 1738 or 1738/9 could not have been the John Lee who, according to Wyman, married (2) Esther Nichols. A John Lee "of Freetown" married in Boston, 3 May 1722, Sam. Checkley, Esq., J. P., officiating, Mary Mather of Roxbury, but it is unlikely that he was the John Lee of this addendum.

£6145. 14s. 10d.* On 21 Mar. 1740 [? 1740/1] a list of debts owing from the estate, amounting to £842. 17s. 7d., had been exhibited,† and the final account showed that there had been expended by the administrators a total of £3454. 12s. 10d. This account was approved by the children of the deceased, viz., Thos. Hodson, Joseph Lee, Mary Hodson, and Eliz^{a}: Lee, and on the same date, 17 May 1749, John Pierce, "now" of Stow, yeoman, the surviving administrator, received his discharge, in which appeared the names of Thomas Hodgson, carter, and Mary his wife, Joseph Lee, sailmaker, and Elizabeth Lee, spinster, all of Boston, said Mary, Joseph, and Elizabeth being three of the children and heirs of John Lee, deceased.‡

On 2 May 1750 the Court issued a warrant for the division of the real estate of John Lee, late of Boston, limeburner, deceased, and ordered that a one-fourth part should go to Joseph Lee, the only surviving son of the deceased (his eldest son, John, being deceased since his father without leaving issue), one-fourth to Elizabeth Lee, daughter of the deceased, one-fourth to Mary Hudson, daughter of the deceased, wife of Thomas Hudson of Boston, carter, and one-fourth to Susannah Lee, daughter of the deceased. This division was made on 3 May 1750, and was allowed by the Court on 29 June 1751.§

In the two accounts presented by John Pierce as surviving administrator of the estate of John Lee, the deceased is called Mr. John Lee. In the early papers relating to his estate his occupation is given as mason, in the later papers as limeburner.

Children by first wife:‖

i. ELIZABETH, m. in Boston, 30 Sept. 1750, JOHN TRUMAN of Boston, mariner, who was living 24 Jan. 1756, when, as administrator of the estate of Susannah Lee [his wife's sister], he was ordered by the Court to make certain payments to the creditors of the said Susannah.

ii. MARY, living 3 May 1750; m. (intention recorded in Boston, 2 Apr. 1744) THOMAS HODSON of Boston, carter, who was living 3 May 1750.

iii. JOHN, eldest son, b. probably about 1725; d. s.p. after his father's death and before 2 May 1750.¶

iv. JOSEPH, of Boston, sailmaker, b. probably about 1727 (for he approved the final account of his uncle, John Pierce, as surviving administrator of his father's estate, 17 May 1749); living 3 May 1750; possibly the Joseph Lee who m. in Boston, 6 Dec. 1748, Rev. Samuel Cooper officiating, SARAH COCKS, and had Sarah, b. in Boston 17 Sept. 1749.

v. SUSANNAH, b. about 1733; d. unm. and a minor, on or about 27 June 1754. In the account of the two administrators of the estate of her father, allowed 12 Mar. 1743 [? 1743/4], appears a payment to the administrator Avis of £10. 16s., for board of Susannah Lee, daughter of the deceased, for three months after the death of the deceased, ‖Order of births uncertain. It is known, however, that John was the eldest son, and that Susannah was the youngest of these five children.

¶He was living, apparently a minor, about 1742, for, in the account of the two administrators of the estate of his father, allowed 12 Mar. 1743 [? 1743/4], the last previous account having been allowed 21 Mar. 1740 [? 1740/1], appear two payments to the administrator Pierce [who was his uncle], one of £36, for 36 weeks' board of John Lee, son of the deceased, at 20s. per week, and the other of £6, 18s., for sundries supplied to said son. (Suffolk Probate Records, vol. 37, pp. 67–69 File 7287.)

at 18s. per [week]. On 19 Jan. 1749/50 Susannah Lee, a minor aged about 16 years, daughter of John Lee, late of Boston, limeburner, deceased, chose John Pierce of Stow, Middlesex Co., yeoman [her uncle], as her guardian, and acknowledged this choice of a guardian on 9 Apr. 1750.* In the account of said guardian, allowed 5 Sept. 1751, sundry articles of wearing apparel bought for the ward are charged, and also board for the ward at his house from 20 Apr. 1743 to 20 Apr. 1751, 416 weeks, the first 300 weeks at 3s. 1d. per week and the other 116 weeks at 3s. 4d. per week.† A further account of John Pierce of Stow, yeoman, guardian to Susannah Lee, a minor, was presented by Susanna Pierce, sole executrix of the testament of said John Pierce, deceased,‡ and was allowed 27 June 1755, the said minor being then deceased. In this account there is a charge of £3. 6s. 8d. paid for the funeral expenses of said minor, and also a charge for board for said minor from 20 Apr. 1751 to 27 June 1754, 169 weeks at 3s.§ Administration on the estate of Susannah Lee, a minor, deceased, daughter of John Lee, late of Boston, limeburner, deceased, was granted 24 Jan. 1755 to John Trueman [brother-in-law of the deceased minor] of Boston, mariner,|| and the inventory of her estate, taken 3 June 1755 and presented by the administrator 6 June 1755, amounted to £82. 1s. 10d. It included a gold chain, £3. 11s. 7d.; a silver spoon, a cup, a snuff box, a girdle buckle, a stone ring, and one pair of earrings, £1. 18s. 10d.; and one-half of a dwelling house and land at the westerly part of Boston, £66. 13s. 4d.¶ Her estate, however, was represented as insolvent, and on 12 July 1755 the Court appointed commissioners to receive and examine the claims of her creditors. The report of these commissioners, dated 15 Jan. 1756, showed that the estate of Susannah Lee owed £89. 18s. 10d. to the estate of John Pierce, deceased, and £27. 11s. 3d. to the estate of Samuel Avis, deceased, a total indebtedness of £117. 10s. 11d. [sic].†† The account of John Trueman, administrator, dated 20 Jan. 1756 and allowed 23 Jan. 1756, showed property amounting to £59. 8s. 6d. and expenses of £16. 6s. 1½d.; and thereupon, on 24 Jan. 1756, it appearing that after the subduction of funeral charges, etc., only £43. 2s. 5½d. remained for the estate of Susannah Lee, and that the estate owed £117. 10s. 1d., the Court ordered John Trueman, the administrator, to pay the creditors of the estate on their claims at the rate of 7s. 4d. on the pound.‡‡

vi. SARAH, b. in Boston 31 Aug. 1737; d. certainly before 2 May 1750 and probably before 21 Mar. 1740 [? 1740/1], for the account of the two administrators of the estate of John Lee, allowed on the last-mentioned date, shows a payment of £3. 9s. for a pall, etc., for the deceased child's funeral, and a payment of £5. 13s. for the expenses of the deceased widow's funeral

vii. SAMUEL, b. in Boston 23 July 1738; d. certainly before 2 May 1750 and probably before 13 Apr. 1749, for the account of John Pierce, ‡John Pierce of Stow, yeoman (formerly described as of Boston, housewright), was baptized 4 Aug. 1698, the son of John and Elizabeth (Mudge) of Charlestown and brother of John Lee's first wife, and died 14 Feb. 1755, in his 58th year. He married Susanna ———. The will of John Pierce of Stow was dated 26 Apr. 1753 and proved 31 Mar. 1755. Cf. Wyman's Genealogies and Estates of Charlestown, pp. 759, 631, and Vital Records of Stow, p. 254. The fact that John Pierce was chosen by Susannah Lee as her guardian and that she was boarded at his house makes it extremely probable that she was a daughter of John Lee by his first wife and therefore a niece of John Pierce.

PERKINS

Contributed by Mrs. FRANK ELMER PERKINS of Abington, Mass.

FOR a long time it has been known that Rev. William Perkins, who came to New England in the William and Francis in 1632 and finally settled at Topsfield, Mass., was born in England 25 Aug. 1607, and that he was a son of William Perkins of London, merchant tailor, by his first wife, Katherine, and a grandson of George Perkins of Abbots Salford, co. Warwick, yeoman, and his wife Katherine.* The following records make it possible to trace back the ancestry of Rev. William Perkins for two generations beyond his paternal grandfather, and supply much additional information about the family.

FROM PROBATE RECORDS

The lineage of William Perkins of Topsfield in New England (Son of William Perkins of London merchant taylor) by Elizabeth Wootton his wife, whom he married at Roxbury Aug. 30th 1636*

[From the foregoing records and from other sources referred to below the following pedigree, showing the English ancestry of Rev. William Perkins of Topsfield, Mass., for four generations and giving also other information relating to the history of this family in England, has been compiled.

1. John Perkins, of Salford Priors, co. Warwick, England, died before 15 Mar. 1541 [?1541/2], when his will (vide supra), which is without date, was proved. He married ———, who was living when he made his will and was appointed his executrix.

Children, named in their father's will:

2. i. William.
ii. Thomas, bur. at Salford Priors 24 Jan. 1593/4, leaving a son, John, of Abbots Salford, husbandman (perhaps the John Perkins who was bur. at Salford Priors 21 Apr. 1601), to whom administration on his father's estate was granted 14 Mar. 1593/4. The inventory of Thomas Perkins amounted to £3. 14s. 4d.
3. iii. Nicholas.
iv. Robert, of Salford Priors, the testator of 11 Mar. 1565 [?1565/6], died between 11 Mar. and 20 Mar. of that year. He married Alice (———†) Crowley, widow of ——— Crowley, by whom she had two sons, John Crowley and Richard Crowley, who were living and under age 4 May 1566, when guardians were appointed for them. Their mother, Alice Perkins, widow, made her will (vide supra) 25 Mar. 1566, and died between that date and 4 May 1566, when her will was proved. Children: 1. Beatrice, living and under age 4 May 1566. 2. Frances, living and under age 4 May 1566.
v. Joyn (a daughter).

2. William Perkins (John), of Abbots Salford in the parish of Salford Priors, co. Warwick, husbandman, the testator of 1559, died between 24 Nov. 1559 and 11 Apr. 1560. He married Johne ———, who was living 24 Nov. 1559, when William Perkins appointed her and his son George executors of his will.

*Here follows, in the manuscript record as printed in the Historical Collections of the Topsfield Historical Society, a list of the children of Rev. William Perkins, with their marriages, which it seems unnecessary to reprint in this article.

†Perhaps her maiden-name was Russell or Bussell.

The inventory of his estate amounted to £32. 17s. 8d. He was overseer of his father's will in 1541.

Children, named in their father's will:

4. i. GEORGE, b. probably about 1538.
ii. FRANCIS (a son), under sixteen in 1559; perhaps the Francis Perkins who was bur. at Salford Priors 11 Mar. 1592/3.
iii. ROBERT,
iv. JOHN,
v. ELIZABETH,
vi. BETSEY,
} under sixteen in 1559.

3. NICHOLAS PERKINS (John), of Abbots Salford in the parish of Salford, co. Warwick, the testator of 4 Apr. 1566, died between that date and 22 May 1566, the probable date of his inventory. He married ANNE ———, who was living 4 Apr. 1566 and was appointed by him his executrix. The inventory of his estate amounted to £28. 2s. 4d.

Children, named in their father's will:

i. THOMAS, perhaps identical with Thomas Perkins of Abbots Salford, yeoman, the testator of 6 May 1622, who d., apparently s.p., before 1 June 1622, when his inventory, amounting to £103. 18s. 8d., was taken. The testator of 1622 m. FRANCES ——— [?HAYNES], the testatrix of 8 Mar. 1635/6, who d. between that date and 24 Mar. 1635/6, when her inventory, amounting to £252. 16s., was taken. In her will she names many of her own relatives, including her brother, Thomas Haynes or Heynes, and also her husband's relatives, Francis, wife of John Charlett (vide 4, vii), and Alice Charlett, goddaughter of the testatrix.
ii. ANNE.

4. GEORGE PERKINS (William, John), of Salford Priors, co. Warwick, yeoman, born probably about 1538, was buried at Salford Priors 20 Sept. 1586. He married KATHERINE ———, to whom administration on his estate was granted 7 Oct. 1586, the inventory amounting to £6. 7s. 10d. She died between 20 Jan. 1622/3, the date of her will (q. v.), and 27 Jan. 1626/7, when her inventory, amounting to £19. 14s., was taken.

Children:

i. ELIZABETH, eldest daughter, bapt. before 14 May 1571; probably d. young.
ii. BEATRICE, bapt. before 14 May 1571; living 20 Jan. 1622/3; m. (1) before that date ——— WILLIAMSON; perhaps m. (2) ——— PARKER, and had by second husband Dorothy and Alice, living 18 Apr. 1657, when they are named in the will of their uncle, William Perkins (5).
iii. JOAN, bapt. at Salford Priors 14 May 1571; living 6 Mar. 1636/7; m. before 20 Jan. 1622/3 ——— FOSBROOKE of Bridgnorth, Shropshire. Child: 1. Katherine, b. before 20 Jan. 1622/3; living 18 Apr. 1657, when she is named in the will of her uncle, William Perkins (5).
iv. ANNE, bapt. at Salford Priors 28 Feb. 1573/4; living 20 Jan. 1622/3; m. before that date ——— EDWARDS. Children, living 6 Mar. 1636/7, when they are named in the will of their uncle, Thomas Perkins (4, v): 1. John. 2. Henry. 3. Joyce. Probably others.
v. THOMAS, of Abbots Salford, in the parish of Salford Priors, yeoman, the testator of 1636/7, bapt. at Salford Priors 14 Feb. 1576/7; d., probably unm., not earlier than 6 Mar. 1636/7, leaving bequests to many of his relatives and making his sister, Frances Charlett (4, vii), residuary legatee.
5. vi. WILLIAM, bapt. at Salford Priors 1 Jan. 1579/80.

vii. FRANCES, bapt. at Salford Priors 23 Apr. 1583; living 6 Mar. 1636/7, when she is named in the will of her brother, Thomas Perkins (4, v); m. before 20 Jan. 1622/3 JOHN CHARLETT, living 8 Mar. 1635/6. Children: 1. Beatrice, b. before 20 Jan. 1622/3; living unm. 18 Apr. 1657, when she is named in the will of her uncle, William Perkins (5). 2. Alice, living unm. 6 Mar. 1636/7, when she is named in the will of her uncle, Thomas Perkins (4, v). 3. Thomas, living 6 Mar. 1636/7, when he is named in the will of his uncle, Thomas Perkins (4, v), being then an apprentice.

5. WILLIAM PERKINS (George, William, John), of the parish of All Hallows, Bread Street, London, and later of the parish of St. Dunstan in the West, London, merchant tailor, the testator of 1657, baptized at Salford Priors, co. Warwick, 1 Jan. 1579/80, was buried in the parish of All Hallows 25 June 1657. He married first, 22 May 1603, KATHERINE ———, who died 18 Sept. 1618 and was buried in the parish of All Hallows 22 Sept. 1618; secondly, 30 Mar. 1619, MARY (PURCHASE) ———, who died 29 Oct. 1639 and was buried in the broad aisle of the Church of All Hallows 2 November 1639, daughter of Mr. George Purchase of Thaxted, co. Essex, and widow of ———;* and thirdly JANE (———) FILMER, who was living 20 Jan. 1671 and was probably the Jean Perkings, widow, who was buried in the parish of All Hallows 5 Nov. 1675. She was the widow of ——— Filmer, by whom she had two daughters, Elizabeth and Anne Filmer, who were living unmarried 18 Apr. 1657, when they were named in the will of their stepfather, William Perkins.†

William Perkins, as his will shows, was possessed of considerable property. He "gave £50 to Harvard College."‡ Rev. Samuel Purchas, rector of St. Martin's near Ludgate, London, in his will dated 31 May 1625, calls him brother-in-law, makes him one of the overseers of his will, and leaves to him "one entire work of my Pilgrims in four books."§

i. BATHSHUA, b. 24 May 1605.‖

ii. REV. WILLIAM, b. 25 Aug. 1607; d. at Topsfield, Mass., 21 May 1682; m. at Roxbury, Mass., 30 Aug. 1636, ELIZABETH WOOTTON. He sailed from London for New England in the William and Francis in Mar. 1631/2, lived at Ipswich, Roxbury, Weymouth, and Gloucester, Mass., and finally settled in Topsfield. In 1641 he received a grant of

*That she was a widow when she was married to William Perkins is inferred from the statement that her son, Edward Perkins, the second of her children by William Perkins, was his mother's sixth child (Historical Collections of the Topsfield Historical Society, vol. 18, p. 2, supra, p. 229).

†The third marriage of William Perkins is given in Sharp's History of Ufton Court, p. 253, where it is also stated that on "January 20, 1671, his son William, who was then residing in Topsfield . . . in New England, drew three bills of exchange upon his mother, 'Mrs. Jane Perkins, widow, dwelling at the Three Cocks, upon Ludgate Hill, near to the west end of St. Paul's Church, in London.'" Cf. also Sharp, op. cit., p. 255.

§REGISTER, vol. 38, p. 320. Samuel Purchas was son of George Purchas of Thaxted, co. Essex, and was the author of Purchas his Pilgrimage and Purchas his Pilgrimes.

‖Of the five daughters of William Perkins, Rebeckah married Martin Cousins, and had five children who were living 18 Apr. 1657, when they are mentioned, but not named, in their grandfather's will. Another daughter, whose name is not given in her father's will, was living 18 Apr. 1657, being then the wife of Thomas Mead, and had then six children, one of whom was named Mary. Another daughter, whose name is not given in her father's will, was living 18 Apr. 1657, being then the wife of William Carrington, and had then three children, one of whom was named Mary. A fourth daughter, either Bathshua, Sarah, or Elizabeth, probably died unmarried before 18 Apr. 1657. The daughter Mary died young.

400 acres of land from the General Court of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, because of his father's gift of £50 to Harvard College. He and his seven children then living were legatees in the will of his father in 1657. Ten children. For his life in New England and his children see authorities referred to above, p. 223, footnote.

TUCKER-DARELL

Contributed by RUFUS STICKNEY TUCKER, Ph.D., of Cambridge, Mass.

IN the "Genealogy of the Tucker Family," compiled by the late Ephraim Tucker of Worcester, Mass., and published in 1895, a book that is almost entirely devoted to Robert Tucker of Weymouth and Milton, Mass., and his descendants, it is maintained that John Tucker, who was at Watertown, Mass., in 1636 and afterwards settled in Hingham, Mass., and Robert Tucker, who was at Weymouth in 1638 and was later of Milton, were brothers, and that they were identical with the John and Robert Tucker who are given in the Visitation of Kent of 1619–1621 as sons of George Tucker of Milton next Gravesend, co. Kent.‡

From the Tucker pedigree published in the Visitation of Kent, page 3,§ it appears that George Tucker, son and heir of William Tucker of Throuley [Throwleigh], co. Devon, Esq., was of Milton

*Since the only sons of William Perkins who are mentioned in his will are William and Edward, it is probable that John and Toby died s.p. before 18 Apr. 1657, the date of the will. The son Edward was named as executor of the will, together with his stepmother, his elder brother, William, having emigrated to New England twenty-five years earlier. The other three sons died young.

†Vide supra, p. 231, last footnote.‖

‡In identifying Robert Tucker of Weymouth and Milton, Mass., with Robert Tucker, son of George Tucker of Milton next Gravesend, co. Kent, the compiler of the Genealogy of the Tucker Family followed the statements about the birthplace of Robert Tucker, the New England settler published in 1887 in the History of Milton, Mass., pp. 37–38.

§Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 42, London, 1898. The Visitation pedigree used by Mr. Ephraim Tucker in preparing his book is that found in Harleian Manuscript 1106, which differs somewhat from the pedigree published by the Harleian Society in 1898, three years after the appearance of the Genealogy of the Tucker Family. The differences, however, are without importance in proving or disproving Mr. Tucker's conjecture in regard to the English origin of John and Robert Tucker of Massachusetts.

[next Gravesend], co. Kent, and that George Tucker, son and heir of George and grandson of William, was likewise of Milton. By his first wife, Elizabeth, daughter of Francis Staughton of Craford [Crayford], co. Kent, this second George Tucker had a son George, aged 25 at the taking of the Visitation; and by his second wife, Mary, daughter of John Darrell* of Cadehill [Cale Hill, in the parish of Little Chart, co. Kent], Esq., he had, at the time of the Visitation, sons John, aged 19, Robert, aged 14, and Henry, aged 8, and daughters Hester, Elizabeth, Mary, Ann, Sarah, and Martha.

In his will, dated 11 Nov. 1622, an abstract of which is given below, George Tucker names all these daughters except Elizabeth, "Marie" being under twenty-one, Ann being already married, and Sarah, Martha, and Hester being under nineteen. He names also, in addition to the four sons mentioned in the Visitation, a son Daniel, who was probably born after the taking of the Visitation, John Darell, Esq., deceased, his wife's father, and Sir Robert Darell, Knight, and John Darell, Esq., his wife's brothers. This will and a codicil of 14 Dec. 1625, attached thereto, show that George Tucker and his brother, Capt. Daniel Tucker, held shares in the "Summer Islands," i.e., the Bermudas, and that Capt. Daniel Tucker had recently given shares in these islands to his nephew Daniel, son of the testator of 1622.

The prominence of this Tucker family in the Bermudas, in Barbados, and in Virginia and South Carolina, has long been known and recognized. George Tucker, the testator of 1622, and his brother Daniel were members of the Virginia Company; and Daniel sailed for Virginia in 1606, was a leading man in the Colony from 1608 to 1613, was commissioned Governor of the Bermudas 15 Feb. 1615/16, and was in those islands from May 1616 to about Jan. 1618/19. He purchased lands in Virginia in 1621, and died at Port Royal, Bermuda, 10 Feb. 1624/5. George Tucker, eldest son of the testator of 1622, went to the Bermuda Islands in the time of the Civil War in England, but returned to England. His will, an abstract of which is given below, is dated 23 Aug. 1639 and was proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury 2 May 1648. In it he describes himself as of Dartford, co. Kent, Gentleman, and gives to his eldest son, George, all his lands in the Bermuda Islands, except two shares which he gives to his second son, Francis, and two shares which he gives to his third son, Robert. George Tucker, the eldest son of this testator, settled in Bermuda, and by his wife Frances, daughter of Sir Henry St. George, Knight, Garter and Principal King of Arms, became the ancestor of a branch of the family of which several members held public positions of honor and trust or distinguished themselves in professional and mercantile life. Some of his descendants became officers in the British Army and Navy, others migrated to Barbados, Virginia, or South Carolina, and one of them, St. George Tucker, born in 1752, settled in Virginia, became a judge and a professor of law in William and Mary College, and was the founder of a well-known family in that State. Henry Tucker, half brother of George

*This surname is given incorrectly as "Darrett" in the History of Milton, Mass., and in the Genealogy of the Tucker Family.

Tucker, the testator of 1639, also settled, it is believed, in the Bermudas, and had many descendants.*

The six wills of which abstracts are given below† confirm certain parts of the Tucker pedigree found in the Visitation of Kent, 1619–1621, and supply much information about the genealogy and social standing of the Tucker family of Milton next Gravesend and of the ancient and eminent Darell family with which it was connected by marriage. They should, therefore, be of interest to the Tuckers of the present day in Virginia and other southern States, for the descendants of George Tucker, the testator of 1639, as well as those of his half brother Henry, may trace their ancestry back to the Darells of Kent, Elizabeth, wife of George Tucker and mother of his children, having been a daughter of Richard Sedley of Digswell, co. Herts, Esq., by his wife Elizabeth, who was a daughter of John Darell of Cale Hill, co. Kent, Esq., and therefore a sister of Mary Darell, second wife of George Tucker, the testator of 1622.‡ These wills are also of value to descendants of New England Tuckers, because they disprove the English ancestry assigned in the "Genealogy of the Tucker Family" to John Tucker of Watertown and Hingham and to Robert Tucker of Weymouth and Milton, Mass.

The compiler of the "Genealogy," following the statements made and the records given in the "History of Milton, Mass," found that, according to the Visitation of Kent, 1619–1621, George Tucker of Milton [next Gravesend], the second George Tucker of the pedigree, had a son John, aged 19 at the time of the Visitation, and a son Robert, aged 14 at the same time. He found also that, according to the "History of Milton, Mass.," the parish registers of Milton next Gravesend record the following baptisms of children of George Tucker, Gentleman: John, in 1599; Elizabeth, 25 Mar. 1601; Maria [Mary], 24 Mar. 1602 [1602/3]; Robert, 7 June 1604;§ Henry, in 1612. Now since John and Robert, two of the sons of George Tucker, were apparently of the right age to be the John and Robert Tucker who came to New England, since, moreover, according to the "History of Milton, Mass.," the Tucker family disappeared from the English Milton soon after 1637, and since, finally, Robert Tucker of Massachusetts was prominent among the early settlers of Milton

*Cf. The Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, vol. 17, pp. 395–397, vol. 29, p. 355, and Tucker pedigrees in Emmet's Memoir of John Patten Emmet, M.D., New York, 1898.

†Two of these wills have already appeared in print — that of George Tucker, the testator of 1622, in The Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, vol. 17, pp. 394–395, and that of his son George, the testator of 1639, in the same publication, vol. 39, pp. 354–355. The importance of these two wills in the history of the Tucker family and, especially, the reference in the will of the younger George to his [half] brothers John and Robert, whom the late Ephraim Tucker claimed as settlers of Massachusetts, warrant their reproduction in this article. The abstract of the first of these two wills has been adapted from the abstract printed in The Virginia Magazine, while that of the second will has been made directly from the recorded copy of the will in Somerset House, London, and has been compared with the abstract printed in The Virginia Magazine.

‡Cf. the pedigree of Sedley of Digswell, published in The Visitations of Hertfordshire, p. 91 (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 22). This pedigree gives children of George and Elizabeth (Sedley) Tucker as follows: 1. George. 2. Francis. 3. Robert. 4. Elizabeth. It is, therefore, in agreement with the statements of the will of George Tucker. Cf. also the pedigree of Darrell, in The Visitation of Kent, 1619, p. 187.

§In the History of Milton, Mass., and in the Genealogy this entry, under the year 1604, is given as follows: "Robert ye sonne of George Tucker Gent one of the Burghers at this font was baptized ye VII of June." The correct reading of this entry is: "Robert ye sonne of George Tucker Gent one of the Searchers at this port was baptized ye VII of June." The father was, therefore, in the English customs service.

in that Colony, a town which might have been named in honor of the English home of one or more of its settlers, Mr. Tucker in the "Genealogy" stated that Robert Tucker of Milton next Gravesend was "doubtless the progenitor of the Milton [Mass.] Tuckers," and identified his brother John with the settler of that name in Watertown and Hingham.

The wills given below, however, prove that John and Robert Tucker, sons of George Tucker of Milton next Gravesend, co. Kent, were living in England after their namesakes appear in Massachusetts — John being in England in 1639, 1642, and 1644, and his brother Robert being there in 1639, when, according to the will of his half brother George, he was evidently incapable of managing his own affairs. Neither John nor Robert Tucker of Massachusetts is ever called Gentleman in the Colonial records, although the members of the Kentish family are regularly designated as Gentlemen or Esquires. The conclusion is, therefore, unavoidable, that the English ancestry of these two settlers of Massachusetts has yet to be discovered.

From Probate Records

The Will of George Tucker of Milton next Gravesend, co. Kent, Esq., dated 11 November 1622. To be buried in Milton under my stone. To Mary, my wife, all corn and grain and household stuff. To my son Robert Tucker £300, to be paid him when twenty-four at or in the porch door on the south side of the Gravesend parish church. To my sons Henry and Daniell 500 marks each. To my daughter Marie Tucker £500 when twenty-one. My daughter Ann Tucker has already been provided for in marriage. To my daughters Sarah, Martha, and Hester Tucker £500 apiece when nineteen, in performance of an indenture made 16 February, 41 Elizabeth [1598/9], between me, George Tucker, John Darell, Esq., deceased, my wife's father, and Sir Robert Darell, Knt., her brother. Residuary legatees: my wife Mary and my eldest son, George Tucker. Executrix: my wife Mary. Overseers: my brothers Sir Robert Darell, Knt., and John Darell, Esq.

To Mary, my wife, my dwelling mansion in Milton called Sir Thomas Wyatt's place, for one year, and then to my son George Tucker. To my son George my manor of Milton and land purchased from John Childe and James Crispe, Sir William Page, Knt., and Henry Stacie, executors of the will of Stephen Colt, and lands bought of ——— Peers and Bradbent and of one Anne Barnes, widow, at Dorkenstile, with remainder to my sons John, Robert, Henry, and Daniell, successively. My son John is to have the lands settled for my heirs male, my annuity from the manor of Mallgraves, co. Essex, and other lands in Hornedon on the Hill, my ten parts and shares in the Summer Islands als Barmother purchased of Sir Robert Mansfeild, Knt., two shares purchased of John Watts, Esq., and four shares purchased of Sir Thomas Smith, Knt. To my wife for life and then to my son John lands bought of the Earl of Salisbury in co. Kent. Witnesses: Lawrence Loulase, Francis Jackson, William Pepper, and Thomas Bolke.

Codicil, dated 14 December 1625. As I have given to my son John lands purchased of George and Thomas Morris and lands purchased of Roger Gardiner in Lower Sherne which cost me near £800, the sixteen shares of the Summer Islands are to go to my son George, he giving my wife half the profits, and my son is to do the best for his brother Daniell in those shares lately given him by his uncle, Capt. Daniell Tucker. To the poor of Gravesend £10 and to the poor of Milton £10. To the poor of Hoo, Chalke, and Norfleet, each parish, 40s. Witnesses: Martin Stower, minister, Edward Tenche.

Proved 14 January 1625/6. Administration was granted, 1 July 1630, to Sir Nicholas Salter, creditor, the executrix being dead. (P. C. C., Hele, 5.)*

The Will of JAMES DARELL of London, Esq.,† dated 25 August 1638. To be "buryed in the daye tyme with a sermon without any other solemnity save burnt wyne & ye like as is usuall & as is fitting for such frendes as shall accompanye my body to ye earth but without any blacke which I desire may neither be given nor worne for mee." To the poor of the parish where I shall be buried 40s. To the poor of Little Charte in Kent, where I was born, £3. To my son John Darell all stock of cattle, corn, and money he hath of mine and £50 to increase his stock, his uncle, Mr. Robert Darell, to see to the laying of it out; also £40 a year out of my leaseholds in the Isle of Thanet in Kent, and, if he die before the lease expires, £20 to go to his wife and £20 to his children; also £200 within two years after the expiration of the lease I have of the parsonage of St. Sepulchre's, London, on condition he prove a good husband by the approbation of my nephew, Mr. George Tucker, and my brother, Mr. Robert Darell, otherwise the £200 is to go to his children equally. To my son Marmaduke Darell £600, on condition he serve out his apprenticeship with his kind master where I have settled him; if in any disordered way he leave his master, then he is to have £100, my son John £100, my son Robert £200, and my son James £200, and to him also a small gilt bowl and a dozen of gilt spoons at the age of twenty-one. To my son James Darell £500 at the age of twenty-one, he to be maintained and educated (at a cost of not more than £25 a year) till he shall be apprenticed, and then his maintenance is not to exceed £50 a year; if he die, then to Marmaduke £200, to John £100, and to Robert £200. To my daughter Bringfield all plate and jewels not otherwise disposed of and all goods in their house at the time of my death, and also two pairs of fine holland and one pair of best ordinary sheets. To my son Marmaduke five pairs of sheets — three of the better and two of the worser sort for servants. The rest of the linen is to go to my sons John and Robert equally. To my son Bringfield the suit of clothes I last had made me — "a sattin doublett ye hose cloth and the Cloake suteable lyned with plush together with ye silke stockins & garters to that suite." To my nephew George Tucker, Esq., a ring of forty shillings price, he to have it made in what fashion he pleaseth. To my brother-in-law Mr. Richard Camden £5 for a piece of plate in remembrance of me, and I request him to assist my executors as they shall desire. To my clerk Edward Johson £5. To Edward Stilsted for a ring 20s. To Robert Collens £3 and my tawny cloth suit and cloak. To Hugh, my servant, £3. The residue of all my goods to my son Robert Darell, and I make him and my nephew, Mr. George Tucker, executors. I request my faithful friend, Mr. John Neale, to take unto him the care of placing my son James as I have made known to Mr. Edward Stilstead. Witnesses: Elizabeth Bringfield, Richard Camden, Edward Stilsted. Proved 13 September 1638 by George Tucker and 9 July 1640 by Robert Darell, son of the deceased. (P. C. C., Lee, 106.)

The Will of GEORGE TUCKER of Dartford, co. Kent, Gentleman,‡ dated 23 August 1639. To be interred at the discretion of my executrix. To my eldest son, George Tucker, all my manor of Milton next Gravesend and all my other lands in Milton, Gravesend, and Denton, except one field in Milton called the Sconsfield and an Inn in Milton, now in the occupation of John Francis, known as the Crowne and an Inn in Gravesend called the White Heart, bought of my father-in-law, Richard Sedley, Esq., not yet conveyed — to him and to his heirs male, with reversion to my second son, Francis, my third son, Robert, and any other son born to me and my wife Elizabeth, in turn and to their heirs male. The Crowne is to go to my wife Elizabeth for life and then to such one of my sons as she shall appoint by will, and, failing such appointment, to my son George. To my said son George all my lands in the Sumer Ilands, otherwise called the Barmodoes, except the two shares that came to me by my uncle Daniel Tucker's will, one in the occupation of John Younge, planter, the other called the Timber share, which I give to my son Francis, and also two other shares in the occupation of the Widow Perinchef in Warwick tribe, purchased of Sir Robert Knight,* which I give to my son Robert, the bequest to follow the same limitations as my lands given above. My wife is to have the profits of all my lands during the minority of my son George. All my adventures upon the seas and other rents shall be for payment of my debts and younger children's portions (for which also the excepted lands are to be sold, if necessary). To my second son, Francis, and to my youngest son, Robert, £400 each at the age of twenty-four, and, if my wife be delivered of another child, to it £400 at twenty-four if a son and at twenty-one or marriage if a daughter. To my daughter Elizabeth Tucker 1000 marks at twenty-one or at marriage with her mother's consent. The portion of any child dying under age is to be divided among the survivors. If all my sons die without heirs male, my lands in Bexley, Crayford, and Dartford, The Crowne, The Sconcefeild, The White Hart, and lands in the borough of Southwark are to go to my daughter Elizabeth and any other daughter I may have. I authorize my most honored friend, Sir John Wolstenholme the Younger, Knt., and my brother-in-law, Mr. John Sedley, to sell any of the before-mentioned lands and devise these lands to them; as those in Southwark are yet in lease and much improveable, I would have them the last sold, but give them entire discretion in the sales. The residue of lands unsold and overplus of money are to go to my son George. The remainder of the manor of Milton and lands in Milton, Denton, and Somer Ilands, if my sons die without issue, are to go to my brother John Tucker and his heirs, provided that my brother Robert Tucker be maintained like a gentleman, in decent apparel and habitation to his content for life, and that my brother Henry Tucker have £20 a year for life. All my goods undisposed of to my wife Elizabeth, my sole executrix, and I appoint as overseers Sir John Wolstenholme the Younger, Knt., my brother-in-law Jno Sedley, Gentleman, and my brother John Tucker, Gentleman; and I give to each of them 5 marks for rings in remembrance of me. To the poor of Digswell 40s., of Milton 40s., and of Gravesend 20s. Witnesses: John Sedley, George Tucker, John Darrell, Ann [?] Stoughton, Elizabeth Tucker.

Administration cum testamento annexo was granted, 2 May 1648, to George Tucker, eldest son of the deceased, Elizabeth Tucker, the executrix named in the will, having died. (P. P. C., Essex, 68.)

The Will of Robert Thompson of Lenham, co. Kent, Gentleman,† dated 1 September 1642. To my four daughters by my former wife the lands their mother brought me at our marriage which remain unsold, to them and their heirs equally, and also to each a ring of the value of £1 and a piece of plate of the value of £5. The residue to my wife Sara, whom I appoint sole executrix. Overseers: my brother-in-law John Tucker, Gentleman, and my brother Anthony Thompson, Gentleman. Witnesses: Henry Thompson, Mary Husy, John Davy. Proved 4 October 1642 by Sara Thompson, relict of the deceased. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, original will.)

The Will of Sir Robert Darell, Knt.,* dated 16 July 1644. To be decently buried without any solemnity of torches or Black in the same manner I buried my father in my chancel called St. Katherine's Chancel in the parish of Little Chart. To the poor of the said parish £3—30s. at my burial and 30s. in the poor man's box. To the poor of Charing £3 in the like manner. To my wife, Dame Jane, my coach, my now usual coach geldings and money in her purse, her rings, jewels, and chamber plate upon her cupboard there, and a basin and ewer, all silver, which is used in my parlour, to be given to my son Edward after her death. All my other plate whatsoever (excepting the basin and ewer that came from Waltham, the great gilt saltcellar and gilt spoons and the two flagon pots of silver, the greater and the lesser saltcellars, the spoons given to me by my Aunt Hales, the basin and ewer that my Lady Abergavenny gave me, the gilt tanker which was my first wife's with the Galthorpe arms upon it, and my silver pot with the lion engraven thereon) I give to my eldest son, Sir John Darell, Knt., in recompense and discharge of two small silver and gilt pots given him by my said Aunt Hales' will and of a small spout pot of silver given to him by Lady Boys, his godmother, which said pots, etc., I did change away, being old and of less value than the plate by me hereby given to him. To my wife all household stuff brought with her, all other household stuff (except hangings, pictures, tables, brass andirons, fire shovel, tongs, chairs, stools, and the greater and lesser Turkey carpets in my dining chamber), and all household stuff as came to me by my former wife; but such household stuff as came to me as executor from my late father and mother, the hangings, etc., excepted above, and what was given me by my Aunt Hales I wish to remain to my son, Sir John Darell, or to my eldest son at time of my death. To my wife £100, the chain of gold set with diamonds and pearls which I bought for her and which cost me £210, and all my old gold, about £30, in lieu of moneys I borrowed from her. I forgive my brother Robert Darell all moneys he oweth me, about six or seven score pounds. To my brother John Darell the gilt tanker with the Galthorpe arms on it. To my brother, Capt. Nathaniel Darell, £20, and I forgive him the £15 I laid out for him when he sent his daughter into England. To my said brother Robert £20. To my said son, Sir John, my tent, drums, colors, leading staff armor, and all other provisions tending to the war and all my books (not being law books) excepting six for my wife at her election. To my son Edward my law books, my chamber in Gray's Inn, and all furniture therein, my son Sir John to have his lodging there when he comes to London. To Anthony Balducke and his now wife 20 nobles apiece. To Thomas Scott, my servant and brewer, 40s., and to all my servants one quarter's wages. To my son James Darell and his heirs all my lands, etc., about 108 acres, in Hollingbourne, Harrietsham, Leeds, and Bromfield, co. Kent, which I bought of Thomas Stede, Esq., and Elizabeth, his wife, and other lands in those parishes, and also the parsonage or rectory of Halstowe, co. Kent, with all lands, tithes, etc., and term of years to come in the same. Whereas my son, Sir John, is bound in the sum of £1200 to William Sedley, Esq., Thomas Prude, Gentleman, and John Tucker, Gentleman, for payment of £600 as I require by my last will, he is to pay to my son James £200, to my son Christopher £200, and to my son Edward £200, within three years of my decease. All my other lands are by conveyances settled upon my other sons, Sir John, Edward, and Christopher. I appoint my son, Sir John Darell, sole executor, and he shall keep on the course of housekeeping at my house called Calehill House for six weeks after my death, upon his own costs, for his mother, brothers and sisters, and such others as are of my household. Witnesses: John Darell, John Tucker, Robert Sandys.

Codicil, dated 17 December 1644. I desired my wife to give my son Edward a silver basin and ewer after her death. I now leave the disposal thereof wholly to her; and, whereas I gave my son John two silver and gilt basins and ewers, I now wish him to have the choice of them, and the other I give to my son Edward.

Codicil, dated 1 November 1645. In my will it doth appear that my son, Sir John, was bound to Wm. Sidley, Esq., Thos. Proud, and John Tucker for the payment of £600. As my estate is much weakened by the troubles of this Kingdom, I appoint that in lieu of the discharge of this bond he pay my sons James, Christopher, and Edward £100 each.

Proved 2 July 1646 by Sir John Darell, son of the deceased. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, original will.)

The Will of JOHN DARELL of Little Chart, co. Kent, Esq.,* dated 26 August 1645. "To be buried crosse the ysle leading into my brother Sr. Robert Darells Chauncell in the parish church of Little Charte right against the font there in that manner that Sr Robert Honywoods Ladye was buryed in the evening without any solempnytye." To the parish of Little Charte £5, for putting forth the poor children of the parish. To the poor of the parish at my burial 13s. 4d. To my sister Sidley, widow of Mr. Richard Sidley of Digswell, co. Herts, £10 to buy her a piece of plate, to be deducted from the £20 she oweth me. To my sister, Mrs. Sarah Camden, widow of Mr. Richard Camden of Roode Lane in London, Gentleman, the other £10 owing by my sister Sidley, to buy her a piece of plate, and £20 her son Henry Champnes owes me. To my brother Nathaniel Darell, captain of the Castle of Cornet in the Ile of Garnsey, £100, of which he hath received £20 from my brother Camden, with reversion to his only son Nathaniel, my godson. To Robert and Marmaduke, two sons of my brother James Darell, Esq., deceased, £20 each. To my nephews, Christopher, third son, and James, youngest son, of my brother, Sir Robert Darell, £20 each. To Robert, John, and James, sons of my brother Robert Darell the Younger, late of Toft, co. Lincoln, £10 each; and to Anne Darell, daughter of my said brother, £50 six months after my death or at marriage. To Dorothy Darell, daughter of my brother, Capt. George Darell, deceased, £50 at the day of her marriage; and I forgive all debts due from my said brother, his wife, or her, they to return the bond for the said £50 legacy which my aunt Hales gave her, as I have paid that and £10 of my own to make up £200 lent to Mr. George Tucker, Esq. I forgive my said brother Robert the Younger all debts due to me, and I give to his wife Christian Darell the silver tankard I use. To Sir John Darell, Knt., eldest son of my brother, Sir Robert Darell, my silver tankard gilt with the three bugles upon it. To my niece, Mrs. Mary Darell, daughter of my brother, Sir Robert, my silver beaker, silver porringer, silver trencher, and salt and knopt silver spoon. To my godson Henry Tucker, now in the Burmodos, £10. To my nephew John Tompson, son of my nephew Robert Thompson, Gentleman, deceased, £10. To my sister, the Lady Darell, my best diamond ring with five diamonds enamelled with blue. To my sister Darell, wife of Capt. George D[arell], my second gold ring with a stone, supposed to be a diamond, set in four claws. To Dame Elizabeth Darell, wife of my nephew, Sir John Darell, and to Ann, wife of my nephew James Darell, to each one Elizabeth sovereign of 33s. To my godson John, son of Nicholas Mason, deceased, 20s. To the servants of my brother, Sir Robert, 6s. to each man, 5s. to each woman, and 3s. 4d. to the kitchen boy. To my brother, Robert the Younger, £3. 10s. and my best suit of apparel. To my brother, Sir Robert, a gold ring with a death's-head. To my servant Thomas Patteson, for life, the house, garden, etc., in occupation of Thomas Knocke in Charing, co. Kent, a piece of land near Kay Wood called Mellpenn, and a piece adjoining Sir Robert Honywood's windmill field late purchased of Fynch Deeringe, Gentleman, and also my second suit of apparel. To my nephew Edward, second son of my brother, Sir Robert Darell, all my lands, etc., ready money, and chattells whatsoever in Charing or elsewhere, and I make him sole executor. Witnesses: Steph. Bulker [? Hulker], Anthony Balduck. Proved 6 November 1646 by Edward Darell. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, original will.)

By Henry Edwards Scott, A.B., Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 5 April 1922. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., Hon. Nathan Matthews, Vice President for Massachusetts, presiding.

The minutes of the March meeting were read and approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting that since the March meeting members of the Society had been elected as follows:

Resident Members

Elmer E. Doe of Orleans, Vt.
Mrs. William M. Davidson of Pittsburgh, Pa.
Allen S. Davison of Pittsburgh, Pa.
Susan E. Swallow of South Hanover, Mass.
Mrs. H. W. Hall of Hallowell, Me.
Mrs. C. L. Ellis of Anadarko, Okla.

By direction of the Council the Recording Secretary laid before the Society a draft of a proposed agreement between Simmons College and the New England

Historic Genealogical Society, with reference to their respective interests in the estate No. 18 Somerset Street, in the City of Boston; and, on recommendation of the Council, it was, on motion, Voted, That the Treasurer of the Society be and hereby is authorized to execute, in behalf of the Society, the proposed agreement between Simmons College and the New England Historic Genealogical Society, with reference to their respective interests in the estate No. 18 Somerset Street, in the City of Boston.

The Chair then presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. Sherrod Soule, Superintendent of the Missionary Society of Connecticut, Hartford, Conn., who read an entertaining paper, illustrated with stereopticon views, on Connecticut's Contribution to the Revolutionary War, in which he laid special stress on the services of three Revolutionary heroes of Connecticut, Israel Putnam, Nathan Hale, and Jonathan Trumbull.

At the conclusion of the address Alfred Johnson, Vice President for Maine, took the chair, which Vice President Matthews had vacated, and expressed to the speaker the Society's appreciation of his enlightening and patriotic lecture.

No further business being presented, the Chair, at 3.50 P.M., declared the meeting dissolved, and refreshments were served as usual to the members of the Society and their guests in the adjoining tea room.

3 May. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., President Chase presiding.

The minutes of the April meeting were read and approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting that since the April meeting members of the Society had been elected as follows:

Resident Members

William Alexander Miller of Grantwood, N. J.
Charles Blanchard Carter of Auburn, Me.
Mrs. R. C. Carrick of Keene, N. H.
Mrs. E. L. Larison of Anaconda, Mont.
Mrs. Horatia A. Littlefield of Lynn, Mass.
Charles A. Bean of Watertown, Mass.
Neal Francis Mears of Chicago, Ill.

In accordance with a recommendation of the Council it was, on motion of the Recording Secretary, Voted, That the vote of the Society of 4 May 1921, authorizing the Vice President for Massachusetts and the Treasurer of the Society to convey, in the name of the Society, a certain narrow strip of land to the Boston Architectural Club, be and hereby is rescinded.

Voted, That the President and Treasurer of the Society be and hereby are authorized to convey, in the name of the Society, to the Boston Architectural Club, upon such terms and at such price as the said officers may deem advisable, a narrow strip of land at the rear of the premises numbered 16 Somerset Street, in the City of Boston, under the rear walls of the buildings of said club.

The Chair then presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, Samuel Eliot Morison, Ph.D., Lecturer on History, Harvard University, who gave a most entertaining lecture on The Clipper Ships of Massachusetts, illustrating his narrative with a series of beautiful lantern slides showing some of the most noted ships built in Massachusetts yards.

Dr. Morison's address aroused great interest in the large number of members of the Society and their friends who had the privilege of listening to it, and, on motion of Desmond FitzGerald, it was Voted, That the New England Historic Genealogical Society desires to acknowledge its obligation to Dr. Samuel Eliot Morison for his interesting and instructive lecture on The Clipper Ships of Massachusetts, in which he has described most graphically an absorbing phase of the maritime history of our country.

Voted, That the New England Historic Genealogical Society desires to place upon record its appreciation of the remarkable career of Donald McKay of East Boston, the great designer and builder of clipper ships, which took such a prominent part in establishing the maritime supremacy of New England.

No further business being presented, the Chair, at 4 P.M., declared the meeting dissolved, and the members of the Society and their guests remained for the usual social hour in the adjoining tea room.

CHARLES SHERBURNE PENHALLOW, A.B.

By Charles Montraville Green, A.B., M.D., of Boston, Mass.

Charles Sherburne Penhallow, elected a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society 6 May 1891 and made a life member in 1899, was born at Portsmouth, N. H., 10 May 1852, and died at Magnolia, Mass., 3 July 1921.

His immigrant paternal ancestor, Samuel[1] Penhallow, was born at St. Mabyn, co. Cornwall, England, 2 July 1665, and was baptized 20 August 1665, the second son of Chamond Penhallow, Gentleman, and his wife Ann (daughter of John Tamlyn), and grandson of Richard Penhallow, who is believed to have descended from John Penhallow of Penhallow, who was living in the fourteenth century, in 43 Edward III.* Chamond Penhallow and Ann Tamlyn were married at St. Mabyn 30 May 1661,† and the husband was buried at Fowey, a parish and port in Cornwall, on the English Channel, about twenty-five miles northeast from Falmouth, 17 February 1689/90, administration on his estate being granted, 30 April 1690, in the Consistorial Archidiaconal Court of Cornwall, of which the records are preserved at Bodmin.‡

The arms of this Penhallow family, which Samuel Penhallow was entitled to use, were Vert, a coney argent, and the name of Samuel Penhallow is found in the list of the very few early settlers of New England who were recognized as armigerous by the late William Sumner Appleton, A.M., LL.B., in his article published in the Register in 1891.§

Samuel[1] Penhallow in his youth studied at Newington Green with Rev. Charles Morton, who emigrated to the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1686, to take the church at Charlestown: with his father's consent Samuel accompanied him, joined the church in Charlestown 27 December 1686, and soon after settled in Portsmouth, N. H., where on 1 July 1687 he married Mary Cutt, born at Portsmouth

*Cf. Vivian's Visitations of Cornwall, pp. 360-361, and Pearce W. Penhallow's Penhallow Family. Penhallow in Cornwall, according to early maps, was about twenty miles southwest from Bodmin. St. Mabyn is a parish in Cornwall, about five miles northwest from Bodmin and about as far inland from the Bristol Channel.

17 November 1669, died 8 February 1713, daughter of John Cutt, first President of the Council of New Hampshire. Her mother was Hannah, daughter of Dr. Comfort Starr of Boston. Samuel Penhallow married secondly, 8 September 1714, Mrs. Abigail (Atkinson) (Winslow) Osborn, daughter of Theodore Atkinson and widow in turn of ——— Winslow and Dr. James Osborn of Boston. Samuel Penhallow held a number of important offices under the Provincial government: he was a member of the King's Provincial Council; Secretary, and for many years Treasurer, of the Province; Judge of the Superior Court in 1714, and Chief Justice from 1717 until his demise, 2 December 1726. He also wrote the "History of the Wars of New England with the Eastern Indians," first published in 1726. He had thirteen children by his first wife and one son by his second wife. His son Benjamin was of the Harvard Class of 1723 and died in 1725.*

John[2] Penhallow, born 13 January 1693, second son of Samuel and Mary (Cutt), became a merchant in Boston, a partner of John Watts, the firm trading with the West Indies, Madeira, and England. The partners made a settlement on Arrowsic, an island in Georgetown, in the Province of Maine, where shortly Watts died (in November 1717). In 1721 John Penhallow commanded the garrison at Arrowsic: he married Mrs. Elizabeth (Butler) Watts, born 25 May 1691, died 25 February 1736, daughter of Peter and Elizabeth (Brown) Butler and widow of his partner Watts, to whom she had borne two children. On account of his father's death he returned to Portsmouth, where he died 28 July 1735. By his wife Elizabeth he had three children.

John[3] Penhallow, the second son of John and Elizabeth (Butler) (Watts) Penhallow, married first Sarah, daughter of Hunking and Elizabeth (Wibird) Wentworth of Portsmouth, by whom he had eleven children; and secondly Anne, who died s.p. 28 October 1808, daughter of Jacob and Sarah (Oliver) Wendell of Boston. He was a merchant in Portsmouth, and died 13 March 1809. His fourth son, John, graduated from Harvard College in 1777, and died in 1838.

Hunking[4] Penhallow, born 3 November 1766, died 24 September 1826, the sixth son and tenth child of John and Sarah (Wentworth) Penhallow, was a shipmaster in early life, but later became a merchant and banker in Portsmouth. He was a member at various times of the House of Representatives, the Senate, and the Council of New Hampshire. He married Mrs. Harriet (Pearce) Scott, born 28 March 1780, daughter of Capt. David and Bethiah (Ingersoll) Pearce of Gloucester, Mass., and widow of John Scott, to whom she had borne one daughter. To Hunking Penhallow she bore four sons and two daughters.

Pearce Wentworth[5] Penhallow, born at Portsmouth 27 February 1817, the sixth and youngest child of Hunking and Harriet (Pearce) (Scott) Penhallow, like his father began life as a shipmaster. He married, 16 October 1845, Elizabeth Warner Pitts Sherburne, born at Portsmouth 17 March 1823, daughter of John Nathaniel and Eveline (Blunt) Sherburne of Portsmouth, whose immigrant Sherburne ancestor came to New England in 1630 and later, with a party of seventy, occupied land on the Piscataqua. In the latter part of his life Captain Penhallow became engaged in the insurance business, for four years in Liverpool, England, and after 1868 in Boston, where he died 9 December 1885. He was elected a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society 1 May 1878: his memoir appears in the REGISTER, vol. 40, page 220 (April 1886). He communicated to the REGISTER for January 1878 (vol. 32, pages 21–35) extracts from the letter-book of John[2] Penhallow and a memoir of the Penhallow family, which were reprinted in separate form and in 1885 were published in a revised and enlarged edition under the title of "The Penhallow Family." He had four sons.

Charles Sherburne[6] Penhallow, the subject of this memoir, the third son of Pearce Wentworth and Elizabeth Warner Pitts (Sherburne) Penhallow, passed his early life in Portsmouth; but in 1864, his father's business calling him to Liverpool, England, he accompanied him, and for four years attended Liverpool College. Returning to Boston in 1868, he attended William Brooks's school, and was admitted to Harvard College in June 1870. During his four years of undergraduate life he was much esteemed, by professors and classmates alike, for his manly character, his geniality, his keen sense of humor, and his warm-heartedness. Intending to enter upon a business life, after receiving his degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1874 he was for two years in the banking house of Lee, Higginson & Company in Boston, and later he was for a time associated with S. Dacre Bush in the cotton business. In 1879 he became the private secretary of J. Montgomery Sears, and after Mr. Sears's death in 1905 he was given charge of the large and varied interests of his estate. But aside from these onerous duties and other real estate interests he found time to serve his fellow men in many ways: he was a trustee and the treasurer of the Pomfret (Conn.) School for Boys from its incorporation in 1898; treasurer of the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Wars for fifteen years; vice president and trustee of the Faulkner Hospital in Jamaica Plain; treasurer for several years of "A Republican Institution in the Town of Boston;" and from 1912 until his death he served as secretary of his Harvard Class of 1874. His clubs were the Harvard and Union Clubs of Boston.

In the New England Historic Genealogical Society Mr. Penhallow was appointed several times to be one of the two auditors to audit the Treasurer's accounts, and he performed this duty for a number of years up to 1917. On 1 February 1905 he was appointed Chairman of the Committee on English Research, and he held this position, by successive annual appointments, for thirteen years, being relieved at his own request at a meeting of the Council, 6 March 1918. At that meeting it was unanimously Voted, That the Council, in acceding to the request of Mr. Charles Sherburne Penhallow to be relieved from his duties as chairman and member of the Committee on English Research, desires to express to Mr. Penhallow its thanks for his many years of faithful service as chairman of the Committee and custodian of its funds, and its regret that he now feels obliged to withdraw from the Committee.

Under Mr. Penhallow's leadership the Committee on English Research was very successful in securing from members of the Society and other friends of its work money for the prosecution in England of researches in regard to the ancestry of early settlers in New England. The Council from time to time appropriated small sums for this purpose; but the greater part of the funds expended by the Committee was obtained by general or individual appeals for contributions, and these funds were administered carefully and faithfully by the Chairman of the Committee. The results of the research work were published quarterly in the pages of the REGISTER.

At the annual meeting of the Society, 5 February 1919, Mr. Penhallow was elected Councillor for the three years ending in February 1922; but his health was such that he was unable to attend any meetings of the Council, and in a letter dated 3 September 1919 he tendered his resignation. The resignation was laid before the Society at the stated meeting of 1 October 1919: whereupon it was Voted, That the Society has learned with great regret that Mr. Charles Sherburne Penhallow finds it impossible to remain longer as a member of the Council, and that it enters on its records at this time its appreciation of Mr. Penhallow's faithful services to the Society, especially as Chairman of the Committee on English Research for thirteen years (1905–1917).

Mr. Penhallow married first, in Washington, D. C., 18 April 1881, Mary King Coffin, daughter of John Huntington Crane and Louise (Harrison) Coffin: they made their home at Jamaica Plain, Boston, and had a summer home at Magnolia, Mass.: their children were

i. Charles Sherburne,[7] A.B. (Harvard, 1903), born 25 February 1882.
ii. Helen Olcott, born 4 July 1883.
iii. Eveline Blunt, born 16 March 1885; married 17 June 1907 Arthur Francis Nazro, A.B. (Harvard, 1903); children: Arthur P., born 13 March 1908, and Thomas W., born 5 May 1912.
iv. Pearce Wentworth, born 20 May 1888; died 3 August 1889.
v. Louise Harrison, born 31 May 1890; died 20 March 1918.
vi. Mary Warner, born 12 August 1891.
vii. John Huntington Coffin, born 6 October 1894; affiliated with the Harvard Class of 1916; served with distinction, as sergeant and as second lieutenant, in the American Expeditionary Forces in France in the World War.

After the death of his wife, 8 June 1902, Mr. Penhallow continued to live with his children at Jamaica Plain and Magnolia: on 21 July 1910, at Beverly, Mass., he married secondly Jane Smith Porter, who survives him.

On Commencement Day, 1921, Mr. Penhallow presided at the annual meeting of his Harvard class: ten days later, 3 July, at his summer home in Magnolia, where he loved his garden and his trees, he suddenly succumbed to the affection which for several years had impaired his health. He had lived a very busy and a very useful life, he was faithful to his many and important duties: in the brief time accorded him after his last commencement he took pains to prepare the financial and statistical records of his class, which he knew he alone could write. And all through his career of usefulness to his fellow men he maintained a gentleman's kindness and courtesy, which endeared him to all his associates. In St. John's Church in Jamaica Plain, of which he had long been a vestryman, the Order for the Burial of the Dead was read over his earthly tenement: who can doubt that this good and faithful servant has entered into the joy of his Lord?

REV. NOAH BARRELL'S RECORD OF MARRIAGES, 1823–1874

Communicated by GEORGE MORTON BARRELL of Gloucester, Mass.

THE following records have been abridged from the records kept by Rev. Noah[7] Barrell (Colburn,[6] Colburn,[5] William,[4] William,[3] John,[2] George[1] of Boston, Mass.) of the marriages solemnized by him during the years 1823–1874.

Noah Barrell was born at Hartford, Washington Co., N. Y., 5 May 1794,* became a Baptist minister, and died at Geneva, Walworth Co., Wis., 16 Apr. 1875. Of the 253 marriages solemnized by him, the first 153 (in the years 1823–1848) and a later one (in 1849) took place in seven different counties in northern and central New York, viz., in Jefferson, St. Lawrence, Genesee, Cayuga, Ontario, Wayne, and Steuben Counties, the following 37 (in the years 1849–1856), except one in 1849 in Steuben Co., N. Y., were celebrated in three different counties (Geauga, Ashtabula, and Medina) in northeastern Ohio, and the remaining 63 (in the years 1857–1874), except one in 1869 in Lee Co., Ill., were performed in Walworth and Racine Counties, in southeastern Wisconsin.

In preparing these records for publication the words "Married" or "Marriage solemnized by me," with which most of the entries begin, have been omitted, dates have been given with the usual abbreviations, and the name "Noah Barrell," which is appended to almost every marriage record, has also been omitted, except where it is preceded or followed by a title or descriptive phrase, such as "Rev." or "Pastor of Baptist Church." In almost every entry the minister stated the amount of his fee, which has been omitted in the printed abridgement — in many cases only $1.00, in some cases $1.50, $2.00, $3.00, or other small sums, in about thirty cases $5.00, and in two cases $10.00. The larger fees, $5.00 and $10.00, were received for the most part from the later marriages, solemnized in Wisconsin. The word "County" of the original record has been regularly abbreviated to "Co.," the customary abbreviations have been used for the names of States, and the punctuation has been revised.

Butter

Through the courtesy of Hon. Frederick Samuel Fish, A.B., of South Bend, Ind., the Committee on English Research was enabled to communicate to the Register of January, 1919 (vol. 73, pages 19–32), records and a pedigree showing the English ancestry, for two generations, of John Coggeshall, one of the founders of Rhode Island and the first president of that Colony. To the present issue of the Register the Chairman of the Committee contributes the following records collected by him in England and a pedigree compiled by him, which establish the English home and ancestry, for three generations, of Anne Butter, wife of John Coggeshall the Younger of Halstead, co. Essex, gentleman, and mother of President John Coggeshall of Rhode Island.

Monday after St. Martin the Bishop,† 21 Henry VIII [1529].‡ Thomas Botour, juror. (m. 38.)

Monday in the Feast of St. Edmund, King and Martyr,§ 23 Henry VIII [1531]. Surrender by John Copyn and Agnes, his wife, of three roods

*Preserved, with other court rolls, in the Public Record Office, London. Sometimes what is substantially the same entry is found on more than one roll. In such a case only the entry giving the most information is printed, except in a few cases where considerable variations in the different texts of an entry justify the printing of more than one text.

There were two manors in Dedham, one known as Dedham Manor and the other as the Manor of Over Hall and Nether Hall. The mansion house of Dedham Manor, called Dedham Hall, stood near the parish church, but was taken down before 1836. Over Hall and Nether Hall were in remote times two distinct manors, but they were united at an early period and belonged to a family named De Dedham and later to the nunnery of Campesse or Campesey, in Suffolk. On the dissolution of the religious houses King Henry VIII granted the Manor of Over Hall and Nether Hall to Humphrey Wingfield; in 1587 Thomas Seckford died in possession of it; his son and heir, Charles, succeeded him and died in 1591; and Charles Seckford was succeeded in turn by his son Thomas. Afterwards the manor passed to the family of Watkinson. The manor house of Over Hall stood in a field near the road to Langham. Nether Hall was in 1836 only a cottage, on Princely Green, where the court was opened. Cf. Wright's History of the County of Essex, vol. 1, pp. 454–455 (1836).

30 September 1589. Perse Butter surrendered all his tenement called Skultens, with seven acres of land, to the use of John Darby and his heirs for ever. He also surrendered on 20 May 1589 half an acre of land lying against the parsonage barn in Dedham Hall field to the use of John Went, on payment of 40s. (fo. 11.)

[1589 (?). List of Tenants (?):] William Butter the Elder, Richard Butter, Thomas Butter, Perce Butter. (fo. 29.)

20 March, 32 Elizabeth [1589/90]. William Butter surrenders the tenement in which he lives and four acres of land belonging to the same to the use of himself and his wife Marion, for life, with remainder to Pertius Butter, for life, with remainder to William, son of Pertius. (fo. 23.)

30 September 1590. William Butter, tenant of this manor, since the last court surrendered the house wherein he now dwells and four acres of land to the use, after the decease of the said William, of his son Pierce Butter, and after his decease to William Butter, his son, and his issue, and in default to his brother Pierce Butter. (fo. 58.)

4 August, 34 Elizabeth [1592]. Perse Butter since the last court surrendered the tenement he lately had of Thomas Bull in Dedham to the use of his wife Thomasine for life, with remainder to his heirs. (fo. 98.)

2 October 1594. William Butter is commanded to scour his ditch at the end of the field, late Barkers Field, before Christmas next. (fo. 138 d.)

2 October 1595. It is presented that William Butter, tenant of this manor, died since the last court, and surrendered all his lands before his death to the uses of his will (fo. 178), excepting only an acre called Waye acre, in Dedham Hall Field, against his meadow called Woodmeadow, whereof he died seised, and we find Richard Butter [to be] his youngest son and next heir according to the custom of the manor. (fo. 180.)

1 October 1596. Perce Butter to scour his ditch. (fo. 187.) Widow Butter to scour her ditch against Thomas Butter and the lane going on to the heath. (fo. 191 d.) Richard Butter surrendered an acre of land in Hall Field, called Waye Acre, to the use of Henry Creeke and his heirs for ever. (fo. 197.)

2 October 1598. Pearse Butter presented for not scouring his ditch nor made his holme at the end of the West Field, and fined 6s. 8d., and he is to do so before Christmas, under pain of 6s. 8d. (fo. 216.)

From Chancery Proceedings*

May 1595. Complaint of Pierce Butter of Dedham, co. Essex. Whereas your orator, with one William Butter, his late father, deceased, did become bound by their obligation for £400, in a bond dated 27 August, 27 Elizabeth [1585], unto John Barnes als Baron of Roxwell, in the said county, for the use and behoof of one Thomas Butter, second son of the said William Butter, with the proviso that the said William Butter, his heirs or assigns, should, before the Feast of All Saints† next coming after the date of the said bond, assign all these parcels of customary and copyhold lands and tenements hereinafter expressed, that is to say, four acres of meadow in Barbor's meade, of the yearly value of £4, three acres of meadow in the meade called Syx acres, worth £3 yearly, twenty acres of meadow in Nouse meadow and Coldmede, worth 30s., two tenements, with appurtenances, called Bartlette and Hassell's, worth £3, and twelve acres of wood in Frost's grove, worth 40s., amounting in all to £13. 10s. by the year, to the use and behoof of the said Thomas Butter and Elizabeth Crushe, one of the daughters and coheiresses of Robert Crushe, late of Roxwell, co. Essex, deceased, and to the heirs of these two, lawfully begotten, and in default of the same to the heirs and assigns of the said Thomas Butter for ever, to enter and have the said land, meadows, etc., for the term of seven years next after the marriage then to be solemnized between the said Thomas and Elizabeth or immediately after the decease of the said William Butter, whichever should happen first, as by said obligation may more at large appear, and whereas also the said William Butter did before the said Feast of All Saints convey and assign all the said premises, except it were the twelve acres of wood, unto the said Thomas and Elizabeth, according to the said condition, the which, if they were not conveyed within the compass of time limited for the performance and doing thereof, yet did your said orator's father shortly after, that is to say, before the Feast of Christmas next following, convey the twelve acres of wood unto the said Thomas and Elizabeth according to the condition, and the said Thomas Butter assented and agreed during all the lifetime of the said William Butter, the father, who lived above seven years after the intermarriage of the said Thomas and Elizabeth and did not treat it as a breach, and the said Thomas Butter did after the decease of his said father peaceably and quietly enter into the said premises, and the said Thomas and Elizabeth did not suffer any loss from the failure to convey the said twelve acres of wood before the said Feast of All Saints, nevertheless the said John Barnes als Baron and the said Thomas Butter maintain unjustifiedly and against conscience to charge your said orator with the penalty of the said obligation, and have lately colluded together for the maintenance thereof against your said orator, and have commenced action on his bond before the Queen's Bench at Westminster against your said orator, or intend to commence the same in some other of Her Majesty's courts, for the recovery of £400 against the said orator, and the said Barnes als Baron and the said Thomas are like to prevail and get the penalty of the said obligation, contrary to all equity and good conscience, unless your Lordship's most favorable aid be herein speedily extended to the preventing thereof; wherefore your poor orator prays that the Queen's Majesty's most gracious writ of subpœna may issue to John Barnes als Baron and Thomas Butter, commanding them to appear before your Lordship, etc.

The Answer of THOMAS BUTTER, dated 5 January 1595 [1595/6], states that there was such a bond, dated 27 August 37 [sic] Elizabeth, that no proper feoffment was made, that before the twelve acres of wood were conveyed great waste was done, and that his father had promised to make it good but had neglected to do so, and by his will had devised and bequeathed the said lands to Richard Butter, brother of this defendant, and Ann Morfew, his sister.

The Answer of BARNES als BARON states substantially the same as the answer of Thomas Butter, and adds that he would never have consented to the marriage without the said bond.

The Replication of PEARCE BUTTER states that the answers are untrue, all or the most part of the lands in question having been surrendered according to the true meaning of the bond, and offers to make restitution for any wood cut. (Chancery Proceedings, Elizabeth, B. b. 17/47.)

24 July 1601. The Petition of WILLIAM BUTTER, executor of the last will and testament of Pierce Butter of Colchester [co. Essex], his father, represents that his father, about 40 Elizabeth [1597–8], made his will, and made the orator and Henry Sherman the Elder his executors, and died about this time in Colchester. Henry Sherman hath refused to act. The said Pierce Butter in his lifetime, i. e., on 19 November, 34 Elizabeth [1591], became bound to William Tomson for £600, to pay £400 to the children of John Thompson, deceased, i. e., to John Tompson and William Tomson, two of the sons of said John Tompson, deceased, to each of them £100, and to Ann, Elizabeth, Thomazin, and Sara Tomson £50 at a certain day already past. The £50 due to Thomazin was paid on the day appointed, but the £50 due to Ann was not so paid, because for one and a half years after said Pierce's death your orator could not obtain a sight of the will or learn whether he was executor or whether the said Pierce had made the said indenture, which was concealed from your orator by the sinister practice of William and Ann Tomson, in order to obtain the forfeit. When he learned thereof, your orator offered the £50 to William and Ann, and is willing and ready to pay it, but they refused and still refuse to receive it, and have confederated to obtain the forfeit, and your orator prays for a writ of subpœna against William and Ann Tomson.

The Answer of WILLIAM TOMSON states that, long before Pierce Butter made the recognizance, John Tomson by his will gave the said sums to his children, and made the defendant and Tomazin, his wife, the executors of his will, and, the defendant refusing to act, said Tomazin became the sole executor, and did intermarry with the said Pierce Butter, she having, as the defendant thinketh he shall prove, goods to the value of £1000 in the hands of the said Pierce Butter, and he gave a bond to pay the said legacies given by the said will to the children of the said John Tomson, his brother, and Pierce Butter made his will and made the orator and Henry Sherman his executors, and died about two years ago, and shortly after his death the said Sherman desired to take order with the defendants about their portions, as he knew their father had a great care of it as a matter of great weight, but the complainant would not agree, and so trifled with the said Sherman that he has refused to join as coexecutor. The complainant for a year and a half last past has not tendered the £50, although demanded and the complainant has often promised to pay. The defendant is suing on the recognizance at the request of the said Ann and her friends. Moreover, the will was not concealed from the complainant from any sinister purpose, and after a sight thereof he knew that he was executor. 27 June 1601. (Chancery Proceedings, Elizabeth, B. 27/51.)

From the foregoing records the following pedigree has been prepared.

1. THOMAS BUTTER, of Dedham, co. Essex, clothier, the testator of 1555, born probably about 1500, died between 20 Aug. and 15 Oct. 1555. He apparently married twice, the name of his first wife being unknown and his second wife being MARION ———, who was living 20 Aug. 1555.

He first appears at Dedham as a juror at a manor court held on the Monday after St. Martin the Bishop, 21 Henry VIII [1529], and on the Monday in the Feast of St. Edmund, King and Martyr, 23 Henry VIII [1531], he acquired three roods of meadow in Chaldewall, east of the river [the Stour]. He was often a juror in the manor courts at Dedham, and the court rolls show that he came to possess a good estate in copy lands. On 16 July, 29 Henry VIII [1537], at the manor court of Over and Nether Hall, Dedham, he is called a "native." His will shows that he was a prosperous clothier of Dedham at the time when the cloth trade of that town was at its height. Henry Sherman was one of the executors named in his will and was probably a relative or connection by marriage of Thomas Butter.*

Children, probably by first wife (order of births uncertain):

2. i. WILLIAM, b. perhaps about 1521.
   ii. A DAUGHTER, b. perhaps about 1523; d. before 20 Aug. 1555; m. ——— WULMAN, who was living 20 Aug. 1555. Two children, living and under twenty years of age 20 Aug. 1555.
   iii. JOHN, b. perhaps about 1525; living 12 Oct., 21 Elizabeth [1579].

*Henry Sherman was ancestor of the well-known Sherman family of Watertown, Mass., about whose English ancestry and connections much information is given in various volumes of the REGISTER.

Children: 1. John, living and of age 12 Oct. 1579. Probably other children, daughters (see will of Thomas Butter, 1555).

iv. ALICE, b. perhaps about 1527; living 3 and 4 Philip and Mary [1556–7]; m. before 20 Aug. 1555 CHRISTOPHER PERCYVALL, who was living 3 and 4 Philip and Mary [1556–7]. Children. 1. John, living and under twenty years of age 20 Aug. 1555. Probably others.

v. AGNES, b. perhaps about 1529; living 20 Aug. 1555; m. before that date ——— ROLFE.

vi. ALICE, "younger daughter," b. perhaps about 1530; living unm. 20 Aug. 1555.

vii. SIBELL, b. perhaps about 1531; living unm. 20 Aug. 1555.

viii. MARGARET, b. perhaps about 1532; living unm. 20 Aug. 1555.

Children, probably by second wife:

ix. FAITH, } unm. and under twenty-three years of age 20 Aug. 1555.
x. MARY, }

xi. GRACE, unm. and under twenty-three years of age 20 Aug. 1555; bur. at Dedham 4 Dec. 1567.

xii. ANN, unm. and under twenty-three years of age 20 Aug. 1555.

xiii. A CHILD, unborn on 20 Aug. 1555, when Thomas Butter made his will.

2. WILLIAM BUTTER (Thomas), of Dedham, co. Essex, clothier, the testator of 1593, born perhaps about 1521, was buried at Dedham 8 Nov. 1594. He married first ANN ———, who was buried at Dedham 22 Aug. 1563; and secondly, before 1567, MARION (———) WILLES, widow of ——— Willes,* by whom she had a son, Thomas, who was living 6 Oct. 1606, when she made him executor of her nuncupative will, which was proved 10 Nov. 1606.† Ann, the first wife of William Butter, may have been related to the Sherman family of Dedham, as Pierce Butter, her son, in his will made in Aug. 1599, mentions "my cousin Harry Sherman" and makes "my loving friend, Henrye Sherman the Elder," one of his executors.

William Butter was a juror at the manor court held 7 Oct., 2 and 3 Philip and Mary [1555], and at many subsequent manor courts, and was elected constable at a court held 9 Nov. 1559. Like his father, he appears to have been a wealthy and prosperous clothier and to have acquired a considerable estate in copy lands.‡

Children by first wife:

3. i. PIERCE, b. probably about 1550.

ii. THOMAS, b. probably about 1553; living 3 Oct. 1597, but apparently dead in Aug. 1599, when his brother Pierce made his will; m. between 27 Aug. and 30 Sept. 1585 ELIZABETH CRUSHE, dau. and coheiress of Robert Crushe, late of Roxwell, co. Essex, deceased. He was one of the defendants in the suit in Chancery brought by his brother, Pierce Butter, in May 1595. Children: 1. William, living 30 May 1593, when he is mentioned in his grandfather's will; d. before — Aug. 1599. 2. Samuel, living in Aug. 1599, when he is mentioned in the will of his uncle, Pierce Butter. 3. Daniel, bapt. at Dedham 1 June 1591; d. before — Aug. 1599. 4. Elizabeth, bapt. at Dedham

*Perhaps she had also been the wife of ——— Skinner. Vide infra, p. 294, footnote.—EDITOR.

†She had also a daughter, who married ——— Bossett and was apparently dead in 1606. —EDITOR.

‡In the will of William Littlebury of Dedham, co. Essex, dated 20 July 1571, William Butter of Dedham, clothier, and Peirs Butter, his son, were made, with several others, including some of the Shermans, Sparhawkes, and Upchers, trustees for certain purposes. See REGISTER, vol. 50, p. 133, or Waters's Genealogical Gleanings in England, vol. 2, p. 1124.—EDITOR.

19 June 1597; bur. there 11 Sept. 1598. Other daughters, some of them probably b. before Elizabeth.

iii. RICHARD, b. probably about 1555; living in Aug. 1599, when he is mentioned in the will of his brother Pierce. William and John Butter, beneficiaries in the will of John Butter (3, v) of Thorington, co. Essex, dated 26 Jan. 1624/5, who calls them his uncle's sons, were probably sons of this Richard Butter.

iv. EDWARD, b. probably about 1560; bur. at Dedham 11 Dec. 1568.

v. ALICE, bapt. at Dedham 8 Nov. 1562; living 16 Apr. 1645, when she is mentioned in the will of her niece, Anne (Butter) Coggeshall (3, iv); m. before 30 May 1593 ——— [probably JOHN] MORFEW, living 30 May 1593. They had a son and possibly other children.

Child by second wife:

vi. FRANCES, bapt. at Dedham 24 Feb. 1566/7; probably d. before 30 May 1593.

3. PIERCE BUTTER (William, Thomas), of Dedham and Colchester, co. Essex, clothier, the testator of 1599, born about 1550, died at Colchester between 27 Aug. and 3 Oct. 1599. He married first, at Dedham, 21 Feb. 1574/5, EDITH SKYNNER,* who was buried at Dedham 22 Apr. 1576; secondly ———; and thirdly, probably about 19 Nov., 34 Elizabeth [1591], and certainly before 4 Aug., 34 Elizabeth [1592], THOMASINE (———) TOMSON, who died before — Aug. 1599, widow of John Tomson, by whom she had children, John, William, Ann, Elizabeth, Thomazin, and Sara, all of whom were living — Aug. 1599, when their stepfather, Pierce Butter, mentions them in his will, and are named also in the Chancery suit of 24 July 1601.

Pierce Butter first appears on the manor court roll on 30 Mar., 15 Elizabeth [1573], and was often a juror in the manor court, his last appearance in that capacity being on 6 June, 41 Elizabeth [1599]. In the last years of his life he resided in Colchester, in the parish of St. James. His will disposes of a large estate, including considerable plate, and shows that he was a clothier of the most prosperous type.

Children by second wife:

i. WILLIAM, bapt. at Dedham 21 July 1579; bur. there 11 July 1612; m. at Dedham, 20 Dec. 1610, JUDYTH UPCHER. He was the plaintiff in the Chancery suit of 24 July 1601 against William Tomson and his niece, Ann Tomson. Child: 1. Judith, living unm. 26 Jan. 1624/5, when she is mentioned in the will of her uncle, John Butter of Thorington, co. Essex.

ii. PIERCE, bapt. at Dedham 17 Oct. 1581; living 26 Jan. 1624/5, when he is mentioned in the will of his brother, John Butter of Thorington, co. Essex.

iii. DANIEL, of Dedham, clothier, the testator of 1608/9, bapt. at Dedham 20 Nov. 1582; d. s.p. between 14 Mar. 1608/9 and 10 Nov. 1609.

iv. ANNE, the testatrix of 1645, b. probably about 1583; d. between 16 Apr. 1645 and 10 Nov. 1648; m. about 1600 JOHN COGGESHALL the Younger of Halstead, co. Essex, gentleman, b. 24 July and bapt. at Halstead 29 July 1576, bur. there 4 Aug. 1615. In her will,

*There seems to have been some other connection between the Butter family and the Skinner family besides the marriage of Pierce Butter and Edith Skynner. Elizabeth Skinner, daughter of Goodwife Butter, was buried at Dedham 19 July 1586, and Marion Butter, widow, in her nuncupative will declared 6 Oct. 1606, leaves wearing apparel and pewter to Elizabeth and Mary Skinner. Marion Butter may have been married twice, to ——— Skinner and to ——— Willes, before her marriage to William Butter; and Pierce Butter may have married as his first wife his stepmother's daughter.—EDITOR.

dated 16 Apr. 1645, she calls herself Anne Coggeshall of Castle Hedingham, co. Essex, widow. For John and Anne (Butter) Coggeshall and their three children, John (one of the founders of Rhode Island and the first President of that Colony), Anne, and Katherine, see REGISTER, vol. 73, pp. 29 et seq.

v. JOHN, of Thorington, co. Essex, yeoman, the testator of 1624/5, bapt. at Dedham 11 May 1585; d. s.p. between 26 Jan. 1624/5 and — May 1626; m. MARGARET ———, who was living in May 1626, when as executrix she proved her husband's will.

vi. JAMES, b. probably about 1587; living 26 Jan. 1624/5, when he is mentioned in the will of his brother, John Butter of Thorington, co. Essex. His father devised to him in his will lands and houses in Much Okeley [Great Oakley], co. Essex.

Child by third wife:

vii. MARY, b. probably about 1592; d. apparently before 26 Jan. 1624/5, when her children are mentioned in the will of her brother, John Butter of Thorington, co. Essex; m. ——— STOKES, who d. before 26 Jan. 1624/5. Children, living unm. 26 Jan. 1624/5: 1. Thomasin. 2. Mary. 3. A daughter.

ORIGIN OF THE DE GREYS OF OXFORDSHIRE

IN July and October, 1920, and January and April, 1921, the Committee on English Research communicated to the REGISTER (vol. 74, pages 231–237, 267–283, and vol. 75, pages 57–63, 129–142), under the heading "Gifford-Sargent," records collected and a pedigree prepared by the writer of this article, showing the descent of William Sargent, an early settler of Malden, Mass., through his grandmother, Margaret (Gifford) Sargent, from Osberne (or Osbert) Giffard, who came into England with the Conqueror, received extensive grants of land in co. Gloucester, and died about 1086. One of the Giffard ancestors of William Sargent was Osbert Giffard (REGISTER, vol. 75, pages 62–63), who died about 1237, fourth in descent from the Osberne of the Conquest. He married Isabel de Bokland or Bocland, daughter of Alan and Alice (Murdac) de Bokland and granddaughter of Ralph and Eva (de Grey) Murdac. It is the purpose of this article to set forth the descent of Eva (de Grey) Murdac, remote ancestress of William Sargent, from Anschetil de Grey, another contemporary of the Conqueror, and a Domesday tenant holding lands in Oxfordshire and Berkshire. The article does not attempt to clear up the relationship of all the various members of the De Grey family who appeared in Oxfordshire in the century immediately succeeding the Conquest, but it does purport to show one line of descent from Anschetil de Grey, the Domesday tenant, down to the reign of Henry III.

In the Norfolk Antiquarian Miscellany, vol. 3, page 1, there is an article on the Greys of Merton in Norfolk and of Cavendish in Suffolk. It includes a brief discussion of the Oxfordshire Greys and the well-known pedigree of the family compiled by the Somerset Glover, the most notorious of the Elizabethan pedigree-forgers. The most valuable thing in this article, so far as the Oxfordshire Greys are concerned, is the note upon their pedigree by Mr. Walter Rye, who in a few words shows that the immediate descendants of the Domesday tenant are in hopeless confusion. Since the year 1887, however, when this article was printed, the Oxford Historical Society has published the Eynsham Cartulary, an invaluable contribution to the early history and genealogy of that county, which, taken in conjunction with the Osney Cartulary and Abingdon Chronicle, makes it possible to deduce some further facts regarding the immediate family of Anschetil de Grey.

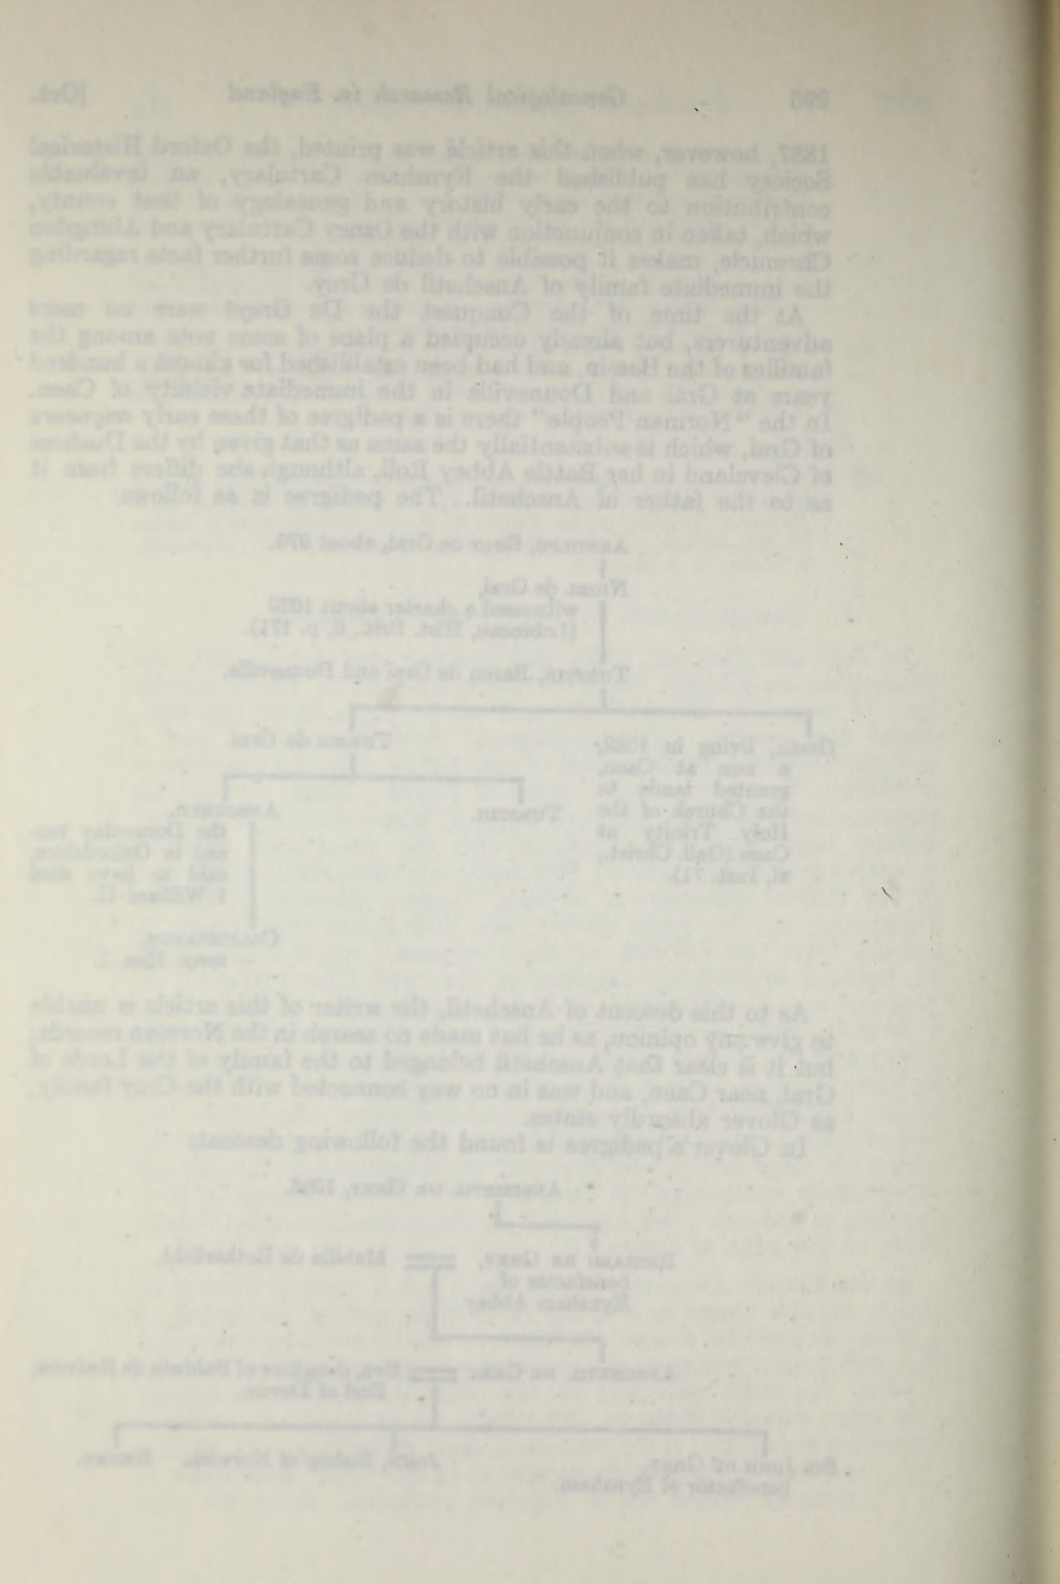

At the time of the Conquest the De Greys were no mere adventurers, but already occupied a place of some note among the families of the Bassin, and had been established for almost a hundred years at Grai and Douneville in the immediate vicinity of Caen. In the "Norman People" there is a pedigree of these early seigneurs of Grai, which is substantially the same as that given by the Duchess of Cleveland in her Battle Abbey Roll, although she differs from it as to the father of Anschetil. The pedigree is as follows:

As to this descent of Anschetil, the writer of this article is unable to give any opinion, as he has made no search in the Norman records; but it is clear that Anschetil belonged to the family of the Lords of Grai, near Caen, and was in no way connected with the Croy family, as Glover absurdly states.

In Glover's pedigree is found the following descent:

Glover then proceeds to deduce the various noble houses of the Greys from Henry, whom he gives as son of the second Anschetil. This pedigree is a cunning mixture of fact and impudent fiction. It is clear that Glover had seen the Cartularies of Eynsham and Abingdon, from which he took part of the pedigree, and then he deliberately added John, Bishop of Norwich, and Henry de Grey as the sons of the younger Anschetil, without the slightest authority therefor.

Now what are the facts? Anschetil, the Domesday tenant of Oxfordshire and Berkshire, was the undoubted ancestor of the De Greys in England, and his Domesday holdings were as follows:

In Oxfordshire Anschetil held of the Count [William Fitz Osbern] Redrefeld [Rotherfield], containing five hides; in Burton he held two hides, in Redreford three hides, in Nevtone four hides. He also held Widelie, where there were two hides; in Bristelmestone he held six hides, and in Cornewell he held two hides. In Cestitone [Chesterton] he held three hides of the fee of Bayeux.

In Berkshire he held lands of the Abbey of Abingdon as follows: In Comenore [Cumnor] he held five hides of the abbot. These Norman held in King Edward's time; it was one manor called Seuacorde [Seacourt]. In Bertune [Barton] Anschetil and Gilbert held ten hides of the abbot. In Mercheham he held one hide. In Benham he held two hides of Humfrey vis de Lew.

The Abingdon Chronicle shows that he also held land in Sparsholt, which the Abbey claimed by gift of Goderic Cild, one of its members. When Anschetil incurred the displeasure of William Rufus, the King seized it, and it was restored to the Abbey by Henry I in 1105. (Round's Domesday in Berkshire, Victoria County Histories.)

Of the above property, the manors and hides that are of interest in this article are Rotherfield, Widelie, Cornewell, and Chesterton, as it is their subsequent reappearance that makes it possible to glean some information regarding the family.

The Abingdon Chronicle (vol. 2, page 17) states that in 2 William II [1088–9] the men of Seucurda broke the watercourse at Botley and that at that time Anschillus ruled. The Chronicle further relates that, in the time of William Rufus, Anskillus, "one of the great men of the time," who held Sevecurda and Sparsholt, part of Bayworth, and a hide at Mercham, incurred the King's anger and was imprisoned by him. He died in a few days, his wife was excluded from his house, and his son William was deprived of his inheritance. It is also stated that Anskillus had held Sparsholt of the Abbot Rainald by service of one knight. The king gave Sparsholt to Thurstinus, his steward, etc. (Ib., vol. 2, pages 36, 125.) It is, therefore, clear that Anschetil died between 1088–9 and 1100, and that he had a son, William.

On 7 Mar. 1104 Abbot Faritius of Abingdon and Anskitillus, his man, of Tadmerton executed a deed, whereby Anskitillus and his son Robert surrendered lands in Tadmerton in exchange for lands in Chesterton. This exchange was confirmed by Henry, Earl of Warwick, who died 20 June 1123, and Anskitillus was a witness of the confirmation; while in 8 Henry I (1107–8) Robert, son of Anskitillus, was witness of a charter of Robert, Earl of Mellent. As Chesterton was held by the original Anskitillus, Anschetil of the charter of 1104 was probably a son of the Domesday tenant.

On Whitsunday [13 May], 1106, Richard, Earl of Chester, granted lands in Woodmundslea to the Abbot of Abingdon, and among the witnesses was William Fitz Anskitillus. Richard was seven years old on 27 July 1101, when his father Hugh died, so that, if this grant is genuine, he was still a minor when it was made. And in an undated agreement of the reign of Henry I between Abbot Vincent and the King's steward, Simon, "Anskitillus, the Sheriff," appears as a witness. These items would seem to refer to the two sons of the Domesday tenant.

We now turn to the Eynsham Cartulary, to the confirmation by King Henry I to the monks of all their lands, dated 25 Dec. 1109 [10 Henry I]. In it we find the following sentence:

"Ricardus de Graio misit unum filium suum in eodem monasterio et cum eo decimam de Daerneford et de Wideli et de Cornewella. Omnium scilicet illorumque ad easdem Villas pertinent, tam de annona quam de lana et caseis et de ceteris pecunis."

Anschetil de Grai and his brother William witnessed a charter of Robert de Oily II, made about 1130–1142. Anschetil de Grey gave the Eynsham monks a meadow in Stanlak called Langehurst and one called Wdefordhurst, and his son and heir, John, consented. The charter was witnessed by Manasser Arsic, Hugo de Chesney, Nigel the deacon, William the clerk, and Aubrey Arsic. This charter was made before the death of Hugo de Chesney, which happened before 1166, and William, the clerk, witnessed a charter about 1160, so that this charter is dated about 1150 to 1160. John de Grey confirmed this gift, and added to it the meadow called Chettuchesham sometime before 1192, when Ralph Murdac held Stanlak.

Ralph Murdac, who married Eva de Grey, about 1192 gave the monks his rights in Clifton Mill and his mill of Broughton, and provided that, if he and his heirs could not warrant it and his wife Eva and he had issue, then they should have lands from his manors of Rotherfield or Stanlac.

Ralph Murdac died between 1194 and 1198 (Eynsham Cartulary, vol. 1, page 420), and in the latter year his widow Eva had remarried Andrew de Beauchamp. At her death, about 1242, Eva held two carucates and £17. 17s. 3d. in rents and customs in Stanlac, and in Derneford she held three carucates of land, etc., of Baldwin, sometime Earl of Devon. At her death in 31 Henry III [1246–7] Alice Murdac, her daughter, held 60s. rent in Derneford, which passed to her grandson and heir, Osbert Gifford.

Stephen de Ponsold and Alice his wife, daughter of Thomas de Grey, gave the monks of Eynsham the church of Cornewell (1151–1173), and in the autumn of 1201 the Abbot of Eynsham quitclaimed this church to Alice de Grey. (Abb. Plac., page 32.)

Turning now to the Osney Cartulary, it is found that William, brother of Ascetillus, and William de Chesney witnessed a confirmation of Robert de Oyley III, son of Henry de Oyley I. As Henry de Oyley died in the autumn of 1163, this confirmation is after this date, and as William de Chesney died before 1170, this charter would seem to have been made between 1163 and 1170.

Hawysia de Grey, with the consent of her son, Robert, granted to Osney Abbey the church of Cornewell, for the soul of her brother, John de Grey, late Bishop of Norwich. This grant was witnessed by Walter de Grey, Bishop of Worcester, her son. John, Bishop of Norwich, died in 1214, and Walter de Grey was made Bishop of Worcester on 20 Jan. 1214/15 and Archbishop of York on 18 June 1215. Therefore this charter must have been given between 18 Jan. 1214/15 and 18 June 1215.

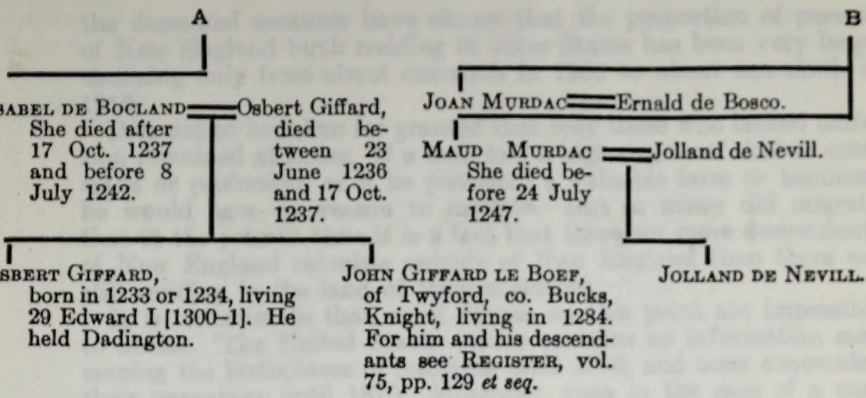

There is one more entry of interest, that in the Liber Niger, which gives Robert de Grey as holding Rotherfield.

Turning now to an analysis of the above evidence, it seems clear that Anschetil, the Domesday tenant, had a son William, who was living on 13 May 1106. He also seems to have had a son Anschetil, who was holding lands in Tadmeston on 7 Mar. 1104 and who had a son Robert, apparently of age at this date. Now Anschetil of the Domesday must have had still another son, Richard, who prior to 25 Dec. 1109 granted lands in Widelie, Cornewell, and Derneford to the Eynsham monks, because Widelie and Cornewell were both held by Anschetil in 1086. This Richard must in turn have been the father of the Anschetil de Grey who gave lands in Stanlac to the monks, because we find his granddaughter, Eva de Grey, the wife of Ralph Murdac, holding lands in Derneford which passed to her daughter Alice Murdac, the grandmother of Osbert Giffard. So far as this particular line of the Greys is concerned, the pedigree seems fairly well proven, as the Derneford lands held by Richard can be traced down through the heiress of this branch of the family to the Murdacs and eventually to the Giffards.

The difficulties arise when it comes to tracing the descent of Cornewell and Rotherfield. It seems reasonable to suppose that Richard de Grey also held Rotherfield, because we find that Ralph Murdac, who married his great-granddaughter, was holding in Rotherfield jure uxoris, but it does not appear to have passed to his heirs. The Robert de Grey who held it in the Liber Niger was probably a son of Richard and died without issue, whereupon the manor passed to his relatives. Thomas de Grey was probably another son of Richard, who, as appears from the Eynsham charter of 1109, was holding Cornewell at this date, because Alice de Ponsold, daughter of Thomas, was the heiress of Cornewell. This Alice received Cornewell back in 1202, and in 1215 Hawise de Grey, sister of John, Bishop of Norwich, and mother of Archbishop Walter, granted it away. This Hawise was surely the mother of Walter the Archbishop. Accordingly the following pedigree of the family is herewith presented, to bring out the above points.

ANSCHETIL DE GREY, a Domesday tenant, living 2 William II [1088–9]. died before 1100. He held Rotherfield, Widelie, and lands in Burton, Redreford, Cornewell, and Cestitone, co. Oxford. He held also lands in Comenore and Seuacorde, co. Berks.
COLUMBANUS DE GRAI, living temp. Henry I.
WILLIAM, living 13 May 1106.
RICHARD DE GRAI. Prior to 25 Dec. 1109 he gave the monks of Eynsham lands in Derneford, Widelie, and Cornewell.
ANSCHETIL, living in Mar. 1104, when he exchanged lands in Tadmerton for lands in Chesterton.
ANSCHETIL DE GREY. He witnessed a charter in 1130–1140, and gave lands at Stanlac to the monks of Eynsham in 1150–1160.
WILLIAM. He witnessed a charter with his brother in 1130–1140.
THOMAS DE GREY.
ROBERT, witnessed a charter in 1107–8, perhaps the Robert de Grey who held Rotherfield according to the Liber Niger.
ALICE
Stephen de Ponsold. They gave in 1161–1173 Cornewell Church to the monks of Eynsham, who returned it to Alice in 1201.
JOHN DE GREY. He confirmed lands at Stanlac to the Eynsham monks before 1192.
JOHN DE GREY, Bishop of Norwich, died 1214.
—— DE GREY
Helwise. She gave Cornewell Church to the monks of Osney in 1215.
Ralph Murdac of Broughton, died before 1198. He held lands in Stanlac and Rotherfield, jure uxoris.

THE EXPANSION OF NEW ENGLAND

By Rufus Stickney Tucker, Ph.D., of Cambridge, Mass.

The prominence of natives of New England in the early history of our country has brought it about as a natural reaction that contemporary observers, both natives of these States and outsiders, have developed a tendency to belittle the importance of New Englanders at the present time. Much has been said of the decline in enterprise and sturdiness of character among the descendants of the Puritans, and the lessening number of inhabitants of New England who can claim Colonial ancestry is adduced as evidence of racial decay, physical or moral. Such observations leave out of account the fact that the race of New Englanders did not cease pioneering when they had settled the six northeastern States, but have continued to pioneer to the present day, with the result that they form a large and active element in nearly every State of the Union, except those in which negro slavery formerly prevailed. When the free land of New England was occupied and the towns sufficiently supplied with professional men and skilled laborers, the intelligent Yankee would not consent to enter unskilled employment that offered no hope for advancement. That work he left for the incoming hordes of Europeans and French Canadians, preferring to hew out a new home for himself in the wilderness, where the life might be harder but the chances of attaining a comfortable estate and a respectable place in society were much greater. Another motive for emigration was the opening-up of fertile lands in the West by means of canals and railroads, which made it possible to market agricultural products at such low prices that the rocky hillsides of New England could not compete. Very likely the substitution of manufactures for mercantile shipping, as a result of the Nation's tariff policy, worked to the same end, for seafaring men do not enjoy factory air. In any case, the decennial censuses have shown that the proportion of persons of New England birth residing in other States has been very large, declining only from about one-sixth in 1850 to about one-ninth in 1910.

It is not to be taken for granted that only those who lacked ambition remained at home. If a man had a high degree of skill in some trade or profession, or if he possessed a valuable farm or business, he would have no reason to migrate. But so many did migrate that at the present time it is a fact that there are more descendants of New England colonists outside of New England than there are still residing in the land of their ancestors.

It is unfortunate that exact figures on this point are impossible to obtain. The United States census contains no information concerning the birthplaces of residents until 1850, and none concerning their parentage until 1870. Moreover, even in the case of a man recorded as being born in New England of native parents, it is not certain that his grandparents were not foreigners. Of course the nationality of a man's grandparents is a very poor criterion of his value as an American citizen; but, as this is an attempt to ascertain the growth in numbers of the descendants of Colonial New Englanders, such persons must be excluded, and on account of the nature of the statistical data they are excluded even if some of their grandparents were of the old stock. If, however, a man's ancestors were some from New England and some from other parts of the United States, he is not wholly excluded from these statistics, but is treated as a fraction of a man, according to the proportion of New England blood in him. As a result the following figures do not show the number of Americans who have some New England ancestors, but only a hypothetical number of pure-blooded descendants. On the basis of the census figures, by making a few reasonable assumptions, an estimate will be made showing first how many of the natives of New England in 1910 were descended from native whites residing there in 1850, then how many residents of other States in 1910 were descended from whites who were born in New England and were living either in New England or in the State under consideration in 1850, next how many of these native whites in 1850 were of Colonial New England ancestry, and finally how many others were descended from New England colonists.

In the United States in 1910 there were 2,777,111 native whites of native parentage who were born in New England. Their parents were the native whites recorded in the censuses from 1850 to 1890, but it is reasonable to suppose that the native whites recorded in 1880 best represent them. These can be divided into native whites of native parents and native whites of foreign parents (except in Maine, where it is necessary to use the 1890 proportions); and, on the assumption that the members of each class had the same number of children on the average, it can be stated that of the 2,777,111 native New Englanders just mentioned 2,123,000 had native grandparents. This is probably a safe assumption, for the native whites of native parentage are more apt to marry than those of foreign parentage, as is shown by every census from 1850 to date; and, although there may be fewer children born to each marriage, it is believed that in New England the number surviving to maturity is nearly if not quite as great. The Massachusetts census of 1905 showed that 79.1% of those with native parents had native grandparents also. According to this ratio the number would be 2,194,000. The distribution by States of origin is as follows:

TABLE I

State of Birth	Native Whites with Native Parents	Assumed Number with Native Grandparents
Maine	641,677	550,800
New Hampshire	268,762	238,900
Vermont	307,629	250,100
Massachusetts	1,022,140	697,100	(808,500*)
Rhode Island	152,520	103,600
Connecticut	394,383	282,800
New England	2,777,111	2,123,300

The grandparents of these persons were presumably living in New England at the time of the census of 1850.

The northern and western States also have many residents who were born in those States but whose parents came from New England. The only way to estimate the number of such persons is to take the reported number of white natives of a State, born of native parents, and prorate according to the proportion of persons of New England birth in the total native white population of the State in 1880. This is done in the following table (Table II), in which the third column gives the estimated number of persons in each State in 1910 who were of New England parentage, although not of New England birth.

TABLE II

Number of persons in the United States in 1910 who were descended from native whites born in New England and living in the United States in 1850, given in nearest thousands.

State	Born in New England	Parents born in New England	Grandparents born in New England
New York	93,000	96,000	123,000
New Jersey	21,300	10,000	4,000
Pennsylvania	16,600	27,000	35,000
Ohio	11,700	31,000	63,000

California	46,800	41,000	27,000

*On the basis of the Massachusetts census of 1905.

There were also many persons in these States whose parents were likewise natives of the State concerned, but whose grandparents were from New England. Their number is ascertained by multiplying the number reported in 1910 as born in the State, of native parents, by the percentage of native whites who were reported in 1880 as born in the State, and further multiplying by the percentage of native whites in each State in 1880 who had native parents and by the percentage of free residents in 1850 who were born in New England. The results are given in the fourth column of Table II.

Besides these classes, only one or two generations removed from New England, there are many other persons in the States between New England and the Mississippi whose ancestors migrated from New England. In New Jersey Puritans from Connecticut and Long Island (which was formerly a part of the Colony of Connecticut) were numerous as early as 1725. At the time of the Revolution New Englanders had settled in the Mohawk Valley and in northeastern Pennsylvania. Before 1800 they had poured into western New York and eastern Ohio. Northeastern Ohio was considered part of Connecticut until 1800, and the State of Massachusetts had the title to all the land of western New York. Michigan was largely settled by men from western New York, of New England origin. Any attempt to state the number of descendants of these pioneers must be largely based on guesswork, checked to a certain extent by the census of 1850. A fair guess is that in 1850 the proportion of native Americans residing in each State who were not born in New England but were of New England ancestry was in New York one-fourth, New Jersey one-tenth, Pennsylvania one-twentieth, Ohio one-sixth, Michigan three-tenths, Indiana one-tenth, Illinois one-sixth, Wisconsin one-third, and Iowa one-eighth. The other States were settled so recently that nearly all their residents who were born in New England are enumerated as such in some one of the censuses. It is within the bounds of probability that 1,020,000 of the persons enumerated as natives of other States in 1850 were of New England stock.

In 1850 there were in New England 2,395,000 whites, natives of the United States, of whom 2,325,000 or slightly less had been born in New England. There is no information in that census concerning their parentage, but it seems reasonable to assume that they were at least as largely native as the 866,000 native whites of native parentage living in these States and over forty years of age in 1890. On this assumption 94.4%, equivalent to 2,195,000 persons, were of the old stock. The true number of those with native parents was probably somewhat larger than this, for the native stock averaged some years older than the children of recent arrivals and was less apt to survive until 1890, and, moreover, the native stock was more apt to migrate to the West.

Of course some of these persons with native parents were not of Colonial descent. The number, however, was certainly not great. We have contemporary statements to the effect that as late as 1820 New England was the most American part of the country. Madison wrote in that year: "It is worth remarking that New England, which has sent out such a continued swarm to other parts of the Union for a number of years, has continued at the same time, as the census shows, to increase in population, although it is well known that it has received but comparatively few emigrants from any quarter."* In 1853 New Hampshire was mentioned as one of the States that had been least affected by immigration.† Moreover, the country as a whole received very few immigrants between 1775 and 1830. Of the native whites born before 1825 and still living in 1890, the proportion of foreign parentage was 5.5% in the whole country but only 2.3% in New England. On the whole we are justified in assuming that the number of natives of native parentage in New England in 1850 who were not of Colonial ancestry was not great enough to be taken into account, especially as it is almost certain that 94.4% is too low a percentage for those natives who had native parents. The figures in the second column of Table II are accordingly to be reduced by one-twentieth, but the third and fourth columns need not be changed.

Going back to the origin of those who were in New England at the time of the Revolution, the census of 1790 shows that 95% had English names and 3.5% Scotch names, with a few Irish, French, and Dutch. It was the belief of contemporaries that most of the immigration into New England took place before 1650, and that the marvellous growth of population between 1650 and 1800 was due almost wholly to the natural excess of births over deaths. Compare the words of Malthus on this point: "In the Northern states of America, where the means of subsistence have been more ample, the manners of the people more pure, and the checks to early marriages fewer than in any of the modern states of Europe, the population has been found to double itself, for above a century and a half successively, in less than each period of twenty-five years."‡ Washington, also, wrote of New England in 1796: "Their numbers are not augmented by foreign emigrants; yet, from their circumscribed limits, compact situation, and natural population, they are filling the western parts of the state of New York and the country on the Ohio with their own surplusage."§

The following table contains a brief summary of the growth in numbers of the descendants of white New England colonists, wherever found, from 1640 to the present time. The figures before 1790 are taken from the census publication entitled "A Century of Population Growth;" from 1790 to 1820 the census figures for New England are used without correction; all the others are estimates made as herein described.

TABLE III

Year	In New England	Outside New England	Total
1640	25,000
1688	75,000
1701	120,000
1749	385,000	15,000	400,000
1775	746,000	49,000	795,000
1790	993,000	78,000	1,071,000
1800	1,215,000	153,000	1,368,000
1810	1,451,000	367,000	1,818,000
1820	1,537,000	520,000	2,057,000
1830	1,886,000	692,000	2,578,000
1840	2,101,000	955,000	3,056,000
1850	2,195,000	1,502,000	3,697,000
1880	2,544,000	2,092,000	4,636,000
1910	2,017,000	1,968,000	3,985,000

In 1910 there were in the United States approximately 3,985,000 "persons" of Colonial New England descent. Of these, only 2,017,000 were in New England; this estimate is believed to be fairly close. The 1,968,000 put down for other states is a minimum number, as will be presently explained. Of these, 640,000 were in New York, 297,000 in Ohio, 198,000 in Pennsylvania, 159,000 in Illinois, 114,000 in Michigan, 112,000 in California, 87,000 in Indiana, 79,000 in Wisconsin, 68,000 in New Jersey, 63,000 in Minnesota, and 57,000 in Iowa, the rest being scattered.

These figures do not include, except in 1850, the important class of persons whose ancestors did not go directly from New England to the State where the descendant resided at the time of the census. For example, a man in Michigan whose parents were born in New York, but whose grandparents were from New England, is not counted, although if his parents had been born in either Michigan or New England, he would have been included. The estimated number of such cases in 1850 (persons born in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, and Wisconsin) is 297,000. It may be assumed that they numbered at least 500,000 in 1910.

Another group not represented in the accompanying tables comprises persons born in New England of New England ancestry, but whose immediate parents were born elsewhere. Still another omission is the very large group of persons of mixed New England and foreign descent, who probably numbered at least a million in 1910. Counting one-half of them, there are 500,000 more to add to the total given in the table. If these estimates are correct, it may be said that the 25,000 settlers of 1640 were in 1910 represented by 5,000,000 "statistical persons." It is absolutely impossible to state closely how many actual persons are numbered among their descendants; but it is almost certain that, besides the 500,000 half-foreigners just referred to, there were at least 4,000,000 partly of New England and partly of other American stock, who count for only about 1,000,000 in the tables. Hence it may perhaps be asserted that at least 8,500,000

Americans in 1910 could claim at least one ancestor who lived in New England before the Revolution.

In general the available statistics prove that the growth in numbers of the descendants of the early settlers of New England was amazingly fast until the War of 1812; that thereafter it continued at a rapid rate until 1840 in New England and until about 1880 in the rest of the country, except as interrupted by the Civil War; and that since 1880 the number of pure-blooded New Englanders has declined considerably, although the number of persons partly of New England blood has continued to increase and it is possible that the number of equivalent "statistical persons" has not declined. An adequate discussion of the causes and probable consequences of this cessation of growth would fill a good-sized book. If the previous rapid rate of growth has not continued, that is not very regrettable; if, however, an actual decline has set in, as may be the case, this foreshadows changes in the American nation which the descendants of the Puritans cannot contemplate without anxiety.

ANCESTRY OF GRACE (CHETWOOD) BULKELEY, SECOND WIFE OF REV. PETER BULKELEY

By Donald Lines Jacobus, M.A., of Mount Carmel, Conn.

Rev. Peter Bulkeley, the founder of Concord, Mass., was born at Odell (or Wodhull, as the parish is called in earlier times), Bedfordshire, England, 31 Jan. 1582/3.* His father, Edward Bulkeley, D.D., Rector of Odell, was buried there 5 Jan. 1620/1. Olive Bulkeley, presumably his mother (the name Olive occurs among his descendants), was buried there 10 March 1614/15.†

After completing his education at Saint John's College, Cambridge, he returned to Odell, and eventually succeeded his father as rector of that parish. He married first, at Goldington, Bedfordshire, 12 Apr. 1613,† Jane Allen, "the daughter," says Mather, "of Mr. Thomas Allen, of Goldington: a most vertuous gentlewoman, whose nephew was the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Thomas Allen." By her he had seven sons and two daughters (of whom two sons and a daughter died in childhood),† and not nine sons and two daughters, as Mather states. "After her death," to quote Mather again (she was buried at Odell 8 Dec. 1626†), "he lived eight years a widdower, and then married a vertuous daughter of Sir Richard Chitwood; by whom he had three sons, and one daughter." His second marriage, with Grace Chetwood, took place, apparently, in the latter half of 1634.

*All published accounts of the life of Rev. Peter Bulkeley, including an article entitled Some Account of the Life and Times of the Rev. Peter Bulkeley (Register, vol. 31, pp. 153–159), are based on Cotton Mather's Magnalia Christi Americana (London, 1702), section 3, chapter x. His ancestry is given in the Bulkeley pedigree in Register, vol. 23, p. 303. Other material relating to him may be found in Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 19, p. 164, the Non-Conformists' Memorial, edition of 1778, vol. 1, p. 505, and Harvey's History of Willey Hundred, p. 365.

†Vide Blaydes's Genealogia Bedfordiensis (London, 1890), pp. 220 et seq. The first marriage of Rev. Peter Bulkeley is given on p. 122 of this work.

His eldest son Edward having preceded him to New England, plans were made for getting the rest of the family out of England, and Rev. Peter Bulkeley sailed, 9 May 1635, on the Susan & Ellen, his age being given as 50 years. His wife Grace, aged 33, had sailed the day before on the *Elizabeth & Ann. The children, under assumed names, were apparently divided between the father and stepmother.

The later history of Rev. Peter Bulkeley, until his death on 9 Mar. 1658/9, and the record of his descendants may be found in various publications.

It is odd that the clues furnished by Cotton Mather's statement (over two hundred years ago) about the parentage of Grace (Chetwood) Bulkeley and by the verification of this parentage in the wills of Jane Chettwood and Elizabeth Nedham, which were published in the REGISTER and reprinted in Waters's "Genealogical Gleanings in England" (vide infra), have not hitherto been followed up. In this article, therefore, an attempt is made to collate and present to the readers of the REGISTER material derived from various printed sources (chiefly English) that supply information on the family connections and on a few of the ancestral lines of Rev. Peter Bulkeley's second wife.

Richard Chetwood, the paternal grandfather of Grace Chetwood, was the third son of Roger Chetwood of Reyse, co. Chester.† This Richard was of the privy chamber to King Edward VI and a captain of cavalry at the siege of Harrington.‡ He married Agnes, daughter and sole heiress of Anthony, Baron of Wodhull, co. Bedford, by his wife Anne, daughter of Sir John Smith, a baron of the exchequer.

The only son of this marriage was Sir Richard Chetwood, a minor in 1575/6, who became a member of the Inner Temple and about the year 1613 presented a petition to King James I claiming the ancient barony in fee of Wahull [i.e., Wodhull or Odell], as being "heir lineal and sole of his several ancestors who had been summoned to attend, and had attended, the king as barons."§ This claim was renewed by a descendant in 1739, again in 1831, and lastly in 1890, decision being finally rendered against the son of the last claimant, although the correctness of the descent was recognized. Sir Richard married first Jane, daughter and coheiress of Sir William Drewerie, by whom he had five children, namely, Richard (his heir), William (who died young), and three daughters; and he married secondly Dorothy, daughter of Robert Needham of Shenton, Shropshire, by whom he had four sons and seven daughters. The sons, in order of birth, were Robert, Thomas, John, and Tobias. The daughters, also in order of birth, were Frances, Mary, Dorothy, Jane, Grace, Abigail, and Beatrice.

Of these daughters, Frances is said (in the Chetwood pedigree referred to above) to have married George Reinsham of Temsford, co. Bedford; but against this may be set the record that on 16 Dec. 1619 "Mayster George Kimpson marryed with Mistres Frances Chitwood" at Odell.* Grace was born about 1602 (she was aged 33 in 1635), and married Rev. Peter Bulkeley. Beatrice was born 26 Feb. and baptized 5 Mar. 1608.* Jane died unmarried; in her will, dated 6 May 1643 and proved 4 Dec. 1648, she calls herself of West Helton, Shropshire, and mentions (with others) her brother Mr. Robert Chettwood, her sister Mrs. Backley in New England, her sister Clare [the surname of one of the married sisters, probably Dorothy or Beatrice], her sister Mary Chettwood, her sister Abigail Chettwood, and her niece Elizabeth Bray [her half sister Anne Chetwood was wife of Sir Giles Bray of Barington].†

Robert Needham, of Shenton, Shropshire, the maternal grandfather of Grace Chetwood, was son of Thomas Needham (who died in the lifetime of his father) by his wife Anne, daughter of Sir John Talbot of Grafton, and was grandson and heir of Sir Robert Needham, who was sheriff in 1529. Robert Needham was sheriff of the county in 1565, and married Frances, daughter of Sir Edward Aston of Tixall. The Visitation of Shropshire,‡ taken in 1623, when Robert Needham's son Sir Robert was still living, contains a Needham pedigree, which gives the foregoing particulars and assigns the following children to Robert and Frances (Aston) Needham:

i. Sir Robert, of Shenton, sheriff in 1607. [He was created Viscount Kilmorey in Ireland in 1625, and died in 1627. He was twice married, and was ancestor of the Earls of Kilmorey.]
ii. Thomas, second son, m. Mary Bagenhall, widow of Sir Robert Salisbury.
iii. Jane, m. (1) James Collyer of Stonne. [She m. (2) ——— Radcliffe.]
iv. Anne, m. Robert Powell of Parke.
v. Margery, m. (1) Thomas Onslow; m. (2) Sir Robert Vernon.
vi. Maud, m. John Aston of Aston.
vii. Elizabeth, died s. p.

That Dorothy Needham, second wife of Sir Richard Chetwood, although omitted from the Needham pedigree, was also a child of Robert and Frances (Aston) Needham is shown not only by the Chetwood pedigrees cited above but also by the will of Dorothy's sister Elizabeth Needham, of Hodnet, Shropshire, dated 3 Sept. 1616.§ This will mentions (besides many others) the brother of the testatrix, Sir Robert Nedham of Shavington, her brother-in-law Sir Robert Vernon of Hodnet and "my sister his wife," her brother-in-law Sir Richard Chitwood and "my sister Chitwoode," her nephews Robert and Thomas Chitwood, John, Tobie, Grace, Abigail, Dorothy, and Beatrice Chitwoode, her sister Jane Radcliffe, her nephew Francis Collier, her sister Powell, and her sister Mawde Aston.

It has been shown in the preceding paragraphs that Grace (Chetwood) Bulkeley was great-granddaughter of Thomas Needham of Shenton, Shropshire, by his wife Anne, daughter of Sir John Talbot of Grafton. Anne's parentage is thus stated in the Needham pedigree,‡ which was drawn in the lifetime of her grandson, Sir Robert Needham, afterwards Viscount Kilmorey, who ought to have known who his grandmother was.

The Talbots of Grafton, Worcs., were a younger branch of the Talbots, Earls of Shrewsbury; and upon the failure of the elder branches the Grafton branch succeeded to the title in the person of George Talbot of Grafton (born in 1567), who became the ninth Earl. All the works on the peerage state that Anne Talbot, sister of the ninth Earl of Shrewsbury, was the wife of Thomas Needham of Shenton. Now, since Anne Talbot was grandmother of Dorothy Needham, who must have been born in the neighborhood of 1570, it is apparent that Anne herself was born probably about 1510–1520; in other words, she could not have been sister of the ninth Earl of Shrewsbury, but belongs about two generations farther back in the Talbot pedigree.

It is true that the ninth Earl had a sister Anne, but the Visitation of Worcestershire in 1569* (amplified by later manuscripts) fails to assign a husband to her. The great-grandfather of the ninth Earl was Sir John Talbot of Albrighton, who late in life inherited Grafton and called himself "of Grafton" in his will, which was proved 11 Oct. 1549. His monument in Bromsgrove (where Grafton is situated) reads: "Hic jacent corpora Johannis Talbot, Militis, et dominæ Margaretæ primæ uxoris; atque dominæ Elizabethæ uxoris secundæ, filiæ Wrochelei Arm., qui quidem Johannes obiit decimo die Sept. A.D. 1550.† The Lady Margaret bore to him three sons and five daughters; and the Lady Elizabeth bore to him four sons and four daughters."‡

It is curious that the works on the peerage omit the daughters of this Sir John by his first wife, Margaret Troutbeck, although it is clear from the foregoing that he had five. Harleian MS. 1352, fo. 29b, with which the Visitation of Worcestershire is amplified, supplies the names of three of these five daughters, viz., Ann, Audrey, and Constance, and states that Audrey§ was "vx. Tho. Needham."

It is to be inferred, therefore, that the histories of the peerage are in error in identifying the wife of Thomas Needham with Anne Talbot, sister of the ninth Earl of Shrewsbury, since that lady was born much too late to be the wife of the Thomas Needham who appears in the Needham pedigree, and, moreover, no later Thomas Needham is available in that pedigree for the husband of this Anne. The conclusion seems warranted, on the evidence of Harleian MS. 1352, fo. 29b, strengthened by the chronological necessities of the case, that the wife of Thomas Needham was in reality a great-aunt of the Anne with whom she has been erroneously identified and a daughter of Sir John Talbot of Grafton (who died in 1549) by his first wife, Margaret Troutbeck. In passing, it may be observed that the wife of Thomas Needham had a son John and a daughter Margaret, who may well have been named for her parents, though the names were too common to have much significance in themselves.

Publications of the Harleian Society*, vol. 27, pp. 131–136.

†His inquisition post mortem states that he died 10 Sept. 1549, and the later date may be an error of Collins's Peerage.

‡Collins's Peerage (edition of 1812), vol. 3, p. 34.

§The discrepancy with regard to the Christian name of Thomas Needham's wife is not serious, for her grandmother Audrey Cotton, wife of Sir Gilbert Talbot, is called Anne in one manuscript and Audrey in another manuscript, quoted in this same Visitation.

It is not disputed, so far as the writer is aware, that the wife of Thomas Needham was a Talbot of Grafton, and therefore a descendant of the Earls of Shrewsbury. The only question is: Which Sir John Talbot was her father? Because of the interest which the numerous Bulkeley descendants may take in it, and for the purpose of evoking constructive criticism, the following tentative pedigree is appended, the generations being numbered in sequence:

I.* John Talbot, born in 1390; killed 20 July 1453; created Earl of Shrewsbury in 1442; married 12 Mar. 1406 Maud Nevill, Baroness Furnivall.

II. John Talbot, born in 1413; killed 10 July 1460; second Earl of Shrewsbury and Lord Chancellor of Ireland; married Elizabeth Butler, who died 8 Sept. 1473, daughter of James, fourth Earl of Ormonde.†

III. Sir Gilbert Talbot, a younger son, born perhaps about 1450; died 19 Sept. 1518; received for his seat Grafton, co. Worcester, and was Lord Deputy of Calais; married, as his second wife, Audrey Cotton of Landwade, co. Cambridge.

IV. Sir John Talbot, a younger son, born perhaps about 1485; died 10 Sept. 1549; was at first of Albrighton, Shropshire, but later inherited Grafton, his father's seat; married, as his first wife, Margaret, daughter of Adam Troutbeck. His great-grandson, George Talbot, eventually succeeded as ninth Earl of Shrewsbury.

V. Anne Talbot, born perhaps about 1515; married Thomas Needham of Shenton, Shropshire.‡

VI. Robert Needham, born perhaps about 1535; Sheriff in 1565; married Frances Aston.

VII. Dorothy Needham, born perhaps about 1570; married Sir Richard Chetwood.

VIII. Grace Chetwood, born about 1602; niece of the first Viscount Kilmorey and second cousin, once removed, of the ninth Earl of Shrewsbury; married in 1634 Rev. Peter Bulkeley.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country

*The earlier generations of this family may be found in the works on the British peerage. The Grafton branch of the Talbots is incompletely given in all these books, and presented with some errors in many of them, the earlier editions of Lodge's Peerage being particularly defective.

†He was great-grandson of James Butler, first Earl of Ormonde, by his wife Eleanor, daughter of Humphrey de Bohun, Earl of Hereford and Essex, by his wife Elizabeth, daughter of King Edward I.

‡Since writing this article, the compiler finds that Burke's Peerage (edition of 1921), under the heading Kilmorey (the Needham family), states: "Thomas Needham, of Shenton, m. Anne, dau. of Sir John Talbot, of Grafton and Albrighton, grandson of 1st earl of Shrewsbury." This statement confirms the view of Anne Talbot's parentage expressed above. Yet, under the heading Shrewsbury (the Talbot family), the same edition of Burke's Peerage places "Anne, who m. Thomas Needham, of Shenton" as sister of the ninth Earl of Shrewsbury and as great-granddaughter, instead of daughter, of Sir John Talbot "of Albrighton, Salop, and later of Grafton." The correct statement (under Kilmorey) was probably furnished by members of the Needham family; the incorrect statement (under Shrewsbury) was doubtless copied from Collins's Peerage and is still retained, despite the contradictions involved.

TRUSEDALE-BORDMAN-HIGGINSON. — The records printed below are written on some of the blank leaves in a copy of Gallen's "Almanack" for the year 1671. The little book is about 4⅞ inches high by about 2⅞ inches wide, and is bound in leather. Traces of the brass clasps that formerly held the covers together may be seen, and on the outside of the front cover are stamped the words, in two lines, "GALLEN 1671." The title-page, printed in red and black ink, reads as follows: "Gallen. 1671. A New Almanack for the said Year, Being the third from Leap-year. HUNTRESS-HUNT. — Administration on the estate of Samuel[3] Huntress of Newington, N. H., was granted 5 Aug. 1773 to Solomon[4] Huntress of Newington (Rockingham Probate Records). Solomon[4] Huntress married at Newmarket, N. H., 17 Mar. 1777, Lucy[5] Burleigh (town records; Burleigh Family, p. 21). In 1776 he was a soldier from Boscawen, N. H., in the Revolution (New Hampshire State Papers, vol. 14, p. 316). The "Burleigh Family" contains nothing further about Lucy[5] Burleigh or her children. There is no printed account of the Huntress Family.

The town clerk's records of Strafford, Vt., give the birth at Canterbury, N. H., 8 Feb. 1776, of Samuel[5] and Jacob,[5] twin sons of Solomon[4] and Lucy Huntress, of Anna,[5] 17 Jan. 1780, Abigail,[5] 22 Mar. 1783, and Solomon,[5] at Strafford, Vt., 28 Feb. 1794. They give also the births of children of Solomon and Lucy Hunt at Strafford as follows: John, 18 Sept. 1785, Lucy, 5 Aug. 1786, Mary, 15 Apr. 1788, Enoch and Burleigh, twins, 20 Jan. 1792, Joseph, 2 Dec. 1796, and Sarah, 2 June 1798.

From a record prepared as early as 1883 by Charlotte, daughter of Samuel[5] above mentioned, it appears that all the foregoing children were brothers and sisters. Yet, if she knew that her father was born Samuel Huntress, she failed to mention it.

The Census of 1790 contains Solomon Hunt of Strafford, Vt., with one male over 16 years, three under that age, and five females in his family.

It is thus apparent that Solomon[4] Huntress began to use the name Hunt as early as 1785, when the birth of his fifth child was recorded, and that he was entered in the census under this name in 1790, although his tenth child and namesake was recorded as Solomon, son of Solomon and Lucy Huntress, born 28 Feb. 1794. Their children and later descendants all used the name Hunt.

Historical Intelligence

Heraldry. — The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

Vital Records of Duxbury, Mass. — The New England Historic Genealogical Society will publish in the near future some pages containing additions to the volume entitled "Vital Records of Duxbury, Massachusetts, to the Year 1850," which was published by the Society in 1911, at the charge of the Eddy Town-Record Fund. A recent examination of the records in the office of the town clerk of Duxbury, made by the Assistant Editor of the Society, shows that two books, containing original records of births, marriages, and marriage intentions in the town of Duxbury, were not copied in 1906, when a verbatim copy of the records in the custody of the town clerk was made for the use of the Society in compiling the vital records of the town for publication. The report of Miss Alice L. Westgate, who was at that time an assistant in the editorial department of the Society and who verified this verbatim copy, contains a full and accurate description of the town books examined by her, but does not refer to the two books mentioned above. This report also states that the copy of the town records which was made by Ichabod Alden in 1851 contains some entries of which the original town records "cannot now be found." It is, therefore, apparent that the two books mentioned above were not accessible in 1906, when the copy was made for the use of the Society. It is the purpose of the Society to publish, in the form followed in the numerous volumes of vital records already printed, the new material found in these two books, and to distribute these supplementary pages among those possessing the printed volume.

New Edition of the "Complete Peerage." — The Register wishes to call especial attention to the new edition of Cokayne's "Complete Peerage," now being edited by the Hon. Vicary Gibbs, Lord Howard de Walden, and H. A. Doubleday, Esq., of which the first five volumes have appeared. This is by far the most important work on the peerage that has hitherto been published, and no expense or pains have been spared to make it complete. Particular attention is called to the mediæval portion of the work, which for the first time represents an exhaustive search in the mediæval records of England. No statement is made that is not supported by a documentary citation, and in many cases abstracts of the documents themselves appear. This work is under the charge of G. W. Watson, Esq., one of the ablest mediævalists in England. The genealogical portion constitutes only one phase of this colossal work. There are valuable appendixes, containing exhaustive accounts of the early English peerage law, and treatises upon the development of early British institutions which form a most valuable contribution to the constitutional history of the English-speaking people. The work is invaluable to all students of English law and history.

It is sincerely hoped that this work will meet with well-deserved success in America, as no library of any importance can afford to be without it, and that persons interested in constitutional history will contribute generously to the carrying on of a work that has hitherto been supported at enormous expense by private persons.

GOSHEN, N. H. — A new history of Goshen, Sullivan Co., N. H., is in preparation, and will supplement the little history published in pamphlet form in 1903 by W. R. Nelson. The genealogical part of this book is being compiled by Mrs. A. M. Chandler Riley of Claremont, N. H., and an appeal is made to all persons possessing records of any kind relating to Goshen families to copy them verbatim and to send the copies without delay to Mrs. Riley or to W. R. Nelson, Mill Village, Sullivan Co., N. H.

THREE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE GRANT OF THE PROVINCE OF MAINE. — On Thursday, 10 Aug. 1922, the Piscataqua Pioneers, at their annual meeting and field day held at the Rockingham County Court House, in Portsmouth, N. H., celebrated the three hundredth anniversary of the grant of the Province of Maine by the Plymouth Company to Sir Ferdinando Gorges and Capt. John Mason, 10 Aug. 1622. After Hon. F. W. Hartford, Mayor of Portsmouth, had welcomed the members of the society and expressed his high appreciation of the valuable work of their organization, Charles Thornton Libby, Esq., of Portland, Me., President of the Piscataqua Pioneers, delivered an historical address which is well worthy of preservation in the pages of the REGISTER. After thanking the Mayor for his kind words of welcome, Mr. Libby said:

"Portsmouth has always been an interesting place to visit, ever since the new comers at Little Harbor first found the strawberries up the river; and for us, whose forefathers, living on one or another of the branches of this river, had to come to the Bank in order to know they were living, once in so often, it is doubly pleasant.

"It has been said that the patent of the Province of Maine, Aug. 10, 1622, granting all between the Merrimac and the Kennebec, was of minor consequence because nothing was done under it. Rather may we regard it as the foundation, both in legal operation and in actual carryings on, of all that came after.

"By the terms of this grant, which we celebrate to-day, Sir Ferdinando Gorges and Captain Mason bound themselves under £100 penalty to settle one colony with a competent guard and at least ten families within three years. We must believe they did it. They two were the efficient colonizers of New England. They squandered both their own wealth and the wealth of others, but they achieved. Having agreed to settle ten families, they did it. Here was the founding of this State and of Maine this side of the Kennebec.

"It is true that the Plymouth Company in 1622 deeded this land where we now are to Gorges and Mason, and in 1623 deeded it to Mr. David Thomson, and in 1629 deeded it to Captain Mason, and in 1631 deeded it to the Laconia Company, and in 1635 gave a nine hundred and ninety-nine years' lease of it to Sir John Wollaston, all covering the same land. But in dealing with these old patents we must bear three things constantly in mind, or we shall trip ourselves up. For one thing, the corporation called 'the Council established at Plymouth in the County of Devon for the planting and ordering of New England' was only another name for Sir Ferdinando Gorges and Capt. John Mason. Second, when Sir Ferdinando and Captain Mason gave deeds of parts of their land, they did it in the name of the corporation. Third, the deeds they gave were really only options, conditioned on making actual settlements. When the conditions were not performed, the lands reverted to Gorges and Mason.

"Wollaston's deed back to Captain Mason openly explains the lease, 'which said indenture was made unto the said John Wollaston by and with the consent of the said Captain John Mason.' Instead of Captain Mason giving the lease himself, he gave it in the name of the Council. The grant to Mason in 1629 is explained by the lawyers of Mr. Mason's grandson, 'being a division of the lands formerly granted unto Sir Ferdinando Gorges and John Mason.' Instead of Sir Ferdinando and Captain Mason giving deeds to each other to divide their lands, they issued new grants to themselves in the name of the Council.

"Mr. David Thomson, the first planter of New Hampshire, was not what the historian Hubbard said he was, 'the agent of Gorges and Mason.' Nor did he receive a conflicting grant of lands already granted to them. His deed, although in the name of the Council, was really from them. Some historians have failed to understand how he received a grant of six thousand acres already granted to them, or why he did not hold it afterwards. These two questions answer each other if permitted to do so. Sir Ferdinando Gorges and Capt. John Mason in effect deeded to Mr. David Thomson six thousand acres of the best of their lands on conditions which he failed to fulfill; and so the lands reverted to them.

"As the patent to Mr. Thomson is lost, we cannot know exactly what the conditions they put into it were, but we may be sure that they covered the undertaking for which they themselves were under bond, to settle in this wilderness a sufficient guard and ten families. We have from Mr. Samuel Maverick, who came to Massachusetts in 1624, some years before the Boston colony started the Year One of New England, as they reckoned it, and who soon married Mr. Thomson's young widow, a graphic account of what was done:

> 'Strawberry Bank, the Great House and Isle of Shoals. Within 2 myles of the mouth is Strawberry Bank where are many families, and a minister and a meeting house, and to the meeting houses of Dover and Exeter most of the people resort. This Strawberry Bank is part of 6,000 acres granted by patent about the year 1620 or 1621 to Mr. David Thompson, who with the assistance of Mr. Nicholas Sherwill, Mr. Leonard Pomery and Mr. Abraham Colmer of Plymouth, merchants, went over with a considerable company of servants, and built a strong and large house, enclosed it with a large and high Palizado and mounted gunns, and being stored extraordinarily with shot and ammunition, was a terror to the Indians, who at that time were insulting over the poor, weak and unfurnished planters of Plymouth. This house and fort he built on a point of land at the very entrance of Piscataqua River and having granted by patent all the islands bordering on this land to the middle of the river, he took possession of an island commonly called the Great Island, and for the bounds of this land he went up the river to a point called Bloody Point, and by the seaside about four miles. He also had power of government within his own bounds. Notwithstanding all this, all is at this day in the power and at the disposal of the Massachusetts.'

"So here we see what method Sir Ferdinando and Captain Mason took to fulfill their bond to the Council. Mr. Thomson, a cultured and travelled gentleman, whom Sir Ferdinando had employed in difficult negotiations with high officials, was to do it for them, and for this service to have six thousand acres on one side of the river. To get the necessary capital, he contracted with three Plymouth merchants to run the plantation five years, and then turn over to them three-fourths of the improved land and three-fourths of the profits. After three years' effort, he saw fit to remove to Massachusetts Bay, where he could have all his improved lands and all of his profits. Whether he settled all the ten families within three years from Aug. 10, 1622, or whether Gorges and Mason had to come forward to finish the task, we do not know.

"Let us remember that we know very little about this dark period when the Province of Maine covered Maine and New Hampshire both. Except Mr. Thomson and the Hiltons and, perhaps, Mr. Ambrose Gibbins, we have not one name to associate with this period. The arrival of the Warwick, when our written history begins, was not until the summer of 1630.

"They have in Boston, not in its legal custody, a sheet of paper written on both sides, a separate document on either side, and both certified by Elisha Cooke, clerk of courts. On one side is a copy of the inventory of the Laconia Company's goods, July 1635, attested by Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of this Province in 1683, when the case of Mason v. Waldron was tried, and this is of unquestionable genuineness.

"On the other side is the list of people, 'sent by John Mason, Esquire,' winding up with 'Eight Danes, Twenty-Two Women.'* If this list was offered in court in 1683, it was rejected as spurious. Both from external and internal evidence it seems a fraudulent production. Probably it was made up to use in the suit against Humphrey Spencer in 1704, as there is a check mark in the margin opposite Thomas Spencer's name, and Elisha Cooke was not appointed clerk of courts until 1702. The list omits names of some who we know were sent over by Captain Mason, as Thomas Crockett, inserts names of young men who were children or unborn at the time of Captain Mason's death, as the two younger Chadbournes, Thomas Fernald, and Jeremy Walford, and includes the names of men who we know were not sent over by him, as William Seavey, who came on a fishing trip to the Isles of Shoals, John Symonds, sent over by Trelawny to Richmond's Island, Francis Norton and Sampson Lane, who came after the Captain's death, and others. The name printed as Henry Baldwin is not that name in the Boston list; evidently Clerk Cooke could not read it, but from his imitation of the writing I judge it was Odiorne. No Henry Odiorne is known to have been here, which is true of other names in the list, which may have been invented at the same time as the Wheelwright deed, in the desperate resolve to protect the community from the loss of their homes, with various names inserted that might help different ones to claim their lands as descendants of Captain Mason's servants. Thomas Crockett's descendants were living on Kittery side; but, as they claimed no lands on Portsmouth side, there was thus no occasion to include his name.

"So our certain knowledge after the arrival of the Warwick is none too full, yet luminous when compared with the unwritten period preceding, although the Isles of Shoals and the Piscataqua were the principal ports in New England in that period. If the settlement had been abandoned, Governor Bradford would surely have recorded the fact. On the contrary, in 1628 Piscataqua contributed as much as Plymouth to the expense of banishing Morton, who was selling firearms to the Indians. There must have been many people here, besides hundreds of transients here and at the Shoals; but we ask in vain who they were.

"If Mr. Gibbins came over early, he went back, as he came on the Warwick. Hubbard says the Hiltons were here, that they came with Thomson. Hubbard, who certainly was mistaken in part, seems to have gotten his information from young William Hilton, a boy not six years old when Mr. Thomson came over. In young Hilton's petition to the General Court in the year 1660, to confirm lands given his father and himself by the Indians, he said:

> 'Whereas your petitioner's father, William Hilton, came over into New England about the year Anno Dom. 1621 and your petitioner came about one year and half after, and in a little time following settled ourselves upon the River of Pischatag with Mr. Edward Hilton, who were the first English planters there.'

"This reads as though Mr. Hubbard accepted Hilton's story, and recorded it as history, merely inserting David Thomson's name with the Hiltons. Mr. Hubbard, who was the minister at Ipswich, was a few years younger than William Hilton, Jr., who was baptized at Witton church, in Northwich, Cheshire, June 22, 1617. Hilton's two wives belonged to prominent families of Newbury and Charlestown, and Mr. Hubbard must have been well acquainted with both families. William Hilton, Jr., was a shipmaster, and had had a book of soundings or charts printed before Mr. Hubbard got up the map of New England for his history of King Philip's War. About Plymouth, as well as the Piscataqua, Mr. Hubbard seems to have gotten information from Hilton. He says, what no one else does, that the first complaint against Mr. Lyford, who was brought over by Mr. Winslow in 1624 to be minister at Plymouth, was over baptizing a child of Mr. Hilton's, although not a member of their church. Hubbard's 'History' shows familiar knowledge of the Hiltons, as accurate as a little boy might remember and tell things to a friend.

"Certainly William Hilton did not come over with Thomson. He came to Plymouth in 1621, and was there with his family in 1624. It seems doubtful whether Edward Hilton did, although from April 9, 1621, when he came out of his apprenticeship in the Fishmongers' Company of London, until 1628, when he contributed to keep firearms away from the Indians, we have as yet no knowledge of his movements. But there is contemporary evidence that some Bristol merchants joined with him to settle his colony, and a young fellow just out of his apprenticeship must be allowed sufficient time in which to perfect such important connections, even if aided by Sir Ferdinando Gorges. If Edward Hilton was one of Mr. Thomson's first company, it seems that he must have gone back.

"At any rate, if here early in 1624, he was with Thomson at Little Harbor, and had not yet made his settlement up the river. Capt. Christopher Levett in 1628 printed a book on his voyage of 1623–4. He stopped a month with Mr. Thomson at Little Harbor. While there he 'discovered' the Piscataqua River, and an Indian who came down the river told him that up the river was much good land. In this season of tercentenary good cheer we all wish to work our believers overtime if necessary to keep everybody happy; but we must be equipped with believers as big as bushel baskets to believe that that Indian told Captain Levett that there were good lands up the river without telling him also that there were Englishmen living on them, if there had been such.

"So in 1922 we can all join in celebrating the three hundredth anniversary of the granting of the charter under which New Hampshire and Maine were colonized; and next year we can all join in celebrating the founding of New Hampshire; and at later periods, as we may learn the facts, different localities can celebrate, in a series of tercentenaries, all in our turn, and begrudging none."

ANDRUSS-JONES. — George Henry Andruss, of 261 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, Calif., President of the California Genealogical Society, has been for several years engaged in rewriting, verifying, and continuing the records held by him of the Jones family, descendants of William Jones, Deputy Governor of the New Haven Colony. Mr. Andruss possesses a great amount of data concerning the Andruss family of New Jersey, to which he belongs, and also concerning the Jones family, to which his mother, Julia Ann (Jones) Andruss, belonged. In order to add to his records, he will gladly exchange both Jones and Andruss information with responsible parties, provided stamps are enclosed for reply. A notice somewhat similar to this notice was printed in the REGISTER of January 1904 (vol. 58, p. 96).

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION. — Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full, if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Drury. — John, died in Dublin, Ireland, buried 29 Oct. 1698, by Henry Cooke Drury, M.D., 48 Fitzwilliam Square, Dublin, Ireland.

Duston (Durston). — Thomas, baptized at Wilton, co. Somerset, England, 9 Aug. 1598, emigrated to New England, by Harold Dustin Kilgore, Historian of the Dustin-Duston Family Association, 10 Prospect Court, Gloucester, Mass.

Jenckes. — Joseph, born about 1602, died at Lynn, Mass., in Mar. 1683, by Mrs. E. Lindon Mellus, 63 Rawson Road, Brookline, Mass.

MacClary. — Thomas, of Londonderry, N. H., born at Londonderry, Ireland, or in Scotland, by Charles Francis Strong, 304 Ames Street, Lawrence, Mass.

Marr. — Lawrence, born probably in Scotland about1700, emigrated to Ireland and thence to America, settled at Mount Bethel, Northampton Co., Pa., died, probably at Easton, Pa., between 1780 and 1800, by William Price Marr, 1841 Wisconsin Street, Racine, Wis.

Preble. — Abraham, born about 1603, died at York, Me., in 1663, by Mrs. E. Lindon Mellus, 63 Rawson Road, Brookline, Mass.

Robinson. — William, died at Dorchester, Mass., 6 July 1668, by Mrs. E. Lindon Mellus, 63 Rawson Road, Brookline, Mass.

Russell. — John, born about 1616, died at Woburn, Mass., 1 June 1676, by Mrs. E. Lindon Mellus, 63 Rawson Road, Brookline, Mass.

Sherman. — William, of Marshfield, Mass., died in Oct. 1679, by Mrs. Mary Lovering Holman, 39 Winsor Avenue, Watertown, Mass.

Swift. — Thomas, of Dorchester, Mass., born about 1600, died in May 1675, and William, died at Sandwich in the Plymouth Colony in Jan. 1643/4, by Mark D. Batchelder, 1207 Jefferson Building, Peoria, Ill.

PRINTERS AND PUBLISHERS OF GENEALOGICAL BOOKS

Why Risk Much to Save Little?

YOUR book will show the result of your work; a typographical error will stand as your own. We are constantly on the watch for errors and our long experience in genealogical work and careful proof-reading enables us to avoid mistakes. We print from hand-set type, and the product of our presses cannot be excelled. Our expert service in printing an accurate, handsome genealogy is well worth our price.

MAY WE NOT PRINT YOUR BOOK?

GOODSPEED'S BOOKSHOP

5A PARK STREET AND 9A ASHBURTON PLACE
BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

VISITORS IN BOSTON are cordially invited to visit our new Branch Store and Print Rooms, occupying the whole of the building at No. 9A ASHBURTON PLACE, adjoining the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

In this store will be found our entire stock (the most extensive in the world) of AMERICAN LOCAL HISTORY and GENEALOGY and also books relating to America generally.

The second floor of the building will be devoted exclusively to our PRINT GALLERY, Books on ART, and Reference Works relating to the same, all of which are open to the inspection and enjoyment of the public.

On the street floor will be found a line of miscellaneous books, both old and new, which we shall try to make of interest to all kinds of book-lovers.

We wish you to call at both stores when in Boston and make them of service in the meeting of friends and the examination of such part of our varied stock of BOOKS, PRINTS, and AUTOGRAPHS as interests you most.
